Govt. Lifts Last Of Import Surcharges

Action Taken Eight Days Before Election

OTTAWA (CP)—The last of the import surcharges imposed by the federal government last June were eliminated Sunday.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the government action at a political rally Saturday night at St. Thomas, Ont. The move affects categories of goods for which imports in 1961 amounted to more than $1,000,000,000.

They were the last major relics of the emergency measures imposed last June 24—a week after last year's election—to meet a financial crisis caused by a run on Canada's foreign exchange reserves. Their removal comes just eight days before this year's election.

The original surcharges, ranging from five to 15 per cent, were imposed on $2,000,000,000 worth of imports—just over half of the country's import trade.

LEVIES BOOSTED TWICE

Since June the special levies were moderated on three occasions, slimming the total number of items used in Canadian industry as well as from luxury food and agricultural products.

A statement from the prime minister's office said the removal of the surcharges "follows further evidence of sustained and gratifying improvement in Canada's balance of payments on current account."

It added that the country's current deficit—the amount by which imports of all goods and services exceed exports—was reduced in 1962 to $850,000,000 from $980,000,000 in 1961.

"Moreover, the deficit in the last quarter of 1962, after making allowance for normal seasonal movements, was running at a rate substantially below the total for the year."

Canada's foreign exchange reserves, down to about $1,100,000,000 in June, had stood at $2,590,000,000 at the end of February and the level has remained "remarkably stable for a number of months," said the statement.

CONFIDENCE STRENGTH

"The final abolition of the temporary import surcharges will come months after their imposition testifies to the strength and resilience of the Canadian economy and to the firm confidence of the people at home and abroad in the stability of the Canadian dollar."

Prior to the Saturday announcement a 10-per-cent surcharge remained on imports such as clothing, cars, refrigerators, most plastic manufactures, carpets, cosmetics, sugar candy or confectionery, cut flowers, cigars and cigarettes, ale and porter, liquor, wine, perfume and toilet preparations, silverware, cameras and motion picture projectors, and ski and lift tickets, dolls, toys and toy electric trains.

114-DAY PAPER STRIKE IN N. Y. HAS CONCLUDED

Cost to Economy Said $250,000,000

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's 114-day newspaper strike has ended with the roar of high-speed presses, music to the ears of 19,000 employees and 5,500,000 readers of the city's major daily papers.

A series of labor disputes had shut down the papers and cost the city's economy an estimated $250,000,000.

Two morning papers — The Times and The Herald Tribune —returned at double their pre-strike price. The papers said greatly increased costs forced an increase to 10 cents, the first rise since 1946.

The two morning papers—The .News and The Mirror — remained at five cents. Both are tabloids. The evening papers retained their pre-shutdown prices —10 cents for the Manhattan papers and five cents for the Long Island Press and the Long Island Star-Journal. The Press, which abolished its Long Island edition throughout the strike, raised its Sunday price to 20 cents from 15.

PRINTERS STRIKE FIRST

The newspaper shutdown — longest ever to result in this city's history — began Dec. 8 with a strike of printers. It ended Sunday when 317 photo-engravers — members of the last of three unions that joined the strike—voted to accept a new contract with the Publishers Association of New York City.

Only four of the city's nine major newspapers were struck—The Times, The News, The World-Telegram and Sun and The Journal-American. The Post, Herald Tribune, Mirror, Long Island Press and Long Island Star-Journal suspended publication voluntarily. The U.S. National Labor Relations Board Nov. 30 ruled the publishers' policy that a strike against one was a strike against all.

On March 4, The Post left the ranks of the publishers and resumed publication. For the last 27 days it has printed and sold 750,000 copies a day, more than double its normal circulation.

For 87 days only out-of-town papers, expanded community journals and emergency publications were available here.

Now, they are available again from radio and television, which expanded greatly the scope, quantity and frequency of their news coverage.

UPDATE NEWS, COMICS

Returning are such features, the sidelights, the color, the humor and the drama of daily living that were missed. The expressed purpose of the big papers did their best to compensate for that lack. In addition to keeping up with the major news, they gave a rundown of the activities of favorite comic-

FUGITIVE CAUGHT

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—William Leroy Mauss, 28, wanted in Minnesota's biggest bank robbery, was arrested Saturday as he walked across the border into Arizona from Mexico. The FBI said Mauss carried a bag with $44,000 in it when he was captured. He had put another $153,000 robbery of the Bank of Livonia, a Detroit suburb.

Opposition Accuses Govt. Of 'Desperation' in Action

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Removal of the remaining import surcharges has brought opposition charges that the timing of the move—just a week before next Monday's general election—is an indication of the Progressive Conservative party's "desperation."

Opposition reaction swiftly followed announcement at political rallies Saturday night by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Finance Minister Nowlan of the end to the special levies imposed after last June's election to help halt the drain on Canada's foreign exchange reserves.

Meanwhile, election fever this weekend continued at a high pitch over the issue of whether Canada should acquire nuclear warheads for the Bomarc - B missiles on this country's soil. It was a work-and-rest weekend for the four party leaders. Mr. Diefenbaker and New Democratic Party Leader T. C. Douglas after espective rallies at St. Thomas, Ont., and Sydney, N.S., were at their Ottawa homes Sunday. Liberal Leader Lester Pearson rested at a Vancouver Island holiday lodge after a Saturday speech at Nanaimo, B.C. Social Credit chieftain Robert Thompson returned to Alberta after a two - day swing through Saskatchewan.

Mr. Diefenbaker's announcement of the removal of the surcharges said the step reflects "the strength and resilience of the Canadian economy."

In Vancouver, Liberal economic affairs critic Walter Gordon told reporters that if there

INDUSTRY IS PRAISED FOR ATTITUDE

Windup Dinner Said Success

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian industry got an "A" for "attitude" at the windup dinner Saturday night of the first phase of Canada's "operation world markets."

The high mark came from Geoffrey Kennedy, British consulting electrical engineer, speaking on behalf of representatives of more than 50 countries who toured machinery equipment plants across Canada last week.

Summing up the impressions of the visitors, most of them engineers, and administrators, Mr. Kennedy said:

"We were struck by your attitude of mind. If you are asked to do something you accept it as a challenge."

Regarding Canadian workmanship, he stated: "Some of the quality of finish we have seen is second to none in the world." And, commenting on Canadian hospitality, he said:

"We leave with the memories of the many friends we have made. We are sorry the week is over and there is no better omen for the success of operation world markets than that regret."

MINISTER SPEAKS

Trade Minister McCutcheon, host to the visitors on behalf of the Canadian government, and the main speaker, stated:

"In the coming year Canada will, on the average of every two weeks, have a trade mission composed of qualified Canadian producers visit consumers somewhere in the world where we feel we have a product competitive with any that can be purchased anywhere

Military Group Ends Red Hopes In Guatemala

Ousted President Says Move for Nation's Good

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—A military takeover in Guatemala that sent President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes into exile appeared today to have blocked any chance of a Communist election victory in this Central American republic.

Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, 54, Ydigoras' defense minister, made clear he intends to be a strong man leader" as he took over the government with powers to rule by decree.

The coup Sunday appeared to have the approval of Ydigoras who arrived in Nicaragua by air force plane.

"What is going on in Guatemala is for her own good and for the good of the rest of Central America," said the 67-year-old deposed leader, a prime figure in the Central American anti-Castro movement.

Peralta said he did not know the whereabouts of Lt.Col. former president Juan Jose Arevalo, 58, whose secret return from exile in Mexico touched off Sunday's coup. Arevalo had planned to run for the presidency and was a good chance of being elected.

RESISTENCE LITTLE

The new chief of state told a press conference that there was little resistance from Ydigoras. He said three top military officers went to the Casa Crema, the presidential home, to demand his resignation. When the doors were not opened, tanks were used to force them.

The air force held Ydigoras and his wife until they were flown out of the country.

Peralta suspended the constitution—the Congress, ordered all political parties disbanded and cancelled the November presidential election. He said the new regime will not tolerate communism in any guise. He also promised that Guatemala will observe its international obligations.

Peralta said the military, with himself in charge, will run the executive and legislative branches of the government. He promised, however, to give up the presidency after elections he said will be held at an unspecified date.

Cuban Exiles Told Rebel Forces Weak

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A fresh report from Cuba that anti-Castro forces are weak and lack arms left a bleak outlook today for Miami's exile colony, already discouraged by a United States crackdown on commando raids.

"There is no strong underground or guerrilla movement in Cuba — despite what you hear," said Carlos Penin, former schoolmate of Fidel Castro and co-ordinator now of the People's Revolutionary Movement.

His report came on the heels of a federal grand jury probe on Miami's anti - Castro groups. Some 18 exile leaders were told they could not leave Dade County, which includes most of Metropolitan Miami.

It also was reported that the U.S. Coast Guard and immigration services were increasing their staffs to prevent forays against Cuba such as two recent attacks against Soviet ships.

A spokesman for the revolutionary study directorate, Jose Antonio Launas, said, "If these restrictive orders are going to be completely snuff out outside action against Castro, internal rebellion will become almost impossible in Cuba."

LONDON (AP)—The British government has assured the United States it will step up control of British territory in The Caribbean to bar its use by anti-Castro groups attacking Cuba. The British Foreign Office announced the dispatch of the frigate Londonderry for patrol duty in The Bahamas area north of Cuba. The Londonderry will reinforce two other Royal Navy frigates attached to the W. Indies station.

Body Found At Peterborough Is Identified

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The body of a woman found Sunday frozen a few feet from the shore of Lovesick Lake has been identified by police today as Mrs. Pearl Pierce, aged between 65 and 70, of Peterborough.

Mrs. Pierce, formerly of Toronto, had been seen in the area Thursday night.

The dead woman's son Leonard Pierce identified the body to police to identify the body.

Police said the dead woman had a mark over one eye and there were scratches on the body.

Police said the dead woman had a mark over one eye and there were scratches on the body.

Study Predicts There Will Be More Cars Than Adults in 2000

WASHINGTON (AP)—A massive report on U.S. resources says that the United States in the year 2000 will have more than automobiles adults and atomic reactors will provide more power than coal.

The study of U.S. national needs and resources was released Sunday by Resources of the Future Incorporated, a private research group working with Ford Foundation funds.

It said that in four decades U.S. income and production will be measured in the trillions of dollars as the "middle - class become" family will have $11,000 a year to spend.

The most serious shortage foreseeable, the report said, is land—elbow room for a population, now about 180,000,000, expected to be 331,000,000 in 2000.

Crop land will be ample, because the average farm acre will grow 50 to 100 per cent more food than it does now.

Farm surpluses will continue for many years.

Minerals, forest, range and crop lands are put to multiple uses, there will be a net deficit of land in 2000 and for work, play, travel and living space of a well-heeled population. It will be more than twice as large as it is today.

33 Fatalities Across Canada During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 33 persons met accidental death in Canada during the weekend, nearly two-thirds of them in Ontario and British Columbia and 24 of them traffic accidents.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday showed Ontario had 10 traffic fatalities, two of them in single head-on collision. One man died in a fire and a young woman in a fall.

British Columbia had six traffic deaths and three by fire while Quebec had four traffic deaths, one by fire and one by drowning.

Two persons were killed in traffic in New Brunswick, one died in a fall and another was gored to death by a bull. Alberta and Manitoba each had one traffic death.

The survey does not include known slayings or suicides, industrial accidents or natural deaths.

Ontario fatalities:

Friday

Peter Partch, 30, of Ottawa, when his car struck a transport truck on Highway 115 near Ottawa.

Saturday

Lawrence Ryan, 18, and Carl Wiltshire, 19, both of Belleville, in a two-car collision near Madoc, Ont.

Gerard Swayles, 40, of Midland, Ont., when his car hit a tree near Penetanguishene, Ont.

Hamilton, the record time for a 50-mile jaunt fell to Larry Arnold, 16, and Bob Axon, 17, who finished the route in 10 hours, 11 minutes. Many others also topped the mark of 11 hours, 20 minutes set by Peter Barnes recently in a marathon walk by University of Western Ontario students.

'They Have Sold Us Out' Says Welensky

Demands Independent S. Rhodesia

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Sir Roy Welensky, prime minister of the Rhodesian Federation, today told a large, predominantly white airport crowd they had been "sold out" by the British government.

Welensky, returning to Southern Rhodesia from talks in London at which Northern Rhodesia was given the right to secede from the crumbling Central African Federation, said it now is imperative that Southern Rhodesia receive its independence.

He said those Southern Rhodesians who believe in the maintenance of culture and civilization have to realize they cannot count on the support of Prime Minister Macmillan and his government.

"They have sold us out and they do not care what happens now," he said.

Welensky said it is the duty of everyone, black and white to see that independence is obtained.

"There has got to be a closing of the ranks," he said.

Welensky said he went to London with another plan which would have given the federation territories the right to secede under conditions designed to safeguard the preservation of the armed forces and economic links between the three components of the federation, Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

"I never got a chance of putting forward this proposal," he said.

Asked about the chances of Southern Rhodesian independence if a Labor government came to power in Britain, Welensky replied:

"They cannot deal with us any worse than we have had in the last five years.

"At least," he added, "they might stab us in the breast and not put their arms around us and find a soft spot to stab us in the back."

He said he and R. A. Butler,

Kamloops Will Have New Member Whoever Wins

St. Laurent Urges Election Of Liberal Govt.

QUEBEC (CP) — Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, former prime minister of Canada, has urged Quebecers to help elect a stable Liberal government in a time of crisis for the country.

"My dear fellow citizens," Mr. St. Laurent said, "truly, there is for us only one option on April 8: it is to accord anew our confidence to a party that has contributed strongly to the evolution of Canada, to its economic growth and its foreign prestige: the Liberal party.

"This is the party most preoccupied with social security in our country.

"It was always the Liberal party that was called upon to take in hand the destiny of the nation in the difficult hours of its history, and again today, I am convinced that it will not fail in the task that awaits it."

Mr. St. Laurent's televised address was carried on seven eastern Quebec stations during the weekend.

Text was released in advance of delivery.

The 81-year-old former prime minister noted that he personally had urged Liberal Leader Lester Pearson to enter politics "and I am convinced that with a man such as him directing the affairs of the country, we will know better days."

Without referring directly to the Progressive Conservative government or Social Credit, Mr. St. Laurent criticized it.

He "said Canada's international prestige "has diminished visibly" in recent years.

"This is not owing to the effect of chance," he continued. "Those who created and unmade the reputation and prestige of a country are those who govern it.

Social Credit monetary theory had been tried in a European country, he said, and had resulted in severe inflation and ruin for thousands of persons.

Stable government was among the most important factors to a democratic country in difficulty.

"It is absolutely necessary to give our country a stable government that will re-establish among Canadians confidence and hope in the future."

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—No matter who wins in the April 8 federal general election, Kamloops will have a new member in the Commons.

The choice is between Veteror Jonas, 34, Herbert, New Democratic Party; Jack Whitson, 33, Norwegian-born lawyer, Liberal; Dr. C. J. M. Willoughby, 68, physician, Progressive Conservative; and Clarence Wight, 52, business man, Social Credit.

The winner will be only the third man to represent the riding since the seat was established 28 years ago.

T. J. O'Neill, a Liberal, won the first election in 1935 and retained the seat in 1940. In 1945, Davie Fulton, then a 27-year-old army major, won for the Progressive Conservatives.

Now, after 18 years in Ottawa, six as cabinet minister, Mr. Fulton has stepped aside to take the provincial leadership of his party.

Mr. Fulton won easily in the 1957 election, polling 11,312 votes to 5,780 for Mr. Whist, his nearest rival. Walter Inglis, of Liberal, had 4,733 and Mr. Wright 4,393.

RETURNED FAVOR

Last month Mr. Fulton, now Attorney-General, Willoughby—the man who nominated him for the election in 1945.

Dept. Answers First Grass Fire Alarm

The Belleville Fire Department answered their first grass fire alarm of the season on Saturday afternoon, when they were called to the Belle-Trent Drive-In at Bayside.

The alarm was received at 4.38 p.m. — Two trucks responded to the call. The fire was brought under control with no damage reported.

Earlier in the afternoon the department conducted a smoke investigation at 328 Front St. found to have been caused by an overheated electric motor. No damage was reported.

Boy Struck By Baseball Dies in Kingston

A 13-year-old Belleville boy, struck by a baseball at an inpromptu neighborhood game on Sunday afternoon, died today in Kingston General Hospital.

Thomas Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, 17 Alfred Drive was fatally injured at Bayview Public School grounds.

City police say the accident occurred as the boy attempted to make a catch at first base. The ball went through his glove and struck him on the temple. He was taken to the hospital complained of headaches and was taken to the emergency ward of Belleville General Hospital. After preliminary examination the boy was sent to Kingston by LaSalle Ambulance. He died about 9.30 a.m. today.

Up to press time, police were still investigating circumstances surrounding the fatal mishap.

This afternoon, authorities at Kingston General Hospital said the boy was believed to have died from a brain hemorrhage.

Gift-Wrapped Bomb Injures Hamilton Boy

HAMILTON (CP)—The police department's crime laboratory is examing fragments of a home - made bomb which exploded Saturday and almost cost a 10-year-old boy his eyesight. John Sirolli of Hamilton was released from hospital after being treated for severe burns to his hands.

The bomb was in a gift-wrapped package the boy found in a telephone booth and was handing to a woman in a nearby restaurant when it exploded.

Mrs. Mary Contesfi, wife of the restaurant owner, suffered minor burns to her hands.

She said the boy told her someone must have lost the package.

"As he was handing it to me there was a loud wooshing sound and flames roared out of a hole in the package," she said. "The boy dropped the box and it exploded and flew about six feet across the store."

Police are seeking three youths seen around the telephone booth shortly before the blast. They were seen to carry a shopping bag into the booth.

Scholarships Provided by Cancer Society

Two Queen's University students have received the first eight recipients of the, recently established Ivan Smith Memorial Scholarships. These are awarded for academic achievement to enable grantees to continue their summer months assisting in the radiotherapy departments of the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation clinics.

Hugh Edward Skully and Diane Elizabeth Rupka, were the Queen's recipients and they will be working at clinics in Toronto and Kingston respectively this coming summer.

The scholarships are provided by the Canadian Cancer Society in memory of Dr. Ivan H. Smith, a Canadian physician and scientist who was internationally recognized as a top specialist in cancer control. The fund was established from private donations sponsored by the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation and the Ontario Division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

The local unit of the Canadian Cancer Society is making its annual appeal for funds beginning next Monday.

Laborer Held For Murder of Elderly Widow

SPENCERVILLE, Ont. (CP) —Police have charged a man with murder in connection with the torture-slaying of an elderly widow at her nearby home.

Arnold Pruner, 31, a laborer, was arrested at his home five miles from the scene. He appeared before a justice of the peace, was remanded to Tuesday and was lodged in the county jail at Brockville, about 20 miles south of here.

The battered body of Mrs. Geneva Parker, 75, was found by a neighbor, Gerald Shanahan, who lives two miles from the five-acre market garden site that Mrs. Parker operated.

Shanahan told police he saw signs of a fierce struggle in the kitchen and that Mrs. Parker's partially-clothed body was on the floor.

After an autopsy, Coroner Dr. C. F. McPherson, 83, a coroner for 60 years, said it was the "worst case of brutality" he had ever encountered.

"There is evidence that the victim was tortured," he said. The woman's head had been crushed in a blow between the eyes and her nose was smashed. She was torn about the throat and had bled extensively.

Romney Backs New Michigan Constitution

DETROIT (AP)—Republican Governor George Romney has laid his newly won political prestige on the line by urging Michigan to vote today for a new state constitution, strongly opposed by Democrats and labor leaders.

Former governor John B. Swainson, the Windsor, Ont., native Romney unseated last November in his state-wide political debut, has called for rejection of the new document. So has August F. Scholle, state AFL-CIO president and one of Romney's chief political foes.

IN MEMORIAM

COOKE — In loving memory of a dear daughter Shirley Ann, who passed away April 1, 1962.

What we would give her hand to hold,
To hear her voice, to be near,
To look upon her face again,
And clasp her hand once more.
Sadly missed by Dad, Mother, Brother and Sister.

COOKE — In loving memory of a dear daughter Shirley Ann, who passed away April 1, 1962.

I do not need a special day,
For I remember every day.
For the days I do not think of you,
Are the days I forget to live.
A little heaven I wish that I could give it you, and more,
To see you smile and hear you talk,
And sleep safely through the door.
Sadly missed by Mother and Sister Nancy.

REID — In loving memory of a dear sister Margaret Jessie Reid who passed away so suddenly, April 1st, 1962.

Jess Bateman.

COOKE — In loving memory of our dear mother, Rhoda Cooke, who passed away April 1st, 1962.

Today reminds me memories,
Of a dear mother we had,
Memories we shall always treasure,
And the love which thinks of her today.
Are the ones who loved her best.
Sadly missed by Ken, Ronald, Bruce, Larry and Sharon.

COOKE — In loving memory of our dear mother, Rhoda Cooke, who passed away April 1st, 1962.

Sadly I think when I wake that morn,
The memory the day would bring,
The call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one I loved so dear,
Sometimes I find hard to understand,
Why some things have to be,
In life's wonders, I am puzzled,
Beyond my power to see.
Sadly missed by twin sister, Peggy, brother-in-law Jim and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my friends and relatives for the lovely cards and flowers and the calls while I was a patient in the Belleville General Hospital. Also special thanks to Drs. SUNDAY DRAMA ON MAIN STREET — An accident between a car and a motor scooter at the corner of Bridge and Coleman Streets yesterday sent two people to hospital. An ambulance called to the scene took injured to hospital. The scooter driver, Robert William Bennett, 17, was a stretcher case, shown in picture. His passenger, Elizabeth Corke, also 17, with coat over her arm, needed medical treatment but was able to walk to the ambulance.

Two Killed, Several Injured Few Critical, Over Weekend

A minor string of road accidents starting with a double fatality near Madoc, brought death, critical injury and serious property damage in the Belleville area. Among the injured was the daughter of Belleville's deputy - mayor. This was the toll:

Lawrence Ryan, 51 St. Charles Street, and John Wiltshire, last resident at 281 William Street. Both 19 were instantly killed in a two-car crash on the Madoc County Road; injured critically was Robert Golka, 18, 112 Pinnacle Street; less seriously hurt were Michael Brennan, 18, 39 Drin e Street, and John Walker, Queensboro, 25, driver of the second car.

Charles Clifford McLay, 31-year-old airman of 202 West Moira Street, was rushed to hospital at Kingston, after his skull was fractured in a two-car collision on East Dundas Street.

Elizabeth Corke, 17-year-old daughter of deputy - mayor Alderman Ben Corke, and Robert Bennett, also 17, R.R. 2 Belleville, received minor injuries when their motor-scooter was struck by a car at the Bridge - Coleman Streets intersection Sunday night.

Arthur Dupuis, 28-year-old Kingston stenographer, escaped injury "probably because of his crash helmet," her car rolled over on Highway 401 east of Belleville.

At Deseronto, a man was found unhurt when thrown from a car as it crashed through guard rails and wrecked itself in a field.

STILL PONDER CAUSE

Provincial Police at Madoc today were still pondering the cause of the worst accident in the district.

The mishap which took the lives of the two Belleville teenagers was a grinding head-on collision on the crown of a curved incline, running down to Moira Lake. The Belleville car was northbound and the impact wrecked both vehicles. Walker was alone.

Of the three injured, Golka continued in critical condition over the weekend. He suffered a crushed jaw and leg among other injuries. Brennan had a broken leg and Walker was hospitalized with a dislocated hip.

Early Sunday morning a rumor circulated in the city that Golka had died. The report spread and fellow-parishioners of the family at St. Michael's Church joined in prayers for the youth at Mass. His family, meantime, were visiting at Golka's bedside.

The second serious accident occurred Saturday night on the four-lane stretch of Belleville's East Dundas Street. Clifford McLay was still reported in critical condition today in a Kingston hospital from skull injuries received when his car struck a 180 feet out of control-off the highway.

City police say McLay's vehicle struck the rear of another car stopped at a traffic light, driven by Robert Boyce, 18, of 152 George Street. Veering out of control, it then cut across in front of the Boyce automobile, mounted a roadside lawn, skidded sideways, rolled over and crashed to a standstill beside a lumber company sign.

NEITHER HURT

Neither Boyce nor his passenger, Nancy Tatham, 17, R. R. 1, Belleville, was hurt.

The Sunday evening motor scooter mishap that sent two Belleville youngsters to hospital occurred when their machine was struck by a car driven by 72-year-old James Workman, R. R. 1, Picton. Police say Workman's automobile hit the scooter as he turned out of Coleman Street onto West Bridge Street. Bennett was treated for cuts and the Corke girl for bruises.

Mr. Workman was charged with failing to yield.

At Deseronto Saturday, town police charged James Prout, R. 1, 2 Napanee, with dangerous driving, after his car crashed through guardrails and was wrecked in a field near the residence of coroner Dr. D. C. McVicker. A passenger in the car was thrown out, but escaped injury.

LAWRENCE RYAN

ROBERT GOLKA

The collision took out six guard rails.

The Highway 401 accident occurred less than two miles east of Belleville. Provincial Police say Miss Dupuis was driving toward Toronto, when she lost control of her 1959 French automobile. It skidded 84 feet along the edge of the driving lane before rolling.

"She was wearing a seat belt and this may have saved her from serious injury," said an officer. "It was her-first time on Highway 401.

Early this morning on Highway 401, two miles east of Trenton, 25-year-old Roland Gebauer, 102 Yeomans Street, Belleville, escaped injury when, police say, he fell asleep at the wheel.

His small German model automobile veered across the median, skidded into the opposite ditch, rolled over, righted itself and crashed into a fence. The car was wrecked.

High School Fees Apply Only After Six Years

Monthly fees for "repeater" high school students to be put into effect locally next September will not apply until after the student has completed six full years of study.

This was made clear today by officials of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board after a story in Saturday's edition of The Ontario Intelligencer, the heading of which implied the fees would be payable in the sixth year.

According to department of education regulations a high school student is entitled to attend high school for six full years without being called on to pay class fees.

Jack Murphy's Rink Winner Of N. E. Trophy

The curling season at the Quinte Curling Club came to a successful conclusion on Saturday night with the ending of the week-long mixed bonspiel. The prizes were distributed, the committee thanked and then the large crowd, one of the biggest of the season, settled down to enjoy dancing and good fellowship 'till the midnight hour, when Auld Lang Syne was sung and the curtain rung down.

The mixed spiel, which was chaired by Edward Lewis and his energetic committee was one of the best of the year. The curlers had a lot of fun, the competition was exceptionally keen in the later stages and the winners well deserved their honors. A pink of Mrs. Ann Alexander, Bob Alexander, Mrs. Hazel McKevin with Jack Murphy as skip won the Northern Electric trophy and the accompanying prizes. The trophy was presented to the winning rink by Neil Davidson, manager of the Company. In the main event a rink of Mrs. Marg Riley, Nick Stefan, Mrs. Heather White with Mac White as skip was beaten in the finals.

The second event was won by a rink of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trepanier with Mr. and Mrs. Gil Wamboldt and the presentation was made by Robert (Bob) Smith. The runnersup in this competition were Wes Andrews, Jack Preston, Mrs. Ena Corke with Murray Johnson as skip. In the third event a rink of Mrs. Marg Bakay, Bill Gault, Mrs. Nina Gault with Steve Bakay as skip won, with Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham as runnersup.

James Walker in charge of the mixed curling held on weekends throughout the season presented the prizes along with their prizes. Now that the brooms have been stacked, the lockers cleared, the members will his to the golf links and the bowling greens for their outdoor exercise with the thought that curling will be coming along in a few months. It has been a wonderful season.

Former Motel Worker Charged With Possession

Belleville police have charged a former city motel worker with possession of goods stolen from his employer.

Samuel Roqanoff, 31, was arrested in Streetsville by Belleville police Saturday to face the charge in city magistrate's court.

The articles alleged stolen, valued at about $150, include drapes and other room furnishings, missing about mid-March from the Queen's Motor Motel.

Elks Lodge To Hold Picnic For Children

The Elks Lodge of this city are going to entertain the children of this district in a big way this coming summer. The money derived from the sale of tickets and other projects is being put in a fund to promote the Purple Cross Fund in this locality.

A meeting to get the picnic plans for June 15th under way was held on Thursday night at Jim's Place on Highway No. 2, east of the city with the Exalted Ruler, Ken Clarke presiding. The committee in charge is headed by Ralph Downey with Gens Peacock, Gordon Young, Vern Wilson, Wally Wilmott, and Maurice Size as members and elaborate plans are being made by this group to stage a picnic for the kids never before seen in this section of the Province. Dick Graham, representing the Grand Lodge of the Elks was on hand to assist in the arrangements.

The picnic to be held at Zwick's Island will be closed by a band concert and fireworks display under the direction of Bob McLuskie. A picnic Queen will be chosen from various dances to be held in and around the city prior to the picnic and she will preside over the festivities during the day. A number of articles will be drawn for every hour on the hour during the time of the picnic and these will be valuable awards for holding the lucky number.

There will be no admission and the first 2,000 children will receive free drinks or ice cream. There will be free bus service to the picnic grounds. The Lodge is presenting to the city a flag pole and flag and this will be under the regular ceremonial of the lodge.

In all it promises to be a big day in the life of the Elks Lodge and also for the children of the district.

South Hastings Candidates Will Be Speakers

South Hastings candidates in the Federal election have been invited to speak at the general meeting of the Park Dale Ratepayers' Association, on Wednesday evening.

Association president John F. Morman announced that each election candidate had been contacted and invited to attend the meeting. Each candidate has been offered fifteen minutes to speak to the ratepayers, at any time convenient to them during the meeting period.

The meeting, held at the Community Hall, usually adjourn about 10.00 p.m." stated Mr. Morman, "but we may break into the usual order of business to let the candidates speak as early as we can. This method allows the candidates to fully utilize their time during the meeting."

The Ratepayers president noted that Mr. Lee Grills was not certain he could attend, due to the short notice and a previous commitment. Liberal candidate Robert Temple and NDP candidate Les Digby have both declared that they will attend, but it is not been possible as yet to reach the Social Credit candidate or his agent.

MF. Morman also said that non-members of the Ratepayers' Association who reside in Park Dale would be welcome, providing space allowed.

ARE TOP COMMUTERS

Arctic terns are the world's champion commuters with summer in the Arctic and winter in the Antarctic, flying about 22,000 miles on the round trip.

ON THE BANDWAGON — Liberal candidate Robert Temple and his wife take time out Saturday night to talk with fiddle-playing band-leader Charlie Clement and his boys at Hillcrest Liberal dance. The event ended a weekend swing through the riding for Mr. Temple.

Trenton Youths Found by Police In Factory

Two Trenton youths were charged with breaking and entering Sunday morning after police found them behind a locked door in a washroom at the Morton Parker Ltd. factory on Dufferin Street, Trenton.

Police were alerted at 5.25 a.m. Sunday, when a burglar alarm connected to the Morton Parker factory sounded in Trenton police station. At 5.28 a.m., Sgt. Gordon Steenburg of Trenton police, on cruiser patrol, arrived at the plant. As he pulled in, he saw a man running from the office to the factory. Sgt. Steenburg was unable to catch the man.

Soon after, another cruiser arrived from the police station, with Const. Roger Camp, Const. Roy Miller and Const. George French. The four police officers surrounded the building while an employee of Morton Parker Ltd. was summoned to the scene. Led by the employee the constables searched the building and found the two suspects locked in a washroom.

Entry to the plant had appar ently been gained by pulling a piece of tin from a window. The tin was then replaced.

Three Girls Walk 22 Miles To Ivanhoe

Three Belleville girls Saturday walked the 22 miles from Belleville to Ivanhoe in about 7 hours. Nineteen-year-old Jeanine MacDonald and her 17-year-old sister Yvonne, of Byron St., and 21-year-old Mary Jean Elvins, of Prince of Wales Drive, left the city at 6 a.m. and arrived at the Ivanhoe General Store at 1 p.m. The three girls enjoyed the trip and plan another long distance walk—possibly to Kingston—in the near future.

Liberals Hold Gatherings In City, Tweed, Deseronto

South Hastings Liberal candidate Robert Temple entered the home stretch of his election campaign over the weekend with a riding wide tour that ranged from Tweed, to Deseronto and back to Belleville.

Starting Friday night he spoke to a party rally in Tweed; met and talked to supporters at a dance in Belleville's Hillcrest.

Between times he dropped in on local residents, mingling personal conversation with political problems.

The weekend got off to a start at Tweed where area residents crowded into St. Carthagh's hall to hear the candidate and local Liberal supporters speak on election challenges.

There was only one vital issue in this election, Mr. Temple said — the need for majority government.

ONE BASIC ISSUE

"These have been wasted years for Canada — and they must now be brought to an end. There have been many issues, many claims, put up in this election. But the one basic issue — and let us not forget it — is for a government that not only has the confidence of the people, but returns that confidence by telling the truth — no matter how bitter the truth is at times."

Government is the supreme national responsibility, not a mere power play, he said.

"You've only got to remember what happened a week after June 18th last year to know what I mean — when Dr. Diefenbaker practically accused the Liberal party of Canada as conspirators because of their criticism of his economic policies. Remember what happened a brief few days after he was elected.

"This is an example — an outstanding one — of a man seeking power at any price."

Mr. Temple noted that in this Conservative opponent, Lee Grills, was campaigning on the slogan: "Never before has so much been done." Mr. Temple said this could be applied to the "whole Diefenbaker way of doing things."

Never before he said has one man done more to confuse and disunite this country — and the evidence of it is even on his own doorstep. How united and sure of itself is the Conservative party?

He directly challenged what he called claims by Mr. Grills for locating Belleville's new federal building and taking credit for the Conservative party for Trenton Air Station. "There are two men who did these things, the late Senator Wilfiiam Fraser of Trenton and Frank Follwell, your former Liberal member."

Mr. Follwell was among the platform guests at the rally. He was joined among others by Reg Dunham, president of Tweed Liberals; Hennigan Rush and Charles Bates of Tyendinaga.

Saturday in Deseronto, Liberals spent three hours in bringing home campaign issues to local householders. For three hours, party workers called on every home in the town, talking political problems and distributing campaign literature.

By the time they were through, Mr. Temple was in Deseronto and met the workers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kudman. After meeting them personally, he spoke on campaign issues and congratulated them on the initiative displayed by the local "blitz."

Before leaving Deseronto, he was invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid where a family party was celebrating the 70th birthday of Mrs. Reid's father, Mr. Harry Slavin.

Mr. Temple joined more than 150 guests at Hillcrest Public School hall for final event of the weekend, speaking briefly, dancing — and finally rounding off his tour at midnight.

START NEW PLANT

DRUMHELLER, Alta. (CP)— Construction will start soon on a $35,000,000 gas extraction plant south of Empress, Alta., said Pacific Petroleum Limited officials. More than 7,000 men will be employed in building the plant.

Ontario's New Industries

"An important role of the Industrial Development Branch (of the Ontario Department of Economics and Development) in strengthening the manufacturing output of the province lies in assisting the establishment of new domestic industries. Increasing attention is being given to the development of new companies of local origin to replace present imports and during 1963 this emphasis will be accelerated."

So states a booklet, "Ontario Industrial Review 1962," just issued.

The booklet lists "149 Canadian and foreign companies" as "among the more important firms establishing new manufacturing operations in Ontario in 1962, either by purchasing an industrial site, renting premises or building new facilities."

A check of this list will reveal adequate reason for pressing for a "Buy Ontario," or at least a "Buy Canadian," policy in the field of shopping for new industries.

Of the 149 new industries, 63 involved foreign capital. Only 86 were wholly Canadian in origin. Forty-seven were from the United States, while another nine were listed as jointly U.S. and Canadian projects. Germany is financing four of the new plants, while Canadian capital is linked with German capital in one other, one involves Canada, Denmark, Sweden and still another is a joint Canadian-British project.

It is gratifying to find projects for Canada's growth considered so good that foreign firms are eager to establish new plants here. But we shall have to pay the piper later if we continue to finance such a small share of our own growth. Moreover, it is disturbing to note the heavy preponderance of U.S. firms amongst those from outside Canada establishing here. Not one single British firm established a branch on its own and in only one case did a firm from Britain join with Canadians in establishing a new plant.

Incidentally, Belleville is credited with one new company in the list, International Precision Casting Co. Ltd., manufacturer of jet engine components, established at the Deloro Stellite plant as a joint Canadian and United States undertaking.

Dangerous Situation

Washington reports that the FBI, the U.S. Coast Guard and other agencies are doing all they can to discourage hit-and-run raids by Cuban refugees on Cuba and on Russian ships trading with Cuba.

It is to be hoped they succeed. Otherwise, trouble may be in store. No nation above the status of a banana republic is going to tolerate a continuation of such raids without taking steps to prevent them. But if Russia started to arm its merchant ships, or to send surface or undersea warships into the Caribbean on escort duty, the fat might soon be in the fire.

The U.S. Coast Guard, though, is handicapped in preventing such raids by Cuban refugees. It is still playing according to the written rules. "If we saw an armed boat heading from Florida to Cuba we would certainly stop it," one official said. He added, however, that the Coast Guard has no jurisdiction outside of U.S. territorial waters.

One can only wonder how long it would take the U.S. to act if armed boats flying the Hammer and Sickle suddenly appeared on the so-called high seas just outside U.S. territorial waters, after raids on U.S. harbors had been staged. If the U.S. does not stop these raiding boats, whether on the high seas or not, then we ought not to be surprised if Cuba or Russia tries to do so—a development which would hardly lessen tension.

Unless the Commonwealth idea can spread to the whole human race we are done for: what "Commonwealth" stands for is a relation that is more close, more friendly, more warmhearted than the traditional relations that mean sovereign states can always go to war with each other. Unless all countries, whatever their race or language or religion or color, can get into that relation with each other, I think we are going to destroy ourselves.—Historian Arnold Toynbee.

The only portion of London, in my opinion, that has retained its character is the East End. Where else can you go and know that you are in a specific portion of London? The languages —it's a Tower of Babel. And as a lesson for the United Nations it's about the only place. I should think, where people of so many different races, color, so many tongues, live together in some sort of harmony.—Comedian Alfred Marks.

Work Does Not Kill

—Montreal Gazette

The idea that business and industry are working people to death has become one of the modern myths. It is a myth that has been exposed by Dr. Robert H. Felix of Bethesda, Maryland, psychiatrist and the former director of the National Mental Institute in the United States. It's not work, he says, that kills people. It's not having enough to do. He says that mental inactivity is not a state of health but the almost certain beginning of illness.

The myth about work being injurious is not an easy one to conquer. There has been in this generation, as never before, the exploitation of the idea that work means wear and tear. It erodes a person's health, the great aim is to reduce it to its lowest possible proportions, so that a person may be relieved of the need to work, and will know the health that comes from a relaxed and easy mind.

This prejudice against work has become a commonplace in the world of work to be sure, is never easy. But the world itself is never easy and never was. It makes its demands. But these demands are not something to be shirked, but met, as the dark and pursuing shadows of doom. They are the natural challenges and difficulties that keep the mind alert, and give meaning to the days as they go by.

Dr. Felix gives his warning that to give up the real demands and exactions of work may only open the way to a flood of other anxieties and tensions. It is a sound thing, by and large, to have something difficult to do, and not to get sick at the very idea of taking part in the business of living.

The professor of psychiatry at Dalhousie University, Dr. R. O. Jones, is convinced that the idea that work is horrid, and salvation lies in shunning it, may lead to a lifetime of mental dislocation. He has found that "a great many people believe that work is what you have to do to earn enough so that you can have fun during the time when you don't have to work."

This, he is certain, is a diseased attitude. And he hopes that there may yet be a social change, and that work will come to be recognized as a great source of health. "It would be an important social change," he says, "if we made some general modifications in this attitude by trying to teach our young people that work has some worth for itself and should be a source of satisfaction and support to our mental health."

Another medical opinion has been that of Dr. Wilder G. Penfield. He believes that early retirements, so far from releasing men from the health-menace of having to work, may increase the health-menace. Work is some kind of work, a sort of "second career", is needful if health of mind and body is to be supported. The work may be different, and more suited to a man's later years, but work of some sort will not work at something will wear himself out by doing nothing.

Dr. Penfield gives the medical assessment of work. "Beyond the normal limits of rest and sleep," he does not believe that rest is needed. "Unlimited rest results in rust. It corrodes the mechanisms of the brain — the pathways that lead from speech to seed . . . At 60 the body has certainly passed its greatest strength, and physical exercise should be lessened and changed. But the brain is normally ready for its best performance in certain fields."

Work, in other words, is not an interval of damaging strain between escapes into healthy freedom. Work should be regarded as something to be escaped from as much as possible. It is not an affliction; it is part of health.

This is sound psychiatry today. But it is also sound folk-kind's ancient wisdom. More than a century ago a very wise Archbishop of Mayence, who knew the human heart well, said:

"The human heart is like a millstone. If you put the wheat under it, it grinds the wheat into flour. If you put no wheat, it grinds on, but then, 'tis itself it wears away."

Hydro Must Advertise

Fort William Times-Journal

It is reported that one of the reasons the Ontario Hydro Commission does not publish the figures of its annual advertising budget is that some members of the Provincial Legislature feel that Hydro spending on advertising is money wasted. Since the Hydro has a monopoly, their argument goes, it does not need to sell people on using electric power. But such an attitude toward advertising is very short-sighted, as the recent big campaign of the rural oil industry clearly demonstrates.

Hydro has a monopoly on selling electricity but in some days that is only one form of fuel available to the public. Oil and gas now compete with each other and with electric power. When fuel oil suppliers, following late the trend of natural gas, decided recently to offer residential customers a natural gas conversion service for their furnaces, advertising by oil dealers informed them very quickly and fully about the matter.

If the Hydro is to sell the heating of homes by electricity in any worthwhile quantity, or any other use of electricity that competes with natural gas or oil, the Commission has no alternative but to advertise. The idea that electricity — or any other fuel — enjoys a complete monopoly in the energy field is quite in error.

Strictly Personal

What's Wrong With the Realist?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

What is wrong with the "realist" who believes in "looking at the facts" is his naive belief that we get our conclusions from the things around us — when, actually, the perceptions come from us.

In his book, "Education and the Nature of Man," published a decade ago, Dr. Earl J. Kelly tells the old Austrian folk-tale of the three wayfarers stopping at noon to rest beneath an oak tree.

One, looking up through the branches, said, "What a sturdy mast this oak would make for a ship such as I used to sail upon." A second, who had been a draper's assistant, said "What a fine brown cloth my master could have dyed from this fine bark." The third, who had been in prison, said, in a swineherd, said, "What fine fat pigs could be grown from the acorns which fall from this tree!"

Which of them saw the "facts" of the oak tree? As Kelly reports on the results of some psychological experiments at the Hanover Institute, "since the perception is not a stable reality, and since no two organisms are exactly the same use of clues or bring the same experiential background to bear, no two of us can see alike. We have no common world."

If we truly understand this, it will make us more humble, more tentative, more tolerant, more flexible in our opinions and in our behavior. If, as Kelly indicates, no two persons can see the same thing, and no item of knowledge has the same effect on each of them, then one can never go from the "facts" to values about them.

He uses the example of Abraham Lincoln. It is, of course, a "fact" that he lived, that he was President, that he was assassinated. But, in Kelley's words, "there are as many Lincolns as there are persons." He explains what he means in these words:

"Lincoln is one thing to an Old Guard Republican, who holds him as a model but believes little else he believes. He is something else to the descendents of the slaves whom he freed. He is still another person to the Southern aristocrat . . . To some he does not exist at all, and others he is far from what we hold him to be."

This does not imply that we cannot arrive at common judgments, at basic value-agreements. It does suggest, however, that such judgments cannot be rooted in "objective facts," but only in the ways in which we grasp and combine these facts with our memory and our experience. It is not the hard facts of the objective world that keep us from working together, but the hardness of heart that makes us think the oak tree is only for masts, or for cloth, or for pigs.

As a result of newsprint rationing and the increased cost of production, the single copy price of the Kingston daily newspaper, the Whig - Standard, was increased to four cents the copy as of today. The weekly delivery price to private homes was pegged at 20 cents. It was announced in Kingston that the daily circulation of the Whig-Standard will not be allowed to rise above its present figure of circulation. Some time ago the single copy price of the Peterborough Examiner was increased from three to four cents.

Apparently the work of one of the more unprincipalled members of the light-fingered gentry, a coin collection box in Holloway Street United Church disappeared from its customary resting place at the rear of the Church some time on Sunday afternoon.

Four Kingston juveniles, two boys and two teen-age girls, were arrested at Desoronto on Saturday following a hectic police chase from Belleville where they are alleged to have stolen a motor car. Charges of stealing a motor car were preferred against the two boys, while nominal vagrancy counts held the girls in custody until their parents arrived from Kingston to take custody. As the culprits are all under 17 years of age their names were not made public.

The liner Atlantic was wrecked on a reef near Mars Rock, outside Halifax harbor, with a loss of 547 lives 90 years ago today—in 1873. The White Star liner was bound for New York from Liverpool when she encountered heavy gales and headlands. Her captain, fearing she would run out of coal, headed for Halifax to refuel. After grounding the ship soon began to break up and the 316 survivors owed their lives to the first officer, who swam to shore with a line.

Aim to Kill Wild Horses

Guelph Mercury

In Australia the strangest round-up in all of Australia's history is going on in Queensland where a massive hunt is on to kill 10,000 wild horses.

The horses, long wild, are known in Australia as "Brumbies" and they are roaming in mobs, each herd led by stallions, some white, which keep the herds in perfect order, and most cunning with cunning in the fight to separate the horses and drive them into prepared traps. The horses, led by stallions, all stay together like families.

Even the distraction of the noisy, low flying airplanes fails to put the horses off course. In the dusty area involved lies the shadow of water-starved, grey ranges, held by the horses who, the graziers say, are eating out the land, and rendering it dried and dead, after long years of intense heat. The horses come down from the hills in orderly Indian file and make for the water, which they refuse to leave.

After a seven year multi-million pound drought, the Mulga trees are dying under a pitiless sun, and the 10,000 or more horses must go, say the owners of the land. If they can get rid of the horses it will net an estimated £100,000 to the hun-

To Your Good Health

Don't Let Heart Murmur Prevent Tooth Extraction

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a heart murmur. Would it be safe if I have some teeth pulled?
— Mrs. R. W.

It is fair to surmise that you have been told by your doctor whether your heart murmur is one of the harmless type, or whether it indicates some fault in the organ.

When a murmur is of such significance that the patient has been warned, the warning usually (not always, of course) implies that a valve has been damaged, and the most common cause of this is rheumatic fever.

A valve so damaged is vulnerable to any further attack of the germ which causes rheumatic fever, a variety of the streptococcus.

Since extraction of a tooth can be accompanied by the release of germs into the blood stream (an infected tooth socket is the present source of germs) it is wise to take some precautions to protect the damaged heart valve against further harm.

Fortunately this can readily be done. One of the sulfa or penicillin drugs should be taken before the extraction, and for two or three days afterward to suppress such germs and thus protect the heart.

(If such an infection does reach the heart, it is known as subacute bacterial endocarditis.)

Except for the necessity of being careful in that regard, I see no other reason why a heart murmur should interfere with any excessive extractions.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you have a remedy for quitting smoking without telling me not to smoke? I've tried everything but it just didn't work. Will power is a virtue I don't happen to have.
— Mrs. W.

No, I don't know of any way to give up smoking without giving up smoking. Nor do I have any "will power" that I could take the place of will power. You can have will power if you want it enough to develop God's-be-old enough to stop thinking of terms of fairy tales and get back into the world of realities.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a cure of the liver disease, cirrhosis? Can it be cured? — C. C. C.

It definitely is not cancer. It can't be cured, but with proper care it often can be controlled for many years. Cancer does occur in a cirrhotic liver, however just as it can occur in any other organ.

Dear Dr. Molner: When you recently wrote about a child having born Mongoloid, I didn't know what you meant. "Webster" says: "Mongoloid, resembling, or characteristic of, the Mongol race; specifically, Mongoloid traits or characteristics." I can see no reason for this causing death. Would you explain? — D. W. H.

Mongolism or "being born Mongoloid" refers, medically, to a particular type of defective child. The cause is obscure, but it is known that an extra chromosome is present—47 instead of the normal 46.

Such a child's features (degree of variation in the degree of the particular case) are Mongoloid in appearance: Position and angle of the eyes, tongue—lips stubby fingers, and others.

These children are mentally retarded—some to a degree of vs varies. They are also of ten below the normal height. While this defect is not in itself a cause of death, such children have less resistance to infection; many die in infancy or childhood. Some also tend to develop leukemia. Especially with modern health care, a good many now are growing to adulthood.

Note to Mrs. V.: Irritation in the genital area of males at times occur with the "change of life," and is caused by the use of hormones by suppository, injection or by mouth. But it is not necessarily caused by other possible causes of this "boiling" sensation such as local infection, diabetes, or infection of the urinary tract.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Packsack, 200 Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 58, Dundee, Ill., requesting my booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Classics masters used to be the most respected members of high school and college faculties. I don't know how it is these days, since the classics have fallen into such decline. But the classics masters had the wisdom, with some few of all the past at their command, and were appreciably craftier in teaching subjects dear to them most. On one occasion my classics master wished to make a point with regard to the difficulty of expressing things in writing as compared with speech.

"How," he asked us, "do you ters, marketing the dead animals as pet food. But can they? The animals are well fed, swift and know the land. Their leaders, the great stallions, are implicitly obeyed, and nothing seems to shake them loose. You can't trap them. You just have to go out and seek to round them up. It's a most extraordinary hunt, and rounding up the horses is certainly going to be a long job to accomplish, all agree.

spell the word two, as in two men?"

"T-w-o," we replied.

"And to, meaning towards?"

"T-o," we responded.

"And the meaning also?"

"T-o-o."

"Very well," said the master, "write them, for the sake of the following sentence: 'In the English language, there are three ways of writing the word ...'"

And he used the word.

None of us realized that a century has passed, has ever succeeded in completing that sentence. We have never forgotten our classics master.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Grading on slaughter cattle was fairly active at steady prices at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Veal calf prices were steady. Hog prices were weaker and lamb prices about steady.

Slaughter cattle 2,230: Choice steers 23 - 24; good 22 - 23; medium 20 - 22; commons and canners 15-18; good heifers 21-22; commons 15-18.50; choice fed yearlings 23-24; good cows 17-18 with odd sales to 19; medium 15.50-16.50; canner and cutter cows 11-15; good and choice bulls 19-20; common and medium 16-18.50.

Replacement cattle 400: Good light stockers 24-26 with good weights and stock calves to 29; medlums and commons 20-23.

Sheep and lambs 163: Good feedlot lambs 25.50; sheep 3-10.

PRODUCE MARKET

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture on Canada grade eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases; a large 44, A medium 42, A small 38, B and C grades no market.

Broiler prices: Canada first grade: Ontario tenderable 51-52; non-tenderable 51½, in light trading: Western 51-52 (nominal).

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market was mixed to slightly brith industrials remaining their gradual advance during moderate morning trading today.

The exchange index showed western oils hitting another new 1963 high.

Main list gains appeared in a narrow range with Canadian Tire rising ¼ and most major banks moving ahead. Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce rose ¼ to 64 and had a specialsized transaction of 2,000 shares at the current price, while Royal advanced ¼ and Toronto-Dominion and Nova Scotia each rose ¼. Montreal dipped ¼.

Among other gainers, Canadian Celanese rose ½ to a new high of 53½, Alberta Gas gained ⅜ and Distillers Seagrams ¼.

On index, industrials rose .25 to a new 1963 high of 605.33 and western oils gained .72 to 117.93. Golds slipped .15 to 91.34 and base metals .29 to 202.54.

In a lower base metals market Falconbridge dipped ¼ and Gunnar Mines fell 20 cents to $8.75 on fairly light turnover.

Gunnar's loss follows a weekend announcement that the company's ore reserves do not appear sufficient to fully complete its allotment from a contract with the United Kingdom. The announcement said concentrate shipments will probably conclude in late 1964 rather than early 1965.

In speculative action, Head of Lakes jumped three cents to 23 cents on a turnover of about 250,000 shares.

Western oils were relatively quiet with Bailey-Selburn A up 20 cents to $9.70 and Calgary and Edmonton advanced ¼.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP)—The noon bid on the U.S. dollar was $1.07 13-16 in terms of Canadian funds, the asked $1.07 27-32. Friday the noon bid was $1.07 11-16 and the asked $1.07 13-16. Pound sterling noon bid was $3.01⅜, the asked $3.02.

Sweep Ticket Gets $1,225 For Area Man

At least there is one happy person in the district after the Grand National had been run at Aintree. Mr. Howard Lockwood, R.R. 7, Belleville, who signed his ticket with the nom-de-plume "Happy" was notified today that he drew a horse in the race, "Oakleigh Way," but unfortunately the horse did not start.

By drawing a horse that was entered, Mr. Lockwood will receive in the near future 425 pounds, eleven shillings and four pence or about $1,225 in Canadian money. This will be a welcome spring present for Mr. Lockwood.

President's Night of Y's Men Sees Induction of Officers

On Saturday evening, upwards of 80 persons attended the Belleville Y's Men's annual "President's Night," and witnessed the induction ceremony of the 1963-64 executive at the local YMCA.

Among those present were Mr. Ward Cornell, International Director of the Ontario Region; Mr. Chuck Thomas, District Governor of Kingston for Western Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. B. G. MacKenzie, President of the Board of Directors of the YMCA; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Belanger from the Kinsmen's Club; Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Burns of the Rotary Club; Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams of the Kiwanis Club and a past service member of the Y's Men's Club and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth York of the Soroptimist Club. Other guests included representatives from the Kingston, Cobourg, Oshawa and Peterborough Y's Men's Club and the Y's Menettes.

The evening was opened with "The Queen" followed by introductions of the head table guests by international Director-elect of the Ontario Region Hugh Watson, and introduction of the special guests by Y's Man Robbie Clarke. A delicious turkey dinner was served by Mrs. McKenna and her staff in the "Y" auditorium gaily decorated by the Quinte Secondary School Sketching Club for the occasion. A toast to the ladies was given by Y's Man Max Woolley and responded to by Y's Menette president, Mrs. Jean Prentice. Everyone then joined in for a sing song led by Y's Man Doug Trumble and assisted by Miss Heather Grant at the piano.

Perfect attendance pins were presented to the following Y's Men for these periods: Robbie Clarke, 13 years; Bert Hiles, 11 years; Bill Hutchinson, 10 years; Di Diamantides, 10 years; Jim Pearson, nine years; Hugh Watson, seven years; Bill Prentice, four years; John Hayman, four years; Vern Weir, two years; Colin Wilcox, one year; Garry Sherman, one year; Erwin Boehm, one year.

YEAR'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Following these presentations, the retiring President, Y's John Hayman delivered the annual "The Year In Retrospect" address, summing up the accomplishments of Club during the past year. These accomplishments included: the installation of a proper swimming area for the children at the Y's Men's Day Camp site at Oak Lake, and providing proper supervision for the Saturday meets of the Y Ski Club. This club is now placed among the top four Ontario clubs for their donations towards the Bishop's Fund. (A project sponsored by Y's Men throughout the world to help bring delegates from foreign lands to attend world conferences on Y'sdom.) The Belleville club purchased uniforms for the Y midget basketball team, and thus far have donated over $5,000 to the YMCA Building Fund through their annual fund raising events.

At this time special praises went to Y's Man Hugh Watson for his unselfish giving of time and effort to the Belleville club and his assistance towards the formation of the Peterborough branch of the Y's Men's Club. Mr. Watson is an active member of the YMCA Board of Directors, and recently was awarded a plaque for his outstanding leadership to the "Y".

Following the retiring President's address, Mrs. Max Woolley favored the gathering with her fine singing talents to selections from My Fair Lady and Brigadoon. She was accompanied by Miss Heather Grant at the piano.

Mr. B. G. MacKenzie, President of the YMCA Board of Directors, announced that construction of the new YMCA building would commence shortly, and requested the support of the citizens of Belleville. The site of the New "Y" is located in the east end of the city on Victoria Avenue.

EXECUTIVE INDUCTED

The induction ceremony for the 1963-64 Y's Men's Club executive was carried out by Mauri Nield, International Director of Y's Men's Club in the Ontario Region, and concluded by retiring President, John Hayman, pinning the badge of office on incoming President, Doug Trumble, and presenting him with the gavel of office. The new President then gave the annual "Looking to the Future" address. His remarks included:

"The central purpose of the Y's Man is to serve by diligent, active, personal, and united effort, every phase of the program of the Young Men's Christian Association . . . and when a man is asked to join the Y's Men's Club, he is asked not to be primarily a club member, but to be a Y's Man, that is, a man of and for the "Y". The president also stressed that this coming year, an objective will be established for all new members. That is, an effective indoctrinnation program into the philosophy and the objective of Y'sdom. " . . . . all proposals for new coming year could be summed up in on basic aim: a strong Y's Men's Club, strong in members, in devotion to Y'sdom, in its efforts to support the Y, not only financially, but also in active and personal leadership, strong in the knowledge of what both the YMCA and the Y's Men's Club, stands for. The principals of the Y's Men's Club demand high and noble ideals. It is imperative therefore, that we seek for strength and guidance from beyond ourselves. The Y and our Club are founded upon a faith in God. It is to Him we must turn".

Cancer Fund Drive Opens in Ameliasburg

In conjunction with the national All-Canada drive, the Cancer Fund campaign for Ameliasburg township gets underway today with campaign chairman Harmon Montgomery directing the drive.

Mr. Montgomery said that his 24 canvassers had been directed to call at every door in the township soliciting donations for the drive against cancer

Township canvassers are Charles Kent, Earle Howe, John Davis, Blake Young, Mrs. John Walsh, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Mrs. Keitha Carnrike, Mrs. Florence Wood, Arthur Adams, Mrs. Morgan Silks, Harvey Brown, John McIntyre, Mrs. Clifford Barber, Mrs. Elmer Young, Mrs. Don Graves, Bert Simpson, Mrs. Arthur Miller, Mrs. Flossie Pulver, Mrs. Keith Ward, Mrs. Marjory Caterer, Mrs. J. W. Ross, Mrs. Tom Walker, Mrs. Albert Wallbridge and Mrs. Murial Minaker.

The Quinte district was well represented Saturday when 400 air, sea and land Rangers from all parts of Ontario held their annual conference at Trenton. Visit to the Trenton Air Station was the highlight of rally. Canada's famed jet flying team the Golden Hawks presented a thrilling air show much to the delight of the visitors. Hawk pilots were swamped by autograph hunters after they got back on the ground. Belleville, Trenton and Picton Rangers are shown with an Ontario group and three members of the R.C.A.F. aerobatic team: left to right, Christine Hamilton, Trenton; Carol Strickland, Almonte; Bonnie Searles, Hamilton; Sharon Campbell, Picton; Judy Collingwood, Ottawa; Janice Day, Belleville; Lorna Weir, Cornwall; Penny Miller, Sarnia; Georgette Laroche, Windsor. Golden Hawk pilots F/L C. B. Lang, F/L Al Young and F/L Ed McKeogh.

Last Spring's Creosote Flood Not Repeated

TRENTON — Mrs. Frank Archer, of Trenton, is happy this year. She has no creosote in her basement. Last year at this time, the basement under her home at 118 Leopold St., leaked water so fast it took three pumps working almost full time to keep it dry. As if the water wasn't bad enough, the family soon found that creosote was mixed with the flood.

The house smelled of creosote and the creosote pumped out of the basement ruined the Archer's lawn and flower garden.

Mrs. Archer complained to the Canada Creosoting Company Ltd., and it traced the trouble to an abandoned sump filled with creosote, about a mile to the north of the Archer house. It drained the sump, loaned the Archers a pump, and had all the water flowing into the Archer house pumped into the creek on Marmora Street, a block away. In July, when the basement dried out, the trouble was produced the lawn and provided fresh loam for the garden.

This year, the basement has been fully floored and waterproofed. There is still a small trickle of water, but it's not enough that one pump can handle it with ease. The creosote sump is the main problem is gone, but sometimes, in the basement, there is a faint smell. Mrs. Archer is hoping it's just left over from last year.

Cancer Society Plans Canvass for $4,500

TRENTON—The Trenton unit of the Canadian Cancer Society has begun a fund-raising campaign the end of this month. This year's campaign manager is Mrs. Lorne Last year, the local unit collected $4,500 in a door-to-door canvass. This year's objective has yet to be announced.

Meantime, Douglas Rushnell, president of the newly-formed Trenton Chapter of the Canadian Heart Foundation, announced last week that the chapter had raised $2,000 in a recent public night canvass. Mr. Rushnell also announced that this was "good," considering the local branch was only formed at the end of 1962.

Hold Blood Clinic

TRENTON — A blood donor clinic is being held today at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Trenton. Clinic times are 2.00 p.m. to 4.30 p.m. and 6.30 p.m. to 9.00 p.m.

PRINCES PASS

Of the nearly 600 princely realms existing when British rule ended in India in 1947, none now retains its identity as a separate state.

Picton Youth Hurt

TRENTON — A Picton youth was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital early today following an accident on the Wooler road, four miles west of the overpass.

Peter Anthony Shannon, 19, was said to be suffering from minor shoulder injuries. Provincial police from Brighton say that Shannon's car rolled over into the ditch. The accident occurred at 12.30 a.m.

Saturday, around 8.00 p.m. Brian Leslie Perks, 24, also rolled his car over, this time the accident occurred on High way 401, near Little Lake.

Perks was not injured.

'Get Out Vote' Drive Modified

TRENTON — The Trenton Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a "get out to vote" campaign, in a modified way. Posters have been placed in stores and circulars sent out to restricted list of voters. In the municipal elections of other years, the chamber has supplied postcards, urging town residents to exercise their franchise. These were given to school children to take home. But this was a costly procedure and this year, the chamber with a slow-moving membership campaign underway, did not supply the cards and when it came to the federal election, decided to make do with the posters.

Council Faces Busy Session

TRENTON—Trenton council meets tonight to consider such items as a board of health request that old boat houses on the sanitary landfill be removed and a further health board request that "Clean Up Week" be May 6 to 10 and that council provide funds for trucks to pick up refuse placed at the curb during this week.

A by-law, to authorize the change of names of certain town streets will get a second reading. Last meeting, councillors were asked to bring in suggestions for street names, this month. Council will consider lowering the speed limit on Dufferin Ave. (on which Prince Charles School is located) to 25 mph. Council will also be asked to authorize making Banna Street in east Trenton, a through street.

The Incredible Mr. Hilton Marches On

By ZENA CHERRY

Like me, you're probably sick of hearing about Hilton — but really, the man is incredible.

I remember my father, who was a doctor, telling me once, "If you're ever seriously ill insist on two doctors, a young one and an old one — the first techniques, the second for knowledge which can be gained only by experience." Nowadays most businesses make it compulsory to retire at 65 — and one often hears of early retirement at 60 or even 55. All that leaves how put to pasture — it makes me shudder.

Conrad Nicholson Hilton is 75 years old — and what is he doing? He is not only president but also chairman of the board of all his vast hotel chain. You'd think that would be while he'd like to rest on his laurels in one of his 41,000 rooms. But no — this year, 1963, he is opening not one more hotel, but eleven. He recently said, "I'm going to go on and on building hotels — I'm curious to know if there is an income I can't live beyond."

Hilton's largest hotel is the Stevens in Chicago — in fact, it's 3,000 rooms make it the world's largest hostelry. His biggest hotel outside the U.S.A. is in Canada—Montreal's Queen Elizabeth with its 1,216 rooms. It is owned by the C.N.R., but operated by Hilton and for this he gets one-third of the gross profits. Under construction now is the 358-room Montreal, Airport Hilton, to be ready in November.

Also, being readied for opening is the Hong Kong Hilton and the manager will be Kenneth S. Moss who was formerly assistant manager of the G.E.

Then — just stick a pin in the map and you're apt to pick a new Hilton site scheduled for 1963 inaugurals — Italy, Greece, Japan, Ireland, Honolulu, etc.

The first English Hilton will open its doors in London in June, and like the cheese that shines with Hilton it has quite a stinkeroo. When the $22,000,-000, 30-storey, 312 bed hotel is completed, guests on the upper floors will, like the cat, be able to look at the Queen, or at least they'll be able to gaze down on the Queen's garden and her garden parties on the lawns of Buckingham Palace. But don't fret, Mr. Hilton swears there will be no room charge ed for rooms with the Royal Exposure.

Not since John Nash, the Welshman from Cardigan designed the Marble Arch in the last century has there been such a foofaraw involving a Royal resident.

The Marble Arch began its career as the triumphal entrance to Buckingham Palace — but Nash miscalculated and made it too narrow for coaches. The problem was ultimately solved by moving it to the edge of Hyde Park and here it still sits in unusual glory as the entrance to nothing.

Who's to move now—the Hilton or the Queen?

Rumours—fly about London that Windsor Castle seems a more agreeable permanent residence for the Royal family. And Lord Beaverbrook's (he will be 84 on May 25, and has no thought of retiring) Sunday Express suggests the following way for Her Majesty to show her displeasure: "By putting her foot down firmly on any suggestion that anyone associated with the building should find a place in her honor lists."

So, despite his 61 hotels, I guess one thing Hilton will never be: If he lives to be 100, is Duke, Lord or even Sir.

Mother's Helper

EARLY USE of the playpen will help to establish this territory as a regular part of your baby's routine. From about 3 or 4 months, he can lie in it, "just looking." (Be sure to select a draftless spot.) Never use a stay in the playpen as a punishment, but make it an interesting place in which your wee one has fun.

Friendship Guild Entertains Groups

GILEAD — The Gilead Community Centre was the setting for a gala evening when the Friendship Guild entertained friends from neighboring groups.

Usual business routine was dispensed with for this social event. The president Albert Grills introduced the guests present and was master of ceremonies for the fine program as followed: piano accordion selections by Bruce Swan; reading by Mrs. Harold Howes with interspersing Irish jokes; piano duet by Cynthia and Elizabeth Howes; choral group singing of Irish songs by 14 members of the Plainfield Club with Mrs. H. Harrison, accompanist, reading by Mrs. Albert Grills. A humorous skit was enacted by five of the Gilead members, Albert Grills, George Clare, Roy Huffman, Earl Prevetton and Earl Ross.

Recreation was in charge of Mrs. G. Swan with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grills and Mr. and Mrs. George Clare assisting. Prizes for contests were won by Mrs. Dennis Hilts, Mr. Arnold Dilts, and the Misses Nancy and Mona Latchford. Mr. and Mrs. Dickens were the winners of another amusing contest. Mrs. Douglas Tummon and Mr. Wayne Tummon won the door prizes.

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing to music provided by Mrs. Earl Treverton and Bruce Swan with Earl Ross as conductor. Games of euchre and crokinole brought the evening's entertainment to a close after which tasty refreshments were served.

A vote of thanks to the host group was tendered by Mr. Grant Kerr.

Nicholson College PTA Presents Skit

The March meeting of Nicholson Catholic College P.T.A. was held on Thursday evening last, at the college. The president, Mr. Oriel Griffiths, presided, and opening prayers were recited by Sister Mary Imelda.

Discussion followed regarding representation at the CPTA convention to be held in Toronto on April 15th, and 16th.

Mr. G. McNamara, Trenton, gave a report on the result of the recent "Telephone Bridge and Euchre," and prizes were awarded to the following winners:

Euchre: high scores, Mrs Anne Beaton, Mrs. H. Hewson, and William Ryan. Low score, Mrs. M. Lynch and hidden score, Michael Murphy.

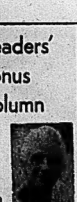
Mr. Griffiths expressed appreciation of Mr. McNamara, and Miss Marjorie Quinn for keeping a record of the bridge and euchre scores for Trenton and Belleville.

SKIT

The meeting was highlighted by an hilarious skit entitled, "Wanted, a Housekeeper," under the direction of Sister Mary Fleurette, and superbly enacted by Dennis McAuley and Brian Colligan, (the two bachelors in dire need of a housekeeper), Louise Brown, Kathleen Cleary, Donna Culhane, Heather Boyle and Jim Black.

Another feature of the program was a dance performed by the Nicholson College "cheer leaders," followed by one of their cheer routines.

The College Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Mary Anne, concluded the program with several beautifully rendered selections, in cluding "Over the Rainbow," "Oklahoma" and "Ave Maria."



After Sister Mary Teresa closed the meeting coffee was served by Mrs. H. Glancey and her committee.

(NOTE:

You can expect anything on April Fool's Day — and here is an extra column with answers to readers. No fooling though when I say thank you to the dozens of readers who have given me their favorite recipes recently. They have been filed and will be used as needed.)

QUESTION:

I have tasted Sweet and Sour Spareribs several times in Chinese restaurants and they seem to have celery seed — or something similar — and a pineapple flavor as well. The sauce on them is almost clear — Mrs. F. B.

ANSWER:

In the same mail came the following well-recommended recipe for Sweet and Sour Spareribs.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Grilled Shoulder or Rib Lamb Chops or Minced Lamb Patties, Mint Grape Jelly, Hashed Brown Potatoes, Mashed Turnip, Cole Slaw, Fresh Stewed Rhubarb, Spice Cake, Coffee.

NOTE:

You could omit cherries and add celery seed if desired.

SWEET AND SOUR SPARERIBS (courtesy Mrs. Emily B.):

2 sides (strips) well-fleshed spareribs, 1 tablespoon fat or salad oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 small garlic clove, 1 No. 303 can sliced pineapples (28-oz.), 2 medium-sized green peppers, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 1 teaspoon MSG (accent), ½ cup vinegar (wine preferable), ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup water, maraschino cherries (optional).

Have spareribs cut in serving-size pieces, or cut them yourself. Place on rack in open roaster. Roast in slow oven (325 deg. Fahr.) for 1½ hours. Meanwhile heat fat or salad oil; add salt and garlic; cook over low heat for 10 minutes; remove garlic. Add syrup from pineapple. Cut green peppers in 1" pieces; add, cook over low heat 10 minutes. Blend remaining ingredients, except cherries, add, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Add pineapple slices and cherries, if used; heat. Pour sauce over spareribs. Serves 6.

QUESTION:

A few years back there was a recipe for a Lemon Cake Pie. Both pie crust and the filling were baked together at the same time — No name. -

ANSWER:

Please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope next time you write. I would prefer to mail this recipe to you as I have given it here before and we are always short of space.

LEMON SPONGE PIE (sometimes called Lemon Cake Pudding):

2 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 1 cup granulated sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 5 tablespoons lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon, 3 egg yolks, 1¼ cups milk, 3 egg whites.

Line pie plate with pastry. Cream butter or margarine with sugar. Add flour, salt, lemon juice and rind and stir until ingredients are thoroughly blended. Add the well-beaten egg yolks, which have been mixed with the milk. Lastly fold in carefully the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into unbaked pastry-lined pie plate. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. for 25 to 30 minutes.

NOTE:

You may bake this same filling in a greased casserole without pastry, if you wish.

The brightly striped cotton top of this casual or sportswear outfit can be worn completely belted, without a belt, or with a half-belt as shown.

It is co-ordinated with a pair of Jamaica shorts in rough cotton and the top and shorts add up to a jaunty number, practical for the vacationist and nice for the subordinate, too.

Golden Hawks Topic at BBC Couples Club

The regular meeting of the B.B.C. Club will be held at Clifford and Thekla Hough's on April 3rd, with Warner and Phyllis McFaul, and Clifford and Ruth Morris responsible for devotion and program.

Previously the B.B.C. Club entertained Flight Lieut. Valley and Wellington Couples' Club at Allisonville hall, on March 6th, with a good attendance from each club.

On March 13th, the Energetic Couples' Club of Belleville, entertained BBC Club at Holloway St. United Church with 11 couples attending. A very interesting evening was enjoyed.

The president introduced the guest speakers, Flight Lieutenant Jim Giles and F/L Al Young, public relations officer, and night wing flyer from the RCAF Golden Hawks.

An interesting film was presented of the Hawks in their various manoeuvres and they also showed their apparel worn while flying. They told of the Golden Hawks being formed in 1959 at Chatham, N.B., and now their permanent home being at Trenton. Their air shows begin in May at Windsor, and continue until September, touring Canada and the United States. Their show will be at Trenton on June 2.

After the film and explanation a question period followed.

Lunch was served.

On March 20th, the Cherry Valley Couples' Club presented their play, "Always in Trouble," at Allisonville hall, sponsored by the BBC Club. A good crowd attended and enjoyed this play. Much credit is due them for the effort put forth in this play.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

PLANNING THE BIG NIGHT OUT

There comes a time in the lives of many men when they feel the irresistible urge to "put on the dog" with their wives or best girls. The occasion may be an anniversary, a birthday, a raise in pay or simply a pleasant and dramatic surprise.

The Big Date, of course, means dinner and dancing at the swankiest restaurant in town. Nothing else will do. But otherwise strong men have been known to blanch at the prospect, because they're not sure they know how to handle themselves in such a rarified atmosphere.

Although there are certain customs and rules for dining and dancing elegantly, they shouldn't scare anyone. The only problem faced by gallant swains is the price of a lavish evening. These days, it really costs.

So, the first thing a man planning a top-drawer evening should do is check his finances and budget. Prices will vary from city to city, but unless he's prepared to spend $20 to $50, he had better switch his plans to a chop house and the movies.

If he's got the price of a big night out, the rest is easy . . . providing he knows what to expect and how to meet each situation. Remember, he's out to make an impression on the girl just as big as the tariff.

Start out by phoning the restaurant and making a reservation. There's no better way to puncture a girl's high spirits than to make her wait around a restaurant lobby because you trusted to luck.

Don't hesitate to tell the person at the restaurant the kind of table you want. He can always turn you down if you want the best spot in the room. On the other hand, you don't want to sit in the piano player's lap. Ask for a table near the wall, so you can hear yourself talk and still see what's going on.

An important tip: dress properly for the occasion and the restaurant. Show up in saddle shoes and sports shirt and the headwaiter is apt to claim he doesn't have you on his reservation list.

The man preferably should wear a dark suit and white shirt. If you have other preferences, at least wear a coat and trousers that match. The woman may wear an afternoon or cocktail-type dress.

A man who knows practices a minor gesture which never fails to make a major impression on his wife. He makes certain they arrive at the restaurant a half-hour or so early, so they can enjoy a cocktail or two in the lounge before going to their table.

As he explains, "It creates movement and makes my wife feel she's been in more than one place. Besides, the informality of the lounge provides an interesting contrast to the atmosphere in the dining room."

Once at the table, you will be approached by the waiter or captain. He will suggest either a cocktail or menu. If you ask for both, you can study the menu while sipping your drink. The captain, if discreet, will leave you alone until you've decided what you wish to order.

This brings up a question often asked by readers who seldom dine out in a so-called "posh" restaurant: the function of the captain. They wonder why they must deal with a captain when a waiter is available.

Well, a captain often knows more about the food on the menu and how it's prepared. Good restaurants which cater to discriminating diners also find it more efficient to provide an expert able to discuss your food preferences while the waiter is busy in the kitchen filling food orders from other diners.

In tomorrow's column I will discuss procedures for ordering the meal, gratuities and other aspects of dining out in high fashion.

Mr., Mrs. Everett Porter Frankford, Wed 65 Years

Sixty five years of married life were celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Porter of Frankford on Saturday, when they were at home to friends and relatives from the Bay of Quinte area.

Former residents of the Tweed district, Mr. and Mrs. Porter have lived on Trent Road at Frankford for the past 20 years. Now 85, Mr. Porter still takes daily walks to the post office. Mrs. Porter is 84.

They were married two years before the turn of the century at Downey's Rapids by an Anglican minister, Rev. Mr. Burton of Madoc.

They have one daughter living, Mrs. L. S. Hart of Frankford, 16 grandchildren, 36 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

'Automation's Impact' Talk At Bayside H-S

On Thursday evening the Bayside Home and School Association held its regular monthly meeting.

During the business session, it was decided that a brief case should be purchased for the use of the treasurer.

A nominating committee headed by Mr. K. Bird was chosen to nominate the officers for next year.

The room count was again won by Mr. Denyes' class at Bayside School.

The guest speaker, Miss Kay Patterson, a past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Trenton, was introduced by Mrs. George Caves. Miss Patterson's talk on 'Automation and its impact on the employment field,' provoked lively discussion.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Harry Powers.

Holloway UCW Hear Talk on Church Carriers

Holloway St. United Church Women held their monthly meeting recently in the church parlors. Mrs. Clarence Holmes, the president, welcomed all the members and visiting members of U.C.W. groups from several churches in the district.

Mrs. O. Bertrand gave the devotional with the Scripture reading, Proverbs 3: 1-12.

Mrs. Bertrand's meditation based on the theme of the "Power of Parental Influence" showed how actions of parents, in large things, were important. She also stressed the example value of parents in small ways which leads to good guidance of the children. She closed by saying in part, "that there was always sure hope with God and love in a home."

AAfter the devotions closed a short business session followed with several recommendations being carried.

Mrs. G. Dobbs introduced Miss Beatrice Wilson, associate secretary of the Board of Women, who spoke to the group.

Her subject was, "Career Opportunities in the Church." Miss Wilson dealt with the various fields of interesting work open for women.

"There are many women working for the United Church in greatly varied fields which all follow the plan of help for others."

Miss Wilson spoke of a woman who helps at the Victor Mission with groups other than normally known work carried on there. One of her most active pets is the guidance of a mothers' group.

Miss Tillman's work is with the Y.W.C.A. and she has worked especially in Twillingate Presbytery in Newfoundland.

OTHER WORKS

Other members of this group dedicated to "Church Career Women" work in Indian schools in Northwestern Canada, Interesting Indian young people into life in cities, as nurses in United Church hospitals, missionaries in Hong Kong, Angola, and many other places, as magazine editors, superintendents of United Church Senior Citizens' Homes, and at many other interesting occupations.

She especially mentioned Miss Dorothy Pearson who taught home economics in India for many years and was asked to return by the government to help teach the people how to make best use of the food available, especially in destitute areas.

Miss Wilson summed up her talk by saying that many people were needed and that more and more training is being required to fill these positions of social workers, nurses, doctors, teachers, but along with the higher educational requirements each applicant must have a deep interest and conviction that they have been called by God to help people everywhere through the church.

Mrs. C. W. Smith thanked the speaker for her inspiring talk and added a special welcome to teenagers who came to hear Miss Wilson.

Mrs. C. Holmes added her thanks and made announcements concerning a Youth Conference at Queen's University, in May, the Easter service of the choir, and the annual bazaar to be held late in October.

Mrs. Holmes gave the benediction and invited everyone to stay for refreshments served by Mrs. Carlisle's group.

TOMMY RUNS THINGS—For the past year life has been a merry one for Tommy Douglas, wife of the national leader of the New Democratic Party. Mrs. Douglas, shown with her husband setting out on an election jaunt, has been with him at times during the 1962 federal election, the by-election last fall in his Burnaby-Coquitlam riding and the current campaign. The mother of two—one married the other a student nurse says—Tommy runs things when he's at home.

Mrs. Douglas Supports Husband All the Way

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Irma Douglas likes her coffee with cream, sugar and politics.

She takes her hockey in the rollicking Chicago style and her football in the death-with-valor tradition of Saskatchewan Roughriders.

She doesn't see as much of her husband as she used to, but contents herself with good music, books, television, bird-watching and political campaigning on his behalf.

And she appreciates his jokes. Irma Douglas is the wife of T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, and she lives a schizophrenic existence.

"When Tommy's home he runs things. I make the porridge he has for breakfast every morning and go with him to rallies and meetings. I sit on the platform and smile."

Sometimes they tour the country together. At other times he goes alone, leaving her in charge of the home riding of Burnaby-Coquitlam. Then it's coffee parties "in the morning, at noon and in the evening."

THIRD ELECTION

This has been an active year, politically, for Mrs. Douglas. Her husband is fighting his second general election in 10 months with a byelection sandwiched in between.

"Everything has gone smoothly so far. The children were at home previously—now I have more time."

Daughter Shirley—now Mrs. Tim Sick of the Seattle brewing family—achieved modest fame on the London stage; Joan graduates from the University of Saskatchewan this year as a nurse.

Mrs. Douglas was Irma Dempsey, a Carberry, Man., teen-aged music student, in 1930 when she married the young Baptist minister who went on to become a member of Parliament, premier of Saskatchewan and eventually head of the NDP.

They keep a one-bedroom apartment in suburban Burnaby and a two-bedroom apartment in Ottawa, but she misses the cottage they had on Carlyle Lake and the house they lived in for 18 years in Regina.

Tommy hasn't taken her to a hockey game or football game since he entered the federal field.

WATCHES TV

"But I watch them all on television. I root for Chicago Black Hawks because they have so many Saskatchewan boys on the team. Tommy and I used to go to junior games in Regina, and we watched players like Murray Balfour and Billy Hay grow up."

However, politics has made up for some of the lost excitement.

"I remember one wonderful night in Glace Bay last June. It was my first big rally. Our car drove right into the forum and up to the stage through the crowd of cheering miners."

Another memorable evening came on the same tour, but more than 3,000 miles away from the Nova Scotia rally. She and her husband drove through Chinatown here as burning strings of firecrackers fell into their open car and crackled around their ankles.

"There were thousands of people in the forum here to see Tommy. That was the biggest rally."

Mrs. Douglas weighs about 90 pounds and stands five feet tall, but she finds her shoulders broad enough to take the constant ribbing she is subjected to on the campaign platform by her husband.

CLOSER TO HOME

And she finds her stamina equal to the change in campaigning necessary in the move from provincial politics on the rural level to federal politics in a large urban area.

In Saskatchewan it was "mainly meetings, then driving 100 to 200 miles home."

"In some ways this is easier; now we're seldom more than 20 minutes from home."

There we've a few "coffee parties" in Saskatchewan, but nothing like the number she attends here where she sips her coffee and fields questions on medicare, nuclear arms and unemployment.

Harry Pope, her husband's executive assistant, accompanies her to most of these.

There are sometimes protracted periods, however, when Tommy is out of town and then she turns to her books.

"I like being by myself. I wouldn't want anyone to think I'm a loner, but I like being by myself."

Campaign Strains Political Loyalty of Montreal Woman

MONTREAL (CP)—The federal election campaign strains the political loyalties of Mrs. Simone Taylor.

Her daughter is Mrs. Egan Chambers, wife of the Progressive Conservative candidate in St. Lawrence-St. George, while her son is Prof. Charles Taylor, the New Democratic candidate in Mount Royal.

Mrs. Taylor wishes them both well and works to promote the cause of both.

"Mother has had to start keeping a calendar to keep us both straight," says Mrs. Chambers.

"She attends all of Chuck's speaking engagements. And as Egan doesn't give as many public speeches, she works in our committee rooms."

Mrs. Taylor says her feelings toward the two are "personal not political."

Are the brother - sister loyalties strained? Not at all. Mrs. Chambers and Prof. Taylor live within blocks of each other. They share a station wagon car pool to get their children to school, and spend summers and weekends together at their mother's cottage in the Laurentians.

CLOSE FRIENDS

When both families are together the conversation inevitably turns to politics.

"But it's more stimulating than difficult," Mrs. Chambers says. "Egan and Chuck are completely level with one another and are the closest of friends. Having two politicians in the family will never prove difficult."

Their great-grandfather was Lord Beaubien, Speaker of the legislative assembly and minister of agriculture, while their grandfather was Senator Charles P. Beaubien. Senator Louis Beaubien is their uncle.

"We weren't raised in a political family," says Mrs. Chambers. Her father was an engineer. "But current events were very much a part of our daily life."

In their McGill University days, both brother and sister were members of the student Liberal party. Mrs. Chambers was student party secretary and Prof. Taylor was a vice-president.

Since her marriage, Mrs. Chambers has stood by her husband through six election campaigns in 10 years.

Prof. Taylor returned from Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar two years ago to a teaching position at McGill. He is engaged in his first political campaign.

READING ABOUT FASHION

The Fashion Library at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts is a small, but good, collection of books dealing with the many faces of fashion. It is sponsored by the Montreal Fashion Group and is used extensively by students of fashion.

It is amusing to read M. Harrison's, The History of the Hat, and to see one of our beloved classics — the turban — illustrated and worn by a fiercely mustached gentleman! The design is beautiful, with intricate folds and drapings, but we think that some of Canada's beautiful models do better for this hat, than the pugnacious type who modeled the original.

D. Jarrett's, British Naval Dress, is no doubt responsible for the return of the middy dress and the nautical look of many of this season's sportswear designs. J. Lawson (dressing for the ballet) might be amazed to learn that his practice costume has had an enormous effect on the sportswear scene. The leotard, bathing suit is a direct descendant!

We give credit to K. Mann for, peasant costume in Europe, and for the return of the embroidered, peasant blouse. There are a few around this season. This fashion enjoyed a full two years of popularity during the 1830's, along with the slouch hat. The slouch hat is back in fashion orbit and the peasant blouse will also make it soon.

Many sportswear designers must have studied S. Maxwell's Scottish costume. The collection of tartans, in the traditional form, is surely the base of the exquisite miniature patterns, we have seen recently.

The J. Brooke collection of eight volumes dealing with English Children's Costume and English Costume in The Age of Elizabeth, is wonderful reading for anyone interested in fashion.

Handcolored Fashion Plates, 1770-1899, by V. Holland contains a truly, breathtaking collection of tones and half-tones. No colorist could remain uninspired by this dredging from the past. Color In Action, by A. M. Hicks also shows some unusual mating of colors and tones.

Corsets and Crinolines, by N. Waugh made us happy that we live in the enlightened age of spandex and elastic.

The Fashion Library is housed in a building separate from the museum proper. To gain admittance, application is made at the main building. Unfortunately, the books cannot be removed from the premises, but comfortable chairs and tables are available for note taking .The atmosphere is so quiet and the collection so fascinating that the hours vanish. We went to the library at one o'clock in the afternoon and five hours later, at five p.m., we were politely turned into the street! It's that kind of a library.

Challenge of World in State Of Religious, Political and Cultural Ferment Faces Meet

Invited to comment on the world Anglican Congress to be held in Toronto Aug. 13-25, 1963, Rev. Harold H Clark, Archbishop of Rupert's Land and Primate of All Canada, has written the following article for The Canadian Press.

By Most Rev. Howard H. Clark

WINNIPEG (CP)—The challenge of a world in a state of religious, political and cultural ferment will confront nearly 1,000 Anglicans from the four corners of the globe when they meet in Toronto this summer for the second Anglican Congress.

Today we are in a time of great change. We have become one world, but it is a quarrelsome world. New nations are rising and old customs are passing away. Many people have turned away from religion, and yet it is also true that some of the great religions of the East have revived and are vigorous in their claim upon the souls of men. War and the threat of war has left its aftermath of suffering. Intemperance is widespread.

All these facts combine to give one particular concern to the Anglican Communion, and it will be the theme for the Anglican Congress to be held Aug. 13-23. We shall be thinking of the Church's Mission to the World. The world's needs and the way in which the Gospel meets those needs is what will occupy our attention.

AUTONOMOUS CHURCHES

Such gatherings as the Anglican Congress are needed because there is no central organization in the Anglican Communion. Each of its 18 provinces or national churches is self-governing. The Archbishop of Canterbury, it is true, is regarded as our first bishop, but he has no jurisdiction over other national churches. For example, he has had no jurisdiction on Canada since the church here became fully organized in 1893.

This fact makes it important that Anglicans should come together from time to time, so that we may compare our methods and share our insights and, without compulsion, learn from each other.

This was what led to the first Lambeth Conference in 1867. Since that time, approximately every 10 years the bishops of our church come together at Lambeth Palace, the London home of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Lambeth Conference, however, does not legislate for the church; it can only advise. Its pronouncements have great weight with us, but decisive action can follow only by the decisions of our self-governing churches.

WIDER COUNSEL

The Lambeth Conference is a conference of bishops, but we also value the counsel of the other clergy and of the laity. For this reason there was a great Pan-Anglican Congress at London, England, in 1908. Then there was a lapse of time until the first Anglican Congress, somewhat different in make-up, was held in Minneapolis in 1954.

So the Toronto Congress will be the second of its kind. It is not easy to be the host to nearly 1,000 delegates as well as to the many visitors who will come to the Congress, and it is a great challenge and also an honor to us in Canada that we should be asked to be hosts.

From every diocese all over the world — from places like York, Edinburgh, Armagh in Ireland, Monmouth in Wales, New York and Kansas in the United States, Mexico, Brazil, Barbados, the Arctic and Zululand, Brisbane in Australia and Christchurch in New Zealand, Hong Kong and Tokyo, Accra in Ghana, Jerusalem and Calcutta—will come the bishop, one priest and one layman. Not all will be able to make it, but every part of the world will be represented.

SECOND WEEK APPROACH

What will they do at the Congress? They will look at the world's frontiers—the political, cultural and religious frontiers. They will confer together about the ways in which the church must change her methods in order to meet the challenge of the times, and how her witness may be relevant to the world and its needs.

We believe that God is at work in the world today. We do not want to be so tied to yesterday that we fail to understand what He is doing and what His will is for us and for mankind.

Because of the character of our communion, most of the responsibility for the Congress falls upon the Canadian committee. However, I have received generous help from the United States, Great Britain, and other many months church by Anglican churchmen at their world congress in Toronto this summer. (CP Photo) else."

Douglas F. Hamilton, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Federation of Labor, who introduced Senator McCutcheon, said labor joined with management and government in welcoming the visitors.

"Our trade union movement," he stated, "has always been outward looking. We know that no country can prosper in isolation."

With the end of the week-long phase one of the trade operation, phase two gets underway today with the arrival in Toronto by air of more than 600 buyers.

REPRESENT STORES

They represent department stores, chain stores and supermarkets in Britain, Europe, the West Indies and the United States. For the three days they will attend the national Canadian Samples Show at the Canadian National Exhibition's Automotive Building, and will see 430 separate exhibits of Canadian manufactured goods.

Phase three of the operation will consist of a conference of Canadian trade commissioners in Ottawa April 4-11. In phase four, April 16-May 3, business men will hold individual trade views with the trade commissioners.

Senator McCutcheon said Saturday night that close to 9,000 such interviews have already been arranged, and department officials said they expect the figure to reach 20,000.

A special ministerial meeting of members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) to be held in Geneva next month will provide groundwork for what might well be the most important trade development of the post-war period.

Senator McCutcheon said agriculture requires the urgent attention of the free world and the fullest possible co-operation to remove the many barriers to trade in agricultural products.

114-Day Paper

strip carriers during the blackout.

The first paper on the streets Sunday night was The Mirror —second largest in the U.S. with a daily circulation of nearly 900,000. The Mirror announced on its front page: New York's Alive Again.

Shortly afterwards The Daily News, whose daily circulation of more than 2,000,000 is the largest in the U.S., put in its appearance at 5:03 with a front-page banner that said: We Have News For You.

Within a couple of hours, The Times and The Herald Tribune appeared.

Oh, What A Beautiful Morning, proclaimed a six-column headline on the front page of The Herald Tribune. An editorial expressed thanks to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who mediated the strike and came up with the formula which eventually won acceptance of all the unions involved.

The Times, News and Mirror all commented editorially that the strike proved the need for better machinery in the field of labor-management relations.

ACCEPT CONTRACT

The end of the strike came after 11 days and accepted a new two-year contract under the weekly $12.63 package formula proposed by Wagner and accepted by the publishers and seven other craft unions.

The engravers did so, said a spokesman, "only because of a profound sense of responsibility to the public."

Publishers had warned before Sunday's vote that a second rejection would prolong the strike "indefinitely" that there was nothing on which to negotiate further.

The Times' first post-strike edition contained 80 pages, The Herald Tribune's 56, the Mirror's 40 and The News' 64—all as large or larger than normal for a Monday morning.

In accepting a contract within the $12.63 package, the photoengravers abandoned their demand for a 75-minute cut in their work week on all shifts—reportedly to have been the main stumbling block for acceptance of a settlement last week.

Last week's settlement had offered the engravers a $2.50 wage increase for the first contract year. The terms accepted increased the first-year wage boost to $2.63 weekly. In return, the men gave up three days of personal leave provided in the initial proposal.

GET SECOND INCREASE

The engravers also will receive a $2.63 weekly increase after one year's employment and a $4.85 wage increase the second year of the contract. The pact also provides for a 35-hour work week on the day and night shift.

The day shift, but retains the 36¼-hour week on the day and night shifts.

Under the old contract, the engravers received $140.75 a week on the day shift and $160.75 on the night and overnight shifts.

The city's Commerce and Industry Association, calculating the total cost of the shutdown at $250,000,000, estimated loss of advertising and circulation revenue to the papers at more than $100,000,000 and loss of wages at over $42,000,000.

The strike brought financial hardship to many newspaper employees.

The 6,000-member AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild suspended strike benefits in late January, when its coffers ran dry. The Guild, which represents editorial and business department workers, has estimated it will take three years to recoup losses.

The members of Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union, whose strike led to the shutdown, averaged $121 per week in benefits, including unemployment compensation.

The printers like the engravers, first turned down a settlement proposed under the $12.63 formula, then met a week later and voted to accept it.

The Post, although it resumed publication, still has to come to contract terms with the craft unions — including the ITU — and with the Newspaper Guild.

Liberal "Enfant Terrible" Draws a Bead on Caouette

By FRANCOISE COTE

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Dupuis polished his skill in quick political repartee during brushes with an expert, the late premier Maurice Duplessis.

Now he has verbal jousts with Real Caouette, Creditiste, is fought in weekly instalments each Saturday night on private French-language television stations throughout Quebec.

Mr. Dupuis, seeking re-election April 8 as MP for St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville, is the Liberal party's answer to the quick-witted deputy leader of the Social Credit party.

The heavy - set Montrealer, who has been in politics for 20 of his 37 years, looks on politics as something closer to a debate or a fight to be won than a legislative task. His dark eyes gleam when he succeeds in scoring a talking point.

Some observers see in him a touch of the Compagnon, but acknowledge his ability to win elections. His father Hector was MP for Laval-Two Mountains from 1950 to 1953. But even before that Yvon was active in politics, as member of the Young Liberals' club in Montreal. And he was 26 when first elected a member of the legislature for Montreal Ste. Marie.

It was in the legislative assembly that he learned to reply quickly in debate. He had to, with the likes of Mr. Duplessis on the firing line.

He recalls the premier once remarked in the legislature:

"I don't understand why the member for Ste. Marie attacks me this way. His father is one of my best friends."

Mr. Dupuis replied: "I have never chosen my father's friends."

It is this same type of remark, finding that Mr. Dupuis employs in his 13-week series of 15-minute TV speeches, a campaigning method patterned after the one used so successfully by Mr. Caouette.

Neither Mr. Dupuis nor Mr. Caouette has had a university education, and neither is particularly concerned with details or shades of meaning. Both like to use imaginative expressions and both speak off the cuff in their filmed TV appearances.

Mr. Dupuis switched to federal politics in 1958 and was elected in St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville despite a Progressive Conservative sweep that won 50 of Quebec's 75 seats.

"I felt like a Liberal island in a blue (Conservative) sea," he often says.

One of Mr. Dupuis' favorite topics in his TV addresses has been the claim by Social Credit that its MPs are doing the most to promote wider use of French.

For example, he said, Social Credit says it brought about a French translation of the blackboard menu in the parliamentary cafeteria in Ottawa.

Social Creditors now can find the words "feves au lard" beside "pork and beans" but they don't go up to the counter they still ask for "beans" in English, says Mr. Dupuis.

He has also referred to Social Credit MP Bernard Dumont's statement in the Commons that he didn't know the House rules of procedure because there was no text in French and has prompted government action to have Beauchemin's book of rules on parliamentary practice translated.

However, Mr. Dupuis responded on one TV program by displaying a book of Commons rules of procedure that he said had been written in French and published in 1896.

Mr. Dupuis' main targets are Social Credit monetary theories and Mr. Caouette himself, although he says he has friendly relations with the Social Credit deputy leader.

Studies That Lead to Nursing

DEAR DORIS—I would like to become a registered nurse. Do I sign up for a five-year general course which includes math and French, or can I take a business and commerce course which only includes one language?

If I did this I could take typing and bookkeeping for an option and then maybe work in a doctor's office afterwards. Or can I? My mom says to take general and my teacher says the other.—NURSE.

DEAR NURSE—You'll need the high school sciences: chemistry, physics, zoology, botany. Some nursing schools require grade 12 and some 13.

But is being a nurse your greatest urge, or working in a doctor's office? Knowing your books and how to use a typewriter could be precious to you and your doctor; but you'll practice more nursing in a hospital setting.

Be sure your counsellor knows your preference. Languages are only important if you plan to take nursing at university.

DEAR DORIS—My boy friend and I (age 18) are very much in love and when he kisses me I forget everything my mother has told me. Our kisses get very heavy and I am afraid that one day we will go further than just kissing. I do not want to end up having to get married.

Many teenagers have this trouble and they cannot go to their parents and tell them because they are afraid of what they will say. So do you think we should wait till after marriage? If so, please answer soon, for I really need your help. Do you think double dating with others will help us rather than being alone somewhere by ourselves?—MIXED UP.

DEAR MIXED UP—Double date by all means. And prevent trouble by avoiding lonely car rides, cosy corners, unchaperoned parties. Your mother has put you in charge; take a memory course—and remember.

DEAR DORIS—I would like to know if you had gone with a boy steady for five months and then broke up, is it proper to speak to him at school or at a dance? I like him very much.

I go to the dances every week and he is always there when I get there. Should I speak to him first?—WONDERING.

DEAR WONDERING—Unless breaking up means lifelong enmity (and why should it?)—speak to him by all means. And speak first.

* * *

TO MISS J. B.—A stamped, self-addressed envelope will get you those slimming exercises. And, yes, it is the girl's place to speak first.

(Let a graduate social worker counsel you about your special problem. And remember that stamped envelope.)

P.M. Says Argument on Bomarc Proved

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in two speeches Saturday that Liberal Leader Lester Pearson accused him of lying about Canada's Bomarc bases, but that he was proven right by Robert McNamara, U.S. secretary of defence.

"I told you the Bomarc was no longer an effective instrument, and Mr. Pearson said the prime minister lied. Those are his words. I wish I could look into Mr. Pearson's heart today."

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke to an afternoon rally in Simcoe and at a night election meeting in St. Thomas, Ont., before flying to Toronto Sunday early Sunday. He leaves by train today for two days campaigning in Quebec.

The Conservative leader said that Mr. McNamara's testimony before the congressional committee, made public Friday, proved his argument that the Bomarc bases at La Macaza, Que., and North Bay, Ont., should be nuclear warheads now. Mr. Diefenbaker wants to keep them outside Canada but readily acceptable in event of war or an emergency.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that Mr. Pearson's advocacy of securing the warheads would mean "Canada's role that of a decoy duck in a nuclear war."

URGED WEAPONS

He said any would bring in nuclear weapons. He said we should make Montreal and Toronto nuclear bases to draw the fire of an intercontinental missile. Mr. McNamara's evidence makes Mr. Pearson's arguments a great sieve; you can see right through it, it's just full of holes."

"Now I'm asking you and you're asking your support. Who was right?"

Mr. Diefenbaker said his government had made no commitment to arm the Bomarcs with nuclear warheads. It agreed to the building of the bases in Canada when the main threat of attack was from manned Russian bombers, and believed the missiles could be armed with convention high explosive warheads.

Mr. McNamara's testimony confirmed that the Bomarcs are no longer effective in an age when the main threat of attack is switching to intercontinental missiles, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"But he said they are intended to draw enemy missile fire. In other words, they have to be knocked out. Now, you just put nuclear warheads on them and see what Canada gets. Indeed, we are subject to the first attack because of these Bomarcs. They are decoys. They are intended to draw enemy missile fire.

ASKS FAVOR

"What happens to us? What happens to us while they are being destroyed?"

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had been telling the people of Canada the Bomarcs were ineffective, but when Mr. Pearson spoke earlier in the campaign in Kingston, Ont., "he charged me with inaccuracies."

"By the time we got it in the West—in the West we don't use words like that, we use shorter words—we got the word "lies" out there. He disputed the statement I made with regard to the attitude of the United States defence department with regard to the Bomarc. He said I had given false testimony.

Mr. Diefenbaker said it would have been "so easy for me" to have agreed to acquisition of nuclear weapons.

"But so long as I am prime minister, I am going to insist that a thing is right—no matter what the people think it is at the time—because sooner or later you are proven right . . .

"I place these things before you, not in a spirit of 1-upmanship-so, but to say to the opposition how wrong they were."

Mr. Diefenbaker said there were many Conservatives who thought his stand had been wrong.

"Oh, I had them around me telling me this is wrong, this stand. But I've always found, ladies and gentlemen, that when you put a proposition before the people that turns out to be right, that's what they ask of leadership—even if it takes months or sometimes years to establish."

Pearson Expects Rough Time In Vancouver

By DON HANRIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Liberal Leader Lester Pearson rested during the weekend at a Vancouver Island holiday lodge where he was recovering from a minor cold and bracing for what party officials are sure will be an organized attempt to break up his meeting in the Forum here tonight.

Expecting the worst—namely an attempt to howl down Mr. Pearson — the Liberals are banking on pre-speech entertainment as a crowd soother. They have imported Canadian-born conductor Percy Faith from California to lead a 47-piece local orchestra.

The Conservative Forum was the scene of near - riot when Prime Minister Diefenbaker spoke-or tried to-in the 1962 campaign. He had a much better reception here last week, despite heavy heckling. This year the Liberals expect Mr. Pearson to be the main target. Walter Gordon, Liberal campaign chief who is seeking re-election in Toronto Davenport, also is due to undergo here Saturday that he doubts Mr. Pearson's statement can be given "a tougher time" than in Hamilton last Monday night.

"That was organized," Mr. Gordon said. "I think it was paid for, and it was tough."

WHO PAID?

Asked who paid for it, Mr. Gordon said "I may have a thought about it, but I'm not going to say as no specific knowledge."

Mr. Gordon said he visited Mr. Pearson at the lodge on Qualicum to report that the Liberal party is "on the verge" of getting a healthy majority in the April 8 election.

This will be the main issue in the last week of the campaign, Mr. Gordon said. He added that in his opinion the Liberal position has improved "very considerably" in the last two weeks.

Asked to comment on Mr. Diefenbaker's Saturday night announcement that the remaining import surcharges imposed last June were being lifted, Mr. Gordon said:

"They should never have been imposed in the first place and the high time they were removed."

MOVE NOT PLANNED

He said if there had been a considered plan to lift the surcharges, they would have been completely removed long ago. To wait until the final week of the election campaign was a sign of "election desperation," he said.

Mr. Pearson's itinerary for the balance of the final week will take him to Winnipeg Tuesday night, then east to Montreal and Toronto and his own riding of Algoma East in Northern Ontario.

He will be spending four hours in his own constituency—his only visit there in the campaign. "I hope somebody is getting me elected in Algoma East," he told a luncheon rally of 400 in Nanaimo Saturday.

On Monday night in the Forum, he will be in a debate with the Columbia River treaty "if I'm allowed to talk at all-you never know in Vancouver."

Answering a question, he said he felt the Liberal government would renegotiate the treaty with the U.S. government. Since the treaty was not in the best form for Canada, it may have been "a good thing" that ratification was being delayed by the B.C. government's attitude.

DIES ON FLIGHT

Douglas Says Jobless Main Election Issue

By BEN WARD

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Unemployment and the need to get Canada's economy on the right swing again are the main issues in the April 8 election, New Democratic Leader Douglas said Saturday night.

He said the NDP is the only party offering the voter a tried and true program which can solve these problems.

Keying his speech to unemployment which is a major concern in this depressed Cape Breton Island region, Mr. Douglas told a crowd of 1,200 that Canada will face a major economic tragedy unless it gets a government which can produce enough jobs to absorb the growing labor force.

His audience, filling the Sydney Academy auditorium to its seating capacity, sat silent and absorbed through almost all of the 40-minute address. There was no heckling and only a few breaks of laughter and applause for barbed references to Conservative and Liberal policies.

Mr. Douglas drew a laugh when he referred to Atlantic Development Board, set up by government legislation in December, as a group of five part-time "cocktail planners."

BOARD MEMBERS BUSY

He said the board consists of five busy men "all carrying on their own affairs and in their spare time going up to Ottawa every three months to hold a cocktail party and six innings over."

Development of the Atlantic provinces could never be stimulated in that fashion.

The NDP leader said his party's economic planning would provide a "new deal" for the Maritimes. It would be an objective, based on successful European experience, would be to direct industrial development into regions that needed it.

Mr. Douglas flew to Ottawa Sunday for a brief rest before moving to Montreal where he has a rally scheduled tonight. He returns to the Maritimes Tuesday for a Moncton meeting.

Hitting hard on the unemployment theme, Mr. Douglas said this area's jobless rate of more than 15 per cent is a national disgrace. He warned that under present conditions the shortage of jobs is likely to get worse.

Canada now had the highest unemployment rate of any industrial nation in the Western World. Today, 1,500,000 Canadians—men, women and children—are living on unemployment insurance or relief.

He called them "a hugh city of employed and unemployed across the nation hidden behind a curtain of statistics."

The NDP would meet the situation by national planning to stimulate purchasing power and industrial growth. It would provide a vast fund of "social capital" for housing, hospitals, power developments and the like.

WIPING OUT REBELS

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro promised Sunday it would take his armed forces "a few more weeks" to wipe out rebels operating on Cuban territory. Castro, speaking at a cheering crowd in Matanzas, 70 miles east of Havana, said that his army and security forces have wiped out 60 per cent of the rebels during the last 30 days.

Thompson Uses Caouette Slogan In Sask. Meet

By JACK BEST

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP)—Real Caouette's famous cry "You have nothing to lose" was taken up by Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson Saturday night.

A Social Credit government could be no worse "than what we have now," he told an election rally in this thriving city of 12,000, centre of a cattle ranching and wheat-producing area.

It was the same rallying cry with which Mr. Caouette, deputy party leader, swept to victory in Quebec last year, when he delivered 26 seats for Social Credit.

Mr. Thompson blamed the "old - line parties" for the "mess" that he said Canada is in. He asserted that a New Democratic Party regime would impose central planning and compulsion in the way it has in this. Social Credit, on the other hand, would do it "through democratic means of the consent of the people."

Mr. Thompson said that if Social Credit is elected, one of its first steps will be the creation of a national highways commission. Such a commission was urgently needed to develop a federal roadbuilding program.

NEEDED SOONER

Dealing with Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement of cash grants to prevent import surcharges, he said this step should have been taken while Parliament was still in session.

Why did it take "the pressure of an election campaign" to bring it about? Mr. Thompson asked. Canadians will not be fooled by the announcement, he asserted.

Mr. Thompson drew a crowd of 150, which almost filled a hotel basement hall. He spoke in support of Ted Kouri, businessman running as Social Credit candidate in Swift Current-Maple Creek in the April 8 federal election.

In a school one mile away, and at the same hour, the New Democratic Party staged a rally, which drew about twice the turnout of the Social Credit meeting.

Saturday's campaigning marked the end of a two-day swing by Mr. Thompson through Saskatchewan, where the Conservatives won 16 of 17 seats in the last election and the Liberals one—Assiniboia.

Mr. Thompson returned to Alberta Sunday and today will be in his home constituency of Red Deer.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVEN, Sports Editor

You couldn't have blamed Jack "Jolly Jawn" Adams for what he said that sunny afternoon last summer on Larry Eggert's lush lawn.

For after all, hadn't he been associated with the Detroit Red Wings for lo, those many years and hadn't he brought Gordie Howe up from Floral, Saskatchewan?

We sat in big easy chair outside the Rossmore cottage. Jack was taking a well-earned vacation after forty years in professional hockey—and he talked on the subject nearest his heart.

I asked him if he thought Howe would break any of the existing NHL records—and how many? Adams didn't hesitate, "He will break all of them, barring unforseen circumstances or accidents," he said.

Dit Clapper, former Boston star, who served 20 years in the major league is of the same opinion. "I'm sure he will break my record—and I think he will go on to break all of them."

Jack Adams told me Howe is a topnotch star who "has a God-given talent of playing hockey—and knows how to use it and not abuse it."

The big sloop-shouldered athlete won the NHL scoring championship this year, a feat made all the more remarkable because he celebrated his 35th birthday yesterday. He was only 22 when he won it the first time in 1951 with 86 points, the same total he amassed this season.

But most impressive is the fact that no other player has ever won the scoring title more than twice and this was the sixth for Howe.

The scoring title, most points, goals plus assists differs from the goal-scoring championship. Howe won the goal scoring title for the fifth time and equalled the record held by Maurice Richard and Charlie Conacher.

And the big guy's durability is evidenced in the fact that this was the twelfth year he played every game of the season. He racked up a point or better in the last 36 games and 25 of the last 26. His career figures are 1,139 games, 540 goals, 672 assists, 1,212 points and 1,326 penalty minutes.

He scored 38 goals this season, four of them of the gold-lined variety. No. 35 was the rainbow goal with the big pot of $1,000 attached. He collected $100 each for the succeeding three.

Howe is noted for his points-getting consistency, rather than flash-in-the-pan brilliance. Back in the 1950's he pumped home 43 goals, his total was 49, 47 and 46 assists for 95 points. He trails Dickie Moore of the Canadiens by one point. Moore set the points record in 1958-59 with 41 goals and 55 assists for 96.

The experts who predict big Gordie will break or equal all the records have given him a pretty tall order. After all he has to score 51 goals to top the marks of Hull, Richard and Geoffrion and crack the assist record of 58 held by Jean Beliveau.

The Howe "goat" is not for sale, hire or ransom. He served 100 minutes in penalties, the most of any season but one, that in 1953-54 when he was jugged for 109 minutes.

Howe, "he told Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll, "they're beginning to wear down on me. Opposing players hold, hook and interfere with me but I try to stick to the game. Riding or needling doesn't bother me."

He was asked about taking extra turns on the ice. "It is merely a matter of how the play is going. When I'm in top shape I can go two minutes at top speed until I'm breathing like a stuck pig. Then with a half minute's rest, I can go right out there again."

And he gives linemates Alex Delvecchio and Parker MacDonald credit for much of his success this season. "We've worked well together and one of the secrets of our success is we can all lug the puck. When you see a nice pass completed it isn't just a matter of the pass being good. Half of it is in having the man in position to take it."

Knudson Faded to Twelfth

Barber Wins Azalea Open

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Little Jerry Barber, snarled in a three-way tie for the lead with six holes to go, birdied the next three Sunday and went on to win the Azalea Open golf tournament by five shots.

The 46-year-old Los Angeles professional's closing 67, five under par, gave him a 274 total and top money of $2,800 in the $20,000 tournament. It was his third victory in the event in 11 years.

Five professionals tied for second place at 279, five shots back of Barber. One of them, Billy Maxwell, three-putted the final green to miss a chance to win second money outright.

Instead, he joined Australian Bruce Crampton, Doug Ford and two fledgling pros, Larry Beck of Southern Pines, N.C., and Jack Rule of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in a second-place tie. Each won $1,330.

George Knudson of Toronto, who shared the lead with Barber and Gene Littler after Friday's second round, faded in the last two rounds for a 282, good enough for 12th place tie and $850. Knudson fired a 70 and a 67 in the first two rounds but went up to 74 and 71 in the final two.

Brilliant Howe Sparks Wings' Win

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

DETROIT (CP)—Eric Nesterenkh had ideas of celebrating Gordie Howe's 34th birthday with the incomparable Detroit right - winger at Olympia Stadium Sunday night. But he got lost in the shuffle.

Howe defied Nesterenkh and most of his Chicago Black Hawk uniform and put the Wings right back into the Stanley Cup semi-finals. When the celebrating was over, the Wings had won their first game of the best-of-seven series 4-2 and Howe had one of his finest hours.

GORDIE HOWE

The injury - crippled Hawks, who had won the first two games on home ice by 5-4 and 5-2 scores last Friday and Thursday, meet the Red Wings again here Tuesday night and a fifth contest is set for Thursday at Chicago.

The Hawks played without three regulars Sunday, left - wingers Bobby Hull and Ron Murphy and defenceman Al MacNeil.

Hull, the Hawks' big scoring gun, suffered a broken nose in the second game. Murphy is in hospital with an infected ankle cut and MacNeil is recuperating from two cracked ribs.

HULL SAID OUT

Hull has an appointment with a Chicago doctor Tuesday morning and coach Rudy Pilous said "he definitely will not play" that night.

Murphy likely will miss the full series and MacNeil is a possible starter in the fourth game if he responds to treatment.

Nesterenko assigned by Pilous to escort Howe, in the first two games followed him in the corridors a process server. But Gordie showed 13,241 hometown fans Sunday that age is pretty much him when he is at his best.

Howe continued at his goal-a-game clip in the semi-finals, added a couple of assists and kept goalie Glenn Hall busy dancing around in the Chicago net. Hall got in front of 44 shots against only 19 directed by Detroit's Terry Sawchuk.

But Wings twice had to come from behind to win their second period. A two-goal blitz in 41 seconds of the third period wrapped up the game.

MIKITA HAWKS' HEART

Stan Mikita, Hawk centre, who scored the first Chicago goal 1-0 and 2-1 leads but the Red Wings, with Howe dipsy-doodling and heaving from centre ice, solid decision at San Francisco Oct. 23, 1962. They fought to a draw in their return fight at Las Vegas last Feb. 22.

'Keep Running' They Did, For An Hour

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, who set a club record last season by getting fined $250 each, walked into another financial calamity Saturday when they showed up at the ballpark 2½ hours late.

Manager Bill Rigney of Los Angeles Angels said the two pitchers would be fined again, but he didn't know whether they'd break their 1962 record.

"They got here at 12:30 in the afternoon. We're used to having the ballplayers show up at 10 in the morning."

When Belinsky and Chance finally reached the park, pitching coach Marv Grissom ordered them to start running in outfield. "Keep running until I come and get you," Grissom said.

They ran an hour—through three innings of the Angels' exhibition game with Houston.

GAME DRAWN

MOSCOW (AP) — The fourth game of the 24-game world chess championship ended in a draw Saturday after 25 moves. Champion Mikhail Botvinnik leads challenger Tigran Petrosian, 3½ points to 1½. Both are Russians.

Kingston Frontenacs Win EPL Title

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kingston Frontenacs won the Eastern Professional Hockey League championship and Alaska Caron, sharp-shooting St. Louis Brave, extended his professional hockey scoring record in a busy, three-game weekend schedule.

The Frontenacs clinched the title Saturday night with a 2-2 tie against Hull-Ottawa Canadiens and then won 6-4 over Sudbury Wolves Sunday. Both games were at Kingston.

St. Louis, which had a winning note by defeating the Canadiens 3-1 Sunday in Hull. The Braves were aided by Caron's 61st goal of the season.

Caron broke the old professional hockey scoring record Friday night against Sudbury Wolves when he scored four goals, raising his total to 60.

The previous record was 59 set by Orval Tessier of Kingston Frontenacs in the 1959-60 EPHL season.

None of Sunday's games had any bearing on the standings. Hull-Ottawa will finish second, Sudbury third and St. Louis last.

Says Tiger Will Fight In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Despite opposition by some members of Parliament, the Nigerian government announced Saturday that Dick Tiger will defend his middleweight title against Gene Fullmer of the United States in Nigeria this June or July.

The third title fight between the two ranking rivals will be in the 46,000-seat Liberty Stadium in Ibadan, about 100 miles from Lagos. Ibadan, with a population approaching 1,000,000, is the largest Negro city on the continent.

Exact date for the fight will be announced later.

Whip Noranda For Third Straight

Dogs Reach East. Canada Finals

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs Sunday won their Eastern Canada Allan Cup semi-final series by whipping Noranda Aloucttes 7-4 to take the best-of-five series in three straight games.

Bulldogs now advance to the best-of-five Eastern Canada final, meeting the winner of the other semi-final in which Moncton Hawks hold a 2-0 lead in games over Sherbrooke Beavers.

The victory also gave Bulldogs the all - Ontario senior hockey championship and the accompanying W. A. Hewitt trophy.

This was the closest game of the three played with Windsor holding a 4-2 lead after the first period and a 7-3 margin after two periods.

Rolland Fassett turned in a three-goal performance for the losers and Ghislain Maurice added the other Noranda marker.

Both goaltenders had a comparatively easy time with Rod Taylor on duty at Windsor and aside 17 shots and Wayne Rutledge of Bulldogs making 19 saves.

After the game, Bulldog coach Harry Watson said he felt certain Windsor would go all the way to the Allan Cup.

Clippers Nail Down Playoff

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dave Creighton, one of the oldest players on a brand new club, today is the toast of Baltimore.

The 33-year-old centre scored an unassisted overtime goal Saturday night to nail down a playoff spot for the Clippers in their first season in the American Hockey League.

The goal gave Baltimore a 5-4 victory over Cleveland Barons in its last game of the AHL season and climaxed a spectacular comeback for Clippers, who needed victories in their last three games to edge Quebec Aces for third place in the Eastern Division. Both teams finished with 77 points but Clippers made the playoffs on their strength of 35 victories to Quebec's 33.

In Sunday's games, Providence Reds took the Eastern title with a 7-2 win over Buffalo Bisons. The Reds had assistance from, Springfield Indians who defeated Hershey Bears 9-1. Hershey finished second with 80 points against 81 for Providence. Reds drew a bye in the last-place Pittsburgh Hornets' season on a sour note by drubbing the Bears 14-3.

In other Saturday games, Buffalo edged Hershey 2-1 in overtime, Springfield dropped Rochester Americans 5-3 and Pittsburgh whipped Providence 7-4.

BOUT RESCHEDULED

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico AP The 15-round title bout between lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and challenger Doug Vallant, called off when Ortiz was struck by lightning, was rescheduled Sunday for April 7. The bout had been scheduled for Saturday night until Ortiz was stricken early Saturday with stomach pains.

Announce Playoffs For A.H.L.

Series A between the winners of the Eastern and Western Divisions, best-of-seven:

Wednesday, April 3 and Saturday, April 6, Providence at Buffalo; Sunday April 7 and Wednesday April 10, Buffalo at Providence; Saturday April 13, Providence at Buffalo if necessary; Sunday, April 14, Buffalo at Providence if necessary; Wednesday, April 17, Providence at Buffalo if necessary.

Series B, between the second- and third-place finishers in the East, best-of-three: Wednesday, April 3, Baltimore at Hershey; Thursday, April 4, Hershey at Baltimore; Saturday, April 6, Baltimore at Hershey if necessary.

Series C, between the second and third-place finishers in the West, best-of-three: Wednesday, April 6, Rochester at Cleveland if necessary.

The winners of Series B and C will meet in a playoff called Series D, with that survivor playing the loser of Series A in a playoff called Series E.

UNDERDOG WINS

NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Gonzalez, a 4-to-1 underdog from Puerto Rico, chopped out a sixth-round technical knockout over hard-hitting Rubin (Hurricane) Carter of Patterson, N.J., Saturday night in a televised fight from Madison Square Garden. Referee Petey Della, following the instructions of Dr. Sam Swetnick, stopped the fight because of a deep cut over Carter's right eye. Since the bout was halted between rounds it went into the books as a sixth-round TKO under New York rules.

Leafs Blank Habs; Grab 3-0 Margin

Brilliant on Defence

By BRUCE STOVEL

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens scored more goals than any other team in the National Hockey League this season, but you'd never know it from their post-season performance.

Toronto Maple Leafs have taken a 3-0 stranglehold on their Stanley Cup semi-final series with Canadiens, keeping Canadiens to only three goals in the process.

"I just wish somebody would tell mewhat it is," moaned Montreal coach Toe Blake Sunday.

"Their goalie hasn't been that good. I guess you have to credit it to their checking. Leafs are basically a defensive team."

Canadiens suffered a 2-0 shutout here Saturday night in what Toronto coach Punch Imlach called Leafs' second-best checking game of the season.

"It's just been one of those years, I guess," said Blake. "We've been everything else but consistent. We tied 25 games in the season and didn't lose two in a row. Now we go and lose three straight."

COULDN'T BE HURT

Canadiens were given a day off Sunday. Blake said the team had come through Saturday night's game without an injury. "With the game they played, how could anybody get hurt?"

"I don't have much to say after we get shut out on our own rink, and in a playoff game.

"But the series is four-out-of-seven, and if we want to get enough, we can. It's up to the players."

The fourth game is here Tuesday.

Imlach didn't tell his players they would be flying back to Toronto Saturday night until after the game. The news came as a pleasant surprise to the players, who knew only that they were going to a "Midway" somewhere.

FULFORD LED LEAFS

Bob Pulford was the big man for Leafs in their 3-0 win Saturday night, setting up the first goal by Ressmeie Ed Shack and scoring the second unassisted.

The husky, crew-cut centre, 27 Sunday, was one of Leafs' strongest skaters in the tight contest. He was used both killing penalties and on the power play.

Imlach said Bower had done "a routine job" in earning the shutout. It was his first in 38 Stanley Cup games.

Imlach also said Bower, 38, will stay with the team "even if he's drawing an old-age pension" as long as he can keep the puck out of the net.

Pulford set up the game's first goal at 13:14 of the second period by blocking a shot by rookie defenceman Jean Gauthier at the Toronto blueline. He raced in alone on Plante, but was unable to deke the masked goalie. He calmly whipped the loose puck across the goal mouth to Shack, who lifted it in while falling.

NIPS CORNER

With less than six minutes remaining in the game Pulford scooped on the puck near the Montreal net and beat Plante with a low drive that caught the far corner from a wide angle.

The scorer gave Pulford the goal unassisted, apparently figuring the Toronto centre picked up a stray pass of Montreal's Don Marshall. But Marshall and Blake both said after the game that Shack had lifted the puck from Marshall's stick and deserved an assist.

Pulford's performance made him the leading scorer in the Toronto - Montreal series with four points, and continued his reputation as a playoff performer. Last season he scored seven times in 12 games to boost Leafs toward the Stanley Cup.

Canadiens had a two-man advantage for 66 seconds in the first period, when referee Vern Buffey gave Shack a major penalty for high-sticking Ralph Backstrom and Carl Brewer a minor for holding. But they couldn't mount a concerted attack.

'Red' Will Boss Blues Next Year

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Rangers announced Sunday that Georges (Red) Sullivan has been rehired as a coach of the National Hockey League team.

Sullivan, 35, who took over the fifth-place Rangers in mid-season, was signed to a one-year contract. Salary terms were not announced.

New York had a 11-17-8 record under Sullivan, a native of Peterborough, Ont., and a former New York centre.

'Bo' Arrives Late, Fined, Gets Beaten

By BOB GREEN

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) Bo Belinsky was a day late and $500 short in getting to the park on time.

As it worked out, maybe he shouldn't have bothered.

The free-wheeling lefty, who faces a fine for being tardy to practice, was pounded for four runs and eight hits and gave up three bases on balls in six innings Sunday.

He was tagged with the loss in Los Angeles Angels' 9-3 defeat at the hands of Houston Colts, while his current girl friend, actress Mamie Van Doren, and manager Bill Rigney looked on with mixed emotions.

Belinsky, a no-hit pitcher last season who has gained considerable attention for his affection for late hours, faces a fine for being 2½ hours late to a game Saturday. It may be $500.

WHITEY HAS PROBLEMS

Another noted lefthander, New York Yankees' Whitey Ford, also was having his problems. Ford, the Yanks' ace, was left in Fort Lauderdale for treatment of an ailing pitching arm while the team started a tour of Florida's west coast.

The rest of the Yanks unloaded a 17-hit attack, including two home runs by Joe Pepitone and one by Hector Lopez, in a 10-4 triumph over Chicago White Sox.

Milwaukee Braves veteran Lew Burdette turned in a sparkling 2-0 shutout of Baltimore Orioles, while the National League champion San Francisco Giants lost their 14th in 16 starts, 7-6 to Cleveland Indians.

Jay Hook struck out nine and allowed seven hits in going the distance in New York Mets' 6-1 conquest of Kansas City Athletics. It was the Mets' 13th exhibition victory.

Jake Wood drove in three runs on a single and a homer as Detroit Tigers' 6-3 victory over Minnesota Twins, while Willie McMullen drove in four runs on two doubles and a single in Los Angeles Dodgers' 10-8 triumph over Cincinnati Reds.

Rookie Tom Brown singled in the tie-breaking runs in Washington Senators' 4-3 victory over St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phillies edged Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in 10 innings and Boston Red Sox beat Chicago Cubs 3-1.

Western Hockey

Vancouver Canucks, leaving it to the last minute, bounced Seattle Totems 4-1 Sunday night to wrap up the Northern Division title in the last game of the Western Hockey League season. On Saturday night they blew a 7-2 decision to the lowly Spokane Comets.

In other weekend action, Edmonton Flyers whipped Calgary Stampeders 4-1 and San Francisco Seals edged Los Angeles Blades 3-2 Saturday and Portland Buckaroos downed Portland 3-2 Sunday night.

In Portland, Tom McVie fired two goals for Bucks. Bill Saunders, Gerry Goyer and Tom McCarthy got the others. Red Johansen had a pair and Del Topolli a single for Comets.

In San Francisco Saturday night Nick Mickoski scored the winner for Seals. Len Haley and Dan Bellale got the others. Willie O'Ree and Bruce Carmichael counted for Blades.

Bo Elik paced Flyers with two goals and singles were added by Sid Finney and Ray Ross. Eric Sutcliffe had the Calgary goal.

At Spokane Johansen scored twice for Comets and the other snipers were Sany Hucul, Max Meiklok, Gerry Brisson, Topoli and Dick Lamoureux. Duke and Buddy Boone counted for Vancouver.

Trenton Wins Consolation

Kingston Peewees Tournament Champs

Kingston Fort Henry Heights captured the Belleville District Peewee hockey tournament championship here Saturday while Trenton walked off with consolation honors in the day-long tourney.

A number of excellent games were played among the eight teams participating but small crowds proved a disappointment to the Belleville Minor Sports Association's hockey division workers.

The fact that the two Belleville clubs were eliminated early in the day, and the lateness of the hockey season, was thought to have affected the number of fans attending.

Kingston defeated Cobourg by a 4-2 count to win the championship, and Harry Rollins Trophy, presented by its donor.

David Gilmour sparked the Kingston scorers with a pair of goals and an assist while Barry Toner and Tony Rutherford also scored. Keith Harvey collected two assists. Mike Calce and Kayl triggered the Cobourg goals while Thompson, Haynes, Kelly and Robinson drew assists.

Earlier Kingston whipped Stirling 6-1, led by Gilmour again with two goals. Singletons went to Blain Encarnagion, Joe Brown, Keith Harvey and Winston Encarnagion. Donnie Potts registered the lone Stirling goal.

Cobourg reached the finals with a thrilling 4-3 win over the Belleville Flyers in the day's only overtime game as they scored a goal by Cleary with just four seconds remaining in regulation time to tie the score while Trenton walked off with a 3-3 and G. Vanderlip scored the overtime goal for the win. Other Cobourg marksmen went to G. Kayl and Richard Vanderlip. Mark Acquafredde scored twice for Belleville with Terry Meagher getting the other. Alan Jones and Darryl Demers drew assists.

In the tournament's first round, Belleville Flyers downed Belleville Bruins 5-2. The scorers of that game were in Saturday's paper. Other first-round games saw Cobourg down Picton 8-4, Kingston edge Trenton 2-1 and Stirling defeat Keene 6-1. Vanderlip and Brooks scored two each, Caine, Haynes, Smith and Cleary one for Cobourg while J. McConnell tallied two, B. Young and F. Beaverson one each for Picton.

Toner and Murray fired Kingston goals in the narrow win over Trenton. B. Dobbie scored for Trenton.

R. Bastedo sparked Stirling's victory with a four-goal performance. D. Potts and L. Pryor also scored while B. Tuthill replied for Keene.

In the consolation round, Trenton's strong entry blanked Picton 8-0 to capture the series and the George H. Carver Trophy. Hull presented this trophy at the completion of the tournament. Bill Dobbie starred for Trenton, scoring four goals in all, including the first three. Terry Brown tallied two goals, Futerio and Hewitt one apiece.

Picton reached the consolation finals with a 7-3 win over Belleville Bruins on the strength of a five-goal effort by John McConnell. Bobby Young and Floyd Baverstock also scored. Brian James scored two Belleville goals and Doug Mc-Fee bagged the other.

Trenton blanked Keene 7-0 to qualify for the finals, sparked once again by Bill Dobbie with four goals and by B. Hewitt with three.

Referees, who did a fine job during the tournament were: Gord Gregory, Jim Clarke, John Brunette, Ted Clarke and Doc McCurdy.

Belleville District Softball

Four Clubs Form League

The four expected starters, Joycees, Bobcats, Trudeaus and RCAF officially entered the Belleville and District Softball League at yesterday's meeting, held at the Club Canara.

While this meeting was the official entry deadline meeting, the clubs left the impression that a fifth entry from outside this city would be welcomed into the loop as long as it was forthcoming prior to the loop's next gathering, slated for April 28.

That meeting will also be held at Club Canara, at 2:00 p.m. when commissioner Cliff Balch will likely offer the schedule to the clubs for approval.

The league schedule will open on Monday, May 20, a holiday, and the teams will play a 15-game schedule. RCAF home games will be played on Wednesday nights, under the lights in Trenton, while Belleville team will play home games on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights at the CNRA Park. Game time will be 6:45 until darkness forces an earlier start in the fall.

The league will have three voting delegates at the annual OASA convention in Kingston this coming weekend, aside from the league's two clubs, the RCAF station. Belch is standing for election to the OASA executive.

TO DEFEND CROWN

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Canadian welterweight boxing champion Peter Schmidt of Toronto will defend his crown here April 30 against Eddie First Rider of Cardston, Alta. It was announced Saturday. First Rider, 24, an Indian from the Blood reserve in southern Alberta, is the Western Canada welterweight champion.

Wilsons Win Over Woodstock

Trenton Wilsons whipped the visiting Woodstock club 85-52 in the first game of their O.A.S.A. Intermediate "C" basketball series in the Trenton High School gym Saturday night.

This was the first in a home-and-home, total points-to-count series. Wilsons will carry a 33-point edge into the second game, scheduled for Woodstock this coming Saturday.

Trenton, sparked by Teddy Batchelor, jumped into a 29-21 lead at half time and pulled away in the second half.

Batchelor hooped 30 points, 18 in each half, to lead all game scorers. Bob Burleigh also played a strong two-way game for Trenton, collecting 19 points, while Bob Moore had ten.

Woodstock (52) — D. MacKenzie 20, B. Goddard 2, B. Gillespie 14, J. Heiffman 7, D. Hall 2, W. Purchase 4, L. Jenkins, H. McColl, C. Davies.

Trenton Wilsons (85) — B. Burleigh 19, C. Cowe 5, G. Barnes 2, J. Niklfork 8, J. Theriault, P. Newsome 3, B. Moore 10, M. Eagen 3, D. Burke 4, T. Batchelor 30, G. Whitley.

Always Keep Hydraulic Lifters Clean

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Today's hydraulic tappets minimize valvetrain noise and provide greater efficiency than solid tappets by maintaining zero clearance during both cold and hot engine operation. But they are subject to trouble.

Dirt is probably the most threatening element, which explains why detergent oils are always specified and why regular oil and filter changes are considered so important. Hydraulic lifters can be cleaned but wise care is much easier and cheaper.

Oil which has become diluted by raw gas or water will also affect lifter operation . . . another reason why frequent oil changes are stressed. Valve noise can also occur when air gets into the oil. This can happen if the crankcase is overfilled (another wrong error or because of excessive dilution) producing oil foaming.

G. N. asks: "When I changed the oil in the '58 I recently bought, it wouldn't take five full quarts. How come?

Heavy sludge formation may be taking up crankcase space.

From E. P.: "My right front brake is grabbing, and pulls the steering toward that side. A service man says it's probably a greasy lining. Should it be replaced and how would it get grease on it?

It should be replaced. Either a leaking wheel cylinder, the wrong type (or too much) wheel-bearing grease, or a defective grease retainer is the cause.

W. C. writes: "As a car gets older and compression is poor, would this have any effect on starting, as long as the battery and ignition are in strong working condition?" Yes, starting is affected. Positive starts require good compression as well as proper fuel mixture and a strong spark.

From O. J.: "Not long ago, my cylinder head became loose. How does a thing like this happen?"

An obvious possibility is that the head bolts may not have been properly tightened to begin with. It could also be due to loose or worn engine mounts which permitted excessive vibration.

Candy Spots Wins Rich Florida Run

Candy Spots won by 4½ lengths over Sky Wonder. Coal Prince was third and Gray Pet fourth in the field of eight.

Willie Shoemaker piloted Candy Spots over the 1⅛ miles in 1:50 2-5 and the big chestnut colt was going away at the finish. Candy Spots returned $3.20, $2.70 and $2.30.

Sky Wonder, under Bob Usery, returned $5.10 and $3.40, while Coal Prince paid $3 to show.

The winner's share of $74,700 for owner Rex Ellsworth brought Candy Spots' earnings to $236,812 and his convincing triumph boosted his Kentucky Derby prospects.

Alberta Ranches' Four - and-Twenty broke in front and led to the wire for his first victory in more than a year in a 1 1-16-mile test at Bay Meadows, San Mateo, Calif.

The time for $15,000-added Tropicana handicap was 1:44 2-5.

Four-and-Twenty carried top weight of 124 pounds and paid $5.20, $3.60 and $4.60.

At the finish, veteran jockey Longden had Four-and-Twenty 2½ lengths in front of longshots Milla's Turk and Grey Gale, a nose apart for second and third, respectively.

Shuttle Champs Declared

By DENNIS ORCHARD

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada declared its badminton champions Saturday and sent its top performers winging to Massachusetts Sunday for a crack at the Uber Cup.

The six-member team used the Dominion championships here as a warmup for Boston, where the United States will defend badminton's equivalent to the Davis Cup of men's tennis.

The team members are Marge Shedd, Dorothy Tinline and Sharon Whittaker of Toronto, Patricia Espley and Mrs. Jean Miller of Montreal and Beverly Chittick of Windsor, Ont.

Canada has never won an Uber title, but officials of the Canadian Badminton Association rate this year's group the strongest yet.

Leading it is Miss Shedd, who captured her sixth singles title here, and teamed with Miss Tinline to win a three-game struggle against Mrs. Miller and Miss Chittick for the doubles crown.

Miss Shedd also figured in the closed mixed doubles championship, and Miss Chittick helped win the junior women's doubles.

KOPS DOMINATES

Three open and 11 closed titles were decided Saturday. World champion Erland Kops of Denmark dominated the open events, and of the closed, five went to Eastern Canada, six to the West.

Kops reaffirmed his top rank in singles, defeating his challenger and the world's No. 2 player, Chanarong Rattan - Sang-Suang of Thailand. He took the match in straight games, 15-12, 15-12, striking back in the second after trailing 9-2.

The 26-year-old Copenhagen executive also teamed with Scotland's Robert McCoig to defeat Chanarong and Thailand partner Sangob Rattanusorn for the open doubles. The score was 15-13, 11-15, 15-13, with the winning point counted by a bird that bobbed on the top of the net and dropped lazily to the court.

Mrs. Clair Lovett of Vancouver joined Kops to win the open mixed doubles 15-7, 7-15, 15-9 over McCoig and Claude Lacerte of Montreal.

It was an easy 11-1, 11-7 victory for Miss Shedd over Mrs. Miller in the women's singles, but the doubles win came harder. The first game went 17-15 to Shedd-Tinline, the second 15-11 to Miller-Chittick, and it was 14-8 for Miller and Chittick before their opponents bounced back in the final game.

Results of other final matches:

Bunny Brewster of Woodstock, Ont., and George Thorpe of Burlington, Ont., won the veterans' doubles, defeating Eric Hibberson and George Lane of Victoria 15-5, 15-1;

Wayne Macdonnell of Vancouver defeated Brewster and Thorpe 15-7, 15-5 in the closed men's doubles;

Miss Shedd and Carnwarth defeated Montreal's Harold Moody and Mrs. Miller 15-14, 16-8 in the closed mixed doubles;

Miss Chittick and Sue Carr-Harris of Oakville, Ont., won the junior women's doubles, defeating Anne McD arnid and Eleanor O'Gorman of Winnipeg 6-15, 15-12, 15-2.

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia's attorney-general says results of a state investigation indicate information to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant before the Alabama - Georgia game last fall.

Cook gave his views Saturday, almost two weeks after he launched an investigation into charges by the Saturday Evening Post that Butts and Bryant had attempted to rig the Sept. 22 game, which Alabama won 35-0.

"I want to emphasize that this state investigation was aimed solely at an impartial finding of the facts in this case," Cook said. He had said previously that he found no violation of state laws and -indicated that final disposition of the matter would wait until the Southeastern Conference pa ethical, not legal, grounds.

Bach's St. Matthew Passion Given Magnificent Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the television season's finest moments arrived Sunday as the NBC Opera Company presented an English-language adaptation of Bach's St. Matthew Passion.

The magnificent music dominated the 1¾ hours taken by the first part of the oratorio. It is, of course, the Easter story based on the account of St. Matthew in the New Testament. The English words were simple, moving and understandable. All the voices were of fine quality.

John Boyden, Toronto baritone, sang the role of Jesus and Maureen Forrester of Montreal sang the alto arias.

The oratorio was staged with taste and imagination, almost like a pageant. The costumed singers were placed against backgrounds and in settings that gave the production drama and color.

The spectator had a real emotional experience. The second part will be broadcast on Palm Sunday.

One hates to quibble about such a program, but it was tucked into the NBC schedule at a time when probably comparatively few persons were watching—1:30 p.m. Johann Sebastian Bach must be concerned with television and its demands for hour and half-hour programs. An early afternoon period undoubtedly was the only 100-minute spot NBC could find.

ABC is going to revive the big-money quiz program. After weeks of saying that a program called 100 Grand was just one of about 50 programs under consideration, the network has decided to try it next season. It will have a record-high top prize of $100,000 and is the first new show of that type to find a sponsor since the quiz fix scandals of 1959.

Recommended today: You Don't Say, debut NBC, 3:30-4 EST— audience participation show.

Oust Habs Four Straight

Flyers Win Junior Crown

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers won their first Ontario Hockey Association provincial group Junior A title tucked under their pennant Sunday when they downed the apparently tired Montreal Junior Canadiens 4-1.

Sunday's victory gave Flyers a four-game sweep in the best-of-seven finals.

Flyers, who as Barrie Flyers won their last OHA championship and the Memorial Cup in 1953, have lost only one of nine playoff games and are riding the crest of a seven-game win streak in eliminating Hamilton Red Wings and Montreal.

Flyers now will meet the winner of the Metro Toronto Junior A final between Toronto Marlboros and Toronto Neil McNeil Maroons in which Maroons now lead 3-2 in games.

Marlboros averted elimination in that series Sunday by beating Marcons 6-3.

Ted Kasmer, grave scoring champion in the regular season with 33 goals and 63 assists, scored twice for Flyers. The goals were his 10th and 11th in seven games. Tony Crisp and Gary Harmer scored the other Flyer goals.

NAMED FOR HOMETOWN

The late Frank James Cooper once had an agent who didn't like his names. So she called him for her hometown in Indiana—Gary.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

FOR APRIL 2nd

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Attend to details early. Late afternoon, evening could feature surprise. Day to keep feet on ground. But permit mind to soar for new ideas. Look to future. Avoid worrying over past.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Many choices offered. Keep eye on budget. Better to finish, to use what you have, rather than to splurge. Make sure associate is familiar with situation. Be specific. Remain calm.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Spotlight on the way you look, act, respond. Good Lunar aspect, means you can be impressive, congenial. Sell yourself. Offer ideas, suggestions. Those in authority listen. Big gain possible.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Valuable lesson available. Go after it! Show willingness to learn. One who does not usually seek company may come to you. Turn on Cancer charm, hospitality. Accept opportunity.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Have facts, figures ready. You may be challenged. Cycle high. Means you can come through with flying colors. Believe in yourself. Opposition fades when you really try. Act, no more delay!

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Depend upon yourself. Promises less for morale, but not too practical in final result. This becomes clear later! Be willing to break from tradition. Stress new approach.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Shake off lethargy. Communicate, write, visit - - - and read. Day filled with activity. Don't stop to watch world fly by. Be there in person. Libra charm, sense of quality wins for you.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Minor defeat adds strength to overall program. Ambitions can be fulfilled. But you must fill in some gaps, including more knowledge. Check, read, consult - - - learn by doing.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Plus day for perfecting recent efforts. Go back and polish, revise, rewrite. Don't permit money matters to dominate. But invest for future. Forget get-rich-quick fables.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Get thoughts in order. Especially where family members enter picture. And straighten out any legal tangles. No time to let things slide. The more effort you expend, the quicker the results.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): No time to trust to luck. Help matters along with mature judgment, consideration. Partnerships emphasized. Share spotlight. Ask advice. Highlight consideration, golden rule.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't juggle figures. Face facts as they are. Solution not as difficult as you imagine. Key is in new contacts, friends, renewed efforts. Avoid those who want to retrogress.

If Today Is Your Birthday - - - you are extremely aware of world events, but often keep opinions quiet. You prefer thought to talk, unless asked.

* * *

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Leo, Virgo, Libra. Special word to Aquarius: The more gracious you are, the greater the rewards.

BULETINS FROM ERDLAND
By WINIFRED WILSON

Spring is no on the way and before long w shall be meeting migrants - welcoming back old friends at eagerly watching out for ne ones. There are many pois to take into consideration then trying to identify a bird in the country where seen, anner of flight, color, not to sention a host of details of behavi, bedding and of tail, shape of bill, sad-dress if any, pattern if anyVoice is also no important - but especially when trying to track down songbirds in the melts of May and June, at the height of their singing perio. But size is a good starting point.

Naturally, his very difficult to determine ize, particularly when the birds on the wing. To speak of 'a full moon as looking like a dinner plate. Hold up a ten cent piece and see if you can cover the moon with it. Before y can be sure of size you must odge how far away the object i. In the distance a herring gul appears the size of a beary mosquito. Nevertheless, sinels so important in identifying birds that it is well to have some kind of a guide. The expert advise us to learn the bird-songs bill to tip of tail of three familiar birds that are quite unlike in size, use them as our measuring rod, and then try to estimate for ourselves how the bird in question compares with them.

GUIDE BIRDS

The English sparrow has made a nuisance of itself for so long that we know it very well. It is used a our smallest measure - six inches. As most people know our American Robin, it is the standard for 10 inches. To help decide the size of a large bird wt take the common crow, 18 inches long, as our guide because it is often seen.

To distinguish between two birds that might be described as grey-blue, we might note that the black-throated blue warbler is found near trees or bushes and that the kingfisher is never far from some body of water; that the warbler, being an insect eater, has a tiny bill, while the bill of the kingfisher is extremely long, large, for catching and carrying fish. But size can immediately tell you which bird is which. Such as one is approximately half as large as the other. The latter is about three inches longer.

Science at Work

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

It gained speed, burned through the earth's air at 35,000 miles an hour, and slammed into the earth's ancient sea millions of years ago.

Just such hits by big and smaller meteorites could have set the stage for life to start on earth, two scientists suggest.

The speeding "shooting stars" could have heated the air in such a way as to form organic chemicals from simpler chemicals. Then the great splashes—reaching as high perhaps as the column of water from an underseas nuclear bomb test—could have reached up to trap these chemicals and pull them into the warm sea.

This possible role of ancient meteorites in the origin of life on earth is described in the British scientific journal, Nature, by J. J. Gilvarry and A. R. Hochstim of the space acoustics laboratory, General Dynamics/Astronautics, in San Diego, Calif.

LIFE BEGAN

Many scientists now believe the sun and planets including earth were formed when great clouds of gas and dust condensed into globular masses. The earth cooled down, seas formed, and life somehow began in the warm seas, evolving into all the species including man.

But the original chemicals were the matter and elements to be good building blocks for living things. More complex compounds had to be formed, in the atmosphere, or in the seas.

One theory is that lightning flashes produced the heat and energy to make organic compounds. Or ultraviolet radiation from the sun might have formed them.

But, say Gilvarry and Hochstim, these chemicals would have been formed in the air, and how did they get from the air into the water in sufficient amounts?

High-speed meteorites could have produced a shock wave and great temperatures to promote chemical reactions in the primitive atmosphere, they calculate.

look promising but emphasized the work is still in the preliminary stages and that extensive research and development is required before the process can be adapted to commercial use.

The problem the detergent residues create in waters arise from the fact that many detergents are not readily consumed or degraded by bacteria.

IN BANGKOK WATER

The most common form of detergent residue is foam which often appears in surface waters, causing tastes, dangle and tap wate.

The foaming agent in these detergents is alkyl benezene sulfonate or ABX. Unlike soaps made from animal and vegetable fats, which can be broken down or "oxidized" by bacterial action in a sewage disposal plants, ABS is only partially destroyed.

Dr. Eisenhauer described his method as based on the oxidation of ABS with hydrogen peroxide, using a simple metal salt as a catalyst.

Dr. Eisenhauer's remarks were made available to the press in advance of delivery.

He said laboratory tests showed that laundry waters containing 50 to 80 parts per 1,000,000 ABS can be reduced to one part a 1,000,000 ABS at an estimated raw materials cost of less than 50 cents a 1,000 gallons.

USE WITH CATALYST

"When we analyzed the problem we discovered that none of the methods considered had used the principle of chemical oxidation for removal of ABS. We know that hydrogen peroxide could destroy many chemical compounds by oxidation—particularly if used with a catalyst or an agent to help the process along."

He said the commercial utility of the chemical oxidation technique cannot be defined until completion of additional work on process and equipment.

Dr. Eisenhauer said the process when and if it is developed commercially, may be useful in operations such as laundries and car wash installations where large quantities of detergents are used.

hoped levels would return to normal today or Tuesday.

The Saugeen River was receding in the Paisley - Southampton area after causing considerable damage to cottages and docks by hurling piles of ice against them.

The Thames was dropping rapidly at Chatham and London and officials believe the flood threat has ended. Stream levels in the Gali, Kitchener and Stratford areas also dropped.

In the north, more than 100 public works employees and citizens fought desperately Sunday to smash ice - jams which backed up two creeks flowing through Sudbury.

Both burst their banks in several places, pouring out in the path of floodwater in 500-foot-wide lakes in low-lying regions of the city.

Most residents in the hundreds of homes into which the water poured refused to leave, moving upstairs for the duration. An unknown number abandoned their homes.

ONLY ROOFS SHOW

At least two buildings were inundated with only roof tops visible in the swirling water.

One separate school was closed as water lapped through its classrooms and another, with water already covering its playground, is threatened.

Floodwaters cut off Highways 537 and 539 and swept a roadway across a half-mile section of Highway 69 which was kept open by a detour. Two feet of water covered the Trans Canada Underpass in the heart of the city.

At Coniston, eight miles to the east, a fast-flowing creek swept away a road bridge as citizens and civic employees resumed construction of a sandbag levee, breached late last week, to protect Highway 17.

Water levels in the town recorded slightly, but Mayor Michael Solski said: "There is water coming at us from every direction."

Dear Henry:

I am a boy and I like a girl. Diana is the same age as me, 13. My problem is that many people tell me that she likes me, but when I make a play for her, she'll not admit she likes me.

I try to forget her but I always find people telling me how much she likes me. (Though she doesn't say she doesn't like me.)

When I try to kiss her or take her to parties she always lets me.

Now what shall I do? Shall I give up trying to go around with her or should I repeat my try for her.

FRANK

Dear Frank:

You should get your likes straight. At 13 the only plays you make are in football. At 13 the only female you kiss is your mother. Then the girl you are talking about won't have to make any commitments to you and she won't need to renegotiate them later. So go on liking her and don't press for any commitment.

Central African affairs minister, had been discussing such specific questions as the next governor-general of the federation "only two days before I was summoned a la Hitler and told what our future was going to be."

He said the "working of the federal government and maintenance of the Queen's rule in the federation must go on and as long as I am here I will see it does go on. I will do nothing to help break up the federation."

The death knell of the federation was sounded in London last week when Northern Rhodesia was granted the right to Independence. Northern Rhodesia, ruled by an Negro nationalist government, immediately said it would quit the federation. Nyasaland, also Negro - ruled, had already won a pledge of independence from the British— and vowed to leave the federation too.

Southern Rhodesia's formal request in London today for Independence presented the British government with a potentially explosive political and diplomatic crisis. Southern Rhodesia is run by a white minority government.

To grant the territory independence would incur the wrath of Negro nationalists and probably whip up racial violence. It would also provoke outcries from other Negro - governed states.

RUSAPE (Reuters) — Joshua Nkomo, former leader of the outlawed Zimbabwe African People's Union, was sentenced here today to six months' imprisonment for resisting or obstructing the police in execution of their duty.

Half the sentence was suspended on condition he is not convicted of a similar offense in the next three years.

Nkomo flew back to Southern Rhodesia Sunday after talks in New York with U Thant, United Nations secretary-general; in London with R. A. Butler, Central African affairs minister, and in Dar es Salaam with President Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika.

In Salisbury, he said Butler told him the British cabinet would talk over a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia.

TWO OTHER AFRICAN NATIONALISTS WERE with Nkomo were sentenced to three years and six months respectively. Half their sentences were suspended.

Nkomo and his two lieutenants all announced they would appeal the convictions. All three were released on bail, but had to surrender their passports.

Mr. A. O. Drysdale, superintendent at the Point Anne plant since 1955 and resident of the city since 1950, is being transferred to the company's head office at Montreal, while Mr. R. M. Branen, assistant superintendent at Point Anne will go to Montreal East plant as assistant superintendent there.

Mr. Drysdle will leave for Montreal about May 1st. Mr. Branen has been at Point Anne since July 1961.

A native of Ottawa, Mr. Drysdale attended McGill University, receiving his Bachelor of Engineering degree in 1941. He served overseas with the Canadian Army with the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers from 1941 to 1945. He was on the staff of the Canadian Army Headquarters and commanded the First Canadian Army Troops Workshop, RCEME.

HERE SINCE 1950

Since coming to Belleville in 1950, Mr. Drysdale has taken an active interest in civic affairs and is education.

He served as chairman of the Belleville and District Apprenticeship Advisory Committee. He is a past president of the Belleville Kiwanis Club and a member of the Belleville United Appeal.

He is past chairman and still member and vice-chairman of the Bay of Quinte District High School Board and is also vice-chairman of the Board of Governors at Albert College.

Mr. Drysdale is also past-president of both the Ontario Chamber of Commerce and the Belleville Chamber and is a member of the Ontario Economic Council. He is also 1st vice-chairman of the Quinte - St. Lawrence Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

75 Shots Fired In Two Minutes Says Constable

Charge Logger in Death Of three Union Men

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)— A police constable estimated 75 shots were fired in a two-minute period of post-midnight darkness last Feb. 11 when hundreds of striking bushworkers raided an independent logging camp.

The testimony of Const. F. Raymond Ware of the Iroquois Falls provincial police detachment was a highlight of 6½ hours of a preliminary hearing which began Monday into a charge of non-capital murder against Paul Emile Coulombe, 34, one of the independent logging settlers charged in the death of three striking union loggers.

Close questioning by both Crown and defence attorneys slowed the pace of testimony, the bulk of which was presented by Judge William Murray of the provincial police and Const. Ware.

CHAOS IN DEATH

Coulombe, the father of six children, is charged specifically with the death of 26-year-old Reggie Leclair bearing anti-nuclear and "we want work" slogans. Paper darts floated through the Forum. Foot-stamping was continuous. Demonstrators yelled themselves hoarse with a "no nuclear arms" chant.

Their most effective play came when Mr. Pearson tried to begin speaking. For five minutes they howled him down as hundreds stood on chairs, backs to Mr. Pearson, applauding 13 men in the bleachers who hoisted white letters under their jackets spelling out "no nuclear arms." That scene was repeated about five times.

Mr. Pearson accused the demonstrators of wrecking the democratic process. He decried their tactics, and said they were abusing freedom. No amount of shouting would shake him from his pro-NATO stand, he said.

CHALLENGES DIEF

Over the tumult, Mr. Pearson challenged Prime Minister Diefenbaker to scrap the Bomarc—"his weapon, not a Liberal one"—if he thinks it is no good. He accused the Conservative leader of an "irresponsible and hypocritical" attitude.

He pledged a June budget with "fiscal and tax provisions to stimulate production on jobs" and legislation along the federal-investment line he has been following.

The bill he pledged as part of the first 60 "days of decision" by a new Liberal government would include one to set

Revolt by Argentine Generals Reported Crushed in Four Hours

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Two retired army generals proclaimed a revolt in Argentina today. Four hours later President José Maria Guido announced that his government had crushed the effort to oust him.

Navy troops that surrounded Guido's executive palace in downtown Buenos Aires began to withdraw just after the government communique announcing the crushing of the revolt.

The troops, answering a call from the rebel generals, had set up machine-gun emplacements throughout the city and roadblocks.

But shortly before noon they dismantled their fortifications and marched away.

The rebels had announced their revolt was aimed at blocking elections in which they believed followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron would win control.

PEARSON BEATS HECKLERS ON OWN TERMS

Attempt Made To Break Meeting

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shouting over inspired pandemonium, Liberal Leader Pearson stood up to organized hundreds in the Forum crowd of 7,200 Monday night and fought them on their own terms.

It was a deliberate attempt by Communists, ban the-bombers, radical socialists and others to howl him down and break up the rally. However, Mr. Pearson finished a 40-minute speech that 4,000 others saw on closed-circuit TV in a nearby building.

But he didn't quell the rowdies completely. They fired card-board placards bearing anti-nuclear and "we want work" slogans. Paper darts floated through the Forum. Foot-stamping was continuous. Demonstrators yelled themselves hoarse with a "no nuclear arms" chant.

Their most effective play came when Mr. Pearson tried to begin speaking. ## GUATEMALAN DICTATOR WILL DEPORT REDS

Says County Calm Following Coup

CP from AP-Reuters

GUATEMALA CITY — Guatemala's new dictator, Col. Enrique Peralta, has announced he will deport all Communists now in the country and let no others enter.

The provisional president told a press conference Monday night that Guatemala is calm following Sunday's military coup. But the defence ministry charged Communist agitators are planning disorders.

Communists of a no-natrinos were banned, but a mass rally was planned today to register public approval for Peralta, 54, an army officer and former diplomat who seized power with the support of a group of cracking down on Communist subversion.

Most political parties in this Central American nation say proved the coup, although Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, the elected president it disposed, was a militant anti-Communist and a conservative.

Ydigoras, who flew to Managua, Nicaragua, after the coup, held a press conference today at which he announced he will join the anti-Castro Cuban rebels group Alpha 66 to fight Cuban communism.

He said he arrived here without money and filled with bitterness, but now he was recommending that the new Guatemala regime be recognized immediately by other governments to avert a Communist takeover of the country.

In Washington, the state department press officer, Lincoln White, said the United States "is consulting with other countries in the hemisphere on the question of establishing relations with the new regime."

Guard Slays Laos Minister

VIENTIANE (AP) —The assassination of left-leaning Laotian Foreign Minister Quinim Pholsena was blamed today on one of the guards at his home.

Government sources said the soldier—an adherent of the foreign minister's own neutralist party—was killed by ministers with 18 machine-gun bullets Monday night, then fired an automatic rifle into the minister's head.

The guard was being questioned. Government sources said they did not know his motive nor could they identify him.

Campaign Trials Beset Leaders of Major Parties

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The perils of Pauline had nothing on the election campaign trials that beset Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal leader Pearson Monday.

For Mr. Pearson, it was an organized barrage of chanting and foot-stamping by several hundred anti - nuclear demonstrators that turned a huge rally at Vancouver into bedlam.

For Mr. Diefenbaker, there was a sabotaged CNR railway track in Quebec — spotted and repaired in good time—and later an anonymous telephone call to police that a CPR train in which he was riding would be blown up.

There was a happy ending for both party leaders.

Mr. Pearson out-waited and out-shouted the demonstrators in the crowded 7,200-seat Vancouver Forum and finally delivered a speech in which he declared the government today takes "post people back to work."

Nothing happened to either of Mr. Diefenbaker's trains, except that the CPR train, running at reduced speed for fear of damaged tracks, was more than 90 minutes late arriving at Trois-Rivieres.

He told an audience of 1,000 persons gathered under the Bomarc missile by U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara's confirmed the stand of the Diefenbaker government 100 per cent.

Relative calm prevailed on the campaign trails of the other two party leaders.

New Democratic Leader T. C. Douglas had an obviously par-

Canadian Politicians Look Over Shoulders at States

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian politicians have been fighting much of this election campaign in a familiar posture, with one eye looking over their shoulder at the United States.

Sparks have been struck from half-dozen rough spots in Canadian-American relations ranging from joint defence to the adequacy of Canadian foreign aid.

Through it all has run Prime Minister Diefenbaker's vigorous campaign on the theme of Canadian independence — an approach termed pro-Canadian by him and anti-American by his political opponents.

"Canada a power—not a puppet: that's the attitude we take," Mr. Diefenbaker declared at Chatham, Ont., March 6.

He said Americans "don't even know we're a sovereign country here—they think we're a province."

The words brought a protest from a Guatemalan diplomat, silliness from Washington where the U.S. government's apparent policy is to avoid getting mixed up in Canada's election battle.

Before the campaign began, there had been incidents whose reverberations are still being felt. On Jan. 30, in the House of Commons argument over acquisition of nuclear weapons, the U.S. state department released a statement saying that in negotiations the Canadian government let it be fully made any practical or effective proposal on how to provide U.S. nuclear warheads to Canadian forces.

All four party leaders strongly criticized the statement as improper interference in a domestic issue.

The latest development in the nuclear controversy was the dis-

Publisher Takes Crack at Govt., Many Walk Out

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Times, said Monday that the face Canada is presenting to the world is one of "a nation divided, mettlesome, cranky and insecure."

In an address to the board of trade, Mr. Keate said his remarks were "a reporter's assessment and not the views of a party politician."

However, several Progressive Conservatives walked out as Mr. Keate made reference to Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Canada's role at the time of the Cuban crisis.

Mr. Diefenbaker Stannard, running in Burnaby-Richmond, and Gerald Klein of Vancouver-Kingsway, left when Mr. Keate said:

"Mr. Diefenbaker insists that Canada must stand tall is high. Ask any Canadian traveller. Last October, when the fate of the free world trembled in the balance as a result of the American confrontation in Cuba, what posture did we present to the rest of the world? For 48 hours we could not bring ourselves to decide where we stood. For the first time in my life, I felt ashamed to be a Canadian."

Others left when the publisher said "it seemed to many of us that what the prime minister is really saying is 'I failed once before; now I want to give me the opportunity to fail once again.'"

In all, about a dozen persons left the luncheon.

Mr. Keate said Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Opposition Leader were campaigning in "exactly the opposite roles to what one might expect."

Mr. Diefenbaker was acting more like a leader of the opposition, "lashing out like a man with his back to the ropes," while Mr. Pearson was "assuming a prime ministerial stance, advancing in sober tones to his argumentation for a sane and stable government."

He said the NDP was the most reactionary party in Canada today.

Mild, Dry Weather Gives Northern Ontario a Break

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mild, dry weather gave residents of Sudbury and other areas in Northern Ontario although threatened showers and continued thawing added to fears that the worst flood hazard in the Northern Ontario city has not passed.

Rising water from the Junction and Nolin Creeks at Sudbury forced residents from their homes during the weekend. By late Monday, most of the water had receded to flow in arteries in the nickel city were passable.

While warm weather increased the thawing of snow, it also contributed to a clearing of the ice in blocked drainage courses.

An area of about three blocks remained under water, its residents are still up to their knees in rowboats. Assumption Separate School near the heart of the area is the only one of four of its 14 classrooms flooded.

School officials expected it would take a week before the school could be dried out and disinfected for the nearly 500 pupils to return.

At Coniston, eight miles east of Sudbury, flood waters subsided and a town official said the situation was under control. At the height of the weekend flood threat, more than 100 residents were moved as evacuateers were on the job to protect Highway 17 from the raging Wanapitei River.

KING GETS TICKER TAPE

NEW YORK (AP)—King Hassan II of Morocco, wearing a crown only on a lapel pin, rode in a ticker-tape parade Monday. The central figure of a ticker tape parade. The king stood in an open car of the 10-car motorcade that wended its way through the financial district shortly after noon. The king was guest at an official reception from Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Parley Between Miners, Govt. 'Goes Badly'

PARIS (Reuters) — The first meeting in nine days between the government and the leaders of 240,000 striking coal miners "badly" today, a union official reported.

"The discussions are very touch," the union spokesman said. He added he was "not at all optimistic."

A board official, said earlier the two sides were prepared to "sit all day and night" if necessary.

"It would be disastrous if the two organizations were to break down now," he said.

At the negotiators headed out of talks, hopes were raised, at least temporarily, for a settlement of the month-old strike and the wave of stoppages in other state-run industries which has accompanied it as the negotiators sat down to talk, Paris was virtually paralyzed for the second straight day by a surprise bus-workers strike. Employees at four main railway stations halted stopping service in 42 routes.

VIOLENCE ERUPTS

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Racial violence erupted at a Macon city park Monday, the first since two public parks were opened to Negroes as well as whites last last week. Police said about 75 Negro and white youngsters engaged in a battle in which bottles and rocks were thrown and there were a number of fist fights. No arrests were made.

Lawyer Claims Accused Did Not Take Money

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Lawyer Royden Hughes said Monday Billings M.P.P. for Grenville-Dundas is insolvent years before its accountant Mrs. Del Clow was accused of theft.

Mr. Hughes, defending Mrs. Clow, 37, a former fashion model charged with theft of $228,000 from the company, told Magistrate Gordon Jermyn he was sure Mrs. Clow took the missing money was not taken by Mrs. Clow, but had disappeared in other ways.

Company President Murray Billings testified the books of his books were missing. He said they were in the office after Mrs. Clow left but have since disappeared.

Billings said the books recorded the locations of new and used cars and also listed what he said were false entries given to Industrial Acceptance Corporation during audit.

Mr. Hughes told the court: "Some strange things have been happening in this case since I were first retained in it."

Under questioning, Billings admitted he had borrowed $5,600 from Mrs. Clow in 1957 when she was a $45-a-week book clerk.

At various times in 1962 he had borrowed $1,700, $800, $525 and $9,700 from her, he said.

The hearing continues.

Bahamas Police Capture 17 Anti-Castro Raiders; U.S. Seizes Armed Yacht

Crack Down on Groups of Exiles Striking at Cuba and Soviet Ships

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—U.S. customs agents confiscated a Cuban exile boat, Bahamas police captured a band of 17 sea raiders and a companion group of commandos outlined toward Cuba in a fast-breaking series of developments.

The exile boat, captured in Miami, was "outfitted for aggression," Customs agent Joseph Fortier announced Monday night. He said the 40-foot yacht Alisas was seized Sunday night at North Miami Beach with two homemade bombs and a 20-millimetre cannon on board.

Fortier said one of the bombs was a canister type and the other was home-made of wood and cardboard. Both were blackened so they would not readily be seen in darkness and had magnets on one end so they could be affixed to a target.

The boat's owner, Dram Santiago Alvarez, said he did not know that the bombs were on board or where it was used. No charges were filed, Fortier reported. The boat was towed to empty when agents boarded it.

NEARING CUBA

A group of commandos was reported nearing Cuba by boat on a mission to do battle with any Communist ships encountered and to get in touch with rebels inside Cuba.

The Bahamas boat with 17 men aboard was halted at Norman's Cay, a tiny island in the Exuma chain 200 miles north of the Cuban coast and 350 miles south of Miami.

The Bahamas police took the men into custody, including an American adventurer, Jerry Buchanan, 34, of Miami. Buchanan was flown to Nassau where he said the British would explain the men and confiscate their equipment.

Buchanan told his brother, James Buchanan, a reporter for the Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel, by telephone that he and his companions would be put aboard their 35-foot boat, Viola III, for the Nassau area escorted out of Bahamian waters.

The state department said the U.S. Consulate in Nassau and United States relayed a report to British authorities. Buchanan said the crew told him they had word from London that the group was en route to the island and knew "everything about the operation."

An exile announcement in Miami said the men were members of the anti-Communist Cuban Escambray Front army and

China to Free 3,213 Indians Taken in Battle

PEKING (Reuters) — Communist China will release the 3,213 Indian soldiers captured in last year's border fighting, the foreign ministry announced here today.

It said frontier guards will entrust the Chinese Red Cross with repatriating the Indians. The releases will begin April 10.

The announcement said China now holds prisoners in the Tibet and Sinkiang regions would free the captured troops at different times and places, depending on weather and transportation conditions.

It added that the guards had treated the Indians well and had faithfully carried out "the policy of lenient treatment of captured persons."

The Indians' religious beliefs and national customs had been respected and they had been free to correspond with their families, the announcement said.

The announcement said 3,213 Indian military personnel are in Chinese custody, including a brigadier and 26 field-grade officers.

(Indian Defence Minister V. K. Krishnan told Parliament in January that of 3,490 soldiers missing, 3,330 were reported in Chinese custody, leaving more than 2,000 unaccounted for.)

Fourth Unmanned Moon Rocket Weighing 3,128 Pounds Launched

CP from Reuters-AP

MOSCOW—The Soviet Union today launched its fourth unmanned moon rocket, forerunner of artificial earth satellite already orbiting the earth and reported all systems operating and the final stage working normally.

The payload was an automatic research station, "Cosmos IV", weighing about 3,128 pounds. It was expected to reach the area of the moon in about 3½ days.

Preliminary reports said the rocket was on a course "close to that calculated" and Russian tracking stations were keeping a close watch on its progress.

All the apparatus aboard the automatic station was reported working normally.

Of three previous Russian moon shots, one passed the moon and headed into space, another circled round the dark side and sent information back to earth by radio and a third actually hit the moon's surface.

HIGHWAY 401 STATIONS UNDER DISCUSSION

Govt. Policy Under Attack

TORONTO (CP)—Service station operators at Highway 401 entrances have been left in "a very unhappy situation" by a change in government policy, Ray Edwards (L—Wentworth) told the Legislature Monday.

He said the operators had built their stations under government assurances that no stations would be allowed on the highway route, but two years ago the government alotted eight station sites along the highway.

One operator near Port Hope has gone to "considerable expense" and now a large amount of gasoline which he had anticipated goes to a station subsequently built on the highway route, he said.

Highways minister MacNaughton said a "great many" service stations will be soon involved in the location of service station sites on the highway.

Eight sites were alloted in that area for the test of "general service to the travelling public."

BY END OF YEAR

Mr. MacNaughton told opposition members who sought an early completion of the highway that it will be open to through traffic throughout its entire 312-mile length by the end of this year. Construction of the other two lanes in the 71-mile Temp to Tilbury gap would be started

NDP Rally Here Is Told Unemployment to Stay Up Until Govt. Makes Jobs

Canada will always have high unemployment until a government is elected able to produce enough jobs to absorb the growing labor force, according to Robert Gerow, director of the Canadian Textile Workers Joint Council, of Toronto. Mr. Gerow made the statement at a new Democratic Party rally last night at the Canadian Legion Hall, on Phenetic St.

Legislation will have to be introduced whereby public funds will be readily available for use in building and improving public services such as highways, schools and hospitals, he said. Automation will have to be used for the welfare of the people, not as the profit-making machine it is now. At present there is an undetermined number of voters who have not yet made up their minds which way to vote on April 8th, said Mr. Gerow. There seems to be a belief a person should vote for the winning party, as if the election were a horse race.

"We must elect a government which wants pass laws to insure our livelihood and future peace," he said. A person should vote for the party he or she feels would do most for them and their family. He said he had voted for the CCF and the NDP for a good number of years, never on the winning side, but he had never been any poorer than those who had voted for the Liberals or Conservatives. Consequently, he felt his vote had not been wasted.

Mr. Les Digby, NDP candidate for South Hastings Riding, spoke on the New Democratic Party program on medical care, pensions, re-distribution of taxation and the nuclear arms issue.

The New Democratic Party program calls for a medical plan similar to all Canadian plans, Mr. Digby said, that, through such a plan, more Canadians, in all walks of life would benefit. The Federal Government would pay 50% of the costs, the provincial governments would be responsible for the remainder of the cost with the citizens contributing according to their means.

With regard to old age pensions, Mr. Digby said, the New Democratic Party Program, is $75 a month at age 65 and no means test. The New Democratic Party would institute legislation to insure a portable pension scheme, whereby a person would be insured of his vested rights and to carry his pension job to job regardless of length of employment.

Mr. Digby said that 15% of the University entrants come from the top income group in Canada, while 2% come from the low income group in Canada, "and we're supposed to have equal opportunities," he said. A person should vote for the party he or she feels would do most for them and their family. He said he had voted for the CCF and the NDP for a good number of years, never on the winning side, but he had never been any poorer than those who had voted for the Liberals or Conservatives. Consequently, he felt his vote had not been wasted.

Resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, 80 Highland Avenue. Funeral arrangements appear elsewhere in this edition.

DAVID CLARKE

PICTON — Funeral services were held for one of Canada's oldest and proudest citizens here yesterday.

David Clarke — a contemporary of the Fathers of Confederation — died 107 years of age and had celebrated his last birthday December 9th, 1961 in Prince Edward County.

He spent all his years in this area.

He had farmed possibly longer than any other man in the district before retiring. He resided near the county's Welcome Corners. He entered the Prince Edward County Hospital just four years ago, in that time, the staff recalled, he had remained bright and cheerful — until ten days ago when he began to lapse.

Mr. Clarke is survived by a son, Percy, in Oshawa, and two daughters, Mrs. C. Longwell, Picton, and Mrs. Stanley Thompson, Vancouver.

MRS. SIMON GEORGE KERR

In failing health a short time, Hattie Hester Kerr of 21 Turnbull Street, Belleville, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday. She was in her 83rd year.

Born in Thurlow township, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John D. Clapp. Her husband, Simon George Kerr, predeceased her in 1957.

She was a member of Bridge Street United Church and was very active in the United Women's Group. She had resided in this locality for the past 62 years.

Surviving are one daughter and three sons: Mrs. Carmel (Queena) Massey of Belleville; Rev. Milton Kerr of Glen Ulla, Ont.; Dakota; John A. Kerr of Collingwood, and Howard E. Kerr of Burlington.

She is also survived by one brother, Cleveland Clapp of Comstock Park, Michigan, and one sister, Mrs. George Bears of Belleville, and five grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kirby, Mrs. Kirby was born at Walsall, Ontario, 89 years ago, and lived in Kingston and going to Kingston ten years ago. She was a member of the Anglican Church.

Predecessed by her husband James Kirby, she is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Mae

Street Sweeper, Painting Crews Now at Work

The city public works department has got its spring cleanup campaign underway with the street sweeper operating and painting crews at work.

Yesterday painters were busy repainting traffic island curbing on Front Street, while winter's accumulation of debris and dirt is also being picked up from the streets.

In preparation for the civic paint up program, city council yesterday approved the tender of Charles L. Hyde and Son for white traffic paint at $2.50 per gallon and yellow traffic paint at $2.53 per gallon.

Also the tender of the Trent Valley Sand and Stone Ltd. for ¾ inch chips at $2.20 per ton was accepted and the tender of H. J. McFarland Construction Ltd. for ¾ inch crushed stone at $1.85 per ton, and two inch crushed stone at $1.80 per ton.

Price for both traffic paint and crushed stone are down slightly from last year.

TREE CONTRACT GIVEN

Also at council yesterday the tender of Integrity Tree Experts of Richmond Hill was accepted at a price of $7,535.

Cost of tree cutting and trimming program is shared by the city, public utilities and Bell Telephone Company.

City-owned property fronting on Ridley Street has been sold by auction to Mr. Kenneth Watt for $2,125. The property sold is part of that purchased by the city to provide approach right-of-way for the new North Front Street bridge.

Local Equipment Will Be Used On New Bridge

Highway half loading restrictions which might have held up delivery of pile driving equipment to be used in construction of the new North Front Street overhead bridge, need not hold up construction after all.

City council was told last night that Looby Construction, general contractors for the new bridge, had been offered the use of local equipment and that work was expected to proceed.

The completion date called for in bridge contract is October 4th and although the company is said to be slightly ahead of schedule, City Manager J. R. Reynolds told council that with asphalt paving and cleanup to be completed last he did not expect the bridge to be opened for vehicular traffic much before the contract date.

Alderman Walter Elliott suggested, however, that everything possible be done to speed the bridge completion so that tours would not affect business during the busy summer season.

THE ROTARY CLUB OF BELLEVILLE

Dr. John Stock, president of the Bellleville Progressive Conservative Association, introduces Miss Betty Grills, Mrs. Grills and Lee Grills, P.C. candidate for Hastings South, last night at the Club Canara, where Mr. and Mrs. Grills were host and hostess at a well-attended social evening of dancing and euchre.

Proofs of Strong Economy Are Cited by Lee Grills At PC Dance and Euchre

P.C. candidate Lee Grills, speaking at the Club Canara last evening, paid tribute to the Canadian National Railways employees for their integrity in building their fine club rooms. The Belleville Progressive Conservative Association held at dance and euchre at Club Canara.

Mr. Grills stated that it had been a pleasure to serve all the railroad employees of this area since he became member of Parliament. He told that through his representation as a member of the Railroad Committee of the House of Commons the regional Rideau office of the CNR had been established in Belleville.

During his 5½ years as the member for South Hastings some $12,000,000 had been spent by the Federal Government in the r.

that has never been equalled in the past. Between two and three millions have been spent on new technical schools in Belleville. Last year a $4,000,000 hangar, the largest in Canada, was built at Trenton RCAF Station. The new Federal building in Belleville was constructed and completed entirely since the present government assumed office. Presently there is industrial building in the course of construction or about to be started to the extent of some $2,000,000.

ECONOMY STRONG

This is a clear indication of a strong economy and confidence in the future of our country, he said.

Travelling through the riding, Mr. Grills stated that he has found district factories working at capacity, automobile dealers have stated that their sales this year to date are the greatest ever. Employment is at the highest level in history . . . not unemployment.

Mr. Grills stressed this and informed his listeners that the local employment office has at present on file between 50 and 60 job vacancies.

Mr. Grills reminded every one, in appealing for their continued support, that there are no second prizes on election day and urged everyone to go out and vote on April 8th.

Dr. John Stock, president of the Belleville Conservative Association, welcomed the guests and Jack Ireland, riding association president, introduced Mr. Grills to the audience.

Euchre prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Bennett, Mrs. Ethel Ostrom and Mrs. A. Thompson.

Definite Action May Be Taken This Year

Some definite action with respect to a decision to remove the tracks from Pinnacle Street should be forthcoming this year, members of city council were told yesterday by Mayor A. M. Haig.

Mayor Haig said both the CNR and the CPR had approved the track removal project in principle and were now considering costs.

"We realize, of course, that big bodies move slowly but there is every indication that there should be some action this year."

The Pinnacle Street question was raised after construction proposal forms requesting subsidy on asphalt reconstruction on connecting link highways, were approved by council.

The proposal is to repave Dufdas East from Burnham to McDonald; North Front Street from Moira Street to the new overhead bridge and Station Street from the Upper Bridge to Pinnacle.

CAN RECOVER 75 PC

As connecting highway links those roadways would be eligible for Department of Highways subsidy which recently has been increased to 75 per cent. Estimated total costs of the re-paving is $26,010.

The city will request subsidy on the three highway links but it still has not been definitely decided whether the work will be included in this year's budget.

Alderman Ross Bailey brought up the question of Pinnacle Street which he said was in much greater need of repaving than were the parts of the other three streets.

The mayor and clerk were authorized to sign the by-law providing 1963 expenditures on roads and streets in the amount of $305,000 and also the by-law to provide for supplementary expenditures in the amount of $190,430 for the purchase of lands for the North Front Street overhead bridge project.

The $190,620 figure for property purchase will be part of the over-all bridge cost and will be eligible for subsidy from the highways department and department of Transport.

Advance Poll Vote Is Down

A total of 273 persons cast their ballots at the advance polls held in Belleville on Saturday and Monday, according to returning officer William VanTassel.

This number compares with 314 who cast their ballots at the advance polls in the last Federal election in June 1962. Advance poll was also held at Trenton, where 44 ballots were cast — ten less than a year ago.

Other advance polls were at Frankford, Tweed, Deseronto and Stirling but at noon today the number of ballots cast had not been learned by the returning officer.

Loss Confined To Smoke, Water Damage

MADOC (Special) — Firemen today were still investigating cause of a blaze that threatened a hardware store here last night.

The fire was discovered in the basement of Crest hardware store three hours after closing time. A fire reel from Belleville and city fire chief Gerald Vance reinforced local firefighters.

Loss in the store area was confined to smoke and water damage.

Special Council Meeting Will Study Sub-Division

Whether the city should live up to its agreement and pay an estimated $8,375 as the city's share of costs for sanitary sewer, watermains, roads and curbs for the proposed King George Square sub-division north of the CNR double tracks will be decided at a special meeting of council.

City fathers discussed the project for well over half an hour at yesterday's regular session of council and when councillors were still far apart in their thinking decided to refer the matter back to the public works committee and to a special meeting of council.

King George Square is a proposed sub-division west of North Front Street and immediately north of the CNR double tracks.

WOULD EXTEND STREETS

The plan would call for extension of Evans Street west from North Front Street to the project line of Coleman Street north of the tracks. It would also call for opening of that portion of Coleman Street north to College Street.

However, city school property would bound extended Evans Street on the north side, while high school property would bound extended Coleman Street on the west.

Because of this, according to the city's sub-dividers' agreement, the city would be required to pay a share of the costs of services on both Evans and Coleman Streets.

Councillors were not in agreement that Coleman Street should be opened at all, claiming that it served no useful purpose for the planned housing sub-division.

QUESTION OF SERVICES

Opposed to this thinking was the view of the public works department and public utilities commission that it handed the street opened to facilitate installation and operation of services.

Alderman Jack Ellis said the public utilities disliked "dead-end" for water services, while opened Coleman Street would facilitate snow plowing and other works.

Alderman Ross Bailey noted that the sub-division as now planned would cut off parts of properties recently purchased by the city to provide approaches to the new North Front Street bridge.

He suggested some sort of a revised plan which might make use of the city property which he said could be turned over to the sub-divider.

The plan as now proposed would provide 22 building lots along a new street, King George Square, and extended Evans Street. There would be no houses facing Coleman Street.

The matter brought forward yesterday will be aired at the special meeting.

Trenton News

Council Claims Police Report Misleading

TRENTON — The Trenton Police Commission will be notified in writing by town council that a decision of an unconditional per capita grant from the province, last year, $49-436.25, on a $3.75 per capita basis) in the annual report, prepared by Police Chief F. J. Taylor is "misleading." Reference to the grant in the police report is placed under "receipts" along with such things as the income from fines and fees collected, return for enforcement of the liquor control laws and money gained from impounding cars.

The unconditional grant, says the town, is used, on a per capita basis thusly: $1 for the administration of justice, (the town's share of the upkeep of the county court house, etc.); $2 for social welfare, relief, etc. and $0.75 for highways and streets.

At last night's council meeting clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry was asked to write to the commission and clarify the matter.

In the absence of Mayor D. J. MacDonald, Councillor Thomas Duncan took over as acting mayor. Council dealt with a number of matters, reached decisions on some and deferred action on others.

It heard were resolutions to renew a contract with the garbage collector, Ross Willman; to install curbs in Elmwood Acres; to make Dufferin Ave. a 25 mph. zone; to proclaim May 6-10 "Clean-Up Week."

Deferred was a decision on a request from Bob Smith Board to remove old boat houses on the dump and a decision as to whether the town should have an urban renewal study. The committee on recreation and community welfare will look into the former and the latter question will be taken up again on Oct. 1 of this year.

Advance Polls Held

TRENTON — Hastings South returning officer, William Van Tassel reports that 44 persons voted in the advance federal election poll in Trenton March 30 and April 1. That's 10 down from last year.

Meantime, Frankford's clerk, Jean Mitts, reports that the Frankford's 960 eligible voters cast ballots in an advance poll last Saturday on the question of whether the village should have liquor and beer outlets. The formal vote on the question will be held tomorrow, April 3. Voting hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. and three polls have been set up at the community hall for the purpose.

170 Give Blood

TRENTON — A hundred and several persons gave blood at yesterday's blood donor clinic. Special mention goes to Pyrotenax employees; Legion Branch 110 members and Frankford Legion Branch No. 387 members.

Three Employees Receive Plaques on Retirement

TWEED — Three retired employees of The Nichols Chemical Company, Sulphide plant, were honored at a dinner Thursday, March 28th, at The Tweedsmuir Hotel. Ed Dwyer has spent over 45 years with the company, mostly in the nitric acid and sulphuric acid departments; Dave Cassibo has spent over 35 years in the mine and sulphuric acid departments and Miss Frances Graham has worked over 21 years in the plant office.

PROGRESS OUTLINED

In his after dinner remarks, the president of Allied Chemicals, Mr. G. H. Elliott, outlined the progress of the company in recent years and spoke of some of the new products now being marketed. "A plant is now being built near Sarnia to produce Tobiene Diisocyanate, an essential ingredient in urethane which is finding its way into paints, furniture, clothing and many other articles."

Mr. Elliott was optimistic about the chemical industry in Canada although it is presently being squeezed between rising costs on one hand, and stable or lowering selling prices on the other, resulting in profit margins which in turn curtails progress. He stressed the large portion of profits taxed by various governments to provide the services now in use.

The head of Nichols Chemicals operations in Canada, Mr. J. G. Schwarzkop, was in from Valleyfield for the evening.

President of Sulphide Employees' Association Everett Douglas, expressed appreciation to the retiring employees for their long and loyal service.

Sulphide plant superintendent Andy Anderson was M.C. for the dinner and Harold Knapp arranged decorations and entertainment.

Nearly 45 people enjoyed this presentations function.

Council Orders Spring Cleaning Program Started

Frankford council devoted most of their meeting last night to spring cleaning. Municipal employees will be instructed duging the next two weeks to cut four or five dead trees from the village park, and a general cleanup of the park is planned. In addition, a well may be provided in the park, if a winter works grant can be obtained on the job.

Council also authorized a request that residents of Frankford co-operate with a general cleanup of the village during the next few weeks. A municipal by-law authorizes action against the owners of unsightly property.

The council also made plans to apply for winter works aid on the village sewer and water projects, planned for this summer. Starting date for the projects will not be known until the hiring squeeze is eased, but the winter works grants will be available until May 31 this year. Daylight saving time will take effect in Frankford on Sunday, April 28 this year, the council decided.

One Out of Thirty-Seven

Yesterday, in discussing "Ontario Industrial Review 1962," we mentioned in passing that Belleville was credited with one new industry amongst 149 listed.

The report, issued by the Ontario Department of Economics and Development, merits fuller study.

As we said, International Precision Castings Co. Ltd., manufacturer of jet engine components established at the Deloro Stellite plant here, is one of "149 Canadian and foreign companies" listed as "among the more important firms establishing new manufacturing operations in Ontario in 1962."

Besides this list of new industries, however, there are list of Ontario industries which made manufacturing arrangements with foreign firms, erected branch plants in new locations or expanded their existing production facilities during 1962.

Ontario firms made 49 manufacturing arrangements, almost all with foreign firms, to produce certain goods in Canada under license.

No Belleville firm made any such arrangements.

Twenty-three Ontario companies are listed as "among the more important expanding to new locations in the province."

A total of 658 Ontario manufacturing establishments are listed as "among the more important building additions to their production facilities in 1962."

Somebody may object that this tells only half the story. To be able to judge the record, one needs to know where new industries, branch plants and expansions were located, it may be argued.

All right. Here are the facts.

Outside, the so-called Golden Horseshoe area along Lake Ontario, from east of Toronto to Hamilton and beyond, few centres obtained more than one or two new industries. Cornwall, with three new plants, was one exception. Belleville, Peterborough, Hastings and Cobourg each got one new firm.

Of the 49 manufacturing arrangements, one Cobourg firm had two.

Bancroft and Colborne each obtained a branch plant, Downs, Coulter and Co. Ltd. of Trenton opening a branch at Bancroft and United-Carr Fastener Co. Canada Ltd. establishing a branch at Colborne.

Cobourg had no less than eight plant expansions, Peterborough seven, Kingston three. Trenton and Napanee both had two plant expansions, Erie Resistor of Canada Ltd. and Outboard Marine Corp. of Canada at Trenton, and Strathroma Paper Co. Ltd. and International Equipment Co. Ltd. at Napanee. Seven smaller centres each enjoyed the benefits accruing from the expansion of an existing industry. These expansions were undertaken by Brighton Valve Co. Ltd., at Brighton, Elaine Footwear Ltd. at Stirling, H. O. D. Woodworking Co. Ltd. at Madoc, Horner Lamps and Shades at Roseneath, Macon Silks Ltd. at Campbellford, Osmose Pressure Treated Wood Products (Ontario) Ltd. at Bancroft and Proctor Silex at Picton.

All told, from Cobourg, Roseneath, Hastings and Peterborough on the west to Kingston on the east, "Ontario Industrial 1962" reports 37 instances of industrial expansion of one type or another.

Just one of these benefited Belleville.

Tough League

This is the "paperback" age.

We are all for it. Cheap paperbacks have done more to promote the reading of good literature than most English teachers.

People who would never think of spending a couple of bucks for a book which could amuse them for an hour will buy paperbacks. Sometimes, they buy good books deliberately. Sometimes they get trapped into such a purchase by the low price or by a gaudy cover, and end up discovering a whole new world.

Yes, paperbacks are fine.

But superb Robert Nixon, M.L.A. for Brant, is carrying things a little too far when he urges a system of "paperback" textbooks for Ontario schools which, he says, would allow more flexibility in the curriculum, presumably by reducing the cost of providing a wider variety of books.

If Mr. Nixon would examine the average student's present textbooks, and note how many had shed their sturdy hard covers, he would have well-founded doubts about the ability of "paperbacks" to stand the gaff in this tough league.

Varied International Eyes Scan Our Election Scene

By RICHARD JACKSON
(From The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Notes from the Campaign Trail — The whole free Western World appears to be watching this one — and through the eyes of its own correspondents and cameramen.

A dozen American daily newspapers, including The New York Times, The Chicago Tribune, The Washington Post and Times Herald, The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the radio and television networks of NBC, CBS, and ABC, and of course, the international news wire services of Associated Press and United Press International, all have their own men travelling the campaign countryside with both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson — with quick side trips, naturally, to view that political phenomenon, Real Caouette, the whirling dervish of Funny Money from Quebec.

What the American magazine "Newsweek" said so unflatteringly of him, the Prime Minister has contrived to make something of an election issue, suggesting that is simply more evidence in his case against Washington on charges of "intrusion and interference" in Canadian domestic affairs.

While the American press fairly could not be accused of outright hostility to the Prime Minister — which, really, is mostly that of curiosity or even skepticism — it has not been exactly friendly or even sympathetic, either.

THE OLD JAZZ

So what of the British press view of the Prime Minister in particular and the election and its other personalities generally?

The big mass circulation London dailies have had their own "headline specialists" as they prefer to call them on the Canadian scene.

Both The Daily Express and The Daily Mail have sent some of their best men out, both from London and from their New York and Washington bureaus.

And what is London getting to read?

An entirely different approach to the election story than has been taken by the touring American correspondents.

The Americans handle it as a straight political situation, colored, or slanted according to their own national viewpoint.

Here is a Scotchanker rally as seen through the excitement of a focused eyes of the Daily Express.

"The big man with the starling hypnotic gaze, the rippling grey hair in a flying V, the rasping demanding voice of an Elder Prophet, cried into the microphones: 'I believe in Canada. I believe there is a divine faith - - a divine faith for Canada.'

ELECTRIC

"And the 6,000 people, fishpaved and their stiffingly-crowded auditorium, jumped to their feet, bursting into cheers.

"It's something electric.

"This was the Canadian Prime Minister, Mr. John Diefenbaker, making his emotional appeal to the pride and power of his people in this election so full of bitterness and personal enmity.

"It's a name-calling slambang affair whose outcome will be close.

"Although there are four parties in the field, the blood feud is between 67-year-old John Diefenbaker, Conservatives and the Liberals led by 56-year-old Lester Pearson.

"Mike" Pearson is the hometied darling of the international set, a Nobel prizeman, the horn-rimmed intellectual more at home in the marble halls of the United Nations than on Main Street, Saskatchewan.

"'Dief' is the erstwhile country lawyer from the great wheat plains of the far West, crackerbarrel - comfortable in any small town or country hall. With his intensely evangelical fervour and speech, he has no appeal to the city slickers and pseudo sophisticates.

"And there is his youthful looking wife, Olive, beside him, always on the platform, gay and appealing and her fashionably simple costumes, her wide slash of scarlet lipstick and those dark Hollywood sunglasses glinting black-eyed into the glaring lights of the tally."

And so it continues, written almost in the idiom of Ian Fleming's James Bond or Raymond Chandler's Philip Marlowe. But interesting, even arresting, and perhaps the way politics really ought to be presented to command everybody's attention.

Lunch Time In Hong Kong

Christian Science Monitor

Hong Kong's many Cantonese restaurants begin to fill up shortly before 1 o'clock — the downtown lunch hour — with customers who sit at tables by two or threes, or possibly more, sipping fragrant Chinese tea and chatting with their friends.

There are businessmen in conservative dark suits or occasionally in dinner jackets, or gray Chinese gowns. There are women variously attired in the latest Western styles, or in high-collared, slit - skirted Cheongsams, some in deep rich colors, some in gaily pastel and rainbow hues. Each table has a menu, but few bother to consult it.

Every two or three minutes, white-jacketed waiters carrying trays piled high with small circular baskets sally forth in a row from the kitchen and stroll from table to table, calling out their contents in a high-pitched singsong.

"Chun-kiun (spring rolls)!" cries one stri. "Ha-gow (shrimp wrapings)!" sings another. The girls carry the trays in slings suspended from their necks, leaving their hands free to serve the customer.

Would you like some spring rolls? These, as it so happens, have one on dishes, since they have been fried and must remain crisp. Deftly the girl wields a pair of scissors to crunch through the crust and divide the rolls into chunks manageable by chopsticks.

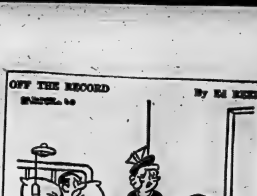
How about some shrimp wrappings? These, being steamed, come in a covered basket. The girl lifts the cover for you to see and there, like pearls while sea-fish in a seaweed nest, are three or four shrimp-meat balls in a rice mixture so thin as to be almost transparent.

Each basket or dish contains three or four mouthfuls of delicacies, collectively a tasty dish-sum and except for a few specialties and cold dishes, invariably steamed or fried. Waiters stack the dishes and baskets at the side of your table as you alternately eat, chat and sip.

One can easily spend an hour or more in this manner, indulging, sipping, and sampling the ware that the waiter-waitress brings. Let us see what is in the basket. Open the cover, please. So that's what cha-siu-bao (pork dumplings) look like. Yes, I think I'll take a basket. Or how about some siu-mai-shimp and minced meat steamed in another rice wrapping?

I really think I've had enough, you say, eyeing the growing stack of dishes and baskets. Oh, no, do try another: they aren't very filling.

So it goes. No need to agonize over menus, wondering what your host is going to order and whether you dare ask for fish-mignon. No waiter lifting a disapproving eyebrow when you've made the wrong choice. Just a pleasant conversation with your friends and a momentary pause then to sample a dish or a basket. You may even try Western dishes — a macaroni casserole or a lemon tart.



When you have had your fill and are ready to leave, the waiter will simply count the number of baskets and dishes on your table, and give you a slip of paper adding up the total.

Like as not, the girls will still be circulating when you leave, calling out new wares, and it will take real self-control to resist uncovering one more basket just to see what is inside. Meat balls a la Lucullus? Better leave something for tomorrow, though. Thank you, and come again.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

APRIL 2nd, 1943

Just because city police were called to the home of James Street late Monday night didn't mean to say they were staging the "last roundup." Cattle running at large last night on James Street caused residents concern and police were notified. P.C. Taylor, accompanied by two members of the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary, hastened to the scene where they found a tractor transport turned over along the side of the street. Naturally the cattle which were being transported in the vehicle made a bid for escape when the truck toppled over.

The traditional Easter lily, for the most part will be missing from church, residence and institution this Easter. The beautiful flower, symbolic of one of the most important religious ceremonies in the Christian calendar, will not be available this year, due to the fact that the greater majority of the bulbs used to come from Bermuda.

Six muskets of ancient vintage, were found in a perfect state of preservation in the basement at the Belleville armouries the other day by the armouries' caretaker. How long these ancient muskets have been stored away is not known, but the fact that one was manufactured in 1861 and is the old type hammerlock, muzzle loading model, allows proves the guns were the property of the local militia prior to the erection of the present armouries shortly after the turn of the century.

No Danger Involved While Taking Bath After Eating

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: You recently referred to a question about swimming after eating. I would like to know if it is all right to take a bath right afterward or within an hour or so? — P.H.S.

Certainly. The swimming danger is that the combined demands for circulation of blood (for digestion) and for warmth in the cool or cold water; and for the exertion required) can deprive some brain centers of an adequate supply. Rebelling, a muscle has a cramp. And cramps can result in drowning.

A bath is another matter. It isn't strenuous and it's usually taken in warm water, so you don't run the risk of cramps such as in swimming.

Besides, even if you did have a cramp, you wouldn't drown in the bathtub. You'd just sit there until it relaxed, as it would soon. Don't you make this difference clear?

Dear Dr. Molner: Six months ago I sat down on the bench of a seat belt and injured the end of my spine. Every evening I could hardly sit down. The pain later subsided but if I have to sit for a long time it is very painful to move again. Is there something I can do or should I see a doctor? — Mrs. J. G.

It's the coccyx, or vestigial tail, at the end of the spine. Bruised, it can remain sensitive for quite a long time. Frankly, there's not much to do except wait for it to recover.

I hope I won't offend you by using your case to warn others. Seat belts are to be worn, not sat on.

Dear Dr. Molner: I've read a lot about high blood pressure but nothing about what to do for low blood pressure. Mrs. T. M.

High blood pressure can be dangerous; low blood pressure unless extreme causes no inconvenience and sounds the hazards, too. It may cause lightheadedness or dizziness on arising, or bending over, in some cases. If low blood pressure isn't annoying, in such a way, then just be glad that you're on the safe side.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor said I am going through the menopause. I asked, "What am I supposed to expect?" and he replied, "Don't ask me, ask your neighbor." What's the difference between menopause and change of life? — Mrs. M.

Not much difference. Actually "menopause" means the end of menstrual periods, and "change of life" generally refers to the time during which symptoms may appear related to the adjustment of the system to a different hormone supply or output.

Every doctor knows he can talk until he's blue in the face and not be able to describe or predict how any women will feel at the time of menopause. He doesn't experience it as a male.

Likelier things are "hot flashes" and sometimes irritability. Some women apparently have virtually no difficulty at all and yet some have a good deal.

Some doubtless are "talked" into having symptoms that they would otherwise just brush aside if they hadn't been filled full of dire foreboddings by other women. The thing to remember is that this is a perfectly natural event which in due time occurs to all women and there is no reason to accept anything terrible. Annoying, yes, sometimes, but that's all.

Doctors say that women parents get together and compare symptoms. Menopause is going to happen to them, too, in time. So let it happen, but keep our eyes and ears tubed for any real troubles, if they occur.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill. for the booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Driving in from the airport while the police arrived and straightened out the tangle, allowing us to proceed.

Then came my embarrassment was that in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and such states, driving licenses are not only most strictly enforced, but what is more important, the residents of those regions have a perfect understanding of how ridiculous it is for one man, one measly man, to hold up traffic when not thousands of his fellow men but his single folly.

You-all is good. It only takes one Texan and a hundred or five hundred motorists to disrupt what could be, and what is, in Texas, a perfectly sensible flow.

Toronto Stocks

Investors Syndicate A posted a drop of ¼ on light turnover, while in contrast, Trans-Canada Pipe Lines was up ¼ to 24¼ after a special-sized transaction involving 36,500 shares of the stock at that price. The total value of the negotiation approached $1,000,000.

Other weaker issues included Algoma Steel off ¼, Canada Malting and Canadian Celanese, each down ½, and Consolidated Piper, off ¼.

Among gainers, Gemco Mines rose ¼ to a new 1963 high of 72. Aluminium advanced ¼ to a new high of 25¾ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce rose ⅜.

On index industrials list at 3 p.m. 606.11, golds .33 to 90.64 and base metals .24 to 202.90. Western oils gained .31 to 118.28. The 11 a.m. volume was 920,000 shares compared with 1,152,000 at the same time Monday.

Among base metals, Hudson Bay Mining slipped ¼ and Gunnar dropped 30 cents to a new low of 28. Gunnar dropped 70 cents Monday after an announcement that the company will be unable to complete its part of a current United Kingdom contract because of a lack of uranium ore.

Among specialties, Iso Mines moved ahead eight cents to 81 cents on fairly active turnover during the morning.

Western oils displayed more life than usual today with Home A and Pacific Petroleum both advancing ½, Home B rising ¾ and United Oils rising 12 cents to $1.52 on a volume of about 34,000 shares.

The market dipped lower Monday.

Canada Cement led the industrials losers as it dipped a point to 36, and fractional losses were scattered through most groups.

Moore Corp. slipped ¾, International Utilities ¼ and International Nickel ⅛. Provincial Pipe Lines ½, with natural gas going to Price Brothers, Industrial Acceptance and Canada Malting.

On the plus side, banks were mostly higher with Nova Scotia up 1¼, Toronto-Dominion ¾, Imperial Bank of Commerce ½ and Montreal ⅜. Motors were also higher, featuring General Motors up ¼ to a new 1963 high of 71¾ and U.S. Ford ahead ¼ to 50¾.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was firm with offerings inadequate for a fair demand.

Council Will Buy Property To Make Road

City council yesterday approved a recommendation from the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board that steps be taken to acquire sufficient footage for a 66-feet wide roadway between Gilbert and Lemoine Street in the Park Dale area.

Residents of the area had requested only a pathway to allow children to get to school, but on discussing the matter some weeks ago council agreed to defer action pending consideration of a full width roadway.

Yesterday Alderman Jack Ellis said it was only reasonable to expect that a roadway would be used as there were no cross streets in this particular area for a half-mile or more.

But Alderman Enos David said he couldn't see any useful purpose for the full width roadway when only a walkway was requested. We couldn't be used as part of the city paying out up to possibly $4,000 for lots, plus the cost of road allowance.

Alderman Joseph Raycroft was also opposed to the cost. "I would like to pay out only six or seven thousand dollars," he said.

Council voted to acquire the required property but there was some suggestion that the road would not be completely developed at this time.

Fellowship Night Observed By Rotarians

Approximately 85 Rotarians and their wives gathered at the Tops Motor Hotel last evening in commemoration of fellowship night when they heard a very informative talk on South Africa by Mr. Karel Vrtopil, vice-president and managing director of the Bata Shoe Company. Retiring president Dr. Harry W. Burnett presided.

Mr. Vrtopil described various aspects of the country to those present. He said copper mining was the oldest industry with some iron ore being mined.

He compared some of the modern buildings in the small towns with those in some of the larger cities in North America. Farming in most parts is very good, he commented.

The speaker went on to say that the political situation of the country at the present was very bad, but the economy and growth of the country were rapidly expanding. He said many were slowly moving towards a more advanced social standards of living.

One of the biggest ambitions of a Bantu is to own a bicycle and to work at a job which he will be recognized. He said many of the people held executive positions in companies, while other held clerical jobs while still others were with the civil service.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Newt Thompson and thanked by Rotarian T. V. Wills. Grace was said by Norm Keith and following the speaker's address, he showed a film on South Africa.

The speaker for the evening was to have been a scholarship winner sponsored by the Rotary District Student Plan Foundation, Ashish Sen from Delhi, a student at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Sen was taken ill and was unable to attend the meeting as he is presently in the Toronto General Hospital.

The student plan foundation is a plan whereby all Rotarians in the district, 707, pay in a sum of money to the club each year for the purpose of assisting a worthy student from a distant land, in completing his education.

Temple Says Lee Grills 'Cynically' Mixes Grants With Federal Politics

Liberal candidate Robert Temple last night accused his Conservative opponent, Lou Grills of "cynically" mixing tax structures in federal politics for the Hastings area.

Mr. Temple's charge was levelled at a Belleville city workers rally, attended by more than 300, as he waved aloft a pamphlet which is being distributed through the riding by Mr. Grills.

(The pamphlet, published by the South Hastings Progressive-Conservative Association, states that $11 million dollars has been distributed through federal government projects in the riding since Mr. Grills won back the constituency in 1957.)

"I've stated the truth on the Belleville federal building, so I won't repeat that," said Mr. Temple. "But today, I received this pamphlet which sets forth Mr. Grills' claims for monetary distribution in this riding."

Among the total of expenditures, Mr. Temple said his opponent mentioned Belleville's sewage treatment system. This, in its present phase, would cost $1,515,000 and the federal government would subscribe 25 per cent of that cost if the phase was finished by 1963.

"Mark well the word 'if' said Mr. Temple. "Yet this pamphlet claims the credit well in advance."

"On top of which, this has been a tremendous objective for the local taxpayer. In my time on council we were faced with this, and faced it as a burden that must be squarely borne by the local taxpayer."

Mr. Temple also noted the pamphlet lists the provincial school projects and hospital grants and winter works programs.

"What," he demanded, "are all these things doing in a federal campaign? These projects are shared by municipal, provincial and federal taxpayers, he charged.

"The system is already laid down as to who grants what to hospitals and schools. And it still hasn't helped the municipal taxpayer any."

"Perhaps," Mr. Grills forgets the taxpayer on the municipal level. He is being cynical assuming that his pamphlet is akin to cynicism when it sets out these claims."

Bumper Tourist Season in Area Is Expected

Judging by the number of inquiries and by the number of folders handed out at the recent Toronto and Cleveland sportsmen's shows, the Hastings Land O'Lakes areas can expect a bumper tourist season this year.

Alderman John Ireland, reporting for the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, told council yesterday these areas of Highlands of Hastings and Land O' Lakes tourist brochures were handed out at the two sportsmen's shows.

In addition 35,000 persons signed coupons entitling them to a chance on draws conducted by the two tourist organizations.

"From the excellent response a good tourist year for this district is indicated," he said.

Mr. Earl Dickneother, secretary manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, attended both sportsmen's shows.

New Hospital For Plainfield Now Planned

The Board of Governors of the Ontario Homes for Mentally Retarded Infants Incorporated at Plainfield, at its board meeting of March 31st, 1963, has authorized the building of a new hospital as an addition to the present accommodations, to the amount of $100,000.

The new buildings will be as near fireproof as possible and a direct line will be made to reach the Belleville Fire Department through the new fire alarm system. "A reserve of 30,000 gallons of water is at hand at all times in case of emergencies.

Preparations are made for the immediate commencement of the project, taking into consideration the limitations of the site. Sub-contractors' bids are being processed and plans for the new hospital have been designed by the firm of archi tects Craig, Zeidler & Strong, Peterborough, Ontario. Building permit for this 8,500 square foot size project has been applied for and staffing of supervisory personnel has been completed.

Donations are coming in and with the assistance of extra banking facilities it is expected that opening of the new hospital will take place in the month of September. The yearly general membership meeting as well as open house will be arranged at that time. Interested parties may make their donations to the Building Fund of ONMRI, P.O. Box 100, Plainfield, Ontario.

Houston Home Brings $4,900 By Auction

"Competition is the life of trade" or so goes the old saw.

And proof that competition in the form of open bidding by public auction can increase the sale price of a property, was given here last week when the ranch style home on the former Houston property on the bay front was sold.

The Houston property was acquired by the Ontario Water Resources Commission as a site for the Belleville Water Pollution Control Plant and the home was offered for sale by tender.

But the highest tender price of $1,100 was turned down by the Commission.

The home was decided to sell the property by public auction.

At the auction last week a total of $4900 was realized for the house, close to five times the amount of the best price offered by sealed tender.

The Houston house has to be removed from the site to make way for eventual expansion of the sewage treatment plant.

Hockey Players' Salaries Come Up in Council

When is the city going to pay the balance said owing to members of the former Belleville McFarland's Hockey Team.

That was the question asked in city council yesterday by Alderman Jack Allin who said he had been queried a number of times on the matter.

The alderman also wanted to know what the city was doing with the money collected by way of special levy for payment of the back hockey salaries.

Mayor A. M. Haig replied that the matter had been discussed on at least two occasions in city council and payment had been rejected on both occasions.

"You are quite right that an amount of money was collected and if it is not paid will eventually be declared surplus and revert to the general rate.

He said the matter of payment would be re-considered by council.

A young Toronto man today was fined $100 for leaving the scene of an accident which forced a car off Highway 401, near Trenton.

Edward Wedge, 23, pleaded guilty to the offence, and was taken back to Toronto to face a charge of stealing the car he was driving.

Wedge abandoned the car he was driving a mile from the accident and started hitch-hiking. The first car he thumbed down was a provincial police cruiser.

Audit Report Shows Surplus Of $48,452

A special meeting of city council to hear the auditor's report on the Belleville and the C.N.R. Their applications for membership went before the executive at its last meeting for approval and were voted upon at Monday night's meeting.

Guests in attendance at the meeting were Don Robertson and Doug Heath.

Ambulances, Police, Firemen Called Out on False Alarms To Several Areas in City

Belleville's ghoulish jokester had himself another hell yesterday, scoring a hat trick for police and firefighting services.

It started before 3 p.m. with a call to city police reporting a serious accident on the Bay Bridge road. Ambulances and cruisers were rushed to the scene and provincial police at Picton — the area is within their jurisdiction - - sent an officer to investigate the mishap. The report that four people were badly hurt in the accident was also broadcast before reporters discovered it phoney.

For almost an hour after that, ambulances, firemen were sent on calls running the gamut of disaster, from industrial accidents to train wrecks.

Meantime, among police investigating the accidents the fear grows that some call may yet result in a mishap - - a real, and fatal, one - - as the city's emergency services answer the calls.

"When you're going to an accident the possibility always is in your mind of a runaway have one yourself," an ambulance driver said.

"It's an emergency and speed is the keyword."

Fears for the safety of elderly pedestrians are also expressed by authorities as the jaywalker continues to operate at almost regular intervals.

Kinsmen Plan Show in Fall

A discussion concerning a reproduction of a theatre show is expected to be coming to Belleville sometime in November, was held by members of the Belleville Kinsmen Club at their regular meeting held in the Shrine Club Monday evening.

Kin Frank Walker, chairman of the show committee, reported submitted a short brief on the plans for the show and made a motion that the show be held the Kingston club's show at $500 per night for two nights. The motion was seconded by Wayne Flyndall.

A discussion followed the motion which was defeated. The show will be held one night only.

Two new members were accepted into the club, Stu Meeks, owner of the Le Salle Ambulance and Louis Metus, of the C.N.R. Their applications for membership were before the executive at its last meeting for approval and were voted upon at Monday night's meeting.

Guests in attendance at the meeting were Don Robertson and Doug Heath.

Well Known P. E. County Resident Dies

The funeral of William (Bill) Henry Morden of Wellington, was held from the Ainsworth Funeral Home in Wellington, this Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. J. J. Rodgers of Hillier, conducted the service in the chapel and also the committal rites at Christ Church cemetery at Hillier.

He died in Trenton Memorial Hospital on Saturday, after a prolonged illness.

On Monday evening a large number of Masons turned out for a memorial service held in the funeral home, with the Master of Lake Lodge, Amelias-burg conducting the rites of the order.

William (Bill) Henry Morden was born at Melville in Prince Edward County 82 years ago, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morden. He resided in the county his entire life, where he was well known and highly respected. He was a farmer in the Melville district for most of his life and became well known throughout the district as he was a threshe- er for years.

He is a life member of the Lake Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 218, of Amelias burg, and the L.O.L., No. 1 of Hillier. He was also a past master and life member of the Masonic lodge.

Interesting Address on 'Early Education' Given Melrose W.I.

A meeting of unique interest was held in Melrose Hall when the Melrose W.I. gathered for its March meeting with a splendid attendance. Mrs. M. Lazier, president welcomed all including the members of the Girls' Club and Mr. and Mrs. C. Boyce of Belleville.

After the usual opening procedure, she directed the "Roll Call — Bring a Picture of Your Home and Tell its History". Each member responded and it was revealed that many farms in this area are Crown grants which date back to 1837. A new Tweedsmuir History is being compiled and old snapshots will be most welcome.

Mrs. T. Howard called the members of the Girls' Club to the front where each described and modelled their outfits completed during the term. Miss Janice McFarlane gave the commentary on "Good Quality in Cotton Separates," stressing the points to be remembered in choosing a durable, sanforized material with close weave.

The leaders, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. D. McLaren are to be commended for the excellent results obtained with eight girls completing the project.

At this stage, Mrs. J. English took charge of the "Historical Research" program opening with community singing with Mrs. E. Demill as song-leader and Mrs. J. McLaren as pianist. She introduced the guest speaker, Mr. G. Boyce who is president of Hastings Historical Society. He chose as his topic, "Early Education," tracing it back to the U.E. Loyalists, who did not deem education as being too important. There was a school at Kingston under the direction of the Rev. Steward from 1795-1835. There was a tremendous teacher shortage as salaries were poor and they did not want Americans teaching. William Bell taught on the Reservation in 1796 using an English primer which had been translated in Mohawk language. Teachers' duties were many including caretaking of school. The fall term began in August and discipline was strict and scholars feared the rod.

In 1860 Metcalfe Wilson, aged 16, taught in Thomasburg for two years receiving a salary of $12. a month with board. Mr. Boyce had on exhibition the certificate of this young man which permitted him to teach in a common school. The Inspector blamed backward conditions to poor salaries and so ... Most changes in teachers, who averaged four-and-one-half months stay in the same school, Shannonville, Lonsdale, Frankford and Canniton, were considered excellent schools in 1860. The points from the vantage of pupil, teacher and inspector were clearly expressed and Mrs. Boyce assisted in showing on the screen many pictures pertaining to education including the school at U.C. Village, school-masters' house, early schools in Belleville — Albert College, Belleville Business College, O.B.C. and many more which made a fitting conclusion to Mr. Boyce' discourse on "Educational Aspects of Life."

Mrs. K. McMechan extended thanks to the guest speaker and presented him with a tangible gift after which she read several extracts from "You Show Your Age From What You Recall." Miss Marcele named in rotation the 46 teachers, who had taught in Melrose School. All registers were on view since the years of 1904.

Miss Nancy English favored with a piano solo.

Thanks were extended to all who had contributed to the delightful educational program and lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Fly-By-Night Husband

DEAR DORIS—I am a young housewife with four small children. My husband does not seem to want us but won't let us go. He is gone every weekend plus a night or two during the week, drinking and chasing around. I have tried everything I can think of to make him stay home, but he just laughs in my face and tells me I'll never leave him because I love him too much.

DORIS CLARK

When I was working (to help out) I met a nice man with whom I went out twice. My husband told me if he ever heard of me going out he would kill me. I don't want to be another cheating wife, Doris, but I will be honest with you, it is very tempting.

He uses profane language in front of the children and I am worried they will pick it up and turn out like him. I have been to the children's agency but they could do nothing with him.—LOST.

DEAR LOST—If you still love him you soon won't. Even a worm has a way of turning. Don't expect the agency to wave a magic wand. The task of your counselor then is to restore your perspective and strengthen your batting arm—as it were. Go back to her.

(Doris Clark, Master of Social Work, is a graduate of McGill, Toronto and McMaster universities, and has had broad experience in social work. If you would like help with your problems, write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

All Women Must Share In Political Issues

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — "There is no excuse for the woman who claims she knows nothing about political issues, says Mrs. Robert N. Thompson, the jovial wife of the national Social Credit leader who has been helping her husband's political career while raising a family of eight.

"Women should be conversant with the policies of every party," Mrs. Thompson said in an interview in her farm home near this central Alberta city. "These policies are in print in many forms. Neither as well as men are responsible for the world we are leaving to our children; women must face this responsibility."

She has been practising what she preaches since 1940 when she worked with her husband, then campaign manager for the Social Credit candidate in Red Deer. She was assistant co-ordinator of her husband's campaign in the 1962 general election in which he won the seat from the Progressive Conservatives.

That campaign came near the end of the school year and she was able to leave her family and do considerable travelling with her husband. This time she has restricted her travelling to rallies in Edmonton and Calgary.

LIKES CAMPAIGNS

As assistant co-ordinator of her husband's campaign for re-election, Mrs. Thompson spends many hours each day at party headquarters in Red Deer organizing meetings, arranging speakers, instructing poll captains and other party workers and handling publicity.

Her husband has spent little time here during the campaign and she also acts as liaison with those who want to see him.

Graduate of a high school commercial course, Mrs. Thompson developed her own brand of shorthand and acts as her husband's secretary, taking dictation and typing.

At 47, her once brunette hair now is partly grey but she says it's not that way because of political campaigns.

HATS — CONVERSATION PIECES OR "DUMB"?

With Easter barely two weeks away, most women have bought their Easter bonnets, or are seriously thinking about a hat, or two, or even three. A hat that doesn't attract a comment, favorable of course, is a "dumb" hat. There is no reason, this season, to play it safe and settle for a speechless hassle.

There is a hat silhouette for every fashion. The "A" line suit or coat should be completed by a high - crowned hat. This silhouette, seen without a hat, appears curiously unfinished and incomplete, while a high - crowned fedora or bowler adds length to the line. The drop - brimmed cloche, although tall in the crown, is only for the very tall woman, when she wears the "A" line. The Spanish sailor, worn at a rakish angle, looks well with the longer jacket suits, on a woman of medium height. On tall women, it should be worn straight on the head.

Turbans and breton rollers, in print and plain - colored cottons or dresses. Pure silk shantung is being used as the leader in this season's fabric hat. Because these hats are so soft, they are a must for every travel wardrobe, along with stitched taffetas.

For weddings, graduation festivities and garden parties (happy thought), there are some wonderful confections in finely - sewn straws, mohairs and flower hats. The hats this year are even more beautifully fashioned, with more plain silk and organza being used as part of the design, than last year's allover, flowered effects. Lace and organza, in petals, have crept into the flower and trimming this season, mostly in towering turbans. We saw a frilly one the other day in white lace, with aqua velvet ribbon slotted around the facing. It reminded us of a garden wedding.

When flowers are used as a trim on an otherwise plain hat, the flowers are usually of the mad Salvador Dali school of thought — quite drunken and in a most "flower-like" color. If you tire of the conversation that such a hat is bound to cause, the flower can be removed, and a ribbon trim used.

A "dumb" hat is not necessarily a plain, untrimmed hat. Some of the most gaudy hats, can be absolutely speechless, because they are worn with the wrong fashions. Such brightly trimmed hat, calls for a plain costume. A conversation piece of millinery can also be quite plain, of good design and quality, provided it has been chosen to coordinate with the correct silhouette. A comment for mothers of young children . . . don't forget that small boys love to wear their mothers wearing red. Your new hat should be fun for everybody, including your family.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

PLANNING THE BIG NIGHT OUT

(Second of two articles)

There you are, menu in hand, in the plushest place in town, ready to embark on the merry part of your Big Night Out with your wife or best girl.

As you scan the menu, the first thing to remember is that you pay separately for almost everything you order in a top-flight restaurant. This means that a baked potato, salad or broccoli often are not served automatically with your steak, and are ordered individually, instead.

It's true that in many big cities even the best restaurants do the so-called theatre dinners, meaning you get everything from soup to cheese for the one price of the entree. Dishes on this menu usually are ready and require no lengthy preparation so you can be finished dinner and out of the restaurant by 8.30, in time for the show.

But this is a night for leisurely dining and dancing. Let this captain guide you through the potages and ragouts. He'll describe them down to the last clove of garlic and you follow his advice or not, as you wish. As he recommends certain dishes, you might want to glance at the menu and note the price. After all, you must choose between the owner meeting his loan at the bank or meeting your own mortgage payment.

Ordering wine with dinner — and don't forget this is a festive occasion — is tricky. Again, let the captain be your guide, or he might send a wine steward to lend assistance. Either will know the type of wine that goes best with the food you're ordering and will be able to help you make the proper choice.

If you want to take your date out on the dance floor, don't worry about the next course getting cold. The captain and waiter will watch your table and serve the food only while you're there. Incidentally, if you have a favorite dance tune, you can request it from the orchestra leader by sending him a note through your waiter.

Now the evening is drawing to an end. With it comes the moment of truth when you get the check. If you want to examine the items and total, go right ahead. Mistakes have been known to happen and the owner — even if he has that loan at the bank — would like you to come again.

You pay the waiter and tip him the equivalent of 15 per cent of the total. If he's been particularly attentive and pleasant, you might want to give him 20 per cent. Since you've been dancing, the tab will include entertainment tax, but the amount you tip usually is based on the actual food and drink service. If you were attended by a wine steward, he receives a tip equal to 10 per cent of the check.

Now comes the decision about the captain, who's been hovering over your table all evening, putting food on plates for the waiter to serve and perhaps boning the fish: should you tip him, too? You should, and the amount should be about 8 per cent of the bill, or half what you tipped the waiter.

Then there's the headwaiter. Tipping him is a matter of conscience. If the service generally has been good, your conscience will be more at ease if you slip him a couple of dollars on the way out.

Other customary gratuities: 25 cents to the hat-check girl when you reclaim your hat and coat (the woman does not check hers), and the same amount to washroom and powder room attendants and the doorman who gets you a cab.

Altogether it's been a big, expensive night out, but how often do you go 32

For Sweet Toothers

BY MARY MOORE

The name of this recipe alone will entice you to make it: Celestial Hash.

It is going to warm the hearts of our busy hostesses for it should be made twenty-four hours in advance of serving time to be at its mellow best. Although if you need to serve it as soon as it is chilled, don't hesitate. The texture is more like a tender mousse (not tough or mouse!) After it is a day old.

CELESTIAL HASH (fruit-in-custard dessert):

1 teaspoon unflavored gelatine, ¾ cup canned pineapple syrup (drained from cubes, see below), 1 cup milk, pinch of salt, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 eggs, slightly beaten, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 11-oz. can drained Mandarin oranges, 1 15-oz. can drained pineapple cubes (I used Australian), 2-3 cup dairy sour cream, 1 cup miniature marshmallows (I used standard marshmallows), ½ cup coarsely chopped nuts (preferably almonds), 1 6-oz. package fashioned-type or flake coconut, 6 sliced red or green maraschino cherries.

Soak gelatine in pineapple syrup drained off the fruit. Heat ¾ cup of the milk with salt in double boiler. Stir in cornstarch mixed with remaining cup of milk, until thick. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add sugar to slightly beaten eggs. Stir some of hot milk mixture into eggs and then stir back into top of double boiler. Cook and stir custard until thickened and mixture will coat a silver spoon. Add vanilla and soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved. Cool custard by setting pan in cold water and changing water as it warms up. Stir occasionally. Meanwhile, set aside some of fruit for garnishing later and mix rest of Mandarin oranges and pineapple cubes with the sour cream, marshmallows, nuts, coconut and cherries. Let stand in refrigerator while custard is cooling. Combine fruit mixture and custard and pour into serving dish or mould. Garnish and chill thoroughly.

After twenty-four hours I turned mine out on a serving plate and it held its shape but I would eat it if it were runny.

Brush Techniques Topic at Arts, Crafts March Meet

A short general meeting of the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club was held at the recreation centre on March 26th with Mrs. Lennox Smith presiding. At this meeting a nominating committee was set up consisting of the immediate past president, Mrs. J. Grant, Mrs. P. Diamond and Mrs. J. Neilscher and charged with bringing in a slate of officers.

The Arts and Crafts Club has endeavored over the years to bring films which are both unusual and instructive and the two presented on art were no exception. They dealt with the work of Eliot O'Hara. The first, entitled, "Brush Techniques," showed how size can be used to create depth or nearness, color to reflect moods of anger, happiness or compassion and with deceptive simplicity the steps used in creating an abstraction of a peaceful harbor scene.

"BRUSH TECHNIQUES"

The second film, "Brush Techniques," was intriguing to artists and craft students alike. Mr. O'Hara compared the brush of an artist to a dictionary of words in the hands of an author. The way they are used is what makes all the difference. By the separation of the bristles in large, almost house-painter-size brushes, he created most striking effects of trees and bushes in a single stroke. He claims that in this type of water-color one stroke should, wherever possible, do the work of several. He further demonstrated this by separating his brush and using dark color on one half, light on the other and in a single stroke painting a shaded tree trunk. He also pointed out that in painting outdoors colors must of necessity be slightly exaggerated as they will be viewed by nature under weaker light.

This year the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club has sponsored four art classes, two under the direction of Mrs. Phillips Fairbairner, one under Paavo Alfola, and children's art under Mrs. Dolly Cain. Students in all these groups were sure to find inspiration from the work done by Mr. O'Hara in these films.

Open discussion and a social hour followed with coffee and refreshments served by Mrs. R. Diamond and her committee.

Ann Landers

Stay Awake Pills Ruining Health of Young College Man

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS—My husband is a junior in college. Last semester he was introduced to some "stay awake pills." The kids call them Bennies. From Bennies he went off to other stuff.

At first he took pills only when he had to stay up and cram for finals. Then he began to take them when he needed a lift. It wasn't long before he was taking pills just to keep going.

His disposition has changed from a sweet, likeable guy to a belligerent bully. He argues with everyone. Hardly a civil word has passed between us in months. His grades have slipped badly and he has lost confidence in himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS—You have expressed your views about the single girl who becomes involved with the married man and you've discussed the eternal triangular affairs among married couple. Yet you've never explained why the female always pays for the involvement while the man goes free.

When a woman gets caught up in an illicit love affair she often loses her home, her job, her friends, her place in a respectable society and yes, sometimes even her health. The man continues on his merry way with nary a scare—looking for his next pigeon.

What is the secret? How can a woman immunize herself against a tattered and torn heart the way men do?

Please don't dodge behind the obvious line that a woman can protect herself by not becoming involved in the first place Women will continue to become involved regardless of the consequences. What's your solution?—D. PRESSED.

DEAR D.—Being a mere columnist and not a magician, I have no cure-all. As the poet has said—"to a woman love is all. To a man 'tis a thing apart."

Foolish women will continue to become involved. And men will continue to take things apart. You can count on it, Babe.

To the Electorate of Prince Edward-Lennox
How Long Can We Allow Our Riding To Be Taken For Granted

Prince Edward-Lennox is long overdue for a change in its representation in Ottawa.

As a traditionally Tory stronghold, the riding has been written off by the Liberal Governments of Canada's prosperous years and has not merited consideration by the Conservative governments of Canada's recession years.

"No matter which party should be elected," Mr. Woolsey declared, "it is obvious that this riding will receive the attention it deserves only when Canada's governments are made aware of its existence. To put Prince Edward-Lennox and its people on the Canadian political map is one of the most important reasons I am seeking election."

up a municipal development and loan fund which, he said, could mean 300,000 new jobs in Canada.

Others would set up a department of industry, a national development corporation, a national economic council, strengthen the Atlantic development board by providing it with a capital fund, and establish a federal agency for "development of economically backward areas."

He also pledged action to set up a contributory portable pension plan, an all-party Commons committee on defence policy, and a national commission on biculturalism.

And he said he is confident medicare could be introduced in the first four years of Liberal government.

SOME DIDN'T HEAR

Many never heard the speech over the cheering, jeering and general uproar.

It was similar to the near-riot that greeted Mr. Diefenbaker in the Forum in the 1962 campaign. Last week the prime minister had a noisy reception in the Forum with heavy, persistent heckling — but nothing like the last year.

Mr. Pearson, at the mid-way point in his fight to be heard, finally got overwhelming applause from supporters by eliciting three resounding "noes" to questions whether he wanted socialism, a minority government, and a break-up of the Atlantic alliance.

"Then don't vote NDP," he exhorted the crowd.

Helping to prevent a complete shambles was the work of Liberal party workers in not using about 2,500 supporters into seats near the platform before the general public was admitted. A pre-speech performance by a 47-piece local orchestra conducted by Percy Faith failed as a crowd soother.

At one point a man tried to reach the rostrum with a Stars and Stripes. The guards stopped him and forced him back. He finally threw the flag into the air.

A half-hour later one man, apparently a seaman, tried to clear a way up the aisle for a second man carrying a large banner reading: "40—Merchant Fleet Scuttled. But that gambit also failed. The first man was caught, thrown to the floor, and strung out on it.

When Mr. Pearson finished the speech, he was showered with drink, spit, peas thrown from bleachers to his right. He then left to make a brief speech to the overflow crowd in the "showmart" building next door.

At more than 11,000 the crowd was about 1,000 more than Mr. Diefenbaker drew in the Forum last week. And it was Mr. Pearson's biggest crowd of the campaign.

Today he flies to Winnipeg for a meeting in the Forum there.

Trouble began as soon as he stepped ashore here Monday at the Horseshoe Bay ferry terminal. He had spent the weekend resting at a Vancouver Island holiday lodge and recovering from a cold.

Nine young men and women jammed into a small British make car festooned with anti-nuclear placards shunted, dodged and bumped their way into the Liberal's 15-car, 15-mile procession into downtown Vancouver despite attempts by Liberal cars to block them at intersections and on highway shoulders.

He entered the Forum grounds under heavy police escort, four city police motorcycles surrounding his car. He entered through a stage door where a cluster of anti-nuclear demonstrators were drowned out by cheering supporters.

tisan crowd of supporters in Montreal, where he said the real U.S. reason for wanting nuclear warheads on the Bomarcs in Canada is to open the door for entry of more advanced nuclear weapons into this country.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson, campaigning in hometown Red Deer, Alta., suggested there is "something under the table" in what sales to Communist China. If everything was above board, he asked, why had the government refused to disclose details of the wheat sale contracts?

The pandemonium of Mr. Pearson's Vancouver meeting, which included several fights among spectators and at least two attempts by demonstrators to get to the platform, was reminiscent of the rowdiness last year that disrupted a Vancouver speech by Mr. Diefenbaker in the closing stages of the 1962 election campaign.

When Mr. Pearson finally got the upper hand in his attempt to speak, he shouted: "Nobody wants peace more than I do."

No matter how much he was booed at, he said, he would not do anything to weaken the Atlantic alliance.

Liberal supporters in the big crowd rallied to his support when he asked whether the audience wanted socialism, minority government or a breakup of the Western alliance. They responded with a roar of "Nos."

Mr. Diefenbaker, opening his final campaign bid in Quebec province, whistle - stopped his way from Ottawa to Quebec City where he called on the province's voters to "join in the march of victory with the rest of Canada next Monday."

Later, at Cap-de-la-Madeleine, the Conservative leader served notice he'll likely continue campaigning on the statement of the U.S. defence secretary.

He said Mr. McNamara's testimony to a congressional committee, made public Friday, in effect says the Bomarc is useless.

Liberal policy, said Mr. Diefenbaker, would have two decoy bases of nuclear-armed Bomarcs in Canada to draw the fire of Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles in the event of a nuclear attack.

CLAIMS DID NOTHING

Mr. Douglas, speaking to 4,000 in a Montreal arena, said the Diefenbaker government fell because the prime minister did nothing—not because of obstruction by the opposition.

The reason he did nothing was that he didn't know what to do. And he still doesn't know what to do.

At a press conference earlier, the NDP leader said that neither the Liberals nor Conservatives will get a majority next Monday, but he didn't know which would win the most Common seats.

"The Liberal party will go down in history as the only party to snatch defeat from the jaws of victory."

Mr. Thompson told an interviewer that his Social Credit party will support for at least a year and perhaps longer—whichever government is elected.

turning back. But, the constable testified, "we would have needed an equal number of men unless we used weapons to stop them."

"Eventually we couldn't talk, there was so much yelling. All of a sudden there was a loud yell and they surged forward, brushing us aside."

When Const. Ware picked himself up from the ground, he heard gunfire but thought at first it was the noise of firecrackers. The shooting continued for about two minutes and he estimated about 75 shots were fired.

Police found a total of 14 weapons at the scene, once the strikers had been pushed away and the names of the settlers taken. They included a pistol, two shotguns, six rifles and five 22-calibre rifles. He said police had no trouble arresting the settlers—17 on the spot, two shortly after and a 20th Feb. 19.

Det. Sgt. Murray, explaining a gradual build-up of tension in Kapuskasing and its surroundings following the start of the strike Jan. 14, said he knew of 13 cases in which strikers allegedly molested or threatened independent settlers or non-striking company employees.

Answering a question from defence lawyer M. J. Haffey of Toronto, Sgt. Murray said police had witnessed some of the incidents. No charges were laid because of lack of evidence, he said.

Lawyers involved in the case could recall no precedent in Canadian legal history for the mass murder hearing.

The closest was said to be the case arising from the massacre near London, Ont., Feb. 4, 1880, of five members of the James Donnelley family, known as the Black Donnellys because of their local terrorism. Twelve men were charged with murder in that case but the charges were dropped when one of them, James Carroll, was acquitted in his second trial.

Besides Coulombe, the men charged—residents of the area by communities of Hearst, Val Rita, Mattice, Lac Ste. Therese and Fauquier — are Florient Boucher, 43, Noel Brochu, 18, Leopold D'Alaire, 47, Marc D'Alaire, 47, Ubald Germaine, 51, Camille Gratton, 49, Joseph Grenon, 31, Jean Larouche, Francois Larouche, Gilles Murray, 25, Herbert Murray, 25, Luc Nolet, 25, Herve Plamondon, 39, and his sons Victorin, 20, and Paul, 19, Amadee Tanguay, 55, Leo Tremblay, 28, Victor Tremblay, 57, and Roland Lacrois, 57.

closure in Washington Friday that American Defence Secretary McNamara considers that the eight American and two Canadian Bomarc missile bases still a useful role because they would deny enemy fire in the event of war. His view was given to a House of Representatives subcommittee.

In a speech at Kingston, Ont., Mr. Diefenbaker related this to the Liberal position that Canada has a commitment to equip the Bomarc missiles with nuclear warheads, saying "the Pearson policy is to make Canada a decoy for the intercontinental missiles."

Liberal Leader Pearson interpreted Mr. McNamara's remarks to mean that the Bomarc is of limited value. "There is nothing new in that," he said in Victoria. "I said the same thing years ago."

New Democratic Leader Douglas said the McNamara view "completely punctures" the Liberal party's argument that a gap exists in North American defence because the Bomarcs are not tipped with nuclear warheads.

Social Credit Leader Thompson said that if the McNamara statement becomes an election issue, it would increase anti-Americanism which he felt should have no part in the campaign.

So far, each political leader has taken a different tack on the general subject of relations with the U.S.

Mr. Pearson told a Moncton audience March 20 it was an "absolute necessity" to keep on good terms with Canada's powerful neighbor and to carry out defence commitments including acquisition of nuclear warheads for Bomarc missiles and other weapons.

Conservative speeches always began "I'm not anti-American, but . . ." said Mr. Pearson, "I like this kind of sniping that's going on, this twisting of the eagle's tail feathers."

Mr. Douglas has attacked American control of Canadian industry, saying at Edmonton Feb. 25: "I'm an American; I like my relatives too, but I want my relatives to move into every room in my house so I have to sleep in the garage."

At another point he said "an economic satellite becomes a political satellite, as surely as night follows day."

The New Democrats' solution: Measures enabling Canadians to regain ownership and control of their industry.

The Social Credit leader says Canada must stand with its allies. Eventually, Canada will join in an economic union with the U.S. and South American countries, Mr. Thompson forecast at Vernon, B.C., March 16. "It won't come all at once but let's start working toward it."

George Hees, on his resignation Feb. 9 as trade minister, said the government's attitude on nuclear warheads "cannot but lead to a deterioration of our relations with the United States."

The previous day, Mr. Diefenbaker had said the government's attitude was "in co-operate but not to be subservient, to make our policies on behalf of our people in Canada, determined in Canada for the benefit of Canadians."

pointed by President Kennedy about a report a week ago suggesting that Canada and some other nations were lagging in foreign aid spending compared with the U.S.

"Another case of Americans trying to tell Canada what to do," said Mr. Green sharply.

Last week Mr. Diefenbaker finally denied a press report in Southam News Services that the "root cause of much of his bitterness" towards the U.S. stems from the contents of a secret U.S. document which came into his hands in 1958.

The report said the document was a House working paper prepared for President Kennedy's Ottawa visit that year—said Canada should be "pushed" to take certain steps including acceptance of nuclear weapons under joint control, and listed pressures that could be brought to bear on the Canadian government.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the report was "completely false."

RAPS BUSINESS

The prime minister has spoken often of there being "powerful interests against me." Later he identified some of these "interests" as companies — presumably American—that didn't like the government's Canadians-first policy in Arctic oil and gas development.

It must ignorance Mr. Diefenbaker has referred to a News-week magazine cover story on him that was unflattering both in content and in the cover photograph. He charged, and the Liberal and the magazine have denied, that the U.S. magazine's article was "born in Ottawa among members of the Liberal who's who. It was designed to destroy me."

More recently, Mr. Diefenbaker told a Regina audience that a U.S. magazine would become out shortly telling Canadians how to vote. Next day Look magazine published a nine-page article in which it said Canada was torn by sectionalism, disillusioned with its leaders and divided on vital matters.

Mr. Diefenbaker has also accused Mr. Pearson of taking a stand on nuclear warheads after talking with some American generals."

PEARSON REPLIES

Said Mr. Pearson in reply: "I regret that any leader of a Canadian party should use the insinuation or the outright expression of anti-Americanism as a way of trying to secure votes."

"I don't think any two peoples in the world understand each other better," Mr. Green told a Vancouver service club March 12 in referring to Canadian-American relations.

"Sometimes we don't agree, particularly with the U.S. government, but this is as it should be."

Mr. Pearson voiced his own thoughts at Oromocto, N.B., Feb. 28:

"Relations with the U.S. . . . are sometimes like living with your wife. At times it is difficult to live with her. At all times it is impossible to live without her."

Douglas Hits Hard on Nuclear Issue

By BEN WARD

MONTREAL (CP) — Hitting hard on the nuclear issue, T. C. Douglas told a boisterous crowd of 4,000 Monday night that his New Democratic Party is the only party which will keep nuclear arms out of Canada.

And he warned that United States pressure on Canada to accept nuclear warheads for Bomarc missile bases could lead to Canada becoming "a second Cuba in the world chess game."

Mr. Douglas said the important thing is not the arming of defensive Bomarcs but the principle of accepting nuclear weapons in this country. This would open the door to more advanced U.S. nuclear weapons, including offensive missiles which could create another Cuban situation in reverse.

Party organizers were frankly disappointed with the crowd, which was about three-quarters of the capacity of the big Paul Sauve Arena located in the northeast section of the city. It was about the same size as the turnout for Mr. Douglas here in the 1962 campaign.

The enthusiasm of the audience, however, left nothing to be desired.

GIVES WILD OVATION

It was the noisiest Mr. Douglas has encountered in his campaign and it gave him a wild ovation when he was carried to the platform on the shoulders of two husky supporters. There was no heckling.

About half of Quebec's 60 NDP candidates were on the platform and a battery of French-Canadian speakers preceded Mr. Douglas, who delivered all but a few opening lines of his speech in English.

Gerard Picard, the Quebec labor leader who heads the Quebec NDP wing, predicted that the province will elect the first New Democratic Party MPs in its history on April 8.

He also let loose a blast at Social Credit and said this election will be the last in which that party wins any seats in Quebec.

No Social Creditor from outside Quebec will be elected next Monday, he added.

Mr. Douglas spoke for 30 minutes, outlining his party's election platform. He touched only briefly on other matters and put the main emphasis on the nuclear position and measures to end unemployment.

OUT OF NUCLEAR ROLE

He said the NDP would negotiate Canada out of a nuclear role in NORAD and NATO and limit Canadian forces to conventional arms. The main task for Canada would be to help prevent a nuclear war through disarmament under United Nations supervision.

Arming Canada with nuclear weapons would add nothing to the West's defensive strength or its nuclear deterrent. It would only make it more difficult for Canadians to work for disarmament.

On unemployment, he said neither of the old-line parties is offering any solution. The NDP had laid down clear policies designed to get the economy moving upwards and create new jobs Canada must have to keep up with the growing labor force.

Prime Minister Makes Roadside Stops in Quebec

By ARCH MacKENZIE

CAP - DE-LA-MADELEINE, Que. (CP)—A long day's Quebec tour launched Prime Minister Diefenbaker into his last week of election campaigning Monday.

Events included special slow-running precautions by the CPR, prompted by fears that track might have been tampered with on a 20-mile stretch of line between Ste. Anne la Perade and nearby Trois-Rivieres.

The CNR issued the go-slow orders after an unidentified caller told the RCMP in Quebec City the train carrying the prime minister was going to be blown up in Ste. Anne la Perade. The Canadian Press received a similar warning.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who left Ottawa by special train Monday morning, was one hour and 35 minutes late for his speech in Champlain constituency.

In between, he made five roadside stops and addressed an afternoon reception in Quebec City.

Testimony by Defence Secretary McNamara of the United States about the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile has "confirmed the stand of the Diefenbaker government 100 per cent" in declining to have nuclear warheads in Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

CITES McNAMARA

The McNamara testimony, made public last week, in effect said the Bomarc was useless, he said.

The prime minister said the Conservatives could have followed the Liberal party course of changing policy but it hadn't.

No one would ever know what caused Liberal Leader Pearson to reverse himself and elect to accept nuclear warheads. The Conservative government had never made such a commitment. The Bomarcs armed with nuclear warheads would be targets for Russia.

Mr. Diefenbaker, introduced by Transport Minister Balcer who seeks re-election in Trois-Rivieres, spoke to about 1,150 but the hall wasn't full and a drift to the door was evident toward the end of this 40-minute speech in English and French.

Throughout the day, he sounded the theme that Conservative fortunes have risen sharply and he urged Quebec to join the rest of Canada in the support he said he now senses.

At Quebec, there were about 450 and he said French-Canada has enjoyed more under the Conservatives which the Liberals had denied the people and the province.

FIND CRASHED PLANE

ROME (Reuters)—A search party Monday found the wreckage of an Italian DC-3 plane which crashed in the hills south of Rome in a storm Saturday night with eight persons aboard. Two unidentified bodies were reported found.

Thompson Hits Secrecy Over Sales to China

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson assailed the government Monday night for not disclosing terms of the Canadian wheat contract with Red China, and asked: How do we know there is not something under the table?

It was Mr. Thompson's strongest statement yet on Canada's large-scale wheat exports to the China mainland, wisdom of which he has often questioned.

"If all is aboveboard as regards this contract, why have the Canadian people not been told about it?" demanded the Social Credit leader before nearly 900 persons, who filled the Red Deer community centre. Mr. Thompson is seeking re-election in Red Deer constituency in the April 8 federal election.

Mr. Thompson said he and others tried unsuccessfully in Parliament to find out the terms of the Canada-China agreement, but were told that disclosure would not be in the public interest.

"Why" he asked.

that a second boat was reported 40 miles from the Cuban coast.

WILL FILE PROTEST

Dr. Orlando Bosch, co-ordinator general of the group, said he would file a legal protest that the Viola III had been seized in international waters.

"Our mission was to fight any Communist boats we encountered and to conduct rebels inside Cuba," Bosch said. "Our raids will definitely be continued. We are violating no American law. We do not leave from American bases."

In another development, U.S. officials announced that confinement notices had been served on seven more exile leaders, bringing the total to 25 restricted to Dade County (Miami).

There were reports that a new commando group, Commandos F. F. Operation Lobo, would harrass Soviet shipping from bases along the Mexican coast. But a government spokesman in Mexico City said there was no likelihood that anti-Castro raiders would be based in Mexico, which maintains diplomatic relations with both Cuba and Soviet Russia.

PRAISES ALOUETTE

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. J. J. Green, president of the Canadian Aeronautics and Space Institute, said Monday the performance of Canada's Alouette satellite "has been appreciated everywhere but in Canada." He told the Montreal Canadian Club the Alouette proved one of the most successful satellites launched anywhere, but there was little recognition of the achievement in Canada.

Riding of Liberal Titans Becomes Safe Socred Seat

By GERRY McNEIL

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec East, home riding of Liberal titans for four generations, is a prime example of what can happen when Quebecers vent their discontent with a so-called protest vote.

From 1877 until 1958 the riding was solidly Liberal and had only three members: Prime Minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Then Yvon Tasse, a Progressive Conservative, in his party's sweep five years ago, won narrowly over Liberal Maurice Lamontagne, a top party economist and certain cabinet material.

Last year, little-known electrician Robert Beaule, 35, of Social Credit, won 22,446 votes to beat Mr. Lamontagne with 13,747 and Mr. Tasse with 8,005. Romeo Bilodeau of the New Democratic Party had 703 votes.

In the campaign for the April 8 election, Mr. Beaule and his four opponents are keenly aware of dissatisfaction among the riding's 53,000 voters, mainly factory workers and civil servants whose homes range from slum tenements to old apartment buildings. But Social Crediters now consider Quebec East "a safe riding" for their party.

'SECOND TIME EASIER'

"Last year they didn't know me and it was a harder time," says Mr. Beaule. "This year, I visited the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mill and ran into only three Liberals and no Conservatives."

Mr. Tasse has retired from politics and Mr. Lamontagne this year is running in Montreal Outremont-St. Jean.

They have been replaced by Gaston Michaud, 32, a lawyer running for the Progressive Conservatives, and Albert Parent, 56, who quit as an inspector of the Quebec Labor Relations Board to run as a Liberal.

The other two candidates also are new to campaigning: Henri-Paul Dufresne, 28, hockey coach and sight-seeing guide, NDP; and Leo Verpaele, Nationalist.

Mr. Michaud talks of middle-class support. The others stress unemployment and have set their sights on what they call "the little man."

Mr. Parent says he is confident of a Liberal resurgence and has the support of the provincial Liberal organization in the riding which upset a veteran Union Nationale member in last Nov. 14 provincial election.

erament through the elections, said in his communique:

"There has not been any fighting as the rebel communiques claim. The armed forces remain in absolute cohesion, obeying the orders of their natural commands in backing the executive power to guarantee the peace and tranquility of the nation."

The president said that the rebels in surprise assaults took three local radio stations to proclaim their revolution in block national elections in June. The stations were back to normal broadcasting at noon.

The defence ministry branded as untrue reports that naval units supporting the rebels had taken over the government house in La Plata, capital of Buenos Aires province. Military sources insisted, however, that the naval units actually did occupy the La Plata seat of government as well as police headquarters there.

"as soon as possible" after the first two-lane connection is completed, he said.

Bernard Newman (L—Windsor — Walkerville) maintained that completion of 401 from the Quebec border to Windsor is already eight years behind schedule.

"In 1950 we were told the whole 512 miles of 401 would be completed and all four lanes opened to traffic by 1953," he said.

Mr. MacNaughton told the House last Thursday that completion of all four lanes was scheduled for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

A.N.A.F. Weekly News

The entertainment chairman reports that a nice crowd attended the regular dance last Friday evening and spent another night of fun and jollity with the lucky ones taking home some very nice prizes. Comrade Don announces that owing to the usual next Friday dance date falling on Good Friday, he has advanced the date to April 5th and hopes that there will be a good crowd show up to have another good evening of entertainment. Details will again be published in the Coming Events column so watch for it.

Another interesting item for vets. Canadian Forces at Hong Kong. 21 years ago last Christmas Day, the Colony of Hong Kong surrendered to the Japs and survivors of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada began 3½ years as POWs. These two battalions were the first Infantry Units from Canada to come to grips with enemy forces in World War II. 1,973 Canadians took part and 555 were either killed in action or died from wounds or the hardships of the POW camps. Their Commander, Brig. J. K. Lawson, died outside his command post with a revolver in each hand, surrounded by Japanese dead.

There were over one million veterans living in Canada as of the 10th census taking in 1961, approximately one out of every eighteen people living in this country. 53,000 had served in more than one war. 188,230 saw service in World War I, 833,690 in World War II and 35,649 in the Korean conflict. Another 32,117 also claimed service but did not state where they had served.

The Sick Chairman reports that Cds. George McCaw is in Victory I at Kingston Gen. Hosp. and Cds. Dick Killick is still at Hotel Dieu, Kingston. The following comrades are in R.C.H.-F. Knowlton, George Avery, Mike Phillips and Al Cockrote. The members are glad to see that "Warpy O'Brien has been transferred back to R.C.H. Everyone is coming along as well as can be expected. Comrades Ab Brenton, J. McGuire and Don McLaskie are convalescing at home.

The Sports Chairman states that the closing date for the sports lockers has been reached. Lockers that have not been claimed will be reassigned to members desiring them. See Comrade George Christopher about this. There has been a handsome prize donated for a singles table tennis tournament. A list is posted near the table and the Sports Chairman hopes to have a good response to this. The tournament will be held sometime in April. Watch Notice Board for further details. The Band Liasion Officer, who also looks after sports, is very proud to announce that The MacInnes Men dart team from the Pipe band, overcame a lot of stiff competition to emerge as the Belleville Dart League Champions.

Pipe-Major Ken McNevin announces the Pipe Band is nearing completion of a strenuous winter's training program and will soon be making their first public appearance. It is also reported that the ANAF Unit 201 Pipe Band which competed at Brockville last year, has received a cordial invitation by the Royal Canadian Legion there, to join in the huge Canada - U.S. Good Will Parade to be held May 25th at Cape Vincent, N.Y. The Band members hope that the comrades can organize a party to go along with them and watch this parade and give them the support they deserve. Remember the date and make plans accordingly. It should be a great day.

Comrade Harold Dracup, the genial manager of the ANAF dart team, held a party to celebrate the gallant efforts of his team in the recently completed Belleville dart league. They may not have won, but all teams they competed against realized their fighting spirit. Next season may be a different story as they will still be in there fighting. Each member of the team was presented with a plaque by Comrade Harold in appreciation of their efforts. The manager wishes to especially thank Comrades Gladys Fitzgerald and Alice Storms of the ANAF Ladies' Auxiliary, for the splendid buffet lunch they had arranged for the party; also appreciation to Comrade Ron Carey of the RCEME at Picton for his fine entertainment on the piano. By an error Ron was shown as a member of the RCAF in the last weekly news. This was an error through misinformation. It is hoped this will rectify that mistake. Comrade Don Lee, who was the designer and artist of the plaques, was guest speaker for the evening. A very enjoyable time was held by all with vows of a better and bigger effort for next season. Manager Harold Dracup states he is going to be a hard taskmaster in the pre-season training and his team had better be prepared for a strenuous period of training before the season starts, so be prepared.

Now until next week, the best of luck to all.

Some Officers Supplement Income by Handing Out Traffic Tickets Says Brief

TORONTO (CP)—Police in some Northern Ontario communities supplement their income by handing out traffic summonses, Dennis Latten, administrator of the Ontario Police Association said Monday night.

Mr. Latten said in an interview that because the police are underpaid by the municipalities, the officers must work long hours catching speeders with radar-measuring devices.

The police then type out and deliver the summonses themselves, he said. If the accused speeder loses the court case, he added, the policeman collects part of the court costs levied against the speeder as his fee for delivering the summons.

"In other words, the more work, the more pay," Mr. Latten said.

He declined to name the municipalities where such practices occur. He said he had told Attorney-General Prud Cass he would not release the names until Mr. Cass has had a chance to investigate.

PRESENTED BRIEF

Mr. Latten was a member of a delegation of Ontario police-men which presented a brief earlier Monday to Mr. Cass.

The brief urged amendments to the Police Act to improve the position of officers. The brief also said the practice of a police officer receiving all or part of his salary from fees is open to abuse.

Mr. Latten said he knows of no municipality in southern Ontario where police are paid from speeding summonses, but said portable stop signs were used in at least four southern Ontario centres to trap motorists and raise municipal revenues.

He said the worst abuse had occurred in the Burford area, near Brantford, where a chief constable and his brother had worked together to move the sign from place to place and catch motorists.

He also attacked what he called the "evaluation system" used in Metropolitan Toronto, where officers were rated on the number of traffic tickets they issued.

"In many cases, cadets are threatened that they won't become constables if they don't turn in enough traffic tickets," Mr. Latten said. If an officer handed out 10 tickets one month he was expected to serve 11 the next month.

Labor Leader Wilson Wants Conference of West Powers

WASHINGTON (CP)—Harold Wilson, leader of Britain's Labor party, has called for a summit conference of Western powers to expand credit facilities and thus prevent another economic crisis.

At the same time he rejected any suggestion of increasing the official price of gold, now pegged at $35 an ounce. Such an increase, he told the National Press Club, "would simply provide an unconvenanted benefit to two countries, South Africa and the Soviet Union, whose benefit should be low in our scale of priorities."

If he became prime minister of Britain, a Labor government would be ready to reopen membership talks with the European Common Market, he said. But he condemned the trade block's restrictive food import policies.

The Common Market's agricultural policies, he said, involve "a degree of interference with established market channels, a degree of rigidity in prices and production, if internal self - sufficiency, far transcending the wildest dreams of any British or American secretary of agriculture."

Ending talks with President Kennedy, Wilson said also that a Labor government would nationalize the steel industry in Britain, "integrate" the transportation industry and perhaps "buy" into the drug industry to discourage huge profiteering.

OPPOSE NEUTRALISM

Opposed to neutralism, his party would continue to support the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but would want to turn over to the United States the entire responsibility for providing the Western nuclear deterrent. Britain, he said, should concentrate on increasing NATO's conventional strength.

A Labor government would oppose a separate nuclear deterrent force for Europe or any nuclear force in which West Germany could play a vital part, for this might be highly provocative to Russia and could prevent East - West disarmament agreements.

Wilson said the West Berlin issue should be settled through some "flexibility" in recognizing the East German Communist regime but any settlement should guarantee political freedom for West Berliners and free access to the West.

A Labor government would seek East-West nuclear free zones in areas of high tensions, perhaps beginning with Africa, then the Middle East, Latin America and Central Europe, he said.

But a Labor government would not want to give up overseas bases east of Suez.

"I would like it to be a mistake to evacuate key bases where we have the chance to remain. It will be ten times easier for Britain to remain there, even with a token force, than for us, still less the U.S., to be able to enter if trouble breaks out."

Wilson would become British prime minister if his party should win the next general election, due next year at the latest.

Z. Kvarda New District Head Of Jaycees

The agenda of the convention was well planned with clinics and a public speaking contest.

Ontario President Val Swain was presented with a "Senator-ship" which is the highest honor a Jaycee can attain.

120 FEET ABOVE WELLINGTON—Welder Richard Morin of Fort Erie finishes a seam on the 125,000 gallon storage tank for Wellington's new water works system. The $45,000 tank is the keystone of the $295,000 project. The water works will be completed about July 1.

Premier Joey Kidnapped For Good Cause

BY JACK PICKETTS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood was kidnapped Monday at a cost of $250 to the Liberal party, but apparently he was in on the whole thing.

Paula Wilansky, one of the four Memorial University students who "kidnapped" the premier, said she and the three other students called on the premier Friday and outlined the plan.

"He went along with it," she said and they picked him up at Confederation Building where his office is located.

The premier, neatly disguised so he wouldn't be recognized by Memorial, was taken to a staff room in the science building where he spent the morning.

With Miss Wilansky, a first-year arts student, were Bill Goodyear, B.Sc., second-year engineering student and two first-year pre-med students, Derek Luscombe and Doug Jamieson.

The stunt was primarily a publicity gag for a Red Cross fund-raising campaign but Miss Wilansky said April Fool's day made it easier to pull off.

WAS STUDENTS' IDEA

She said the "kidnapping" was dreamed up by the four students but Mr. Smallwood was quite willing to join in the fun.

The fun cost the Liberal party $250, which was "ransom." A bank draft made out to the Red Cross was paid over for Mr. Smallwood before he was released.

Later the students presented the draft to Campbell Eaton, president of the Newfoundland Red Cross Society. Then they explained the whole thing to reporters.

Reporters were shocked at the whole story when Mr. Smallwood's office first called them to report the premier missing. Then the premier himself phoned radio station CJON and denied it was a hoax. After that the reporters began to take the whole thing more seriously.

Mr. Smallwood kept up the pretense even after he was released with a statement on how well he was treated and commended the kidnappers for their ingenuity.

Asked if charges would be laid he said "Yes, I'm making charges. I am charging them with being fine fellows and I'm charging them with being philanthropists."

BATORY ARRIVES

QUEBEC (CP)—The Polish liner Batory, first ocean passenger vessel to enter the St. Lawrence this season, arrived here Monday with 629 passengers.

Wellington Water Works Project Is Well Advanced

WELLINGTON — Work will resume next Monday on house-service laterals for the Wellington water works program. About 70 of the total of 350 required were laid last year, before the freeze-up. The whole job will be completed by about July 1st., according to Tu Tatham Co. Ltd., contractors on the job.

About 15,000 of the total of 20,000 feet of mains required to serve the village have been laid already. The completed work includes the mains on all side streets, and on Main St. for about 2,600 feet east from Belleville St. to the village limits. Another 800 feet have been laid west from Consecon St. toward the village limits, and the section passing inside the creek crossing Main St. has been "bid". Yet to be started is the section running through the centre of the village on Main St.

PUMPHOUSE BUILT

The main pumphouse, over a 50 foot well near the bay-front, has been completed, and pumps will be delivered by the end of the month. A secondary pumphouse, over a smaller well, will be prefabricated. The main well will provide 1440 gallons of water per minute, tests indicate.

Recent March 18, erection of the 130-foot-high, 125,000 gallon capacity water tank should be finished April 25. Painting the structure will take another two weeks.

Water should be available to the 1,000 residents of Wellington about July 1, and the system is planned to provide for more than twice the present population of the village. The original net of six and eight inch main covers the whole of the built-up municipal area.

Cost of the new system is expected to be about $250,000, part of which will be covered by a senior works grant. Thirty year debentures for the balance were issued by the Ontario Water Resources Commission, which will retain ownership and control of the system until the balance has been paid off by the village.

Personal and Corporation Income Taxes Should Be Shared Equally Says Douglas

MONTREAL (CP) — T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Monday the federal government and the provinces should share evenly—ally on a 50-50 basis the revenue from personal and corporation income taxes.

He told a press conference sponsored by the NDP Club on the University of Montreal campus that provincial governments must be guaranteed sufficient revenues to fulfil their obligations in the fields of education and social security.

Reading from a prepared statement, he said:

"The federal government must reduce progressively its share of revenue and enable the provinces to occupy, at each step, 40 per cent of personal and corporation income taxes.

"The exact proportion should be established in consultation with the provinces and take into account their particular needs and preferences."

Elaborating during the question period, Mr. Douglas said that the provincial share of the corporation and personal income taxes should be increased by one per cent a year until it reached 50 per cent.

SAYS NO CONTRADICTION

Mr. Douglas said that there is nothing contradictory between his proposals and the present system of federal equalization payments to the provinces.

Mr. Douglas said in his statement that any province that does not wish to participate in federal - provincial joint programs involving conditional grants should receive the equivalent through a federal tax abatement.

Most of Mr. Douglas' statement dealt with French-English relations. It is proposed the establishment of a confederation council to study problems threatening the unity between and English Canada and the appointment of a federal-provincial commission to inquire into federalism and biculturalism.

Mr. Douglas proposed a series of steps to provide for a bilingual and bicultural federal public service, including establishment of language schools for bilingual employees and bilingual personnel in senior policy posts in the government.

The salary bonus would be paid after an adjustment period of two years and appointment of bilingual senior civil servants would follow after "a somewhat longer adjustment period."

His statement proposed "appointment of civil servants at top policy levels whose first language is French to share the functions of unilingual English civil servants in the period before bilingualism becomes universal at this level."

Exports Rise In February By 3.9 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian exports rose 3.9 per cent to $424,400,000 in February this year compared with a year ago, bringing the total for the first two months of 1963 up 6.5 per cent to $895,300,000, the bureau of statistics said Monday.

The bureau said part of the increase in value is due to the exchange rate of the Canadian dollar, pegged at five cents in U.S. funds last June.

The February increase was slower than it was in January, when there was an 8.7 per cent increase.

Sales during March of wood pulp, softwood lumber, aluminum, and radioactive ores and concentrates showed gains. The value of exports of newsprint, wheat, crude petroleum, nickel and alloys, zinc and zinc ores, concentrates and scrap, was lower.

In trade with the United States, Canada exported $255,200,000 in February this year, compared with $249,200,000 in February last year, bringing the two-month 1963 total to $550,100,000, compared with $544,900,000 last year.

Exports to the United Kingdom were $57,200,000 in February, 1963, down from $59,400,000 last year. But the total for January and February this year was $130,200,000, up from $126,400,000 in 1962.

Newsprint paper exports were valued at $44,800,000 in February, 1963, compared with $49,500,000 in the same month last year, bringing the two months total to $108,100,000 this year, down from last year's $112,300,000.

NDP Looking For Some Seats In Quebec

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

The party is hanging on the slogan "the only party which knows where it is going"—and, in many points of view, that's up.

Andre L'Heureux, 31-year-old former executive of the party and chief organizer in Quebec, explains that interest has picked up overnight since the campaign began.

He has filled requests for 50,000 copies of its platform booklet containing the constitution and programs approved at the party's founding convention in Ottawa in August, 1961.

During the last election campaign, there were 7,000 such requests.

Originally, the NDP had planned on 40 candidates—the same as in 1962—but grassroots organization of riding after riding everywhere resulted in an increase to 80—highest ever for the party in Quebec, which has 75 federal ridings.

MAY INCREASE

Party Leader T. C. Douglas, who drew a crowd of about 4,000 at a rally in a heavily French-speaking area of Montreal, said the party anticipates "a tremendous increase in the support it will receive from Quebec . . . and the election to Parliament of the first New Democrats from Quebec."

His meeting was a peppy and noisy affair during which prominent entertainment personalities of French-Canada helped work up the crowd.

Gerard Picard, Party Leader T. C. Douglas' Quebec lieutenant, said he forecast 15 seats if possibility of 19. Neither the NDP nor its predecessor, the CCF, has ever elected a federal MP in Quebec.

Not all NDP support comes from the unions. Out of the 60 NDP candidates, 10 are union leaders and 15 are members of trade unions. Five are professors, four are lawyers, four are doctors, eight are technicians, three are housewives and a number of other professions are represented among the rest.

When asked to say where the support for the NDP appeared strongest, Mr. L'Heureux mentioned constituencies representated by Social Credit MPs in the last Parliament.

Car Importers Cut Prices, Hike Advertising Budgets To Recapture Lost Sales

TORONTO (CP)—Car importers cut prices Monday and announced advertising budget increases of up to 40 per cent in a drive to recapture sales lost during a period of tariff surcharges.

The 15-per-cent surcharge, in effect since June, was lifted Saturday when Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced withdrawal of remaining import tariffs.

Volkswagen Canada Ltd. said sales dropped 25.6 per cent in January and February and Austin reported sales down 77.3 per cent. British Ford sales were down 56 per cent and General Motors Envoy sales dropped 71 per cent.

Karl-Ludwig Barths, Volkswagen general manager, said the price of the 1200 deluxe sedan had been cut by $100 to $1,895, and announced a 30-per-cent increase in advertising expenditure.

British Motor Corp. (Canada) Ltd. cut the price of an A-60 by $165 to $2,198 and the Austin sports car by $120 to $2,775.

A spokesman said BMC's annual $1,000,000 advertising budget will be increased by as much as 40 per cent by July 31.

Standard - Triumph (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto reduced the price of the Triumph 1200 sedan by $130 to $1,899 and the price of the TR-4 dropped $199 to $3,025.

Rootes Motors (Canada) Ltd. dropped the price of its Sunbeam Alpine sports car by $253 to $2,745.

We'll spend every penny we can get on advertising," General Sales Manager Sydney Hirst said.

Graeme C. Roberts, Automobiles Renault Canada Ltd., Ontario regional manager, said the firm was still working on price cuts, but would increase advertising expenditure by 30 to 40 per cent.

Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., Oakville, said reductions on Lincoln and Thunderbird models imported from the United States ranged from $496 to $748.

Charge Something Wrong With PEI Public Accounts

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Liberal Opposition Leader Alex W. Matheson says "something is radically wrong with the public accounts of Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Matheson told the P.E.I. legislature Monday at Charlottetown that the conservative fiscal policies, especially public accounts for the year ended March 31, 1962, are going to be examined.

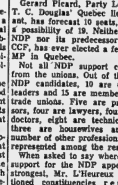
He said the public accounts have not been tabled yet.

Mr. Matheson said the provincial auditor—R. H. Cook whom he will ask to testify before the public accounts committee—had to make changes in the eventually tabled report up to March 1.

"This is inconceivable—it's no wonder the accounts haven't been tabled yet—there hasn't been time to get them printed," Mr. Matheson said.

FAIL GET COMMISSION

In other legislatures:



Victoria — Opposition members failed in a move to have a royal commission deal with allegations concerning the British Columbia highway department. The committee, sitting after prorogation of the House last week to study the allegations of misuse of highway fund and graft, was told by its Chairman Irvine Corbett (SC—Yale) that he was attempting to run the hearings in a manner similar to a royal commission.

"Who are you trying to kid," replied James Rhodes (NDP—Delta).

The opposition asked for the royal commission after committee counsel Lloyd McIntyre said Burton Lymburner, a key witness living in California, did not want to appear before the "mud-slinging" committee but would appear before a royal commission.

Winnipeg — Opposition Liberals and Conservatives said the Manitoba Conservative government wasted time and money by setting up both the Manitoba Export Corporation and a research council. They said duties of the two should be done by the department of industry and commerce.

John B. Faulkner Retires After Railroading 43 Years

A railroader for 43 years and locomotive engineer since 1945, Mr. John B. Faulkner, 36 Ponton Street, called it a day yesterday when following his regular eight-hour stint on a yard engine he officially retired from the CNR.

Mr. Faulkner joined the railroad back in 1920 starting as a fireman in Toronto. He has lived in Belleville since 1941 and prior to coming here worked out of Hamilton.

He has been on yard service in the Belleville yards since 1950, but prior to doing the regular "yard run" was on both freight and passenger service in and out of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner will continue to live in Belleville. They have two daughters, Beverley and Barbara, and a son, John, all at home.

GETS 10 YEARS

MONTREAL (CP) — Roland Primeau, 37, was sentenced Monday to 10 years for his part in a $500,000 bank robbery in a 1961 robbery of the Bank of Nova Scotia. The sentence was made concurrent with a 10-year term he was given previously for conspiracy to commit the same robbery.

Sport Slices . . .

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Ontario Amateur Softball Association writes finis to another two-year segment of success this weekend—and opens the door to what should be another chapter of outstanding achievement.

Consistent with the line of outstanding men who have occupied the presidential chair, the present incumbent Don Lee, of this city, steps down after his allotted span—and hands over the reins to his successor.

President Lee has held his office with honor, integrity, the esteem and respect of the executive—and the rank and file of the body. He leaves with the accolade of those he has served so well in his care. He has been a worthy president, one of whom the OASA in general and this city in particular should be proud.

But he has not achieved two years of success by himself. And he openly admits it. "I have been given the opportunity to work with an outstanding group of men both on the executive, on committees and on the diamond. They have been a credit to themselves, the OASA and the sport. I am proud of them."

The 1964-65 president will be elected or named at the forty-first annual meeting of the Association slated for the LaSalle Hotel, Kingston, this Friday, Saturday and part of Sunday.

Three prominent men who have worked hard for the Association over the years have been nominated for president, first vice-president and second vice-president. They are first-vice A. K. Davidson of Stratford; Clare Butler of Willowdale and H. F. Dormer of Peterborough.

And from a hard-work point of view, popularity and other necessary presidential requisites, it would not perhaps be remiss to "guess" that Mr. Davidson will assume the togs of chairman of the board.

Some twenty-four men, including the present elected and appointed executive have been nominated for these positions. Six will be elected and another half-dozen nominated at the weekend convention.

Among those nominated is Cliff Belch, commissioner of the Belleville and District Softball League, who has proven himself in the league position given him two years ago. Cliff was appointed a special assistant to the OASA brass last year and his efforts left little to be desired. He has shown that he possesses executive potential. He is a hard worker and his success as head of the city and district league warrants him consideration as OASA executive material.

Mr. Belch as head of the city league will be attending the convention. With him as voting delegates are Jim Tolsworth and our man Garry Alexander. Several other city softball stars will be in attendance.

Advance information indicates that the upcoming convention will be one of the most colorful in the history of the association. The Kingston Softball Association has left nothing undone to make the affair a success both from a convention point of view—and social.

A number of changes in rules and other association affairs are on the agenda which will come up for discussion at the general business session which follows the Civic Dinner and reception, and election of officers on Saturday afternoon.

Socially delegates and their ladies will enjoy the "Strikeout Ball" slated for the hotel Friday evening with a buffet luncheon and refreshments served later. Special arrangements have been made to entertain the visiting ladies.

An important item on the agenda is the Umpires' Clinic slated for the Hotel at nine o'clock Sunday morning. This will be supervised by Manie Scheff and Roger Stewart, two of the association's top men in this respect. Umpires and others associated with the sport are urged to attend.

"Bo", Mamie Plan to Marry But Not Yet

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Southpaw Bo Belinsky of Los Angeles Angels says he's planning on marrying actress Mamie Van Doren, but hasn't got around to buying her a ring.

"She's my kind of girl," the pitcher said Monday in explaining his intentions. "I like her a lot. In fact, I'm mad about her, but things are too unstable to think of a wedding date now."

Belinsky was on the trading block last season but baseball commissioner Ford Frick blocked a deal that would have sent him to Kansas City Athletics.

Belinsky is 26, Miss Van Doren 30. She formerly was married to bandleader Ray Anthony.

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"?

Maybe not. But you should know what a "diuretic" does. There comes a time when you should use one. Too likely underrated how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste material remain in the system. This may result in backache, urinary irritation and—Lastly discomfort, often followed by backache, loss of feeling and disturbed rest. Discomfort

This is when the diuretic service of Doan's Pills may be helpful. Doan's Pills act as a diuretic stimulant to help restore normal kidney action, and so relieve the symptoms resulting from such functional kidney disorders. Use only as directed. Get Doan's Pills today!

Imlach Sees Hawks, Leafs Cup Final

By BRUCE STOVEL

MONTREAL (CP) — Punch Imlach, whose Toronto Maple Leafs have yet to hurdle Montreal Canadiens, predicts Chicago Black Hawks will edge Detroit Red Wings in the other Stanley Cup semi-final series.

But the Leafs coach says he has "no preferences at all" as to which team his players might meet in the final.

Imlach's interest in the Chicago-Detroit series is understandable. His club has vaulted into a 3-0 lead in their series with Canadiens, and could end it when the two teams meet here tonight.

"But I'm not predicting we'll beat Canadiens," said Imlach Monday night after arriving with the Leafs from Toronto.

"I have to give the Hawks an edge in their series. They're stronger and have a better bench. Besides that, they were a better club during the season."

PICK WINGS TONIGHT

He said Detroit must win tonight's game easily, evening up the series at two games each and forcing a seventh. He added any rest period his players might gain while waiting for the other series to finish "will help us."

Leafs and Canadiens each plan one lineup change for tonight.

Canadiens will dress left winger Bill Sutherland, 28, who played with Quebec Aces of the American League this season. This will force Montreal coach Toe Blake to rest one of his forwards, but he hasn't decided who it will be.

Leafs will have Larry Hillman, 28, of the AHL's Springfield Indians as a sixth defenceman, replacing a team with rookie Kent Douglas.

Hillman played with Leafs in 1960-61. Last night winger Jack MacMillan is still sidelined with an elbow injury.

Imlach said Canadiens seem to be clutching at straws in dressing Sutherland.

"All I can say is they made a helluva mistake in not using him all season if they think he's worth using now. They don't have any injuries, they're just getting pretty nervous."

LEAFS CONFIDENT

A team has overcome a 3-0 deficit and won a best-of-seven playoff series in Stanley Cup history. Leafs did it in their finals against Detroit in 1942.

"We just went out and won," Blake Monday. "That's all we're worrying about."

Leafs beat Canadiens through a hard workout Monday, and sent Henri Richard into the dressing - room nine minutes after the practice started. He told the small centre he looked like he needed to rest. Other players were also given sharp criticism.

Leafs centre Bob Pulford, hero of Saturday's game with an unassisted goal and an assist, said Imlach's idea of flying the team back to Toronto for two days "has been a great help in getting us relaxed."

Imlach said left-winger Frank Mahovlich, who has been held scoreless to date, looked "really good" in practice Monday. He predicted Mahovlich would give a much improved performance tonight.

Canadiens are similar problems as Jean Geoffrion, the highest playoff scorer among current players with 35 goals. Geoffrion has been held scoreless also, and has seen limited action in the last two games.

Monday Geoffrion practised on a line with Sutherland and Ralph Backstrom, while Bob Rousseau took Geoffrion's regular spot on a line with Jean Beliveau and Gilles Tremblay.

Canadiens' left - winger Don Marshall also has been bothered with burns to the right hand and forearm suffered when his hand was toppled in a pool of boiling tea Sunday. But he is considered certain to play.

Joins Former 'Bums' With Mets

The Duke Heads Back to Gotham

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Duke Snider, the king of Flatbush, is headed back to the city that gave him the royal treatment — both cheers and boos—just seven other former Dodger teammates with New York Mets.

His waist is little wider and his hair a little whiter, the 36-year-old slugger who spent 11 years in a Brooklyn uniform and 16 years as a Dodger, officially was sold to the Mets Monday night for a price in the $30,000-$40,000 neighborhood.

The left-handed swinging outfielder has been the subject of a cloak-and-dagger transaction that has been rumored for weeks. The deal finally was confirmed by president George Weiss of the Mets while Snider was en route to the west coast.

In Albuquerque, N.M., Snider stepped off a plane, denied reports he had asked to be traded so he could play regularly, but said that he had been chatting playing for Casey Stengel (Mets manager)." Snider said he was sad, but had expected "to feel a lot worse."

His lifetime National League record includes a .300 or better batting average, 1,905 hits, 1,271 runs batted in and 389 homers.

WAS A HERO

An outspoken critic of baseball's boo-birds, Snider was a hero to the Ebbets Field crowds that jammed into the now-dismantled park to watch the Dodger stars of the 1940s and 1950s.

Now he'll be rejoining a team sprinkled with Dodgers. Currently with the Mets are first-baseman Gil Hodges, pitcher Roger Craig, catcher Norm Sherry, infielder Jim Hickman right, Tim Harkness and Charlie Neal and outfielder Dick Smith.

Last year, Snider saw action in 80 games, made a pinch hitter, hitting .278 with five homers and 30 runs batted in. "I feel I can help the Mets," said Snider. "It's been several years since I felt as good as I have this spring. My leg hasn't bothered me at all and I feel I have a few good years left."

Snider, who didn't figure to start a Dodger outfield that numbers Tommy Davis, Willie Davis, Frank Howart, Ron Fairly and Jim Gilliam as regular or part-time operatives, likely will see steady duty with the Mets alongside Jim Hickman and Frank Thomas.

STENGEL IS BACK

Casey Stengel, an unaccustomed loser, is back for another term at the age of 72.

"I can put this year," said Stengel Monday as he sat on a concrete step in front of the clubhouse. He meant, of course, that he had new, quick young players who could go from first to third on a single and steal a base.

"I had five or six operations," he continued, referring to no surgical work on his torso but to the operations on Gil Hodges, Rod Kanehl and others.

The Mets, dead last in its first season, are in the cellar at the pace, have three recognized starting pitchers. They are Roger Craig, 4-24, Al Jackson, 8-20, and Jay Hook, 8-19. Ken MacKenzie of Troy, Ont., 5-4, and Ray Daviault of Montreal, 1-3, may be in the bullpen.

ASK FOR GAMES

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Four cities — Detroit, Mexico City, Buenos Aires and Lyon, France—have applied to stage the 1968 Olympic Games, the international Olympic Committee announced Monday night as the deadline for application passed. Seven cities, including Grenoble, had applied for the 1968 winter Games, the IOC said.

Sweeney Wins Third AHL Title

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago Springfield Indians became the first team in the 27-year history of the American Hockey League to win both the regular-season championship and the Calder Cup playoffs three consecutive seasons.

This season they didn't even make the playoffs, but their veteran centre, Bill Sweeney, became the first player to win the league scoring title for three straight campaigns.

Sweeney, a five-foot-ten, 167-pounder from Guelph, Ont., finished the regular season Sunday by scoring three points against Hershey Bears to make his total for the season 103 points.

This compares with his winning total of last year and his 108 two years ago and makes him the first to cross the century mark in three different seasons.

Sweeney, 26, won a $300 league bonus and the John B. Sollenberger Trophy for his scoring achievement.

FIVE AHEAD

Final league statistics, released today, show Sweeney finished with 38 goals and 65 assists to finish five points ahead of Hank Ciesla of Cleveland Barons.

Ciesla got six points against Pittsburgh Hornets in his final game and wound up with 42 goals and 56 assists for 98 points. His 42 goals led the league in that department.

Willie Marshall of Hershey, who was No. 1 for several weeks, finished third with 92.

Denis DeJordy of Buffalo's Western Division champions won a $300 league bonus and the Hap Holmes Trophy for winning the goaltending championship. He finished with a goals-against average of 2.79 on 197 goals in 67 games. He and Ed Chadwick of Hershey each had six shutouts.

The League's "bad boy" crown went to Ed Van Impe of Buffalo with 196 penalty minutes.

Masters May Be Springboard

Nelson Flirts With Comeback

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—At the age of 50, after 20 years of semi - retirement and casual, token tournament appearances, Byron Nelson is flirting with ideas of a golf comeback.

The Masters tournament, starting Thursday, may serve as a springboard back to big-time golf for the lean Texas cattle rancher, the mechanical marvel of the late 1930s and early 1940s.

"I don't say I'm going back on the tour or that I'm going to push all these strong, young fellows aside," Nelson said Monday. "But I've decided it would be interesting to get my game back in the best possible shape and see how I'd fare.

"I've always kept myself in good physical condition. I've changed my outlook on life. I'm not so scared any more. I've worked harder on my game—but I've built up a lot of confidence."

Nelson came to the Augusta National course after two weeks of intensive practice. On his first practice round, he had a 76. Then he had a 73. The third time it was 70, two under par.

"I was really pleased with that improvement," he said. "Now, I don't have any delusions about my chances of winning. But if I do well, then I may play in a few more tournaments," and then next year—"

He won the United States Open in 1939. He captured the Masters in 1937 and again in 1942, beating Ben Hogan in a playoff for the latter. During 1944 and 1945, he won 19 of 31 U.S. Professional Golfers' Association tour tournaments, including a record 11 in a row, and set scoring records that never have been duplicated.

Labossiere Wins E. P. L. Title

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gordon Labossiere, a 23-year-old native of St. Boniface, Man., put on a spirited two-game performance that ended Monday night with the Eastern Professional Hockey League scoring championship.

He finished with 101 points, beating out teammate Marc Dufour of Sudbury Wolves, Don Blackburn of Kingston Frontenacs and Murray Hall of St. Louis Braves.

Labossiere picked up five points Monday night and three Sunday, giving him a total of 32 goals and 69 assists and a two-point margin over Dufour, who got three points Monday night.

Sudbury, with third place and a playoff berth already sewed up, trounced Hull-Ottawa Hull-Ottawa Canadiens 8-2 at Sudbury in the last league game, a preview of their best-of-five semi-final series that starts in Hull Wednesday.

Labossiere, who has been kicking around the Western Hockey League and the EPHL since 1956, set a goals and 11 assists for 31 points in 30 games with Sudbury last year after he had played 71 games with Seattle of the WHL, picking up four goals and four assists.

SCORES THRICE

Monday night he got three goals and two assists. Dufour had two goals and an assist, while Len Ronson, Dave McComb and Dave Balon got the other goals.

Dufour ended the season with 50 goals, 51 back of Alain Caron of St. Louis, the league's leading scorer with 61 goals.

Bob Courcy and Brian Harper scored for the Canadiens, who have been weakened by emergency calls from the parent Montreal Canadiens of the National League.

Montreal has taken forwards Gordon (Red) Berenson and Bill McCreary and defencemen Jacques Laperriere and Terry Harper in recent weeks.

Trail Coach Answers Criticism

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Bobby Kromm has come out with a blistering rebuttal to criticisms of himself and the Trail Smoke Eaters he coached in a losing cause at the world hockey championships in Sweden last month and said Canada's amateur teams can win the title if they get proper backing.

Replying to recent criticism by Irvin Temple of Victoria, president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association, Kromm in turn criticized what he termed Temple's inaction in Sweden in the face of press criticism, bad food and bad refereeing.

As for Temple's recent suggestion that a top National Hockey League team should represent Canada with backing of perhaps some $75,000, Kromm said in a letter to the Trail Times:

"I don't think we need to turn it over to the NHL. We can win with Canada's amateurs if we can get the proper backing. Which we didn't have this year or any other year."

Masked Hull Will Play If Said Fit

Hawks' Eyes on Howe

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

DETROIT (CP) — "They ruffled our feathers pretty good, but we'll be alright," says Rudy Pilous, who has stubborn coaching Chicago Black Hawks to their second Stanley Cup championship in three years.

"They" are Detroit Red Wings, who put a crimp in Rudy's plans Sunday by defeating the Hawks 4-3 in the third game of their best - of - seven semi-final.

The victory cut Chicago's series lead to 3-1, setting up a crowd-teasing situation for the night's fourth contest at Detroit Olympia.

Pilous, garrulous seventh son of German immigrants to Winnipeg, wasn't exactly cheerful as he made his observation following a brisk workout Monday by a few Hawk players.

He probably talked with tongue in cheek because the Hawks are hurting.

They gave the Red Wings 5-4 and 5-2 lacings in Chicago and lost three linksitigers while doing it. That's enough to send any coach up the wall and the problem is compounded when a chap named Gordie Howe happens to belong to the opposition.

MUST HOLD HOWE

Apart from trying to set up new lines, Pilous has to devise a method of shackling the Red Wings rightwinger. This is a situation that has bewildered other National Hockey League coaches for years.

"You can't hit him good because he won't let you get a chunk of him," Pilous said.

"You've got to be out him all the time or he'll kill you. It's as simple as that."

Hawks haven't been able to do this despite Eric Nesterenko's assignment to shadow the mighty one. Howe has scored 3 goal a game in the series, bringing his playoff total to 44, the third-highest in playoff competition.

He shares this spot with one-time Hawk Ted Lindsay. The retired Rocket Richard is far out in front with 82 and Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens is second with 51.

HULL, UNLIKELY STARTER

Pilous and Hawk manager Tommy Ivan appear to be definite that their ace, leftwinger Bobby Hull, won't play tonight. Hull had a week ago—a few hours before the series opener —that he wouldn't dress because of a sore right shoulder. He played, scored a couple of goals and added a third in the second game before he was smacked in the nose by a stick wielded by the Wings' Bruce MacGregor.

But Ivan has lined up a fellow in Chicago who can make a plastic facemask "in about two hours." That's just in case Hull is declared fit to play by the club's doctor.

Word from Chicago is that defenceman Al MacNeil, who suffered two cracked ribs in the second game, skated Monday and "possibly" will play tonight.

Leftwinger Ron Murphy still is in a Chicago hospital for treatment of an infected ankle cut.

STASIUK OUT

At the Red Wings' camp of Toledo, Ohio, about 70 miles from here it was reported that leftwinger Vic Stasiuk has a sore shoulder and jaw and is out of the lineup. Larry Jeffery, up from Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League, likely will take Stasiuk's spot.

Abel was practising with the Wings' work Sunday.

The forwards came back checked and gave our defence a chance to move up and meet Chicago at the blueline," he said.

"If they skate like that today we can even it up."

Pilous has put together a line composed of Reg Fleming and rookies Chico Maki and Murray Hall in an attempt to add some firepower.

After tonight's battle the series swings to Chicago for a fifth game. If a sixth is needed, it will be played here Sunday.

Maris Hurt, Will Miss Opener

Bob Friend on Beam As Law Leaves Team

By MIKE RATHET

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Bob Friend has the range from 60 feet but the 250-foot experiment has failed Vern Law. And today the pitching partners who gave Pittsburgh Pirates a world baseball championship in 1960 were worlds apart.

Friend pitched a four-hitter over the nine-inning route Monday as the Pirates defeated Minnesota Twins 3-0 in an exhibition game. Friend thus clinched the opening-day pitching assignment, only hours after Law learned he was leaving the team for a while because of failure to overcome his shoulder ailment.

STILL SNIDER

Duke Snider, veteran Dodger outfielder, was sold by Los Angeles Dodgers to New York Mets. The Dodgers were bested 6-1 by Baltimore Orioles.

Elsewhere, Chicago Cubs belted Boston Red Sox 13-3, San Francisco Giants edged Cleveland Indians 4-3 and Los Angeles Angels whipped Houston Colts 8-1. Washington Senators defeated Milwaukee Braves 4-3 in 10 innings, Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 and Cincinnati Reds downed Kansas City Athletics 4-1.

Law, 33-year-old righthander who posted a 20-9 record in 1960, then followed with 9-4 and 10-7 marks, had been pitching distances up to 250 feet in an effort to strengthen his arm muscles. The plan failed. Law has pitched in only one exhibition, giving up four runs in three innings.

Maris homered for the Yankees in the top of the fourth. Joe Pepitone continued to sizzle for the Yanks, hitting his third homer in two games and eighth of the spring.

Uber Badminton

Britons Sweep Seven Matches

BOSTON (CP-AP)—A powerful British team swept seven straight women's badminton matches from Canadian players Monday to advance to the finals of Uber Cup competition.

The British women play Indonesia Wednesday at Bronxville, N.Y. Indonesia turned back New Zealand in the other semi-final Monday.

The winner between Britain and Indonesia will challenge the defending United States champions.

The Canadian squad, rated the strongest yet to represent the Dominion in the Uber Cup competition, failed to win a game against England.

The English victory was clinched when Angela Bairstow disposed of Canadian champion Marjorie Shedd of Toronto 11-6, 11-8. In the other night singles match, Iris Rogers defeated Patricia Expley of Montreal 11-2, 11-1.

In the last two doubles matches on the program, Jenny Pritchard and Mrs. Brenda Parr defeated Mrs. Jean Miller of Montreal and Beverly Chilvick of Windsor, Ont., 15-7, 15-3, and Ursula Smith and Mrs. Margaret Barrand defeated Miss Shedd and Dorothy Tinline of Toronto 15-3, 15-7.

King of the Hill

For two consecutive weeks there has been no challenge match in the King of the Hill contest. By virtue of topping all entrants in the 5-game qualifying round, Ron Saylor once again retained the crown as "King of the Hill."

Ron had games of 253-223-300-256 and 261 for a total of 1293. He took over the lead from Horace Ormshaw after the second game and led all the way from there in.

First five in order of finish were: Ron Saylor 1293, Horace Ormshaw 1252, Joe DeGenova 1218, Joe Hardwick 1150, Eric Rank 1121.

Finleys KC Rainbow

"Kelly Green and Gold!"

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City Athletics, far from being fireballs in the American League in past years, are going to give the fans some fireworks and fanfare for their opening game with New York Yankees here April 9.

Owner Charley Finley already is making much of his baseball green color scheme in uniforms, kelly green and gold.

As a sort of a salute to the new uniform colors, Finley is asking the fans to wear something red or gold, or both, for the occasion.

In return, he promises a fireworks display, but not the run-of-the-mill kind.

The display will include bombs which will explode to release parachutes, bearing American and state flags and toy animals such as chickens, pigs and elephants. Then there will be 1,000 green and gold balloons, each bearing tickets to future Kansas City games.

There will be prizes hidden under the seats for the spectators.

As if that isn't enough, there will be Finley himself wearing a combination of gold sports jacket, kelly green slacks, green-tie and green handkerchief—all topped off with a green western hat.

Don't Judge Hitter by Spring Bat

BOSTON (AP)—Don't judge a batter by his spring hitting, American League President Joe Cronin says. Even Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx were poor—until the race was on and the chips were down.

"I never saw hitters who looked worse in the heighan than Foxx and Rudy York did every spring in Florida," Cronin said Monday. "All they did was strike out. Another was Gehrig."

Cronin made his remarks in answer to a question of Boston's trade-acquired slugger Dick Stuart and his poor spring showing at bat.

"Wait until the season is a month old" more and before passing judgment on Stuart," Cronin answered.

AGAINST BIG GLOVES

LONDON (AP)—Teddy Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, said Monday that in general medical committees in Europe are against the use of larger boxing gloves. Waltham was commenting on the New York State legislative committee's suggestions for making boxing safer for the competitors and more acceptable to the public. The New York report seeted that 10-ounce gloves as against six and eight-ounce gloves should be made a standard practice.

Bulgaria is the second largest producer of zinc in Europe and also is among the world's top lead producers.

Says New Strike Zone Will Help

BOSTON (AP) — American League President Joe Cronin thinks the enlarged strike zone will make baseball more interesting.

"It'll help both pitching and hitting," Cronin told baseball writers Monday.

And, as the one's surprise, he indicated his choice of New York Yankees to win the league pennant—again.

"They're tough," he said. "they're the team to beat."

Cronin, a feared, hard hitter in his years as manager-shortstop of Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators, also expressed the opinion the rule calling for pitchers to await their turns at bat in the on deck circle will speed the game.

The new strike zone, he said, "is good for a pitcher with a hard, high fast ball and it'll get the hitters swinging more."

"It'll make the batter think. They're always ready to go for that one, you know," he said. "The doubled umpires will be bothered by the new zone, now between the shoulders and the knees, instead of the letters and the knees.

"Our umpires are stand-up umpires and will be in good position to call pitches," he said.

Western Star Barred From NY Racing

NEW YORK (AP) — Scott Brady, more familiar to viewers of television series as Shotgun Slade, has been barred from harness racing in New York state "for maintaining close association with a known bookmaker in his harness racing participation."

The action was taken Monday by the State Harness Racing Commission as the result of a joint probe with the State Investigation Commission that indicated "alleged undercover ownership of horses by bookmakers." They said there was no evidence of any fixed races.

Brady, former resident of Yonker, N.Y., the site of Yonkers Raceway, and seven other men were "excluded from further participation in harness racing."

In addition, the harness racing commission "severely reprimanded" Robert Cherrix of Snow Hill, Md., and Joseph Faraldo of Hicksville, N.Y., two driver-trainers, for "failure to use reasonable discretion."

The licence of Lee Richardson of Norway, Me., stable superintendent at Yonkers Raceway, also was suspendd.

KEEP FEWER COWS

Canada now has 10 per cent fewer cows than in the 1930s but production per animal has increased more than 50 per cent.

Sport Snapshots

By JIM WHELLY

EDMONTON (CP) — Maj.-Gen. John M. (Rocky) Rockingham, a relative newcomer to skiing, says the future of competitive skiing for Canada lies with the army. He's doing his best to prove it.

The 52-year-old president of the Canadian Army Ski Association first stepped into alpine training harness only five years ago.

To whip up enthusiasm for the sport, he entered the Western Command championships last year. Most of the field of men half his age was left behind as he finished third in the slalom event.

This year L. Cpl. L. O. Berg of Edmonton won the downhill championship for Western Command at the army's national ski meet at Valcartier, Que.

Next year Gen. Rockingham hopes to get Western Command represented in international competition and Berg likely will lead the entry list.

"We get recruits at the right age, when they're 16 or 18, and we're in a good position to develop him when we find a good one.

"The army recruit is in good condition—we make sure of that as a matter of course—and he's usually the type who enjoys thrills and adventure. And we have the locations for practice."

But competition is not an end in itself for army ski clubs.

Gen. Rockingham regards skiing as an excellent way of keeping fit, a way to fulfil a love for taking risks, and sound training in the essential army skill of reading of ground.

For the army's defence of Canada force, skiing ability is more than a sport. One of its Western Command units is skiequipped for cross-country capability and reconnaissance work.

Ten of the army's 20 ski clubs are in Western Canada. They provide equipment for beginners but if a soldier takes to the sport he buys his own gear.

ATHLETES MAKE SOLDIERS — Maj.-Gen. John M. (Rocky) Rockingham, 52, president of the Canadian Army Ski Association, thinks good athletes make good soldiers. To encourage Canadian soldiers to take up skiing, he took up the sport five years ago. Last year the officer commanding Western Army Command finished third in the slalom event of the command's ski championships. (CP Photo from National Defence).

SPORT BRIEFS

METS BUY TWO

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — New York Mets purchased shortstop Al Moran and pitcher Tracy Stallard from Buffalo Bisons Monday and at the same time optioned four players and sold another to the International League farm club. The optioned players included pitchers Craig Anderson and Ray Daviault, outfielder Joe Christopher and infielder Pumpsie Green. Pitcher Tom Belcher, a first year player, was sold outright.

ADJOURN CHESS GAME

MOSCOW (AP) — The fifth game of the 24-game set for the world chess title between champion Mikhail Botvinnik and challenger Tigran Petrosian, both Russians, was adjourned Monday on the 41st move, with Botvinnik in a difficult position. Petrosian played white. Botvinnik led 2½ to 1½ going into the game.

courageous leadership

"Canadian people hunger for things like international respect, a sound and expanding economy, brave decisions and strong direction at the seat of government. There are impressive indications today that these are the things Canadians do feel starved of. Not pie in the sky or pie on a plate but the dignity of a national character that reflects courage and resolve. This is what Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson is offering the voters he talks to in the opening stages of the federal election campaign. In doing so he is showing courage and, yes, just plain guts."—Toronto Telegram

"Mr. Pearson is following the honest course of not trying to bribe the electorate with promises to spend vast sums of their own money. It takes courage, when the highest elective office is within his grasp, to follow that course. That he has the fortitude to do so is evidence he possesses qualities of courageous leadership which the nation sorely needs."—Regina Leader-Post the most complete team

"There will be a government, and it must be made up of men of government stature; a team of political leaders and administrators capable of assuming ministerial responsibilities. On this basis, the most complete team seems to be the Liberals. Mr. Pearson has already held an important ministry with success. He is surrounded by a number of men with a feeling for public affairs, realistic ideas and administrative experience."—Le Devoir

Mr. Pearson makes it plain

"Mr. Pearson has made it plain that he has no intention of getting down into the gutter with Mr. Douglas or, for that matter, with Mr. Diefenbaker, whose attacks on the Liberal leader have been equally despicable. But the campaign of mud-slinging goes on. In the end, the result will be a serious loss of respect for the NDP among people who have felt this party stood for honour in politics."—Ottawa Citizen

"Mr. Pearson mentioned as first on the list of Liberal welfare priorities the establishment of a contributory pension plan for Canadians. Then would come a national health plan; but first the economy must be expanded to the point where the national economy could pay for such measures without going further into debt. He added that the government should spend not a nickel on anything that would not increase production and reduce unemployment."—Winnipeg Free Press

"Once upon a time it was common to accuse politicians of talking one way in Quebec and the other way in English Canada. It is noteworthy that Liberal leader Pearson has left Quebec in no doubt as to his nuclear weapons stand."—Vancouver Sun

TV—Radio Column

Jimmy Hoffa Explains Belief 'Life Is a Jungle'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK-(AP) — David Brinkley's hour - long special program on NBC Monday night was misleadingly called inside Jimmy Hoffa. It should have been called inside the Teamsters Union.

Pro-Hoffa factions — mostly powerful local Teamster officers—were lavish in praise of the controversial union president, calling him a "labor giant" and "benefactor to all the people in the labor movement." To an anti-Hoffa teamster in Philadelphia, he was an "ogre-maniac (sic) and a "bloodsucker."

The program was rather bland considering the subject. The most interesting portion came during an interview by Brinkley with the head of the 2,000,000 - member union explained his belief that "life is a jungle."

Brinkley occasionally noted Hoffa's troubles with the law and quoted statistics about Teamsters convicted, under indictment, or under investigation for assorted crimes.

There's a heap of delicious, vicarious suffering in store for the daytime viewers, if the premiere shows of new soap operas are accurate indicators.

Both shows are full of dialogue like "Doctor, why the change from cyclopropane to sodium pentathol?" and "Your patients will always come first. . . ."

HE KNOWS THEM

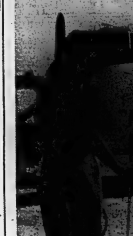
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Unfamiliar with National League pitching? Bill (Moose) Skowron pooh-poohs the idea.

"That won't be any handicap to me," said the first baseman who spent nine years in the American League with New York Yankees before being traded to Los Angeles Dodgers last fall.

The Moose said he had batted against four of the top teams—Milwaukee Braves, San Francisco Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates—in the World Series.



Skowron is having a tremendous spring. After 18 exhibition games he was batting .340 and was the Dodgers' runs-batted-in leader with 20.

GREENS CALLED BROWNS — Golfers check the flight schedule at the Gaza, Egypt, airfield before teeing off on the 18-hole golf course covering part of the airport. These two Canadian soldiers waiting for an RCAF Caribou transport to clear the runway are among 200 members of the United Nations Emergency Force using the course. Greens are called browns because there isn't a blade of grass on the course. (CP Photo from National Defence)

Golfball Goofs in Gaza Can Be Fatal to Players

By DAVE McINTOSH

GAZA, Egypt (CP)—Lt.-Gen. P. S. Gyani, commander of the United Nations Emergency Force, posted this order at the Gaza airport:

"All golfers are reminded that the privilege of using this airfield as a golf course is given solely on the condition that these activities do not interfere with the normal operation of the airfield.

"Recently we have had a number of complaints from the pilots of aircraft that they have been forced to take evasive action to avoid hitting people on the runway.

"Such action endangers the aircraft and its passengers, not to speak of the person causing the obstruction, and will not be tolerated. In future personnel will move completely off the runway on the approach of an aircraft. Failure to comply could result in the closing of the golf course."

GET GOOD PRO

The order was posted beside the schedule for UN plane arrivals and departures (all RCAF Caribous or Otters) because the golf clubhouse and the air terminal are one and the same.

The bulletin board also contained the latest Royal Canadian Golf Association amendments to its handicap system.

Par for the 18-hole course is 70 and the club, organized and run by UN personnel in the Gaza Strip, recently obtained on loan for one year the pro at the swank Gizera Club in Cairo.

A notable feature of the Gaza club, apart from the sandstorms which sometimes interrupt games, is the length of some drives. A ball hit down the dirt runway can easily be good for 400 yards—if it misses the sheep and goats.

RAFAH IS SAND

But long drives are the exception at the Bedouin Golf and Country club, followed by Canadians at the UN's Camp Rafah base 30 miles south of here in the Sinai desert.

The reason for this is no bounce. The ball plops in the sand and stops as if the sergeant - major had shouted "Halt!" The 18-hole, par 69 sand course is the greatest cure ever invented for a slice or hook.

The greens are known as the browns because there isn't a blade of grass on the course. The sand on the browns is oiled and has to be dragged smooth with a heavy mat after each group has putted out.

The Bedouin club could hardly function without mats. There are holed rubber mats for each tee and the Arab caddies carry a small hemp mat from which each fairway shot is made. Without the little mats to tee up the ball, each fairway shot would be a wedge.

The green—sorry, browns—vary in texture so that one not recently oiled may be as difficult to putt on as in snow.

GOLF ALL YEAR

The club has a membership of some 200 and some 60 sets of clubs. The membership fee is about $3 a year (golf all year round) and beer is served in the clubhouse. Caddies get about 25 cents for 18 holes, including mat-carrying.

There's a bench at every tee, a number of ball-washers, flags for every hole (in UN blue, of course) and if your ball is lost down a snake or lizard hole you are advised not to stick your hand in to look for it.

Now, if you'll just check that plane schedule we'll tee off on the runway on the easy airport course.

SPORT BRIEFS

SEND LAW DOWN

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates said Monday all ing pitcher Vernon Law will be sent to the baseball club's minor league camp this week. Law, bothered with a torn muscle in his shoulder since 1960 when he was the top hurler on Pittsburgh's pennant - winning team, is being transferred to Daytona Beach to get work he wouldn't get otherwise, the club said.

WASHING DUCKS

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Residents along the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers are operating duck laundries these days in an effort to rescue thousands of birds dying of oil pollution. The rivers are coated with fuel oil from a pipeline that burst at Savage, Minn., and spewed out from a tank that cracked last winter at Mankato, Minn. Several families have picked up dozens of ducks and washed them in detergent in their own bathtubs.

Income Tax Explained

A column designed and written for the working persons, who are not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an income tax office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Department

There is a certain section in the Income Tax Act that is seldom familiar to the type of client, it was designed to assist. This is the section that defines the exemptions allowable to unwed mothers.

An illegitimate child is primarily the dependent of the mother, as long as she has the custody and control. An unwed mother is permitted to claim the equivalent to married status on such a child, giving her $2,000 exemption. She does not have to keep up a home to claim this amount. She can pay the childs' board and supply its clothing and still get the major exemption. The requirement is that she must support the child in full.

If the father of the child, voluntarily or otherwise makes contributions towards its keep this in no way affects the mother of the child's claim and any amount received need not be reported as income.

On the other hand, the father of the child has no claim whatsoever, neither as a dependant or a deduction from income of the amounts he contributed. He still has no claim even if he was ordered by the courts to contribute to its support.

The only time he can have a claim is when he has the child in his custody and the mother has renounced all claim to it.

The father of an illegitimate child when making such a claim must have documents in his possession to prove he has the full custody and control of the child. If he can satisfy the income tax department that he has the legal custody and control, then he would be allowed the equivalent to married exemption ($2000), if he is a single person.

Any inquiries received will be answered if a self - addressed and stamped (5 cent) envelope is enclosed.

Question 1 — I am the mother of an illegitimate child. I received $20 per month from its father. Do I have to report this as income?

Answer — No. The father cannot deduct this on his return, therefore he pays the tax on it.

Question 2 — I am the mother of an illegitimate child for which I pay its entire support in another city. Have I any claim for it, when it does not live with me?

Answer — Yes. Claim $2000 exemption, the equivalent to married status.

Comedian Does Not Like Being on Road

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's costing Jonathan Winters somewhere between $250,000 and $500,000 a year, but the zany comic has finally found happiness.

"No man could be happier or better adjusted than I am now," says Winters, the mannamy feel is the greatest comic since the late W. C. Fields.

"All my problems in the past —and I had a few—were due to my being on the road. I'm a man who loves his family. When I was on the road doing saloons and concerts, I was lonely.

"I don't care what anyone says. No performer can be a good father and husband when he's gone most of the time.

"You can't make up to your son or daughter in a week what you lost to them in three months.

"What was I trying to prove? My concerts netted me $10,000 a night and I could have kept doing them every night but what good is money if you're miserable?

"There's no misery like that of a lonely man, separated from your family. So I just quit the road."

Johnny now is limiting his career to occasional guest TV appearances and his albums. A few months ago, Verve released his first movie it's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World.

"I'd like to make movies my career," says Winters, "but you can't get anyplace in the flicks until they see that first piece of film on you. Mad World won't be released until next November so I'll just stay close to home until then—and see what happens."

Producer - director Stanley Kramer says he is holding the movie until fall because it has Academy Award possibilities.

Joan Caulfield Too Busy to Stay at Work

In April of 1959, the pretty actress divorced producer Verdi Ross. A few weeks after the decree she found she was pregnant.

Kevin Ross, age 3, is the result.

Then a year later, she sat in a dentist's chair and looked up at a handsome dentist. She married Dr. Bruce H. Peterson Nov. 24, 1960. They have an eight-months-old son.

"Please wait since I married my dentist I can't get him to look at my teeth anymore," says Joan. "I'm the appointment he always conceals when an emergency comes up."

Joan literally is back in harness. She's playing her first wife, Cathy Nigh, in the love interest of Robert Taylor.

She had known Taylor casually over the years but had never worked with him before.

STARTS WITH SMOOCH

"Here is Bob's first picture in three years and wouldn't you know it the first scene is a sexy smoocher."

How did Joan as an actress keep from going berserk during her long layoff?

"I was so busy playing the world's market that I never thought much about acting," she says. "For years I had been conservative, just buying the blue-chip stocks.

"Then I got independent and started speculating. If I hadn't had that bad May last year (the stock market slump) I might have become a tycoon instead of an actress.

"When I was married to Frank, I always advised him on his stock deals. I bought one stock that looked like a winner at $14, it soon went up to $22 and Frank bought 1,500 shares. Then we got divorced as the stock was zooming. I sold mine at a big profit but without me at home to advise him, Frank hung on to his too long. It took one of the biggest nosedives in the slump and he lost a bundle."

Woman Author Deplores Terrible Price of Books

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Author Dorothy Parker has cast herself in a new role—teacher. It's not likely to last.

"I don't think I'll try it again," she says. "It is hard work. The only real reward is the one or two or three students you find who are live and responsive and worth all the trouble."

Miss Parker has been teaching courses on the American and English novel at Los Angeles State College.

How does she find the new college generation?

"More mature than I expected," she says. "More interested in education than my generation was. They seem to be more puritanical, if you can imagine that, and less adventuresome. There is not much dissent. I have counted only three beards out of a student body of 18,000."

LACK HUMOR

She has been struck by a lack of humor in the young crowd. "I can't understand it," she said. "They can't blame it all on the Bomb. They seem to be more puritanical, if you can imagine that, and less adventuresome. There is not much dissent. I have counted only three beards out of a student body of 18,000."

LACK HUMOR

She has been struck by a lack of humor in the young crowd. "I can't understand it," she said. "They can't blame it all on the Bomb. They seem to be not much about it all the time. Why don't they laugh?"

The decline of humor concerns her — "the deaths of Beachby and Thurber were terrible blows." She can find little that is funny in today's writing.

The decline of writing generally appalls her. She has kept up with the current books with her reviewing post for a fashion magazine which she is resuming after a lapse.

"There is little worth publishing," she commented, "yet they continue putting out a vast amount of books. Of such terrible prices—$6, $8, $12, $14. The cost of books is getting out of hand. The only hope I see is in the paperbacks, which are doing fine things at reasonable prices."

Field Narrows For Drama Festival Final

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two drama groups qualified for the Dominion Drama Festival final and three others moved one step closer to regional finals during the weekend.

The Barn Players of Toronto Broadview YMCA won the Central Ontario regional competition and Montreal's La Reine Comedie headed the western Quebec finals.

They will join the London Little Theatre, which has already won the Western Ontario regionals, in the DDF final at Kitchener, May 13-18.

The Eastern Regional Drama Festival was won Saturday night by the Coaldale Little Theatre. Either Coaldale or the Kamloops Theatre Wing PTA, winners of the British Columbia festival, will represent Alberta and British Columbia in the D.D.F.

The Sudbury Little Theatre won the Quebec-Northern Ontario Regional final over either Sudbury or the Kingston Little Theatre, which won the Eastern Ontario finals, will go to Kitchener.

The Newfoundland Drama Festival finishes Friday, with the St. John's drama group winning. An entry will be chosen from Newfoundland, Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island for the Dominion final.

FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Day when strength of conviction stands on your side. No time to make concessions. Do what you know to be right. Your way, manner wins plaudits. Test underway. Come through by doing real job!

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Exercise independence of thought, action. Lead the way. Day when you can sparkle, shine. Chase gloom through utilization of common sense. Start anew rather than going back.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Sense of awareness heightened. Perceive needs of loved ones. Strive to make those close to you happy. You thus obtain personal gratification and mental uplift.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Attention to budget required. Means "budget" of emotions as well as material goods. Conserve, save - - - hold something in reserve. Permit others to show you. Don't jump to conclusions.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Cycle high means you can find an audience. You can present ideas. And you can demonstrate worth of plans. Very important to be ready. Be factual. Reveal talents. Accept challenge.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Added responsibility can be handled. Know this and act like you know it. Valuable assistance could come from Leo individual. Be ready. Strive for expression of creative forces.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be more than a machine. Relate feelings, emotions are involved. Make decisions accordingly. Well-meaning associate may not be aware of all facts. Explain and stress fairness.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Beware of self-deception. See persons, situations as they really exist. Throw away rose-colored glasses. Truth is valuable. And today you are able to perceive it.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Good Moon aspect today indicates far-reaching view is best. Call for action should be heeded. Especially where long-range decisions are concerned. Very good for organizing plans.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Steady pace better than flashy methods. You reach goal sooner if you have basic understanding. Means co-operation necessary with associates. Remember, the walls have ears!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Important to be considerate of partner and public in general. Means be on your best behavior. No time for saying, doing things merely for effect. Stress sincerity, sympathy.

Pisces (Feb. 20 Mar. 20): Look within for answer. Lunar position highlights need for self-understanding. Be aware of needs, desires. Separate these from temptations. Remember responsibility to loved one.

If Today Is Your Birthday . . . you are dynamic and independent. Year sees you completing important tasks, fulfilling many ambitions.

General Tendencies: Emotional outburst by prominent person captures spotlight. Cycle up for Leo, but extravagant, impulsive actions should be avoided.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A world research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among those case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

TOWNSHIP OF THURLOW

FIRE REGULATIONS

During the Spring of 1962 there were numerous large fires resulting from brush and rubbish fires getting out of control and which had to be extinguished by the Fire Department. In order to try to avoid this situation re-occurring in 1963, we are setting out the Fire Regulations in effect in the Township hereof.

No person shall set a fire in the open air unless:

(a) The location of the fire is at least 50 feet from any building, or other flammable material, or—if the fire is contained in an incinerator with a metal screen, the location of the incinerator shall not be less than twenty feet from any building.

(b) The burning takes place between sunrise and sunset.

(c) An attendant 16 years of age or more, is at the scene while the fire is burning and the fire is completely extinguished before the attendant leaves.

(d) A supply of water is at hand while the fire is burning. No person shall set out a fire, or allow one to continue burning during a high wind.

ALL PERSONS SETTING OUT FIRES REQUIRE A PERMIT FROM THE CHIEF OF THE BELLEVILLE FIRE DEPARTMENT (WHO ARE UNDER AGREEMENT TO FIGHT FIRES IN THURLOW TOWNSHIP).

All residents of Thurlow are respectfully requested to take every precaution to prevent the outbreak of fires.

E. M. DAFOE,
Clerk-Treas.

Richard III Is Revealed As a Generous Leader and An Enlightened Legislator

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Who murdered the princes in The Tower?

Shakespeare describes the act as "the most arch deed of piteous massacre that ever yet this land was guiltyq of" and puts the rap squarely on Richard III. Most historians agree with him.

Guilty or not, Richard has been roughly treated by time. The conventional picture of the man is that of a hunchbacked monster skulking through the corridors of power, his hands crimson with fratricidal blood, his visage dark with greed and ambition.

Who could love and respect such a king?

In fact evidence shows that Richard was not a hunchback at all. He merely had a slight droop in one shoulder. He cut a handsome, even a dashing figure and before the dynastic struggle culminating in his death, screaming for a horse, at Bosworth Field in 1485, he had a good record as a generous leader and an enlightened legislator.

MONARCHS GUILTY

How did his name get dragged through the mires of hatred and contempt? It was probably the work of successive Tudor monarchs determined to cement their own shaky claim to the throne by besmirching Richard and the Yorkist line with a multitude of crimes.

Most of the legends about Richard's tyrannical behavior can be traced back to such Tudor propagandists as Holinshed who, writing 30 years after the event, glibly wove rumor and imagination into a fabric of apparent truth.

Across the years various people such as Horace Walpole and Thomas Carlyle have tried to clear Richard's name. The latest and most convincing attempt was made by mystery writer Josephine Tey in her book The Daughter of Time.

Miss Tey proves fairly conclusively that Richard is at least entitled to a verdict of not proven in the case of the princes in The Tower and she points firmly to Henry VII, the victor at Bosworth, as the real murderer.

ERECT MEMORIAL

The Richard III Society, a 250-strong group meeting here every month, is determined to vindicate Richard and is erecting a memorial to him in Middleham Church in his native Yorkshire. All the members believe the king to have been a kindly and humane man.

They took heart recently when an anatomist, Dr. R. H. G. Lyne-Pirkis, said examination of two skeletons found in The Tower in 1674 could not prove scientifically the ages, the sex or the year of death. This contradicts an expert's statement in 1934 that the skeletons were those of two young boys killed in 1485.

Isolde Wigram, secretary of the society, is convinced the princes were not murdered at all but smuggled out to Burgundy. Other members are sure the princes were smothered but blame Henry VII, Buckingham or the Duke of Norfolk.

The controversy will continue as long as men study history and Shakespeare is performed.

"Can I call you back, Nancy? Ted wants his breakfast."

But perhaps someday the label of "crooked Dick" will come unstuck and "the good Duke Richard" still remembered in Yorkshire will receive a proper trial.

Apologies Sent to Diefenbaker

KINGSTON (CP)—Dr. J. A. Corry, principal of Queen's University, said Monday he has written Prime Minister Diefenbaker apologizing for the "ill-graceful treatment" given Mr. Diefenbaker when he spoke at a Progressive Conservative party rally here Friday.

The Alma Mater Society of the university also has wired the prime minister apologizing for the students' heckling.

Dr. Corry and a spokesman for the society said they are satisfied the hecklers were not organized by any official student body or organization.

"It seems to have been ill-spired by a few unidentified students," said Dr. Corry.

Dr. Corry said in the letter to Mr. Diefenbaker that the university, "from its very beginning placed all emphasis on the essential freedoms" including that freedom of speech and the right to be heard.

Ghost Town Resurrected By Canada's UN Soldiers

OTTAWA (CP)—This is the story of an African ghost town that was brought back to life, with the help of Canadian Army signallers.

It's the story of Kongolo, a railway-hinge transfer centre on the Lualaba River in northern Katanga. Once it had a population of 14,000 Congolese and 150 Europeans.

More than a year ago its inhabitants abandoned it following disorders and fighting between troops of the Congolese National Army and the gendarmes of the former secessionist province.

Army headquarters here relates that when United Nations troops, comprising a detachment of the 57th Canadian Signal Unit and the 3rd Queen's Own Nigerian Rifles, entered Kongolo before Christmas, 1962, they found only empty stores and houses.

Now, with the UN troops in control and more peaceful conditions prevailing, about half the former population has returned.

The Katanga gendarmerie has been cleared from the area. However, all UN troops still carry loaded weapons as a precautionary measure when moving about in the town.

ATE CANNED RATIONS.

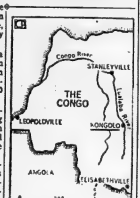
When the Canadians entered Kongolo they set up a signal detachment in a villa that had been the home of an order of nursing sisters. They quickly established a radio-teletype link with UN headquarters in Leopoldville.



Lieut. Harry MacHale of Vancouver, detachment commander, said the men lived on canned rations exclusively during their first two weeks. Fresh rations now are flown in by UN transport plane.

Public utilities are still out of action, and water for cooking, drinking and washing must be hauled in cans from a spring about three miles away.

Signalman Barry Nicholas of Cobourg, Ont., had a hair-raising experience one night when he visited the Nigerian unit next door. Unable to answer a challenge because he didn't know the Nigerians had a password system, he was backed against a wall by two Nigerian soldiers holding bayonets at his throat.

He finally identified himself by shining his flashlight on his Canadian and UN shoulder flashes.

GHOST TOWN — Kongolo, a railway centre on the Lualaba River, was abandoned by most of it's 14,000 inhabitants during the fighting between the Congolese National Army and Katanga gendarmes.

Most of them returned after Canadian army units restored communications and other services at the ghost town. Map locates Kongolo in northern Katanga. (CP Newsmap).

Rustproofing?

We spill more than others use—to keep your Rambler young for years

Canadian winters can very quickly turn your car into the wallflower of the used car lot. Rust and corrosion take years off a car's value. We've seen figures that say it can cost you up to $100 a year in repair bills.

GALVANIZING For 1963 all Ramblers have 75% more galvanized metal than before. This is concentrated in critical areas such as the rocker panels which are constantly exposed to salt.

DEEP-DIP The entire car body is submerged into six separate tanks. Each time, a solution cleans, scours and prepares the surface of the metal.

PRIMER DIP The car is dipped again, right up to the roof, in rustproofing primer paint. It gets more rustproofing than any other Canadian car. (And we spill, literally, more than others use.) The body then receives a second primer which is sprayed on. Well over 15 pounds of rustproofing primer now coat the steel. After this, the primer paint is baked on.

TRIPLE ENAMELLING A chip-resistant, salt-resistant super enamel is sprayed and baked on. A second and third coat follow immediately, then are baked to a durable gloss.

SEALING A corrosion-inhibiting wax compound is sprayed inside girders, rocker panels and fenders. A sealer compound is also sprayed on critical underbody areas to provide additional protection.

Sounds elaborate? It is. This process makes your Rambler the most completely rustproofed car in the world. It cuts depreciation, rust-out repairs and repainting costs. And it keeps your Rambler a pleasure to behold, years longer. Come time for a new Rambler, you'll be amazed at your trading power. For a rundown on all the Rambler features that give "maximum usefulness to the user," see your nearest dealer soon.

French Bombers Will Be Given Nuclear Warhead

U.S. Retains Control By Lock, Key Devices

WASHINGTON (CP - AP)—French fighter-bombers based in West Germany will be armed this week with nuclear warheads under United States control, defence department sources have disclosed.

U.S. officials said Tuesday night that this arrangement in accordance with NATO defence plans was worked out in negotiations started five years ago between France and the United States and completed about a year ago.

The delay, they said, was caused by the time needed to acquire "lock and key" devices by which the U.S. retains control of the weapons.

This control system requires American officers and men to activate the bombs at the warheads. And where the weapons are attached to the aircraft in alert status there must be inserted in the weapon before it can be used in combat.

High U.S. officers in NATO headquarters have control over the warheads through an electronic network linking installations throughout Western Europe. Under U.S. law, only the president of the United States can give the signal for the use of these atomic weapons.

U.S. officials said this is the ninth such bilateral agreement between the United States and other NATO countries. The groundwork for the agreements was laid by NATO governments heads in the late 1950s.

AGREE WITH CANADA

The previous eight agreements were made with The Netherlands, Belgium, West Germany, Turkey and Canada, the officials said.

The only agreement left to be put into effect, they said, was the one with Canada. And debate over whether to accept nuclear warheads is a burning issue in the Canadian election campaign. Prime Minister Diefenbaker says his government at no time agreed to accept nuclear warheads from the U.S.

The defence department sources said the agreement with France includes a pledge to any French units on French soil.

France still refuses to allow U.S. - controlled nuclear stockpiles on her soil. This decision was taken in 1959, and as a result the U.S. and Britain took from France its nuclear-armed planes assigned to NATO.

Bomb Scares Send Police Into Action

MONTREAL (CP)—A rash of bomb scares in the Montreal area and one in Quebec City forced police emergency squads to investigate seven threatened blasts within 12 hours Tuesday. All were false alarms.

A Montreal police spokesman said a "lunatic fringe" is following the lead set by Le Front de Liberation Quebecois, (FLQ) a self-proclaimed terrorist wing of the separatist movement.

The bomb blast predictions were all made by anonymous voices telephoning police and was climaxed by a threat that the Montreal Forum would be blasted during the Stanley Cup playoff game between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

About 14,000 persons were in the Forum when police arrived to begin their search, touched off by a threat the bomb would go off at 10:15 p.m. in the yellow section. The stands and washrooms were thoroughly searched but nothing turned up. The police spokesman said no hockey fan was aware of the scare.

INVESTIGATES THREATS

The Montreal police department's bomb expert—Det. Sgt. Leo Plouffe—had an extremely busy day as he personally investigated all the threats.

The Montreal Star building also was threatened and checked thoroughly. Extra guards checked those entering the building during the night.

Later, a garbled document was sent to the newspaper containing a warning from the FLQ and crude posters linking the Liberal party with the United States and the Seafarers' International Union were plastered on the front of the downtown building.

Another anonymous, telephone caller said a bomb would explode in Delorimier Stadium while Prime Minister Diefenbaker was speaking to a political rally.

Police investigated other false alarms at the Windsor Hotel, the St. Emile School in east-end Montreal and the unemployment insurance building.

The Quebec City incident started when a caller, again anonymous, told city police a bomb had been placed in the federal income tax office. The day before a bomb caused considerable damage when it went off in a window of the Montreal tax office.

Federal and Provincial Funds For Algae Control Requested

TORONTO (CP) — Walter Theobald, vice-chairman of the Niagara Peninsula Conservation Authority, said Tuesday provincial and federal governments should provide financing for algae research and control on Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Speaking at the Ontario Water Resources Commission conference on algae, he said the algae problem is hurting badly the tourist trade. An algae research program would be too expensive for municipalities.

The conference was told that the main problem of algae, a green plant which grows in Ontario waterways, is its stench when it washes up on beaches.

John Neil, the commission's chief biologist, said hydrothol 191 is a powerful chemical method of controlling algae, but its cost is $30 to $45 an acre, plus cost of application.

Mr. Neil said he believes mechanical removal of algae would be the best method. He said the water resources commission is co-operating with the mechanical engineering department of the Ontario Agricultural College in a study to produce a machine that would be effective in algae control.

WILL DISMISS MURDER CHARGE IN BUSH CLASH

Magistrate May Revise Accusation

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP) —Magistrate W. S. Gardiner indicated Tuesday he would dismiss a charge of non-capital murder against Paul-Emile Coulombe, one of 20 settlers charged with non-capital murder following the shooting deaths of three strikers in a settler-striker clash near here February 11.

Crown Attorney S. A. Cal Smith had called 20 witnesses and presented 24 exhibits during the two-day preliminary hearing but when he rested his case Magistrate Gardiner said: "I do not feel that the evidence has been sufficient that the accused did murder Fernand Drouin and I think the evidence submitted would rule that out."

Magistrate Gardiner indicated a further charge might replace the non-capital murder charge if it is dismissed. He said "whether I should substitute another offence is what I am seriously considering."

The Crown presented evidence against Mr. Coulombe only on the non-capital murder charge although he has also been charged with shooting with intent to wound and rioting. The other 19 men also are charged with the same offences.

DIES IN CLASH

Drouin was killed along with Joseph and Irene Fortier in the clash at Reesor Siding, 25 miles west of here.

The shooting was the climax of a struggle between members of Local 2995, Lumber and Sawmill Workers' Union (CLC) and independent settlers as to whether pulpwood would be moved to the Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company mill in Kapuskasing.

About 1,100 workers of the Spruce Falls Company walked off their jobs January 14. They returned to work Feb. 16.

Provincial Police Det.-Sgt. William Murray told of 13 separate complaints of strikers threatening, molesting or assaulting settlers or company employees attempting to move pulpwood out of the bush.

Staff-Sgt. W. G. Bolton testified no pulpwood was hauled between January 18 and February 8, the day strikers began working at Reesor Siding. There were 12 police officers at the siding the night several hundred strikers tried to enter the area where settlers had stockpiled pulpwood.

Leaders Hammer at Bomarc On McNamara's Hot Anvil

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Campaigning politicians are continuing to strike electric sparks from the comments at U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara on the controversial Bomarc anti-aircraft missile.

With sarcasm, he said Mr. Diefenbaker could "hardly conceal his glee" because the Bomarc—acquired by the Conservative government—was no good.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in two Montreal area speeches attacking Mr. Pearson's defence policy, suggested it would result in making Canada "a burnt sacrifice."

"That is what he (Mr. McNamara) quite frankly points out," said the prime minister.

Meanwhile, New Democratic Party Leader Douglas said the U.S. defence secretary's words justify his party's stand against acceptance of nuclear arms.

In Edmonton, Social Credit Leader Thompson challenged "any economist—any politician either to prove that his party's financial program as outlined in the Social Credit election platform would not work.

Tuesday's arguments over defence centred on Mr. McNamara's Feb. 12 testimony before a congressional committee that he would eliminate Bomarc bases—there are eight in the U.S.—"if there were any real amount of money to be saved" and that at the very least they would draw enemy ballistic missile fire if war came.

Canadian TV Star's Plane Is Fired at by Soviet Jets

BERLIN (CP-AP) — British authorities are seeking "firm assurance" from the Russians that a Canadian entertainer's private plane can return to West Germany without being molested by Soviet jet fighters.

The plane, piloted by stage and television star Maggie Green, flew to West Berlin Tuesday in one of the three air corridors reserved for the Western Allies.

The Western Allies protested to the Soviets. In a separate protest, the U.S. representative at the four-power Berlin Air Safety Centre called the incident an "outrageous and hostile act."

Expansion Without Inflation Is Aim of British Budget

LONDON (Reuters) — Treasury Chief Reginald Maudling today announced a 1963 budget aimed at expansion without inflation and an economic growth rate of four per cent a year.

"If we are to play our full part in this dangerous world we must have more rapid and steady expansion," Maudling told the Commons at the start of his long-awaited budget speech.

Maudling broke with tradition by announcing specific tax proposals at the beginning of his speech instead of the end.

The first was tax relief for owner-occupiers of houses.

He said persons who lived in their own house or were buying their own house would no longer have to pay property tax—a move which will cost the government $250,000,000 ($150,000,000) annually.

But he also warned landlords that starting next year their rented property will come under a profit tax like any other business.

Forecasters had looked for major tax cuts in the budget to stimulate a slowing economy and conservative Prime Minister Macmillan's popularity.

Maudling announced a concession in death duties by increasing the tax free exemption limit to £5,000 from £4,000.

Estate duties have also would be nine adjustments in the progressive death duty now ranging from one to 80 per cent.

Altogether some 12,000 estates will be exempted from duty and 11,000 will get some relief.

Maudling indicated he favored a general tax on gambling—believed to have a total turnover of about one £1,000,000,000 ($3,000,000,000) a year, but said he could not institute one yet because he did not have enough information.

SOME FIRMS ROB WORKERS SAYS NDP HEAD

New Law Requires Full Pay Details

TORONTO (CP)—Some employers are robbing workers by paying them less than their pay records show, Donald C. MacDonald, leader of the Ontario New Democratic Party, told the Legislature's labor committee Tuesday.

"Some of these shysters threaten their employees with dismissal if they complain about getting too little pay," he said during debate on amendments to the Wages Act.

The House will be prorogued today by Lieutenant - Governor J. Keiller Mackay and will resume April 16.

Mr. MacDonald's allegations came during discussion on an amendment which will require employers to give workers full details on the period of time worked, rate of pay, exact amount of deductions, any allowances owing them and the net amount being paid to them.

He said that because certain regulations have not been implemented a "smart alec class" of employers who are convinced they can get away with stealing from their employees has arisen.

ONLY A MINORITY

Labor Minister Rowntree said a minority of employers and employees do not meet their responsibilities.

Mr. Rowntree said an arbitrary figure was necessary, but the rates were only a "starting point and an intelligent starting point."

Provincial Treasurer Allan introduced amendments to the Ontario Succession Duty Act which will give widows a clear exemption from death duties on the first $50,000 of an estate.

In introducing the new legislation, Allan said the amendments also would give each dependent child a $10,000 exemption from succession duties.

Previously, Mr. Allan explained, widows were given an exemption from paying taxes on estates up to $30,000. But if the estate were more than $60,000, a widow had to pay duty on the entire estate, rather than only on the amount in excess of $60,000.

Under the new provisions, the actual amount of money collected in succession duties will be at least $5,174 less on estates of more than $60,000.

The provincial treasurer also introduced amendments to the Corporations Tax Act which would allow companies that expand their research expenditures to deduct 150 per cent instead of 100 per cent of the expenses.

Buenos Aires Gets Reprieve From Sea Threat

Argentine Air Force Bombs Rebel Bases

CP from AP-Reuters

BUENOS AIRES—The Argentine government claimed today a rebel navy fleet that had started toward Buenos Aires for a showdown against President Jose Maria Guido "has ceased its operations."

The announcement from Acting Navy Secretary Jose Manuel Astigueta came after the loyalists claimed air and ground attacks knocked out two rebel strongholds and sent navy rebels into retreat.

Astigueta's announcement said:

The national fleet, thru Rear Admiral Eladio Vazquez, has communicated to the acting navy secretary that it has ceased its operations."

Vazquez is commander of the fleet which radio broadcasts said was steaming toward the River Plate and this capital. The government said Tuesday Vazquez has sworn allegiance to Guido.

The government claim that Vazquez had switched loyalties could not be confirmed with rebel sources. Astigueta said Vazquez had been offered the post of commander of naval operations.

There were reports, however, that the navy rebels would refuse to accept Vazquez as their leader in an attempt to continue their revolt, aimed at keeping followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron from running in the June 23 elections for president and Congress.

RETREAT INDICATED

All information pointed to a general rebel retreat. But their moves may be in the form of a strategic withdrawal for a possible regrouping of forces at Puerto Belgrano, the huge navy base 350 miles south of Buenos Aires.

One rebel plane, with 11 persons reported aboard, landed at Montevideo across the River Plate in Uruguay. The Uruguayan government did not say immediately what it planned to do with the occupants of the rebels were not identified.

Government forces took the offensive after daybreak.

Provincial police reported loyalist air force bombers and jet fighters bombed the navy air base at Punto Indio. This is the base for navy planes that attacked a loyalist tank batalion at Magdalena in the opening blow of a revolt against President Jose Maria Guido Tuesday.

Local news agency reports said the rebel forces at Punta Indio had been "annihilated by loyalist air bombing." Punta Indio is about 80 miles southeast of Buenos Aires on the Atlantic Coast.

The loyalist claim that the Punto Indio air base had been rendered could not be confirmed.

The rebel radio at Bahia Blanca, about 350 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, said the navy forces never would surrender.

"We will fight to the death,"

Minister Says Unemployment Down in 1962

MONTREAL (CP) — In Canada "unemployment was down 17 per cent in the first nine months of 1962 and four per cent in the critical months of January and February," Defence Production Minister O'Hurley said Monday night.

"Certain speakers . . . have made a great deal of fuss about unemployment," the minister said in a free-time election broadcast on the CBC's French radio network.

"Certainly we have unemployment and I really think that you are convinced that there will always be unemployment.

"In fact, I am among those who believe that as long as the labor force has not been geared ally adapted to the new methods of industrial production, especially automation, unemployment will remain at a generally high level despite widespread prosperity.

(A Canadian Press story Monday night on the minister's speech gave a misleading impression by applying specifically to Canada his description of a general employment situation.)

Lunik May Endeavor to Set Up Observation Station on Moon

MOSCOW (AP)—The new Soviet moon shot still hurtled through space today but presumably shrouded what it specifically is supposed to do.

The instrument-laden, 3,150-pound Lunik IV would give the Russians a big lead over the United States in the race to land a man on the moon.

(The American program, stung by three spectacular failures last year, is far behind schedule, but officials in Washington said there is no need for Americans to panic.)

Scientists speculated that Lunik IV is intended either to land an unmanned observation station on the moon or orbit the moon to take detailed photographs and to gather other data.

Such preliminaries are indispensable to landing a man, only "a big range of studies must be carried out before man flies there," wrote astrophysicist Yuri Lipsky in Pravda today.

However, the Soviet government gave no hint of Lunik's mission. Statements by Soviet scientists who should know turned up few clues.

Nikolai Barabashov of the Kharkov Observatory mentioned the need for better photographs and a robot observatory to be wrote for Tass news agency.

City Refuses Service Cost For King George Square; To Pay Half on One Road

Despite protest on the part of several aldermen that the city would be reneging on its recently adopted sub-division agreement city council at a special meeting yesterday voted against paying any share of water and sewer services for proposed King George Square Sub-division.

The matter was before council Monday when a number of councillors, including Mayor A. M. Haig, admitted they were "completely confused", and the issue was laid over for a special meeting yesterday.

After three quarters of an hour discussion in caucus, council voted to approve the King George Square sub-division on the following basis:

1. That lot 3 instead of lot 4 to be dedicated to the city as five per cent park land.

2. The city share the cost of building the Coleman Street extension from King George Square to Evans Street.

3. That subject to approval by the sub-divider of 1. and 2. the lower 154 feet of Coleman Street between the CNR double track railway and King George Square be closed.

Under the sub-dividers' agreement passed in January, the city would pay one half of roadway and services costs on boundary roads running along city or school property.

In the case at hand this would have meant a cost of over $8,000 as the city's share, for roadway and services costs on Coleman and Evans Streets.

SEE NO BENEFIT

But council took the attitude that water and sewer services on Evans and Coleman Streets were of no benefit to either King George Public School or Quinte Secondary School so they already had these services.

Although it was claimed by one alderman that Quinte Secondary School would benefit by the opening of Evans Street, the feeling of council was that the street would be opened solely to make the sub division possible and that the sub-divider should bear all costs on this road.

The ruling of council was that it would share only the cost of opening Coleman Street thus preventing "road ends" in services and for street maintenance on King George Square and on Evans Street.

The housing sub-division would provide 22 building lots immediately north of the C.N.R. tracks and west of North Front Street.

Councils to Tour Moira Watershed

Members of municipal councils within the Moira River Watershed are going to be invited to a bus trip by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

At a meeting last week executive members of the Authority authorized the application extension advisory board to organize a tour of Authority properties for municipal councillors and a personal invitation to Belleville council was extended this week by Authority Chairman Alderman George Wishart.

Purpose of the bus tour would be to acquaint municipal council members of the work the Authority is doing in reforestation, setting up of conservation areas, and other activities.

The date for the proposed bus trip will be set later.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. JAMES SHELLEY

In failing health for the past six weeks, Elsie May Wright, beloved wife of the late James Shelley, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on Friday, March 22nd. She was in her 74th year.

Born in England, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Leigh, coming to Canada as a bride and living the remainder of her life in the Adolphustown and Napanee district. She had resided in Napanee for the past 14 years, where her husband predeceased her in 1961.

She was a member of St. Alban's Church at Adolphustown, and a member of the Women's Guild and the W.A. of that parish.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Steve (Elsie) Gulik, Belleville; Mrs. Phillip (Edna) Speed, of Napanee; Mrs. Albert (Annie) Lloyd of Sillerville, and two sons, Stanley of Campbellford and Donald of Marysville.

Also surviving are 13 grandchildren and three sisters in England.

Funeral was held from the Tierney Funeral Home, Napanee, thence to St. Mary Magdalene Church for service on Monday, March 25th. Rev. W. Simpson officiated.

Bearers were: Stanley Shelley Jr., Rodney Lloyd, John Speed, Neil Gulik, Donald Shelley Jr. and Douglas Thompson.

Interment Riverview cemetery.

JOHN CHARLES WILLSHIRE

The funeral service of John Charles Willshire was held from the A. E. Gould Funeral Home, 80 Highland Avenue, on Monday, April 1st. Service was conducted by the chapel by Archdeacon A. S. McConnell.

Bearers were: Ken Pervis, Jack Mole, Al Whitmore, Bob Fowler, Orliff Sharp and Gerald Blakely.

Interment at Zion Hill cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM J. KILPATRICK
Madoc

Lifelong resident of the Madoc district, Mrs. Elizabeth Helena Kilpatrick of Madoc died suddenly on Tuesday in Madoc at the home of her daughter Mrs. Albert Yearwood. She was in her 81st year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sargent, she was born at Eldorado but had lived in Madoc for nearly 40 years where she was a member of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church. She was active in church work when health permitted and was well known and highly respected in the district. She attended school at Eldorado.

Predeceased by her husband, William J. Kilpatrick, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Albert (Sadie) Yearwood of Madoc, three grandchildren and eight great grandchildren, also a brother Robert Sargent of Homewood, Manitoba. One daughter, three brothers and a sister predeceased her.

MRS. JOSEPH BROWN

In ill health for the past year, Mrs. Ellen Harriett Brown passed away at her home, 30½ Dingman Street, Belleville, on Tuesday. She was in her 90th year.

Born in London, England, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terry. Her husband, Joseph Brown, predeceased her.

She had lived in this locality since 1907 after moving here from England. She was the last of her family.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Larry (Florence Alice) Pellitt of R. R. 7, Belleville and two sons, Frederick Joseph of Belleville and George Charles of Ottawa. Also surviving are four grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

She was a member of Christ Church.

IN MEMORIAM

GOYER — In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Frank Goyer, who passed away April 3rd, 1962.
We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of
Are few indeed we find.
Just loved to dear,
Always remembered by wife and family.

POSTE — In loving memory of our dear son who passed away April 3, 1962.
I cannot say and will not say,
That he is dead, he is just away;
God took the stars from the skies,
And left the lights in our eyes.
He met the reaper by her smile,
And she was taken with a smile.
All too soon He took her hand,
And led her to the Promised Land,
But we'll think of her always.
As the years go by,
She'll never be dead, she is just away.
Always remembered and sadly missed by Revel, Roy, Doug, Ila and Debby.

ACCIDENTS ARE COSTLY

TORONTO (CP) — Occupational accidents in Canada in 1961 cost $320,000,000, R. G. D. Anderson, general manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, writes in the first issue of the Occupational Safety magazine. He says in 1961 money spent on hospital, medical and compensation costs by Canada's workmen's compensation boards alone was $110,500,000.

Kiwanians Entertain Key Clubbers

Members of the B.C.I. and V.S. Key Club highlighted the Kiwanis noon hour luncheon meeting held Tuesday at the Kiwanis Centre when their services were auctioned. This is an annual event for the 15 Key Club members during their services for odd jobs around the home on weekends and holidays.

Al Drysdale, a past president of the Kiwanis Club, was the guest speaker and spoke to the club about the Ontario Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

The speaker enlightened the audience on the functions of the council and what their aims and objectives were.

Mr. Drysdale said rapid changes were being made in the economy field as to ideas and opinions, which would encourage a higher level of employment and growth.

The speaker said the main function of the council was to prepare and present recommendations in regards to these problems to the government.

He stated that the government could not correct the economic problem by itself and that national control would seem even more difficult. Some people suggest, he said, that we need more government control.

Concluding his address Mr. Drysdale said that the problems in Northern Ontario have not been ignored. He said roads and air service had been improved and the log tax has been removed.

The speaker was introduced by Kiwanian Loree McDonald and thanked by Kiwanian Rob Collins.

Approximately 35 members attended the meeting.

RCAF Veterans Put Spotlight On Civic Issues

A group of Belleville air force veterans are thinking in terms of mushroom — and it has nothing to do with nuclear weapons. Quite the contrary in fact.

Belleville Wing 418 of the Royal Canadian Air Force Association is turning its attention to boosting interest in civic issues.

It takes off on the project Thursday night at Trenton when its regular monthly meeting is addressed by Belleville assessment commissioner Leighton Thompson.

"If we get it started, we hope it will take on with other clubs and organizations," said one association member.

The idea is to emphasize civic betterment through knowledge of municipal affairs. If the idea were taken up by other community groups and service clubs on a regular basis, this object might be accomplished, the association feels.

"Every month we hope to invite members of council, civic administrators, even candidates who ran for election and may have lost, to get their ideas," said the spokesman.

"If there are any corrections needed to bettering the community we will be acquainted with the reasons, and may be better able to play our part as citizens."

Swallows Put Brakes on Hands of Time

It looked like an organized effort on the part of the "Swallows' Local No. 5394@9746" to halt the hands of time.

They figured that birds on the hand are worth more than clocks in the bush.

"Give us a hand" they chirped as they divided the main hand for their purposes.

Each gaggle zoomed into position atop the minute hand on all four faces of the city's venerable Big Ben.

Four ancient "mugs" grimaced with the extra weight. The swallows chattered merrily about "Backward, Turn Time" as they applied the feathered brakes to the one-hand merry-go-rounds.

Slower and slower the hands moved. The swallows had a ball until their ancient steeds began to assume a dangerous angle.

Fifty-two swallows do not make a spring, but they "sprung" the city hall timepiece out of thirty minutes by the clock.

Then like their biddy-birdy buddies of Capistrano they rose as by a given signal.

As they flew away leaving the Old Ben a half-hour in arrears, they were heard to chirp:

March Building Permits Value Was $267,250

A total of 34 building permits, including 12 for new dwellings, were issued at city hall during March according to building inspector Grant Stickle.

The value of permits issued was $267,250.

Topping the month's building list total was a permit for the first phase of the new Holy Trinity Lutheran Church on Victoria Ave. at $50,000, and an increase in the permit for a new motor hotel at 425 North Front Street, from $165,000 to $205,000. The original permit for the motor hotel was taken out last summer but building is not expected to commence until sewer services are extended into the North Front Street area.

Condition of Crash Victim Still Critical

No inquest has yet been announced into the two-car crash south of Madoc Saturday that killed two Belleville youths and critically injured a third.

Instantly killed in the accident were Lawrence Ryan and John Willshire, both 19.

Meantime, the condition of 20-year-old Robert Golka, was still listed as critical this morning, at Toronto's East General Hospital, where he was transferred Monday.

Golka's family, resident at 112 Pinnacle Street, said this morning he was still unconscious.

Moira S. S. P. S. Class Holds Banquet

On Monday at 7.30 p.m. the members of Mr. Holland's Vocational Evening Class in Public Speaking of Moira Secondary School, held their graduation dinner at Johnny's banquet room at the Plaza.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Alex Stoughton and the guest speaker was Bruce Alexander, whose topic was "Automatic Vending Machines."

A special thanks goes to those of the class who helped make this occasion a success.

PROPOSES SWEEP

Canada's Foreign Exchange Reserves Rose in March

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's foreign exchange reserves rose $5,200,000 in March to reach $2,600,100,000 in U.S. dollar terms at the end of the month, Finance Minister Nowlan announced today.

Official holdings of gold and U.S. dollars in the exchange fund account on Feb. 28, 1963, amounted to $2,592,900,000.

Foreign exchange reserves were at a record $2,662,500,000 on Jan. 31, on the eve of the current election campaign—more than $1,000,000,000 greater than at the start of the 1962 campaign.

Last year's campaign was marked by the government's move to peg the Canadian dollar at 92½ cents in U.S. funds early in the campaign, and a subsequent loss of more than $300,000,000 in the reserve fund, which brought on the austerity program announced June 24.

Plan New ICBM To Deal With Hardened Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is developing an advanced Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile which would have four times the "kill" ability of present models against below - ground enemy missile bases.

This was disclosed by the air force Tuesday when it was asked Secretary Gilpatric gives to Congress concerning an improved Minuteman, projected future strength of the U.S. nuclear deterrent power.

The improved accuracy would be highly significant as Russia emplaces more and more of its missiles in "hardened" protected underground bases.

Explorer-17 Satellite Now in Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Explorer-17 satellite sailed into an egg-shaped orbit today and within two days its sensitive instruments were expected to collect more information about the earth's atmosphere than all the knowledge gained through its centuries.

The 410-pound ball of instruments vaulted skyward Tuesday night atop a three-stage Delta rocket. The launching success was the 18th straight for the reliable Delta.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported good quality signals were being received from the flying laboratory as it circled the world every 96 minutes in an orbit ranging from 100 to 370 miles high.

Eight measuring instruments encased in the satellite's stainless steel shell were to record the amount of helium, oxygen and nitrogen gases, neutral particles and electron and ion temperatures and densities. Comparison of the data would help scientists construct a fairly complete chart of the density, composition, temperatures and pressures of the atmosphere at a time when solar activity has a minimum influence.

Moira Students Take Tour of Deloro Stellite

Monday afternoon, Deloro Stellite and the newly formed International Precision Casting Co. Ltd., occupying part of Deloro's premises, were hosts to the Grade II Technical Class of Moira Secondary School specializing in machine shop, electricity and draughting. Staff members Else, Russell, Comsings and Slavin accompanied the students.

The party was welcomed by Mr. Jack Olaveson, head of Deloro's Engineering Department, who then introduced them to the four guides; Messrs. Healdy, Green, Aitchison and Berkshire of Deloro, and Mr. Joe Doyle from I.P.C.

The group, numbering close to fifty, was split into six parties and began the tour in Deloro's "pig-room" where the raw materials for "Stellite" are kept. From here the parties moved through the foundry where they were shown how the mould-making, casting, pouring and cut-off procedures are carried out. Following this they toured the finishing room where the final close tolerance grinding and machining is done. They were shown the inspection department where they saw how a final check is made before the product can be shipped to the ultimate user. They were also shown through Deloro's heat-treating and draughting departments.

The tour of I.P.C. began in the wax room where the wax patterns are injected into dies, clustered, dipped in a ceramic slurry and stuccoed with fine sand; the resultant shells are dried in humidity controlled drying cabinets. Dewaxing of shells is accomplished by firing at elevated temperatures; prior to receiving the molten metal, the shells may be preheated from room temperature to 1900o F. plus. The castings then are knocked out, cleaned, cut off, rough inspected, then processed through the finishing department. Following this, the castings are sent to the inspection department for final checking and here it was explained to the group the various inspection procedures necessary such as X-Ray and Zyglo.

Following the tours of Deloro and I.P.C. the group then met in the plant's cafeteria where Mr. J. C. Beeston, general manager, elaborated on the tour and stressed the need for higher education in the world today.

Troops Blast Huge Ice Jam Near Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Army troops using dynamite blasted a channel 150 feet wide through a massive ice jam Tuesday eliminating further flood threats to stricken communities areas southwest of Montreal.

Families evacuated Sunday at the height of the flooding, began trooping back to their water-logged homes in the hard-hit areas of Chateauguay, Joliette, Lachute, Ormstown, Howick and Chambly.

"The operation is completed," Mayor Clement Boutfard said. "The channel opened by our troops is wide enough to permit the free flow of water and ice down the river, and the danger is over."

Management Club Hears 3 Speakers

Mr. S. L. Shippam, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, spoke to 60 members and guests of the Quinte Chapter of the Industrial Management Clubs of Canada, at the monthly dinner meeting at Columbus hall, here.

He dealt thoroughly with his subject, "The Effective Supervisor and His Place in Community Affairs."

"Any opportunity," he said "to better our lot in a changing world system must be explored fully, there is no place for complacency and 'side-line spectators' in the industrial world, neither is there any room for these traits in community life. As we progress in the one, we must keep pace with the other."

President Bill Gander introduced Mr. Lee Grills, Progressive Conservative candidate in Hastings South, who gave the group a well rounded informative talk on the aims and accomplishments of his party.

The group was then given a short history on flying by Mr. and Mrs. R. Dumond of the Quinte Aqua Divers, together with views of equipment and photographs of divers at work and play.

Sleeping Man Saved From Fire

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Fergus Hogan, 48 was rescued from a raging house fire Tuesday night by several men who found him sleeping on a bed and pulled him out a back window.

Mr. Hogan, who escaped the smoldering blaze was taken to hospital for a checkup and then released.

Youths Charged With Break-in Are Remanded

TRENTON — In magistrate's court at Trenton on Tuesday, John Hugh Gerrard, 19, and Terrence Charles Jones, 16, charged with breaking and entering the Morris-Parker plant, were remanded for one week by Magistrate T. Y. Wills. Bail was set at $400, cash.

Gregory Butler, who is representing Jones, told the magistrate that he had also been asked to represent Maclaness but was not sure that he could do so, because of conflict of interests.

Vincent Read Currie, 29, of R. R. 2, Trenton, was fined $150, and ordered to pay costs of $11.50 for impaired driving.

Constable Mark Holden told the court that he had chased the car driven by the accused down Dundas Street East on the night of Feb. 24, at speeds which exceeded 65 mph. Currie said in the witness box that he "couldn't possibly be going 65 miles an hour", and a friend, who had been riding in the car with Currie, told the court that he was sure Currie had only been travelling at between 30 and 35 miles an hour.

Magistrate Wills said that he could hardly discredit the statement of Constable Holden. The magistrate, however, agreed with Crown Attorney John A. Pringle that the charge could be reduced from drunk driving to impaired driving.

British Jail Cuban Exiles At Nassau

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Sixteen Cuban exile raiders who set out last week on a raiding mission against Cuba were sent to jail Tuesday for seven days pending investigation by British territorial department of municipal affairs.

They were charged with possessing firearms without a license in Bahamas waters.

Police Prosecutor Wilton Boyd said Buchanan was released in $70 bond and his case was adjourned on condition that he leave the Bahamas by Friday.

Oshawa Names City Treasurer

OSHAWA (CP)—Frank Markson has taken over as city treasurer. He succeeds the late Harold Tripp who held the post for 20 years before his death last November.

Mr. Markson was senior finance officer of Ottawa for three years. Prior to that he was a supervisor with the Ontario department of municipal affairs.

COST $853,000

TORONTO (CP) — A subway fire here last week caused more than $683,000 damage, it was learned Tuesday. Damage to six cars that completed an 18-minute run after the fire started was $853,192—three quarters of it covered by insurance.

Foamy Problem

Eisenhauer has reported the makings of a major victory.

This one may make it possible to cross not only the Rhine but any number river without getting into a lather about it.

No, our spelling is not in error and we are not almost two decades behind the news.

The Eisenhauer we are talking about is a Canadian, Dr. Hugh R., of the research centre at du Pont of Canada Ltd. plant at Kingston. Ad. dressing the water and waste chemistry division of the American Chemical Society at Los Angeles, Dr. Eisenhauer reported the discovery of a simple method of breaking down a foaming agent, alkyl benesene sulfonate, used in detergents.

It is too early to whip up a froth of real enthusiasm over this discovery, for like many another product of the laboratory the process apparently needs considerable adaptation before it can be put to commercial use. Still, those entrusted with the responsibility of designing and operating sewage disposal plants can breathe a little easier. There is hope they will not see their best efforts to rid our lakes and streams of pollution lost in a cloud of foam.

Like many another solution to a problem, however, this one may create a new problem. Dr. Eisenhauer reports that the cost of raw materials used in the new process is estimated at less than 50 cents to treat 1,000 gallons of water. But we have a suspicion that the necessary equipment may be considerably costly, for while he talks of its possible uses by laundries and car washing establishments, there is no mention made of use in the home. And we would guess that the aggregate of detergent-tainted water which is dumped into sewers from the homes of the average community would exceed by a considerable amount that discharged by commercial establishments.

Perhaps, however, some method can be designed for using the process after the detergents enter the sewers. But it is really too early to speculate. All we can hope is that any obstacles to the full utilisation of the du Pont discovery will come out in the wash.

On Soaking the Rich

As a leading U.S. economist recently observed, the "soak the rich" philosophy behind the graduated income tax looks considerably more efficient and effective than it actually is.

To prove this point, he notes that all the money the U.S. treasury collects at rates in excess of 50% is barely sufficient to keep the government going for four consecutive days.

The Canadian tax collector, it should be pointed out, isn't doing very much better than his colleague south of the border. In 1960 the taxes levied on all of the Canadian taxpayers with incomes over $50,000 still only added up to just $100 million—an amount grossly insufficient to cover the combined deficit of the CBC and CNR that year.

As the U.S. economist says, soaking the rich through punitive tax rates doesn't really raise a significant amount of revenue. What it does do is to dilute the incentive to create the new capital —a mainspring on which the continued rapid expansion of growth and prosperity in an enterprise economy so urgently depends.

Heaven Help Us

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police have recently issued a booklet on crime prevention which will undoubtedly prove to be an asset to Canadians in the protection of their property. This could hardly be termed a significant contribution to Canadian literature even although verse is used throughout to highlight certain points.

An example is the opening gambit:

"There is something strange about automobiles,
They're more in demand than all else on wheels;
If a thief has none and that craving he feels Beware!
It may be yours he steals."

Canada obviously lacks poetic policemen. Let us hope, however, that we shall have poetic justice.

Poets are sensitive—they couldn't write poems if they weren't. But other people are sensitive too. Perhaps the only obvious way in which a poet is really different from other people is that he is articulate. He has the power of language, he can shape poetic forms, he can invent music. Gifts like these bear their own suffering and responsibilities.—British poet Elizabeth Jennings.

Servants to Shasta

By BASIL DEAN In The Edmonton Journal

We own a cat by the name of Shasta. No, that isn't quite right; we'd better start again.

My family and I live in a house which is owned by, and which operates for the sole benefit and comfort of, a cat named Shasta. We are permitted to live in this house so long as our lives are so ordered as to fit in with Shasta's routine.

Shasta is a pure white Persian, with yellow eyes (hence her name). We did not acquire her; she acquired us.

One day, about seven years ago, in Calgary, we were sitting in the garden, with a few friends. Through the grass came a young white cat, which promptly made a bee - line for my wife, uttering affectionate noises. Since my wife has no resistance to this sort of thing, the cat was shortly thereafter wrapping itself around a large bowl of cream.

She showed no intention of leaving, and although we watched the lost and found column for a few days, nothing appeared to be looking for a white Persian cat, so she has been with us ever since.

During the intervening seven years, our household routine has gradually been altered to suit the cat. The slightest change in the established pattern now leads to unutterable misery, I am sure, and the single fact is that none of us has the courage to resist Shasta's haughty and supercilious stare.

She is, first and foremost, a character. For example, she will eat nothing, repeat nothing, for breakfast except fish, or canned salmon (fancy quality, that is), chopped lettuce and chopped carrots. That is correct — cucumber.

This must be administered in the right proportions. If the cucumber is missing, the meal will not be touched. If there is not enough salmon, she will turn in cold stares and rude noises.

But this is only for breakfast. For the rest of the day, with four or five additional meals, depending on the mood her ladyship is in), she will eat raw calves' heart. Calves' heart is sometimes difficult to obtain, and it is an eloquent tribute to the extent to which Shasta has succeeded in organizing the Dean household for her convenience that my wife will often spend more than exasperation for calves' hearts than she spends selecting the weekend joint for the human members of the family.

Of course, a little snack between times is not always spurned. The choice tends to be eccentric: a few French ice-cream perhaps or one or two Barbecue Thin biscuits, or a potato-chip or even a piece of cheese. And no milk; only cream.

Under no circumstances are scraps from the table ever acceptable. These are sniffed and coldly pushed to the floor. Buried.

On special occasions, she welcomes a package of sole fillets and has even been known to show some slight sign of gratitude for same.

As far as the other four members of the household are concerned, she dispenses her favors in strict order of priority. My wife is unmistakably the favorite, followed in close order son, followed (at some considerable distance) by my younger son; as for me, I am absolutely beneath very little use for me at all.

I receive no welcoming gestures when I get home, except when I happen to be wearing a dark tweed suit which picks up white cat hairs very easily. When I am wearing this suit, she will rub me ankle ardently around my legs. I do not much like the smug look on her face as she does it.

Unlike dogs, which habitually do things which they think their masters will approve, cats are much too proud and self-centred for this kind of hypocrisy.

I do not think it is true, as some people say, that they are wholly without affection, but they display it only for good and sufficient reasons.

But cats cannot bear to have your attention diverted from them, if they want your attention.

My wife has only to sit down with the newspaper or magazine, and Shasta is immediately on her lap, unnecessary pushing the newspaper out of the way.

If we both sit in the kitchen after breakfast drinking coffee, the cat will climb all over her, mainly I think because she is talking to me. If she sits in the kitchen drinking coffee alone, this performance usually does not occur.

During the warm weather, she patrols the front garden and no dog, however big, is permitted to set foot off the sidewalk. The back is arched, the tail is raised, and the dog, if he is prudent, takes off for the tall timber.

In the winter, she eats and sleeps — and that is all.

As I say, the whole household revolves around her needs and her imperious desires. And I do not know what we should do without her.

State Rulers Often Deal In Mediocrity

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

While I was visiting in the East recently, I spent a day with a friend of mine who had just returned from a two-day trip to his state capital. He is a business executive who was involved in some proposed legislation for his group.

"This trip did one thing for me," he remarked ruefully at lunch. "It made me think twice about the old slogan of 'state's rights' that sounds so appealing to those of us who are alarmed about Federal power."

"What do you mean by that?" I asked.

"It was the first time I'd had a glimpse of a statehouse in action," he explained. "It was appalling and depressing — and I'm sure that my state isn't any different, or any worse, than others.

"Depressing in what way?" I asked to know.

"In every way," he said. "In the calibre of men we have sent to the legislature, in the atmosphere of intrigue and deals and moral shabbiness. In the dullness and aseptiness of the whole political situation there, in both parties."

"Didn't you see any positive aspects?" I inquired.

"Of course," he said, "there are a few men there of character and intelligence; I don't mean to make a blanket indictment. But the general level was so low, the self-serving was so obvious, the ignorance and greed and provincialism so overpowering, that I left before I really should have."

"And what experience secured you on state's rights?" I asked.

"It certainly made me ponder the question. After all, government isn't an abstraction. It's run by men — by the men in Washington, whichever party is in power, are of a distinctly higher calibre. Some of the bills proposed, and actually got to the point of passage, are incredible. I can tell you about a few of them."

I listened to his doleful tale, and was able to reciprocate by telling him that my glorious state of Illinois had recently approved a bill that would outlaw flying the United Nations flag on public buildings in the state. A harmless piece of mischief, but highly indicative of the sort of mental rigidity that passes for "patriotism" in so many state legislatures.

It may be true that the states must guard against Federal encroachments of their rights; but when a relatively large question raises itself, who is then to guard us against the inanities, if not worse, of our statehouse politicians?

Automation Is Outranked

South Bend Tribune

While some people are feeling the job displacement impact of automation, Detroit bartenders, according to a news item that came to our attention, are running into a tough economic nut that has nothing to do with machinery.

A bartenders union official makes this gripe: "Bar owners hire a young girl, dress her in a revealing costume, and out goes an older bartender who in most cases is a family breadwinner."

The official estimates the practice has cost 300 Detroit bartenders their jobs.

Human nature being what it is, we suspect that the displaced bartenders can't expect much help from fellow males to discourage the practice.

Our sympathy rushes out to them. What else can one say?

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

April 3rd, 1943.

Late Friday night city police received an anonymous telephone call to the effect that an attempt to break into Woodcott's Bridge Street Jewellery store was in progress. Accordingly Cpl. C. J. Wallace and Constable Art Means of the Ontario Volunteer Police, Constable Taylor hastened to the scene. Arriving first, the last named officer found a man standing in the doorway of the store and the door window shattered. The man revealed apprehension and ran easterly into the alleyway west of the Post Office where P.C. Taylor caught up with him. The latter's right hand struck the man a blow on the face with his fist. But with drawn revolver and after more persuading the man to surrender, P.C. Taylor finally brought him down by hitting him on the side of the head with his drawn pistol. The man then surrendered and was escorted to the police station.

Third blood donation buttons amounting to 1,000 were presented to city and district donors at a large clinic held at the Kiwanis Centre on Saturday when 146 donations were given. Mr. G. Mitchell of Warkworth, received a silver button upon giving his sixth contribution. Eighty-three of the donors came from outside points with the remainder coming from the city itself.

30 YEARS AGO

April 3rd, 1933.

Mrs. Fred Lafoy and children have left to join Mr. Lafoy at Stayner, Ont., where he is now engaged in the Inland Revenue office of the Customs Department. He was transferred from the Belleville office to Stayner in March.

There is a training in this district for organizations known as the "Belleville Male Chorus" which bids fair to become one of the leading organizations in this province. Mr. Ross Hunter is the conductor; Mr. Leo Riggs, accompanist; Mr. Alec Gordon, assistant accompanist; Mr. Harry Mooreman, president and general manager; and Mr. Cyril Waite, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Aline Ketcheson has returned to Kingston after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ketcheson in this city.

Mr. Bert Salisbury is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Aileene Craig of Roslin spent the weekend with Miss Velma Chapman on George Street.

Dr. and Mrs. I. V. Irwin have returned to Montreal after visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. C. Asselstine, Murney St.

Dr. Porte Marshall was home from Windsor, Ont., to spend the weekend.

40 YEARS AGO

April 3rd, 1923.

Mr. Elsworth Mastin and family have returned home from Florida where they spent the winter.

Mr. Joseph Imlah is on a business trip to Toronto, Woodstock and London.

Messrs. Sidenius and J. Alexander will attend the Y.M.C.A. convention in Hamilton tomorrow.

Mr. Jack Oulette is spending a few days at his home in Fenelon Falls.

Mr. John Miles of the Grand Trunk Railway staff at Ottawa, has returned home after visiting his parents at their home on College Hill.

Mr. Reginald G. Geen is home on a short visit.

To Your Good Health

Many Women Still Neglect To Have a "Pap" Test

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

If you know what a "Pap smear is," today's remarks may not be for you.

There is evidence that millions don't know. Yet this simple test is, perhaps more than any other single thing, responsible for preventing half the deaths from cancer of the uterus. And it ought to prevent more deaths; it can.

At Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, doctors started the practice of asking this test in every woman admitted to the obstetrics and gynecology sections.

Of 3,697 tests, they found 261 showing evidences of cancer, 43 per cent of them cases so early that there was absolutely no visible sign. Such early cases come very close to being 100 per cent curable.

The percentage of cancers found at Jackson Memorial is very considerably larger than would be the case in the general population, simply for the proportion of the patients were there because they already were obviously ill, so there were suspicious symptoms.

One survey showed that among women in general having the test, cancer was found about six times in each 1,000. That is enough to mean 40,000 cases a year.

Yet somewhere near half of American women still haven't heard about the Pap test's value in saving lives from cancer: 23,000,000 of them, a study by the American Cancer Society estimates.

The test is simple, economical and painless. The doctor uses a small spatula to take a sample or, "smear" of mucous fluid at the cervix, or opening of the uterus or womb. Under a microscope, abnormal (cancerous) cells become visible. That's all.

The test was named after its discoverer, the late Dr. George N. Papanicolau who died only a little while ago and thus lived long enough to know that a great many thousands of lives' had been saved.

If every woman had such a test periodically, it is felt that deaths from cancer of the uterus could be reduced to almost zero. Since 14,000 American women died of this disease last year alone, isn't that reason enough to keep spreading the word about the "Pap smear"?

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a grandson, now attending college. He has not been well for a couple of weeks and the doctors say he has mononucleosis and that there is no treatment.

— F. H.

You sound as though you fear that this may be the end of the world. Well, relax friend. It's true that there is no specific treatment for mononucleosis, but it is what we call a self-limiting disease, and not at all uncommon on college campuses. Rest and nourishing food are about all the treatment there is, but presently the patient is back to normal.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain the problems faced in a first pregnancy where the mother's blood is Rh negative and the father's is positive?

— C.M.

Possibly some at all, unless by a prior transfusion or some such means the mother has become sensitized. For subsequent pregnancies there may (or may not) be difficulties.

The doctor obviously is already alert to the situation, and will be ready for whatever measures, if any, are needed. The situation, scientifically, is so complex that I hesitate to tackle a discussion of it. Will it suffice for me to tell you that it has happened many times before, and now the attention known what to do about it?

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Intelligencer Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., for a copy of "Diabetes Yesterday — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed sgvelope and 30 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

The Pony Express service was launched between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., 103 years ago today—in 1860. Riders and horses travelled in relays and cut the mail time from 30 or 40 days by stagecoach to only 14 days. The Pony Express was replaced in October, 1861, with the completion of the transcontinental telegraph. The express gained a reputation for daring and service in spite of rough riding conditions, weather and attack by Indians.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For old times' sake, I recently had occasion to try to buy a corsage consisting of a bunch of violets and an American Beauty rosebud in the midst. At the first shop, it was astonished to find that the request was offered but no perfume whatever, unless it was that of the florist's shop located. The sword, which Samuel de Champlain, whose route from Georgian Bay in 1615 was down the Otonabee and Trent River systems. The sword is therefore symbolic of the first historic record of the region, as well as the unusual lain. The shield as a whole, by qualities in the and Canadiits relation to the coat of arms of Peterborough, reflects a relationship with the community which the founders of the University hope will develop. In the consideration of the coat of arms committee and the Board of Governors of the University, the symbols in the coat of arms seem appropriate ones for Trent University.

If you are concerned that the pen is mightier than the sword, I hope you will take comfort in the fact that Samuel de Champlain could use both with dexterity.

Explains Symbolism Of College Crest

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer

I have just recently seen your editorial of March 12, 1963 titled "Curious Symbol," which questions the symbolism of the coat of arms of Trent University May I be allowed to comment on the origin of the coat of arms?

The shield is adapted from the shield of the City of Peterborough to which the University is to have its home. The three wavy blue lines are, as you suggest, symbolic of the Trent waterway and the Otonabee River, on which the peninsula part of the University is located. The sword, which Samuel de Champlain, whose route from Georgian Bay in 1615 was down the Otonabee and Trent River systems. PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was firm with offerings inadequate for a fair demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture as Canada grade eggs, delivered Toronto, in fibre cases: A large 45; A medium 43; A small 38; B and C grades no market.

Butter prices: Canada first grade: Ontario tenderable 51-52; non-tenderable 51¼-51½, in light trading; Western 51-52 (nominal).

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Receipts were lighter and prices steady on all classes and grades of slaughter cattle at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Veal calf prices were steady. Hog prices were steady and sheep and lambs were too few to establish prices.

Spring Work Said Earliest In Many Years

The absence of deep frost allowing the spring run-off to soak in and the ground thus drying quickly has resulted in one of the earliest starts for spring work in years.

David Hollinger of the Oak Hills district in Sidney township was cultivating the ground before the end of March and on April 1st, April Fool's Day, finished sowing his first first of oats.

Mr. Hollinger already has another 10 acre field cultivated and ready for sowing. He also has potatoes planted.

Commenting on the spring season generally Mr. Hollinger said winter wheat looks good, apparently having wintered well while new seeding also looked promising.

Ontario Govt. Review in Error

"Ontario Industrial Review 1962" to the contrary, Wilson Concrete Products Ltd. of Belleville hasn't built a branch plant at Omemee.

This was made clear today by an official of Wilson Concrete who said his firm had not even contemplated a branch plant at Omemee.

That the Belleville firm had established a branch plant in the Peterborough-Lindsay area was stated in an editorial appearing in The Ontario Intelligencer on Tuesday. The information was taken from the "Ontario Industrial Review 1962" issued by the Ontario Department of Economics and Development.

Following appearance of the editorial, the Belleville firm was contacted by the provincial sales tax branch wanting to know why the department had not been advised of the branch plant operation.

Authority Will Request Government Aid

Government assistance under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act for the purchase of marginal and submarginal agricultural land for reforestation purposes will be asked by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

Herbert F. Crown, director, Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Branch, last week outlined the act to executive members of the Moira Conservation Authority and suggested ways in which the Authority might participate.

He recommended that the Authority submit a brief requesting authorization for a project to purchase marginal lands and that a survey be conducted to determine where and how projects for the development and conservation of water supplies for agricultural purposes could be established.

Authority Chairman George Wishart said the plan could step up the Authority's reforestation progam.

act."

"The most dangerous thing I ever experienced in all my years of flying," said Green, a wartime ferry pilot, on landing in West Berlin.

WAS CLOSE CALL

"They were only 15 feet away and rocked my plane as they passed," Green told a press conference. "They went under my plane, over it and all around it."

"We were only three minutes away from our landing at the British base at Gatow when they fired. If any of those shells had hit us we wouldn't be here now."

Green, 42, was on his way to entertain British troops in Berlin. He was accompanied by a navigator, Clifford Laxton, 24, and a British newspaper man, Jim Preston.

His flight over Communist East Germany had been registered in advance with the Soviets, who along with the Americans, British and French jointly control the air routes.

Allied officials said the Russians protested that private planes have no right to fly to West Berlin in a corridor. Western officials said any aircraft registered with them can use the airlanes reserved for them.

British-born, Green went to Canada at the age of seven. His father's family now lives in the Prince Albert, Sask., area. He was posted to the RAF Ferry Command in 1943 and made some 40 North Atlantic crossings. After the war he ferried planes across the Atlantic as a civilian while working on his radio program.

Douglas Says Atlantic Board Merely Insult

By BEN WARD

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—T. C. Douglas wound up his final Eastern Canada swing of the election campaign Tuesday with a parting shot at the Atlantic Development Board, a slap at Liberal campaign methods and a pledge that a New Democratic Party government would end unemployment and economic stagnation.

The 58-year-old NDP leader, whose party held 19 seats in the last Parliament, also repeated his prediction that a minority overnment will be elected April 8. He said the NDP would support the largest group in the Commons if it showed a willingness to do something to get the economy moving again.

He held two press conferences en route here from Montreal, met 105 party workers at a dinner and spoke to 550 persons Tuesday night at an area rally for NDP candidates.

Today he flies to Vancouver for a major west coast rally. His final election pitches will be made to Vancouver and Winnipeg meetings.

Mr. Douglas said the Atlantic Development Board which the Conservative government established last December has five part - time members who will meet only four or five times a year and no money to do anything.

To pass the board off as the answer to the economic problems of the Atlantic region was "an insult to the intelligence of the public."

What was needed was Atlantic and national economic development boards with full-time members armed with the powers of real economic planning and a fund to carry out needed development programs.

"The most serious defect in this board is its lack of funds to carry out projects." The nations of Western Europe had achieved remarkable results with such boards by putting financial resources at their disposal.

Mr. Douglas said earlier that he believes money from the United States is helping to swell Liberal party campaign funds.

He told a press conference it is his personal belief that Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. corporations have made big donations to the Liberal fund.

"These are the indications I get," he said in a reply to a question.

Mr. Douglas said the Liberals obviously have a lot of money for this campaign "and it has turned out to be more a liability than an asset."

Some of the money had been used to hire big public relations companies. These felt they had to do something to earn their money and came up with "Madison Avenue gimmicks like the truth squad, coloring books and the like."

Liberal Party May Make Land Burnt Sacrifice

- - Diefenbaker

By ARCH MacKENZIE

COWANSVILLE, Que. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker, making his final pitch for Quebec support in Monday's general election, suggested Tuesday that Liberal party nuclear policy may make Canada a "burnt sacrifice" to Russian missiles.

Today, he pushed into the former Progressive Conservative bastion of Toronto where last year the party retained only three of the 18 seats.

He will spend the rest of the week in search of votes in Ontario, the province with the most seats—85—at stake Monday.

The Conservatives won 14 of Quebec's 75 seats last year, down sharply from 50 in 1958. They retained 35 in Ontario.

Mr. Diefenbaker wound up his Quebec campaign at a beansupper here in the Eastern Townships' Brome - Missisquoi riding where Heward Grafftey seeks re-election.

His first stop Tuesday was at Dorion, about 25 miles west of Montreal in Vaudreuil - Soulanges riding, where Marcel Bourbonnais is running again.

BE A SACRIFICE?

To about 200 lunch-time listeners in a park, he said in reference to Liberal party policy to arm Canadian weapons with nuclear warheads: "Are they going to make Canada into a burnt sacrifice?"

That was what Defence Secretary McNamara of the United States "quite frankly points out" in recently-published testimony about the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile at North Bay and La Macaza, Que.

McNamara had said the missiles would draw Russian intercontinental ballistic fire "but what happens to you?"

The government had never given any undertaking to accept nuclear warheads. The Bomarc plan, McNamara's evidence was a useless weapon although it had served a purpose a few years ago when the manned bomber rather than the ICBM was the main threat.

The Prime Minister sounded the same theme later at an afternoon rally in eastern Montreal in support of Georges Valade, seeking re-election in Montreal Ste. Marie. He was the only Conservative elected last June on Montreal Island.

HEARD BY 700

There were about 700 on hand and 900 chairs set up.

He said of himself and his rival Premier Lesage of Quebec, who's loyal to accept nuclear arms: "No one was ever condemned more directly—condemned with in the party and without."

He also took another swipe at has departed from provincial political tradition by interven-

Thompson Says Govt. Flouts Parliament

EDMONTON (CP) — Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson has charged the federal government with flouting the rights of Parliament.

"What worries many people is that important government decisions have been and are still being made without regard to Parliament, the elected representatives of the people," he told a standing-room crowd of 2,800 Tuesday night in Edmonton's magnificent Jubilee Auditorium.

The Social Credit chieftain overrode persistent but mostly incoherent heckling in pounding home his favorite theme that the Conservative and Liberal parties have failed Canada, and that Social Credit deserves a chance to show what it can do.

The crowd, obviously on his side, spurred him on with frequent applause, and at the end of his speech gave him a standing ovation.

For the second night in a row, Mr. Thompson had on the platform with him Social Credit Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta, who has swung his full energy and support behind the national leader in the April 8 federal election.

Mr. Manning also appeared with Mr. Thompson Monday night in Red Deer.

SUPPORTS CANDIDATES

Tuesday night's rally was staged in support of Social Credit candidates in the three ridings of Edmonton, where the party is going all out to break the solid hold of the Progressive Conservatives.

Mr. Manning told the rally there is a "steady turning away in thinking and action from the old-line parties on the part of Canadians. He denied any split between the Quebec wing of the Social Credit party and the western wing.

Mr. Thompson accused the Conservative government of consistently by-passing Parliament of money supply. It had "wilfully flouted the sacred right of Parliament to review the expenditure of money which has been collected from the people." He concluded his appeal for the election of a Social Credit government with a slogan: "What has been good for Alberta will also be good for Canada."

ing on behalf of the federal Liberals.

The prime minister said Mr. Lesage plans a further intervention through delivery of his budget Friday. He said the intervention will be used to prevent an effective reply — because broadcasting of election campaigning news stops on the weekend 48 hours before voting.

Pearson Pledges Moves to Check Foreign Control

By DON HANRIGHT

WINNIPEG (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson made his most eloquent appeal here Tuesday night for votes to return a stable Liberal majority government which he said would be unafraid of decisions, would put people back to work, and restore confidence.

For the first time, he pledged a federal budget within a month after calling Parliament into session in May and said it would include "a program—this is important—for reversing the present trend towards absentee ownership of Canadian resources and Canadian corporations."

He did not elaborate.

He got a generally friendly, partisan reception from a crowd of about 8,000 that nearly filled the 15,000-seat Winnipeg Arena. About 5,500 jammed into the auditorium here to hear Prime Minister Diefenbaker open his campaign March 4.

Heckling was sporadic, and seldom loud enough to be heard in the huge hockey arena. But booing erupted at the end of Mr. Pearson's speech and a few left the arena, saying they were ignoring the rest.

Some of the boos came when he made the budget promise.

Mr. Pearson, appearing startled, chuckled and said elements in the crowd were "so conditioned to booing and carrying out their instructions that they would boo the programs their own parties are proposing."

Before he arrived at the arena, police intervened in a scuffle at the main entrance between youths and about 25 bush-a - bush demonstrators. One youth tore three signs from their supports in the hands of the pickets.

Soon after Mr. Pearson began his 40-minute speech, policemen quietly searched the crowd after arena authorities got an anonymous phone call that a bomb was timed to go off in the arena at 9 p.m. They found nothing and few in the crowd were aware of the incident.

Today, Mr. Pearson flies to Montreal for a night rally. He will spend Thursday in his own riding of Algoma East and winds up his campaign with a meeting in Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto on Friday night.

NOT AFRAID

"We are not afraid of decisions, difficult though they may be," he said to cheers Tuesday night.

He repeated without amplification that some of these decisions may be unpleasant.

In a sharply-worded attack on Prime Minister Diefenbaker's attitude to defence, Mr. Pearson said the Conservative leader has been irresponsible on this score and instead of detailing his own policy has indulged in "manufactured criticism" of others.

Mr. Pearson again called on Canada to fulfil the commitments undertaken by the Conservative administration — over Liberal objections, he added — and ammunition for the equipment already acquired.

Elaborating on several of his recent pledges, Mr. Pearson said a Liberal government and party will create a special department of industry at Ottawa to work out, industry by industry and area by area, ways of increasing production.

"It will encourage the establishment of new plants and the expansion of existing ones. As inducements, companies will be offered special tax incentives. When these are not enough, the department will be able to arrange for grants and loans to get things going."

Mrs. T. F. Townsend's Music Pupils Present Fine Recital

An interesting welcome, in a rhythmic clap, was given to the more than 100 guests present at the recent annual recital of the pupils of Mrs. T. F. Townsend, R.M.T., held in Holloway Street Church.

Miss Donna Spencer expressed appreciation to their teacher to whom the Misses Diane Brethour and Dixie Motley presented a beautiful lace stole and a fernery, for which Mrs. Townsend warmly thanked the members of the class, both for their loyalty and for the lovely gifts.

In keeping with the Lenten Season the last three numbers were sacred.

A social hour followed the program with Winnifred Parks, Margaret Dryden, Ruth Bailey and Audrey Breathour in charge, assisted by several members of the class.

The program, which follows, was presented in two parts:

"The Year's at the Spring,
The Lark's on the Wing."

White Cane Club Reports Activities

The following is an editorial from the White Cane Chronicle which was written by Clarence Morris and Arlie Scott.

"Now-a-days there is a wide variety of white canes from which a blind person may choose. A cane may be constructed of wood, fibre glass, or aluminum. They may have straight handles or crooked ones and may collapse or remain at one length.

For the best manipulations and protection many are using canes which are long, trim and strong but light.

The Kinette Club of Belleville supplies the canes for all the blind of Hastings County.

At the recreation meeting in the Kiwanis Centre, the White Cane members enjoyed table bowling. The winners for the ladies were: president, Pat Bawtinhimer, Mary Rivers and Vi Waite; for the men: Gerald Maracle, Doug Huffman and Allie Wright.

Holly McMurray assisted with the bowling.

The birthday song was sung for John Towner, Doug Huffman, Allee Smith, Alma Hilton and Alma St. Onge.

Mr. Harold McNish, delighted the members with several vocal numbers with his own piano accompaniment and then played for a sing-song.

Helen Wardhaugh thanked Harold on behalf of the club.

The Kiwanis ladies served a delicious lunch and Vi Waite expressed thanks.

President Pat thanked the Lions for transportation and reminded the members of the annual banquet at the Moose Hall April 25th and at the Trenton Lions Club on May 9th.

Harmony Club Hears Address On 'Retarded'

MARSH HILL — The March meeting of Marsh Hill Harmony Club was held in the Sunday School hall with 19 present and Mrs. Iren Clare as hostess.

Mrs. Charles Rose, president, opened the meeting with a reading, "Remembering."

A letter telling of the executive meeting of the Belleville and Cobourg district Presbytery with her cousin, Mrs. Roy Kleinsteuber and family.

Mrs. Leslie Finkle presided over the following program:

The theme of the Easter Worship Service was being "A Living Hope."

Mrs. Allyn Finkle read the Scripture reading from 1 Cor. 15, 19-22 and 51-57.

Mrs. Leslie Finkle read the meditation and followed with prayer.

Miss Elizabeth Finkle read "Feathered Choir," and Mrs. Don Irish "April Showers."

At this time, Dr. Charles Dondale, who is president of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children, was introduced.

Dr. Dondale opened with a true or false questionaire, and then based his address on these questions.

He gave an informative address telling of some of the work being done by the Association for Retarded Children and also for the retarded adult.

The school and headquarters for the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children is at 281 John Street, Belleville.

Mrs. Finkle thanked Dr. Dondale for his address and taking time from his busy schedule to come to speak to the club.

At this time the Rev. A. Poulter also thanked the guest speaker and said he was pleased to be able to attend the meeting.

Everyone enjoyed a game and two contests.

Refreshments of doughnuts and coffee were furnished by the hostess, and the lunch committee, Mrs. Don Irish and Mrs. Grace Bartindale.

'Oliver Look' Permeates Girls' Fashions This Spring

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP)—The youthful abandon of the "Oliver look" contrasts with the sophistication of the "original look" in spring fashions for teen-age girls and boys.

The Oliver or little-boy look which permeates girls' fashions is achieved by Norfolk jackets with belted backs, straight-cut matchbox coats, suspender skirts, shirt dresses with round collars and big fluffy bows and breton hats in all sizes.

High-cut jackets with natural unpadded shoulders, narrow trousers with no pleats, cut-away coats and close-fitting tapered shirts give young boys the continental look.

Just as in women's fashions set in New York and Paris, emphasis in young girls' styles is also on easy fit, with the shift or skimmer and empire - line dresses being featured.

PASTEL SHADES

Clear pastels in pink, blue or yellow are the basic colors for girls. Many flowered prints appear in blouses, but generally the dramatic, rather wild prints seen in women's fashions are absent from younger styles.

For young men, the color range is broad—blacks, blues, light green, browns and olives in patterns or plain. Reds, yellows, blues and broad banana stripes will dominate boys' sport shirts and cardigans.

Latest in casual fashion for the teen-age male the bonanova pants, in the words of one Toronto fashion consultant, "fit like paper on the wall."

These pants are so slim they don't even allow for a pocket bulge in the hips. Small pockets are fitted into the waistband and they do not have cuffs or pleats.

The bell-bottomed trousers of last summer seem to have had their day. Few will be shown and those will have only slightly-flared bottoms and tightly-tapered tops.

The traditional summer fabric —faded blue denim—dominates the sportswear picture for girls and has even been carried into boys' sports jackets and slacks. Knee-length culottes and wrap-around skirts in denim are featured for girls.

The usual summer favorites—duck pants and shorts in Jamaica length and Bermuda lengths and in plain or printed cottons —are being featured again, usually with matching tops.

Little pop tops which leave midriffs bare are expected to be popular again with girls. Also the slim pants, this time beginning just below the waist and held to the hips by twin side zippers.

Every young girl will probably want to play in the rain in the short vinyl raincoats and matching high boots in brilliant blues, reds and yellows featured this spring.

And in such a gay outfit, she shouldn't have any trouble persuading any young man to play with her.

WEDDING

POTTS — HUTCHINSON

An interesting marriage was solemnized at noon hour on Saturday, March 23, at 19 Hillside St., the home of the Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Townsend, when their daughter, Alma Pauline Hutchinson, was united in marriage to William Ernest Potts of Belleville.

The bride was attended by Miss Harel Hutchinson, of Toronto, and Mr. Clarence Mackey of Toronto, acted as best man in a double-ring ceremony with the Rev. T. F. Townsend officiating.

A wedding dinner was served to the members of the immediate families in the new Plaza, East Belleville.

Following a trip to Ottawa and Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Potts will reside at 212 Parrott Drive, Belleville.

STILL SEEK WORK

VANCOUVER (CP) — The number of women workers seeking jobs here is continuing to increase although employment of males is improving, the employment service reports.

Medical Society W. A. Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Women's auxiliary to the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Medical Society was held at the home of Mrs. K. Douglas on Thursday evening.

The fashion show which was presented at the end of February, was the most successful one so far. It was suggested that the May meeting be held in Picton to make it possible for the Picton members to attend.

The guests for the evening were Mrs. H. Ewart, president, and Mrs. R. S. Duggan, vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Ontario Medical Association. Mrs. Ewart spoke briefly on "Medicare and the Purposes of the Women's Auxiliary".

Mrs. R. S. Morphy thanked the speaker.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served.

Ann Landers

Able Scholar Beaten By Inability to Spell

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS—Twelve years ago I graduated from the University of Chicago. I made Phi Beta Kappa and received graduate fellowships at Columbia and the University of Michigan.

My husband was in medical school at the time and we needed a steady income more than we needed another degree in the family, so I went to work for a mail-order house.

To my surprise I found the work fascinating. I have continued to work, having taken time out for my two babies. And now, 13 years later I find myself unable to spell the simplest words—thanks to the public.

When one sees "greatful" spelled "grateful" several times a day it can be confusing. I will never know for certain if occasion has two c's and one s—or is it one c and two s's?

The other evening I asked my husband to read a letter I had written and he was shocked at the spelling. When I explained that letters from the public had ruined me, he replied, "Impossible. You must have been a poor speller always." Ann, please tell him it can happen.—EDITH.

DEAR EDITH—Not only can it happen, it did happen—to me.

But what you lose in spelling you make up for in knowledge (cq) of human nature. It's wirth (ep) it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS—The letter signed, "No Pulse," from the woman who had a jewel of a husband but wanted him to "keep his hands off," interested me. My first husband was extremely handsome and a great lover but a rotten husband. It wasn't worth it.

My present husband is wonderful. He's a great husband but a rotten lover. I am perfectly willing to accept his clumsiness and count my other blessings, but it's not as simple as that.

A man who has even a small degree of sensitivity knows mechanical love-making—the duty braid. I'm sure my husband senses my lack of genuine enthusiasm. There are long periods of silence when I strongly suspect he is brooding over his ineptness as a lover.

Your advice to "No Pulse" was to seek outside help. How does one go about it? Wouldn't it crush a man's ego to be told he is a romantic failure? Help me, please. I don't want to lose this wonderful guy.—S. A. D.

DEAR S. A. D.—By your own admission you've already told him he's a romantic failure—in language more eloquent than words. And now I hope you will do something about the problem.

Tell your husband what you find unpleasant about his love-making. A man who cares for his wife and wants to please her is teachable. (P.S. To men who have the problem: Women are teachable, too.)

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Data Ball," enclosing with your request 25c in coin and a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope.

'Resolutions' Topic at S. Sidney W.I.

The March meeting of the Sidney South Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Sargent.

The meeting was opened in the usual way with the president, Mr. H. Hollomby in charge.

The 4-H girls have just completed their winter project, "Separates for Summer" and they were wearing the clothes which they had made. The bright summery cottons were refreshing on such a wintry evening.

Mrs. R. Postma, resolutions convener, gave a talk on resolutions and the many good things that have come about because of them.

"Resolutions have been used to good advantage in most associations. Many examples were given and I think one which interests all of us, as most are mothers of young children, is the standardization of children's clothing.

"We found this information interesting as we know little about "Resolutions" and it is relatively difficult to obtain information on this subject.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Sargent, helped by the 4-H girls.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: A friend is giving her husband a surprise party for his 50th birthday. We cannot attend. Other friends who have been invited have been composing notes on presents they will bring. A few have indicated that even though we can't be there we should send a gift, anyway. Is this usual, and is a gift expected?

—Mrs. C. H., Orlando, Fla.

Answer: It's not really necessary to send a present, but you could send a telegram and schedule it to arrive while the party is in progress.

Pine Grove W.I. Sponsors Enjoyable Variety Show

MARSH HILL—Pine Grove Women's Institute sponsored a "Variety Show" and pie social last Friday night in the Marsh Hill Sunday School Hall.

Mr. Farley Linderfield performed the duties of chairman.

Mrs. Alex Tanner, president of Pine Grove W. I. gave each a warm welcome and hoped everyone would enjoy themselves.

The senior pupils of the Marsh Hill Public School favored with the "Maypole Drill"; musical numbers were enjoyed by Mr. Maurice Bell, on banjo; Mr. Stuart McArton of Stirling on violin; Mrs. Harry Brown of Carmel at the piano and Mr. Gary Mayell on electric guitar.

Miss Mae Pollock of Ivanhoe, favored with a piano solo, "The Shifting Whispering Sands" and "Ronda"; Bruce Swan, of Gilead, and Mrs. Harry Brown of Carmel each favored with accordion music; Miss Gwenda Detlor and Miss Elizabeth Koglin sang, "Five Foot Two Eyes of Blue," "Lazy Bones," "In The Good Old Summer Time," "Mickey", and "Down By The Old Mill Stream." They were accompanied by Mrs. Roscoe Vanderwater.

Messrs. Douglas and Ralph Detlor sang a duet, "Galway Bay", and "The Bible Tells Me So."

Mrs. Allyn Finkle gave a monologue, "Dorothy D. Meets a Vitamin"; Linda Finkle favored with a piano solo, "Waltz by Schubert"; Mrs. David Little sang "The Doggie In The Window," and "In The Garden of My Heart. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Cameron Sine.

Judy Heasman gave a recitation, "When Grandma Went To School"; a piano solo by Firth Bateman, of Stirling, "Waltz in A Flat," by Brahms, followed and Mrs. Charlie Ross recited, "It's Always Better With Butter."

A piano duet by Linda Finkle and Mrs. Leslie Finkle, "Lilt-ile Ruby", also vocal solos by Mr. Gary Duyzer, "How Great Thou Art" and "Old Black Joe." He was accompanied by Mrs. Ivan Clare.

The final number on the program was "A Fashion Parade Musical," "Do You Remember?" with Bruce Swan playing the musical numbers on his accordion, with the following taking part: "Spanish Lady", Elizabeth Finkle; "School Days", Mrs. Don Irish and Mrs. Leslie Finkle; "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet", Mrs. Grace Bartindale; "Roaming In The Gloaming", Mr. Harry Coulter; "Put On Your Easter Bonnet", Mrs. Fred Campbell and Mrs. Alex Tanner; "The Dark Town Strutters Ball". Mrs. Harry Coulter, Miss Jane Gay, Mrs. Chas. Mayell; "Peggy O'Neil", Mrs. Ivan Clare; "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles", Mrs. Rowcell Reid and Mrs. Chas. Ross, and "Good Night Ladies", Douglas Detlor.

After the closing the ladies served raisin bread, cheese, all varieties of pie, coffee and freshie.

Scalloped Scallops
Easy But Epicurean
by Mary Moore

In one store fresh frozen scallops were 83c per pound loose in a poly bag; in another they were 69c in the same pack but this latter was a "special".

I have tried to discover what is happening to the scallop market because during the late Fall I bought them for 53c per pound. It seems unfair to raise the price during Lent. But I certainly would not want to be one of the fishermen in a scallop boat in the Bay of Fundy catching them during the winter months. When the boats return to the wharf at Digby the men shell the scallops before they step ashore. Indeed the shelled scallops in five-gallon pails are hauled up and loaded on trucks and often are on their way before the fishermen are ashore. This is why we receive them so fresh.

I made the following Scalloped Scallops last night for dinner and they were so good if you follow my lead you will invite guests.

This is an epicurean dish.

SCALLOPED SCALLOPS:

This is easy and serves 4 generously.

1 lb. scallops, ½ teaspoon salt, dash of pepper 1 medium onion, sliced (or 1-3 Spanish), 1 medium green pepper, chopped coarsely, 2 tablespoons butter, melted, 1 cup medium-coarse soda cracker crumbs (16 2 x 2"), ¾ cup light cream, ¾ cup milk, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 3-3 cup fine cracker crumbs.

Thaw scallops, if frozen. Cut large scallops in half. Season scallops with the salt and pepper. Gently fry onion and green pepper in 2 tablespoons of melted butter (first amount) for 5 minutes. Combine with scallops. Spread 1-3 of the coarse crumbs over bottom of a greased 8-cup casserole. Cover with half the scallop mixture. Repeat layers. Combine cream and milk. Pour over contents of casserole. Combine fine cracker crumbs and 2 tablespoons melted butter (second amount). Sprinkle evenly over top. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

NOTE:

This is a mixture which can be baked in individual baking dishes. These could be earthen or pyrex ramekins, or better still, natural ovenproof shells. If you distribute your mixture into these ramekins or shells it will fill six of them. This is a great idea for you can extend your meal with a first course appetizer such as a fruit cup or soup or first course salad and have the major makings of an elegant guest dinner.

Mrs. Diefenbaker Cast As Unofficial Prompter

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — "My wife certainly straightens me up all the time, and that's helpful," said Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He was speaking to a reporter after an election campaign meeting at which Olive Diefenbaker had played her customary role as unofficial prompter.

"A little louder, dear," she had whispered at one point. At another, she quietly corrected him when he mispronounced the name of Okotoks, Alta.

Her unobtrusive instructions are the sort of help Mrs. Diefenbaker gives her husband as he tours the country seeking re-election for his Progressive Conservative government April 8.

But her mere presence at his side is regarded by the prime minister as her major contribution.

Boarding an aircraft at one stage on the tour, Mrs. Diefenbaker took her seat. When the prime minister came aboard he couldn't spot her immediately.

"Where's my wife?" he asked. "If I lose her I'll lose everything."

There's a sort of family precedent for the kind of devotion Mrs. Diefenbaker displays toward her husband and his career.

FINANCED SCHOOLING

During a whistlestop at Sackville, N.B., site of Mount Allison University where Mrs. Diefenbaker's grandfather, David Freeman, was a member of the first graduating class in divinity, she recalled that his first year was financed by a $50 gift from a friend and by his mother weaving a suit length of cloth and selling it.

Another indication of Mrs. Diefenbaker's dedication lies in the fact that she is on the campaign trail at all. She hasn't been long out of hospital where she was treated for a back ailment, and she appears to walk with a slight stiffness at times.

As in past campaigns, Mrs. Diefenbaker demonstrates a warm-hearted interest in people of all spheres. This endears her to audiences and has prompted party officials to suggest that in her own way she plays an important part in winning votes.

One day she was guest of honor at a tea for more than 1,000 women in the fashionably decorated Edmonton Jubilee Auditorium lobby; the next she was shaking hands with Indian squaws and farmers' wives on a windy railway platform in the southern ranchlands of Alberta.

PLATFORM ROUTINE

The same charm, wide smile and obvious sincerity were evident in both appearances.

The Diefenbakers usually follow a set routine for railway platform appearances. Olive Diefenbaker goes forward along the side of the train and the prime minister heads toward the rear.

Both circle through the crowds, children pressing about their knees, while they shake hands with the adults. Each moves in a circle and they are so mutually conscious of the time available that they usually arrive back at the train steps about the same time.

At every stop, even in near-zero temperatures at villages far from florist shops, someone has managed to get a bouquet of flowers to present to her. At some stops she receives two bouquets, from the community and the local party association.

After a day of 10 whistlestops through southern Saskatchewan and Alberta there were, a dozen bouquets in the prime minister's car.

What does she do with them all? Frequently she gives some back to be sent to some sick person, or to a candidate's wife.

This is the fourth national campaign on which Mrs. Diefenbaker has accompanied her husband and on the coast-to-coast tours she has picked up considerable information that is useful to him.

But her knowledge of the country predates her marriage to John Diefenbaker in 1953.

Her parents both came from Nova Scotia. She was born in Roland, Man., where her father, the late Rev. Dr. Charles B. Freeman, a Baptist minister, had a congregation.

The family later lived in Moose Jaw, Prince Albert and Saskatoon as they moved about Saskatchewan, then in Brandon, Man., where Mr. Freeman for a time wasson the faculty of Brandon College.

Olive attended Brandon College and then McMaster University in Hamilton and the Ontario College of Education in Toronto. She took teaching jobs in such Ontario communities as Huntsville, Guelph, Arthur and Owen Sound.

She married Toronto lawyer Harry Palmer in 1933 and he died in 1936, leaving her with two-year-old Carolyn, who also became a teacher.

Mrs. Olive Palmer was assistant director of guidance for the Ontario education department when she married John Diefenbaker, whose wife Edna had died two years earlier in 1951.

United Church Choir Holds Crokinole Party

WELLINGTON—The United Church choir held its annual crokinole party in the Sunday School rooms on Wednesday evening. There were 16 tables in play.

After the games were over, prizes were presented to the following: ladies high, Mrs. Marion Wright; low, Miss Barbara Short; men's high, Wes. Thomas; low, Clifford Cleave.

In giving the children's prizes a number was concealed and the four coming closest to this number received the prizes. They were: girls, Jackie Blower, Carolyn Pettingell; boy's, Keith J. Campbell and Johnnie Pettingell.

The members of the choir served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed by all.

AMEND BYLAW

SARNIA (CP)—Acting on a petition signed by a majority of Sarnia grocers, city council Monday night agreed to amend a bylaw regulating grocery store hours to permit them to remain open Fridays until 9 p.m. Grocers will remain closed all day Monday and close at 6 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and on Saturday.

College Hill W.R. Group Presents "Hill Billies" Play

The Wedding Ring Club of College Hill United Church held its monthly meeting in the church hall, recently, with the usual large attendance of couples.

Routine business was discussed by the president, Mrs. Moorcroft, as well as some discussion on the social event for the club to be held on April 27 when another club will be the guest of the Wedding Ring Group.

Devotions were in charge of Guy and Doreen Thompson, with Guy giving the meditation and Doreen the Scripture lesson. Annis Dickens read a poem.

PROGRAM

The program for the evening was in charge of group 3 with Art and Annis Dickens as leaders, and taking the form of a slight 'spoof' at all fashion shows in which nearly everyone is interested, especially with the approaching Easter season.

The program was entitled, a "Fashion Fiasco," with the College Hill Billies showing what might be worn by those lovable T.V. stars on a well-known program. Recorded music accompanied the presentation and also each entrance of the actors, which, in itself, caused humorous comments bringing gales of laughter, since the audience had been forewarned from behind closed curtains that they should prepare themselves accordingly.

The show consisted of the usual "tiny tots" in mop heads, sailor suits and large hats. There were the home folks including the various cousins and even one featuring a live fish, who tangled in the stage wires, causing the audience much enjoyment for a few moments, but with no embarrassment to the performer while anything could and seemed to be happening everywhere.

The performers entered from the most unlikely places; the furnace room from which "Granny" emerged; the powder room from which came the least expected, "Elly May," and the entrance doors from which came the 'pows' of a toy penguin as the bridegroom was chased in for the final wedding scene, followed by the bride and bridesmaids who stomped down the aisle to a brisk military march, where finally all were arranged on a stage decorated with tin cans bearing original brand names, some with a few straggly flowers, which the lively bride kicked out of the way.

At the last moment "Marryin Sam" rushed in with a surprised, "Hold on Thar" to pronounce the whole group, "The College Hill Billies for the year.

Group 3, as a whole, assembled for the final curtain to the tune, of "The End," which brought a burst of laughter and sustained applause.

The play was under the direction of Annis and Art Dickens, and the program was written by Florence Watson, who also was the "Marryin Sam" of the play, and who was responsible for the musical selections, as well as campaigning for funds for a new building for College Hill.

CAST

The cast follows: The youngsters of the Hills, Annis Dickens and Florence Watson; cousin Pearl, Douglas Watson; Cousin Ted, Annis Dickens; Jethrow, June Gray, accompanied by her flaky friend; Elly May, Chorley Gray; Grannie, Art Dickens; beautiful bridesmaid, Bill Lott; Jethrene, the bride, Guy Thompson; bridegroom, Orlene Lott, and the best Man, Doreen Thompson, and Marryin Sam, Florence Watson.

Following the presentation, lunch was served in the form of 'bunwichs' and a social hour enjoyed.

SMALL TALK

Canada Can Compete In Industry

By ZENA CHERRY

Five years ago two young Canadians, a cabinet-designer and a salesman, David Gilmour, and a Budapest-born engineer, Peter Munk, founded a company called Clairtone with $60,000.00 (half of which was borrowed) to make Hi-Fi sets. They are expensive, $400.00 to $1,600.00 and by 1961 the Canadian potential was about realized.

For new business they had to go on the prowl — and so, they decided to take a crack at the U.S. market. They thought they might as well aim high — high-est — by getting into the top department store, Marshall Fields. They rented space in Chicago's Merchandise Mart and for four months kept after the buyer until he signed. The partners then repeated the Chicago technique in other choice — American markets — now they have 600 outlets. What next? President Munk is eyeing Europe.

Mr. Munk is not afraid to say what he thinks. Herewith a few of his observations.

"Canada was the third nation of the world to successfully launch a satellite into space (last September) — a feat similar to that which Russia used in a million clever ways to enhance Russia's industrial image abroad. But official Canada rejected differently — simultaneously with this great achievement the Canadian Government's Travel Bureau in its 5th Avenue display window in New York showed a picturesque array of Eskimo carvings — a useless image of our country, the country where the telephone was invented; insulin was discovered; the cobalt bomb designed. Yes, our most necessary intangible is Canada's industrial image abroad."

"The first excuse," continued Mr. Munk, "one usually hears about manufacturing in Canada is, 'we have such a small market'. Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland each has a population less than half that of Canada. They have gone out and created markets for their products."

Invariably the second excuse is, "How can we compete in the world when our labor rates are so high?" This is nonsense. Instead of recognizing the fact that within a distance of 25 to 150 miles from our major cities lies the world's richest market, and compared to theirs, our labor rates are indeed low, if not ridiculously cheap — instead of recognizing this we continually compare ourselves to India and Japan.

In reality we have a tremendous edge — lower labor rates than, and physical proximity to the world's largest market, the United States.

Certainly 'Made in Canada' can compete."

Rude Not to Say "Thanks"

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—To me the rudest thing a girl can do is not to thank a boy for his companionship. I try to put myself in the boy's place. If he thinks enough of me to ask me out, imagine how hurt I'd be if he never let me know if he enjoyed himself! A simple invitation to come over and hear a new record, or a date for a turnabout dance or party, can be the right thing to let a boy know a girl really appreciates his friendship.

About the money angle: if a girl really likes a boy, a quiet walk will mean as much as a fancy dance, as long as they're together.

To the boys who may be reading this: don't try to impress a girl by doing expensive things all the time. If she refuses an inexpensive date because she is the glittery type, then she is not even worth the worry!

But this is not always the girl's fault, fellows. We sometimes feel pretty hurt if you don't let us know how you feel about things.—AN APPRECATIVE GIRL.

DEAR GIRL—How about a Date Appreciation Week?

DEAR DORIS—I am a widow and living with a man my husband and I had with us before my husband died. I've taken care of him for 15 years. He is 78 and I am 52.

He has been good to me, and we have a nice home, but now he accuses me of going out with other men. He even went so far as to say the husband of a friend of mine got me pregnant and sent me to a doctor to get rid of it. As God is my judge, it's a lie. I can't go to church but what he says I'm after a man.

I have thought of going back home but I don't want to walk out because he has no one to look after him. His own children won't do it because he left their mother about 23 years ago.—NOT READY TO QUIT.

DEAR NOT READY—Treat him like the senile partner he is. He is old and his mind is unclear. All you can do is remember that when he was healthy he was good to you.

Go to church and wherever else your fancy takes you, and turn a deaf ear to any peculiar accusations he dreams up.

garry) warned in an address delivered partly in French and partly in English that Canada will be in "real trouble" if action is not taken to strengthen ties between English- and French-speaking groups.

He said separatist groups, particularly in Quebec, are mainly made up by people in their early twenties, "but don't think for a minute that they are illiterate . . . many of them are university graduates.

"At the beginning there were few in numbers, but their ranks are increasing very rapidly," he said.

The legislature's law committee rejected a proposal by a representative of T. W. Hand Firework s Company Limited that legislation be introduced setting an age limit at which persons could buy fireworks. He suggested 16 as the minimum age.

The committee, however, approved legislation which will allow any municipality to pass bylaws establishing a minimum age for purchase of fireworks.

Maurice Belanger (L—Windsor-Sandwich) urged establishment of a provincial youth department to administer provincial training schools, community centres and other youth matters outside education.

He said boys' training schools should be placed under the control of a youth department and not administered by the Provincial Reforms Institutions Department which was concerned mainly with "hardened criminals."

Municipal Affairs Minister Spooner withdrew a proposed amendment to the Municipal Act which would have allowed municipalities to license non-resident magazine salesmen.

He said the amendment should be deferred for a year's study.

London since August, 1958.

The air force chief, Brig. Carlos Armanini, loyal to the Guido government, said his planes would go all out against rebellious navy strongholds.

The revolt erupted Tuesday morning in an effort to block the elections June 30 for president and Congress. The Guido government planned to let the Peronists take part, and the navy feared they would win, since about one-third of Argentina's voters usually vote Peronist.

Two violently anti - Peronist generals lounged off the revolt with a breakfast time appeal, but it soon appeared they were only frosting for the navy. The air force and apparently most of the army stood behind the government and opposed another military coup.

The two, Gen. Benjamin Menendes, 75, and Gen. Federico Toranzo Montero, 51, were said to have escaped on the ice-breaker San Martin when the marines left Buenos Aires. Both had headed revolts in previous years.

daytime audiences of 200 and 850, said Mr. McNamara has confirmed the government's policy of refusing to have nuclear warheads for the Bomarc stored in Canada.

"What happens to you when the Russians waste missiles on the Bomarcs?" he asked.

Referring to the Liberal policy of accepting warheads for the two Bomarc bases in Canada, he asked: "Are they going to make Canada into a burnt sacrifice?"

ASKS QUESTIONS

Mr. Pearson, speaking to some 8,500 persons in the Winnipeg arena accused the prime minister of raising the fears of Canadians by saying that to arm the Bomarcs would invite attack. He put some rhetorical questions of his own.

"Does he (Mr. Diefenbaker) believe that we should scrap the early warning system because it is an important target . . . that we should have no defence arms at all because they will be targets, that we should make no contribution at all to collective defence?

"What if our European allies adopted such a cowardly attitude? Is Mr. Diefenbaker trying to weaken the North Atlantic alliance by weakening Canada's part in it?"

Mr. Douglas, speaking to a crowd of 550 at Moncton, suggested that Mr. McNamara's statement has put both the Conservative and Liberal leaders in a difficult position.

"Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Mr. McNamara pulled the rug out from under Mr. Pearson. . . . Mr. Pearson says it was Mr. Diefenbaker's rug.

"Both of them are right. It was Mr. Pearson's feet on Mr. Diefenbaker's rug. But what the people of Canada would like to know is what Mr. Pearson was doing on Mr. Diefenbaker's rug in the first place."

Italian Communist Paper Says Moscow Now Facing 'Delicate Political Moment'

MOSCOW (AP) — Westerners who try to keep tab on what is going on in the Kremlin have noted signs of strain among Russia's ruling clique in recent months. Qualified experts see nothing they would describe as an imminent threat to Premier Khrushchev's political future, however.

This is the reaction heard here to the intriguing dispatch the Communist newspaper l'Unita in Rome, printed Monday under a Moscow placeline. This dispatch spoke of grave problems and economic failures in the Soviet Union and said Moscow is "living in a delicate political moment."

One diplomatic observer, commenting on a recent flurry of rumors of strife in the Communist party's presidium, quipped:

"I don't think Khrushchev is in serious trouble — but he ought to be."

The last year has by all estimates been a tough one for the premier in agriculture, industry, and other fields.

A year ago Khrushchev admitted Soviet farming is a mess. He gave a plenum of the central committee one of the gloomiest outlines of the farm situation on record. Khrushchev asked the central committee for more money for farm machines and fertilizer, but for some still unexplained reason he never got it.

The Soviet leader in June raised retail prices on meat and dairy products. These extra funds he earmarked for the peasants in the form of higher state purchase prices for meat and milk—an inducement the government desperately hoped will produce dramatic results this year.

For the last 10 years, the Soviet leader has been running a one-man show in agriculture and the farm crisis has clearly hurt him.

Industry, after 10 years of brisk expansion, has levelled off. Capital construction is in a state of near-chaos and serious faults have been uncovered in over-all planning mechanisms. Part of the blame for these shortcomings has indirectly been laid to the decentralization of industrial controls Khrushchev ordered in 1957.

Another big reorganization drive completed last month has returned these controls to Moscow and put them into the hands of a new council headed by Dimitry Ustinov, a new first deputy premier.

The Chinese since last summer have been spoiling for a showdown with the Russians at a meeting of all the world's Communist party leaders. Khrushchev has refused to call such a meeting but the steady stream of Peking anti-Soviet propaganda apparently forced the Soviet leader to relent.

He has agreed to go to a general meeting but wants a bilateral conference first. The Russians invited him to come to Peking if he wants—to talk with Mao Tse-tung.

In his reply, Khrushchev declined the Chinese invitation but invited Chou En-lai to Moscow for a summit meeting this spring or summer.

There was no immediate reaction from Peking.

Unemployment Insurance Fund Has Millions

OTTAWA (CP) — The unemployment insurance fund wealthy in March and entered April with "several" millions of dollars in the kitty to meet benefit payments, reliable sources said Tuesday.

This means the fund did not need the $25,000,000 emergency loan earmarked, by the last Parliament for emergency use if the fund went dry during the 1962-63 fiscal year that ended Sunday.

It also means that Governor-General's warrants will be used to keep the fund going until the summer upturn in employment starts to bring in more money in contributions than is paid out in benefits.

Officials decline to predict just what the fund—which held more than $500,000,000 in 1956—will run dry and require an injection of interest-bearing federal funds. They indicate that the precise moment when the fund crosses the thin line between solvency into bankruptcy probably will never be made public.

MUST PAY BACK

But some time in the next few days, the fund will be operating in the red borrowed from the federal treasury — money that will have to be paid back at current rates of interest.

The fund entered 1963 with about $40,000,000. In January, it dropped to $71,800,000. February's heavy drain pushed it down to $39,400,000. The March balance will not be made public until later this month, but it is expected that the fund has dropped by about $35,000,000, leaving something like $4,000,000 at the end of the month.

Cheap Contraceptive Pill For Men Brings Sterility Without Affecting Virility

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new oral contraceptive for men—cheaper than heaven-sent tablets and with no effect on the sex drive—was disclosed today at the American Chemical Society convention.

Its only drawbacks: men suffer mild nausea if they have even a small amount of alcohol while taking the pills and their eyeballs turn a bright red.

The pills, white, odorless and tasteless, were reported by Dr. Carl G. Heller, head of the division of reproductive physiology at Pacific Northwest Research Foundation, Seattle.

He told a press conference that studies with volunteers at the Oregon State Penitentiary showed the new diamine compounds stopped the production of sperm in six to nine weeks and maintained sterility as long as the drug was used.

Sperm counts returned to normal in five to 12 weeks after the subject stopped taking the pills.

He said the pills do not suppress the sex drive, as do steroids currently used in contraceptive pills for men.

"The diamines, investigated probably would not be acceptable to men in the Western World because alcoholic beverages are so widely consumed," he said. "However, a number of drug companies are working on these compounds to eliminate the unpleasant effect.

"Men of eastern cultures, who do not consume alcohol as a matter of the pattern of every day life, probably will be interested.

"Preliminary studies show that men in undeveloped countries are at least as interested in their wives in limiting the size of their families for economic reasons.

"Oral contraceptive pills for women are quite expensive, averaging $3.50 for a month's supply and probably can never be manufactured as cheaply as the diamines for men."

He had no estimate as to when the diamines might become commercially available.

Court Is Told Inventory Of Autos Was Falsified

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Evidence of falsified and inventories in cash deposits was heard at Tuesday's session of the preliminary hearing of a charge of theft of $226,000 against Mrs. Dolores Clow, 36, of Prescott, Ont.

A bookkeeper with Billings Motors Limited, Mrs. Gladys Anderson, said that records of cash sales made in the service department were destroyed in the main office after the money had been placed in a metal cash box.

Another witness, Mrs. Marjorie Murphy, also a bookkeeper, testified that deposits made at the firm's bank from the cash box did not tally with amounts supposed to have been taken from the box.

"I knew we had taken in money in the morning but noticed when taking deposits to the bank that there would be no cash going in, only cheques," Mrs. Murphy said. She added that she took her orders from Mrs. Clow.

Defence counsel Roydon Hughes asked Mrs. Murphy why she did not report her suspicions to the firm's president, E. M. Billings.

Mrs. Murphy did not answer his question.

He asked her if she knew of any close relationship between Mrs. Clow and Mr. Billings.

WERE FRIENDS

"I knew they were family friends," she replied.

Asked if she ever knew them to go to a show together, Mrs. Murphy said Mr. and Mrs. Billings and Mr. and Mrs. Clow had been away together.

Mrs. Murphy said she could not say if Mrs. Billings and Mrs. Clow travelling companion. She admitted that occasionally they might have been away at the same time.

Mrs. Betty Taylor, another office employee, admitted that she had typed out false invoices for cars during inventory at Billings Motors. She testified that she knew the purpose of them was to misrepresent the number of cars owned by the company's car lots.

She said she had also driven cars from one lot to another, and that the same car had been invented several times because of false invoices. She said Mrs. Clow had ordered her to do this.

Asked why she typed them if she did not take any action, she said she was "afraid" of Mrs. Clow. The hearing continues.

REDS HAD CLOSE CALL

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP)—United States Air-Gen. George W. Mundy said Tuesday that Russian planes came within about two seconds of being shot down over Alaska in March 14. Mundy, commander-in-chief, of the Joint air force-navy-army Alaskan command, said supersonic, delta-winged F-102 jet interceptors were within 15 miles of the Russian planes when they veered away from Alaska, earlier offenses.

Cuban Attack On U. S. Vessel Marked 'Closed'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The incident of the Cuban MiG attack on the U.S. freighter Floridian was officially stamped "closed" Tuesday following an apology from the Castro regime.

The apology for the March 28 attack on the Floridian coupled with a promise to avoid such incidents in the future, was presented Tuesday in a note presented by Czech Ambassador Miloslav Ruzek. The Czechs handle Cuban interests here in the absence of U.S.-Cuban diplomatic ties.

Press Officer Joseph W. Reap said the Havana answer was satisfactory and "we consider this particular incident closed."

The Floridian was about 25 miles off the north coast of Cuba on a San Juan to Miami run when two Russian-built MiGs fired shots across its bow and stern. The ship was not hit.

In its note, the Cuban government said its pilots had been chasing another vessel and had mistaken the Floridian for a similar ship which was flying the American flag.

Ruark said the Castro regime had also asked the United States to take due account of the "serious absence of the situation" by clamping down on hit-and-run raids on Cuba.

Reap mentioned direct comment on this, but noted the Kennedy administration's Saturday statement of tighter measures against free-lance forays on Cuba.

Convict Knifed In Kingston Pen

KINGSTON (CP)—An unidentified prisoner was stabbed in the penitentiary Tuesday while convicts were in cells in darkness watching the Toronto-Montreal hockey Cup hockey game on television.

Officials said today the prisoner was in satisfactory condition in hospital.

No weapon has been found. Air Marshal W. A. Curtis said today he thinks he knows who stabbed the prisoner Tuesday.

He said he did not consider the incident important, adding that in such a prison a slashing stun "violence is bound to occur."

It was the third stabbing here in three months. Marcel Berthiaume, 29, of Ottawa was knifed March 25 at nearby Collins Bay Penitentiary. William Eagles was stabbed in Kingston Penitentiary Feb. 4.

No charges have been placed as a result of either of the two earlier offenses.

Liberal Blames NDP, Reds For Heckling

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Liberal party official said Tuesday he has "no hesitation" in blaming the New Democratic Party and Communists for demonstrations at a rally addressed by Lester Pearson here Monday night.

He also said many demonstrators got into the Vancouver Forum with counterfeit tickets.

Hugh A. Watt, the party's federal campaign chairman in British Columbia, said in a statement:

"I am told by competent observers that at least half a dozen known NDP and Communist party troublemakers directed the heckling and the paper-throwing.

"I have no hesitation in saying that the NDP and the Communists were behind most of the organized demonstrations."

The Liberal leader had to fight continuous heckling and foot-stomping throughout his 45-minute speech.

Wants Toronto To Share CNE At Montreal

QUEBEC (CP)—A Montreal member of the legislature suggested that the Canadian National Exhibition could be shared between Montreal and Toronto since the 1967 World's Fair has ended.

Instead of tearing down buildings erected for the Montreal world's fair, they should be retained and used by the CNE, Harry Blank (Le-Montreal - St. Louis) proposed Tuesday.

"We have in Canada now a Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto," said Mr. Blank. "It is a beautiful exhibition, but not really a Canadian national exhibition. . . . I say, let's not destroy the Toronto one. Let us work together, perhaps alternate years, perhaps two weeks in Toronto, two weeks in Montreal."

The site of the world's fair officially known as the Canada-Expo 67 exhibition, will be on land to be reclaimed off St. Helen's Island opposite Montreal harbor. Present plans call for demolition of buildings at the site, once the world's fair is over.

Frost Predicts Sweeping Win For Diefenbaker

COBOURG (CP) — Former Ontario premier Leslie Frost Tuesday night predicted "a resounding victory" for Prime Minister Diefenbaker" in the April 8 federal election.

Speaking here in support of Northumberland Conservative candidate Harry Bradley, Mr. Frost said there is a ground swell running in favor of the prime minister and his candidates.

"The people have been through Liberal tactics," he said. "The Liberal record has been honest with the people now or 10 months ago."

Firm President Pleads Not Guilty

OTTAWA (CP) — Russell L. Bradley, president of Bradley Air Services Ltd., Carp, Ont., pleaded not guilty Tuesday to charges of defrauding the federal government by selling to Crown property and charging for aircraft repairs never carried out.

Mr. Bradley, whose firm received contracts for repair jobs from the transport department's aircraft maintenance and overhaul base at Uplands Airport here, is charged with selling the government $23,400 worth of Crown - owned aircraft mag...os and charging $54,305 for repairs which the Crown alleges were not done.

The trial continues.

Reggie Has Everyone Edgy Awaiting Maudling Budget As Election Abyss Yawns

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Politics and personality take precedence over pure economics in Britain's long-awaited "election" budget.

Two big questions hang over today's House of Commons speech by Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling:

1. Can budgetary tid-bits start a Conservative political comeback?

2. Can Maudling prove he has toughness as well as talent?

The narrower issue of personality is almost as intriguing as is the broader question of Conservative destinies. At 46, "affable Reggie" Maudling is a tall, bulky, broad-shouldered man relaxed as a political Perry Como, friendly as a shaggy dog.

MAN OF SERENITY

Maudling seems that rarity in politics, a man of serenity. He calls through crises as though equipped with unseen shock absorbers, his casual dignity unruffled, the pleasant smile unchanged. Since 1950 he has advanced from backroom boy to top man in the treasury, where prime ministers often get their final grooming.

It is this effortlessness that arouses suspicion. How does he do it? Where are the signs of straining ambition, the capacity for anger and passionate feeling? Does Reg, as some suggest, lack edge?

Maudling himself — probably the only politician ever told by a television producer that he was too relaxed — takes the question in stride.

Anybody who can't get angry, he says, is a nullity. But it's one thing to feel anger, another to show it. He keeps his emotions, he implies, firmly in check.

MAJOR TEST

The budget will be a major test. It coincides with a desolate period for the party in power. Many observers all already taking for granted that the Conservative Labor party will easily win the next election, likely to be held early in 1964.

Thus though there may be another budget before the election, Conservative backbenchers are pressing hard for concessions to win back lost popularity.

If the budget seems too timid, Tory patience may give way. If it goes too far, a financial crisis may blow up in mid-April.

Either way, suppressed resentments with Prime Minister Macmillan's leadership may come into the open. If it does so, Maudling will be the ready look to the man who bungled the budget as a successor, even though Maudling so far ranks high on any list of prime ministerial candidates.

McCutcheon Says Benefits Of Pegging Canadian Dollar Are Not Yet Fully Felt

TORONTO (CP)—Trade Minister McCutcheon said Tuesday night the full benefits of the policy of pegging the Canadian dollar last year at 92½ cents in American funds are not yet felt.

"The full effect of this may not be felt for several years," he told the third annual meeting of the Grocery Products Manufacturers of Canada.

Canada faces two fundamental problems in assessing its long-term future, he said. These are "our long term rate of growth . . . and ability to maintain levels of reasonably full employment," and "the chronic deficit in our international payments and our ability to achieve a reduction and its ultimate elimination."

The reduction and stabilization of the external value of the Canadian dollar, undertaken last year, is the most essential important step towards reduction of the international payments deficit and towards sparking rapid economic growth.

"Important business decisions are not taken in an atmosphere of uncertainty," Senator McCutcheon said. "But the business community now has had evidence that the government can and will defend the present external value of the dollar . . .

"Confidence is that business now is taking those decisions which will be both advantageous to itself and to the general economy. It takes some time, however, for the results of such decisions to be reflected in the country's accounts. This is the basis for my confidence that the full benefits have yet to come."

"What I would like to see would be a decision by the heads of all Canadian companies, whether manufacturers or retailers, to buy more goods in Canada those things that can be produced as economically as well as the products which they now buy from outside sources of supply."

Buyers Bring Quick Cheer To Canadian Samples Show

TORONTO (CP) — Buyers from every part of the West Coast and the United States made a brisk and cheering impact upon Canadian exhibitors on the opening day of the National Canadian Samples Show.

"These buyers are not here on a lark—they are interested and serious," said Graydon Cox, sales manager of Scotch Bond Co - operative Ltd., Kentville N.S. in a typical comment. His stand showing canned apple products, received callers in the first few hours from Sweden the United Kingdom, West Indies, New York and Los Angeles.

Heywood - Wakefield of Canada Ltd., baby carriage manufacturers of Gilbertville, Mass., Americans this year are looking in "greater depth"—examining what has been produced of just trying to spot novelties.

The variety of exhibits in the 430-odd booths impressed Trade Minister McCutcheon, whose department is putting on the show, and who toured it for two hours.

"Exhibitors and buyers to whom I talked," the minister said, "are all enthusiastic."

INQUIRIES SATISFYING

There were some dull spots here and there, at least in the early hours, but most of the exhibitors appe.red to have had a satisfying stream of inquirers, some as early as 9:30 a.m.

The West Indies delegation of more than 100 apparently made a big impression, judging by the number of booths representing inquiries from them.

Fred Wallett of Grohmann Knives Ltd., Pictou, N.S. said he could have closed out his booth within a couple of hours because he had received American offers for more than double the production capacity. However, he didn't plan to accept them because it would be pulling "our eggs into one basket."

The company's outdoor knives for woodsmen, fishermen and campers, are designed by Rudolph Grohmann, formerly of Czechoslovakia, and have received international recognition for their innovations from traditional designs.

"Feels Fine," Is 105 Today

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—Fred William Ceal back home after a spell in hospital with pneumonia, was 105 today.

Bundled up in a sweater and pair of jeans, Fred said Tuesday that he felt fine. He walks with the aid of crutches.

Ceal comes from Green Bay, Wis. His five brothers and sisters all reached the century mark.

Puzzle About Significance Of Big Crowds, Heckling

OTTAWA (CP)—Many political observers are at a loss to explain the significance of the large crowds and the din and heckling, cat-calling and general mayhem that have greeted the major political leaders in the current election campaign.

It seems to indicate a throwback to the days before radio and television, when political rallies meant so-called "live entertainment" both on the platform and in the audience.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had incisive interruptions in his Winnipeg and Edmonton speeches, a barrage of heckling in Vancouver, and a storm of university jeers in Kingston, Ont., and Vancouver. New Democratic Party Leader Douglas was a physical target, fended away from his microphone in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, and Social Credit Leader Thompson has been greeted with hecklers.

But reporters accompanying the leaders have begun to classify the audience demonstrations into categories: those that are witty, telling and unnerving to the speakers, and those that merely reflect party interpretations designed to throw the speaker off his stride.

Mr. Diefenbaker has run into the latter category in several instances, and when the hooting and hollering dies down, tries to turn it to his advantage.

Mr. Douglas has run into the same noisy barrage in Hamilton when the crowd started chanting:

Interjections the prime minister ignored include shouts of "Tell us about Coyne," and "What about Hees?"—references to former defence and trade ministers who left the cabinet early in February.

Mr. Douglas' NDP candidate Lewis Hanley was criticizing the Conservative and Liberal policies.

"The old parties are like the donkey with his finger in the hole in the dike," Mr. Douglas said.

"He did a good job," said a woman in the audience.

"But there are too many holes," he said, wiggling fingers, and we are up to our knees in water," said Mr. Hanley.

A man shouted "So that's why you're all wet."

Mr. K Won't Go to Peking, Asks Mao to Visit Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has turned down a Red Chinese invitation to Peking but has invited Mao Tse-tung to Moscow for a summit meeting to discuss the bitter local rift between the two Communist giants, the news agency Tass reported Tuesday.

The Soviet Communist party's central committee extended the invitation to Mao in a note delivered to Chinese Communist party leaders in Peking.

It suggested spring or summer for a Mao - Khrushchev meeting. If Mao cannot make the trip, the Soviet note said, it suggested he send a representative for high-level talks May 15, Tass reported.

There was no immediate Peking reaction to the Soviet note.

The Chinese have been hinting since last summer an international conference of Communist chieftains for a showdown with the Russians.

(Peking considers the Soviet Union too soft toward United States.)

BELINSKY FINED

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney of Los Angeles Angels is believed to have fined pitchers Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance between $200 and $500 each for being 2½ hours late at the baseball club's Palm Springs training site Saturday. Rigney would not disclose the actual amounts but on Saturday he mentioned $500 as a possibility and today he said "they broke their $250 record."

Tribesmen Kill British Soldiers

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—The office of the Imam of Oman said today an undisclosed number of British soldiers were killed when rebel tribesmen ambushed their truck in the Persian Gulf sheikdom a week ago.

CHARGE COMPANIES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seven steel companies were charged Tuesday with illegally conspiring to fix prices for train wheels or other steel products. U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy announced the charges were contained in two indictments returned by a federal grand jury in New York city.

Fear Another Eruption From Agnung Volcano

DENPASAR, Bali (AP)—The smoke still pouring from Agung volcano has been increasing, and the Bali information director said Monday that another eruption is feared in the next two or three days.

The cloudy and dim general situation of the volcano "are very similar to the days before April 17," he said. Agung's first eruption on that date killed more than 70 persons and drove more than 70,000 from their homes.

Heavy streams of lava still are pouring down the flanks of the 10,308-foot volcano, which first erupted in May, killing 11 persons, after more than a century of silence.

Picton

Fire Department Will Be Under Full-Time Chief

PICTON — Re-organization of Picton Fire Department with a full-time chief was revealed at town council when a committee report was presented by L. B. Calnan. At present, all members are volunteers.

Requisition for 1963 shows fire department costs up from $18,325 to $21,700 for 1963.

This includes six months' wages, $2,400 for the fire chief (not yet appointed) plus $3,200 for training cost of firemen and setting up an office for the fire chief.

In addition to the fire chief there will be a deputy chief two captains and sixteen firemen. Eventually a full time force of firemen is expected.

Institute Plan Will Help Beautify Town

PICTON — Beautification of the town will be a major project of the newly formed branch of Picton Women's Institute, president Mrs. Tom Pick told town council Monday. One of the ideas to be advanced is that of window boxes on store fronts as well as at homes. Prizes would be awarded in midsummer for the best displays. Cooperation of lumber dealers in providing window boxes and florists in assisting with planting, has already been secured. Retail merchants will be approached to assist and the Horticultural Society has pledged support, Mrs. Pick said.

Council endorsed the W.I. project which will be finalized at an open meeting of the branch in the near future.

Town Council Sets Tax Rate For Coming Year

PICTON — Town council at its meeting Monday night, struck the tax rate for 1963, as 97.39 mills on commercial assessments and 90.24 mills on residential property, as public school supporters. This is an increase over the previous year's levy of 8.2 mills and of 7.24 mills, respectively.

Requirements for expenditures over which council has little control are higher this year by 6.66 mills on commercial assessments and 4.26 on residential property, chiefly due to increased educational levies, and an increased county rate.

Budget includes:
$104,944.27 for public schools, $94,055.83 for collegiate, $8,082.85 for separate schools, $101,788.54 for county rate, $10,000 for public library, $9,360 for welfare purposes, $2,785.85 for hospital debentures, $67,232.06 for sewage debenture.

Philosophers. Poets Scientists

Unitarians believe more in original virtue than in original sin. Far from despairing about human nature, Unitarians believe in the power of the light which is to be found in every man, rather than in the worship of any one man as God or as the sole saviour of humanity. Unitarians believe that truth is confined to no one set of scriptures but that it is set forth in all the scriptures of mankind and in the uncanonized writings of the philosophers, poets, and scientists.

Kennedy Requests Congress To Trim Foreign Aid Budget

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy today asked Congress to trim next year's U.S. foreign aid program to $4,500,000,000, down $420,000,000 from his original request, and said he will call on other industrialized countries to step up their own contributions to the world's less fortunate regions.

His request was in line with recommendations of a special presidential committee headed by Gen. Lucius Clay which suggested Canada and other industrialized countries could easily increase their own assistance.

"We will continue to work without allies, urging them to increase their assistance efforts and to extend assistance on terms less burdensome to the developing countries," Kennedy told Congress.

In proposing a voluntary cut, Kennedy urged Congress to restore non-discriminatory tariff treatment for Poland and Yugoslavia. These two Communist countries were removed from U.S. most-favored-nation tariff treatment when Congress adopted Kennedy's Trade Expansion Act last year.

Kennedy said it is his conviction "that trade and other forms of normal relations constitute a sounder basis than aid for our future relationship with these countries."

SEEKS TAX CREDIT

Kennedy also asked that U.S. investors be allowed a tax credit on new investments and reinvestments in developing countries, to encourage an increased flow of private funds into these countries.

In proposing a foreign aid cut for the fiscal year starting July 1, Kennedy may have drawn the conclusion Congress already has a bigger cut in mind. Some Congress members have suggested the aid program may be sliced by $1,000,000,000 or more.

Last year Congress approved a $3,900,000,000 program after receiving a request for $4,900,000,000. Kennedy said $300,000,000 of the authorized amount had been distributed and of this one-half is available for future lending.

The Clay committee suggested that perhaps $50,000,000 or more a year might be saved by recommendations to tighten outlays, withdraw aid for development of industries that compete with private enterprise and have other industrialized shars.

KEEPS REDS AWAY

Kennedy emphasized that U.S. foreign aid amounts only to seven-tenths of one per cent of the U.S. gross national product—value of goods and services produced. Yet without this aid, in the form of economic and military assistance, large segments of the free world on the periphery of the Communist camp might have fallen to the Reds, he said.

Had the needs of the Cuban people been met in time — in food, housing, education and jobs—there might not have been any Fidel Castro problem or any Soviet hostiles in Cuba.

The foreign aid program also aids American industry and farmers. More than 80 per cent of all U.S. economic aid is tied to American exports, Kennedy noted.

Kennedy said countries receiving U.S. surplus food as part of the aid program will be encouraged to shift to dollar purchases of these commodities when their economies improve.

Curbs Against Cuban Exile Raids Raise Some Questions

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In cracking down on Cuban coastal raids by U.S.-based exiles, President Kennedy argues such raids do more harm than good—that they lead to a tightening of the police state inside Cuba and reprisals against those who oppose Premier Castro.

This argument was a familiar ring. Something similar was raised during the 1956 Hungarian revolution when the Western powers withheld help from the Freedom Fighters, saying Western interference would merely increase Communist reprisals against the revolutionaries.

The Hungarian revolution followed ringing U.S. declarations that the Communist "captive" states must be set free. That cry somehow has become muffled over the years. Hungary and the others are still behind the Iron Curtain.

Following the abortive Bay of Pigs Cuban invasion two years ago, Kennedy declared that the rebels should not give up hope; that Cuba one day would be free. That encouraged the hit-and - run raids and increased Havana's uneasiness about the possibility of further invasions.

Suddenly last fall, Kennedy found himself confronted by a powerful array of Soviet supersonic missiles in Cuba. In the negotiations that followed, Soviet Premier Khrushchev withdrew the missiles and bombers saying Kennedy had agreed not to invade Cuba in the future. Kennedy said he had never made such a promise because Castro had refused to allow on-site inspection to make sure all the offensive weapons were removed.

But in fact all of Kennedy's public utterances since the Soviet weapons were withdrawn appear to substantiate Khrushchev's statements. Kennedy refused to bow to Republican demands for reimposition of a Caribbean quarantine against Cuba when it was disclosed that Russia still had thousands of troops on that island. Kennedy said a blockade would be grounds for war. He now has restricted the exile raiders following Soviet complaints that a Russian ship was crippled in a Cuban harbor.

At the time of the Cuban crisis last fall, Khrushchev proposed that the U.S. withdraw Jupiter missiles from Turkey and Italy. Kennedy rejected this demand. But in a recent move that aroused suspicion among his critics at home and abroad, Kennedy ordered dismantling of the Jupiters, saying they are obsolete and the area would be better served by Polaris submarines patrolling the Mediterranean.

In French military quarters, the view is held that Kennedy and Khrushchev reached some secret understanding on nuclear disengagement in sensitive European and Caribbean areas.

The speed with which Kennedy is removing the European Jupiters and the crackdown against the Cuban exiles could perhaps add weight to these suspicions.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT—Church and Sunday school services were held at White's Church on Sunday morning. The Rev. Dr. Swann gave a pre-Easter sermon on "He That Loseth His Life Shall Find It." The choir rendered "The Lord is My Shepherd." with Mrs. W Jeffery as pianist.

In the Sunday school service a missionary program was given by the superintendent who read a story of a "Canadian Missionary Boy." Miss Cynthia Jones played for the junior girls and boys to sing "O Happy Day."

Master Stephen Harvel took the offering which was dedicated by the leader. Missionary boxes were distributed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hannon, Mary Jane and Michael Dennis of Toronto, were Sunday guests of her father, Mr C. Rush.

Mrs. W. Jeffery was a Sunday afternoon caller of Mrs Lawrence Larsen.

Mrs. Mabel Treverton, of Thurlow, was a Sunday caller of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Westfall and family and Mrs. Mc Kee and baby of Trenton, were Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Barr and children.

Miss Mary Palmer, who has been ill with pneumonia, was a patient last week in Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis were Tuesday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Tyler, Stephen and Cathy of Belleville, who have been ill with influenza.

Mr. Clifton Rush and Mr. Jermyn Palmer called on a number of church members on Friday afternoon.

Friends welcome Mr. and Mrs. Murrie Kleinsteuber, who have moved into this district from Trenton. Sylvia is in charge of the beauty parlor.

FENCE FOR FUN

CALGARY (CP)—Each Wednesday night female voices echoing "touchy" ring out in the auditorium of the University of Alberta. They belong to the six women among the 13 members of the Swashbucklers fencing club, formed last September.

Exemptions Same

OTTAWA (CP)—Exemptions from import duties for Canadian tourists returning from trips abroad are not affected by the lifting of import tariff surcharges, a senior revenue department official said Monday.

The tourist purchase exemptions were cut last June to $75 from $300 per year for Canadians returning from the United States, and to $100 from $300 for tourists returning from overseas countries. The cuts were made to conserve foreign exchange funds.

Hair Styling for Men Requires More Psychology Than Dealing With Women

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — In the beauty business, dealing with men requires more psychology than dealing with women.

Ivan Anderson discovered this after he opened a salon in Toronto offering "exclusive hair-styling for men."

The words "hair grooming" might have been wiser — they wouldn't sound so frightening to men, says Ivan.

When you say hair-styling, the picture of a women's beauty salon—"rollers, hair clips, wave sets, big driers, hair nets and the whole woman's bit"—springs into a man's mind.

But in the casual club-like atmosphere of his salon (panelled in red pine and decorated with modern paintings and plush red, black and beige leather chairs), all the women's trimmings, incuding the fashion, movie and romance magaines, are absent.

The idle chit-chat and flattery of a women's salon are also missing. Comments fly between operators and clients against a background of relaxing music and help to orient the often reluctant newcomer.

DON'T SAY 'WAVE'

When Ivan feels a man's hair needs a slight body wave to give it a lift, "processing" is the word he uses to describe it.

"If I told a client I wanted to give him a permanent wave, he would probably run."

Correct cutting is basic to men's hair-styling, says Ivan.

When a man comes into the salon, his hair is shampooed and then cut with a razor rather than clippers or scissors. "Cutting with a razor smooths out excessive curl and lets the hair lie flat."

The over-all length of a man's hair should never be more than one inch and he should always have hair at the side of the head and nape of the neck to give a soft contour to the head.

The shape of a man's face is the most important consideration in styling, says Ivan.

"There is no such thing as a style for lawyers, one for accountants and one for ministers. Hair must be styled to fit individual features."

A long thin face should have more hair on the sides and less on the top. A bony, hard face can be softened by a slight wave in the hair, whereas a younger boyish-looking face can be made to look older with a more severe, smooth style.

THICKER LOOK

But he will never change the color of a man's hair drastically, such as from black to white or red. "It would look ridiculous because the skin tones wouldn't match."

Ivan discourages the use of hair sprays and creams, especially for finer, thin hair, because they cause the hair to split and look stringy. "With proper cutting, hair should stay down without that rubbish."

After washing and cutting, the hair is dried, while being combed, with a hand drier. "With a comb we can lift the hair and keep the natural wave in line so it doesn't look untidy."

For a straighter, more severe style, a net can be placed over the hair to hold it down during drying.

When clients leave one of Ivan's salons (he will soon be opening his third in the city), he says "they don't look as though they've just had a hair cut and they don't look as though they need one."

GO TO JAIL

ROME, Ga., (AP) — Twenty-six Negro teen-agers went to jail Monday rather than pay $50 fines in this north Georgia city's first court test of lunch counter sit-in demonstrations. The Negroes, most of them high school students, were sentenced to five days in jail on charges of disorderly conduct and loitering.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — Several from here attended the funeral of Mrs. Henry Free, a native of Thomasburg, last Friday from the home of her daughter to Stirling United Church with interment in Thomasburg Cemetery. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved relatives, also to the sorrowing family of Harry Foster, whose funeral took place in St. John's United Church, Tweed, with interment in Bethel Cemetery, on March 28.

Mr. Thomas White Jr., and Mr. Lewis Adams have both returned from holiday trips in southern United States. While in Florida, Lewis was joined by his brother, Ronald of Toronto, who flew there and then both travelled by plane to Nassau in the Bahamas.

Mrs. Charles Mills, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ed Thompson, has returned to her home in Harlowe, Ontario.

Mr. Ray Phillips, who was a patient for sometime in Belleville Hospital following a back injury, suffered while working at Thomasburg Auto Parts, has returned home, much improved in health, but has not yet been able to go back to work.

Master Pat Ward, a public school pupil at Thomasburg, won first prize in an art contest sponsored by Christ Church of Belleville. He made a poster on "Missionary Work in Africa" and was awarded a Bible in recognition of his efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Thompson of Trenton, Ontario, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thompson, Anne and Karen, of Belleville, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thompson.

Rodney, teenage son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Post, of Thomasburg, is a patient in Belleville Hospital, at present, receiving treatment for an injured knee.

Mrs. M. R. English of Tweed, formerly of Thomasburg, is also a patient in the same institution. Her many friends wish them a speedy recovery.

On March 27, the United Church Women of Thomasburg served a hot dinner to the teacher and pupils of the junior room of the school as well to several adults. Mrs. Ernest Morton, Mrs. H. K. Morton and Mrs. Gordon Boldrick were the committee in charge of the dinner.

The regular meeting of the association followed in the afternoon.

Plans were made to cater for Mr. H. Kellar's sale on April 6.

The theme of the meeting was "Easter", with Mrs. Ernest Morton in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. E. Prindle read the Scripture and Mrs. F. Brough gave a reading on "Easter". Mrs. Harold A. Morton was the program convener.

Mrs. Don Holbert rendered a solo, "Alone". Readings were given by Mrs. H. Vance, Mrs. Harold E. Morton and Mrs. Harold A. Morton.

On the evening of March 28, the Thomasburg Boy Scout Troop and Cub Group were organized at a well-attended meeting in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Everyone wishes the Groups and their Leaders every success as some organizations such as these, have been needed for sometime.

Several members of Thomasburg I.O.O.F. Lodge visited Brighton Lodge on Thursday evening.

Marsh Hill

MARSH HILL — Mr. and Mrs. William Closter and Billie, of Orono, spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Kuglin, and were dinner guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hollinger spent Sunday in Smiths Falls with relatives.

Guests Sunday night of Mrs. Frank Finkle and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle were Mr. and Mrs. Allyn Finkle ad family, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Finkle and Miss Margaret Finkle of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Berson Mitts were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Riley, of Bellevrille.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Not a little confusion reigned in the ranks of city and district anglers, particularly the pickerel fanciers, after the provincial headquarters of the Department of Lands and Forests in Toronto announced the pickerel season would open hereabouts on May 11th instead of May 15th.

Bill Bittle of the department's Tweed headquarters, cleared up the situation today. "The announcement regarding the May 11th opening applies only to the Tweed district inland waters. The pickerel season for the Bay of Quinte, Consecon Lake, East Lake, West Lake, Pleasant Bay, Huck Bay in Prince Edward County and those portions of the Trent, Moira, Salmon and Napanee Rivers below Lake Ontario and the first dam upstream opens on May 1st to November 1st.

The official announcement also reads: "All other Tweed District waters—May 15th to March 31st. This has since been changed to read "May 11th."

Mr. Bittle pointed out that the change from May 15th to May 11th this year is strictly a temporary one. "It is being done," he said, "to give anglers a few extra days which will include the weekend previous to May 15th which falls on Wednesday this year.

The Tweed headquarters official also announced for the first time that the May 1st opening date in Tweed district waters also applies to pike. There is no closed season for this fish in Lake Ontario, the Bay of Quinte and the Ottawa River.

Pike fishermen will get an extra two weeks soaking their favourite quarry this year since the season was originally announced as May 15th to March 31st.

So let's get it straight. The pike and pickerel season for the Bay of Quinte, Consecon Lake, East Lake, West Lake, Pleasant Bay and Huyck Bay in Prince Edward County, and those portions of the Trent, Moira, Salmon and Napanee Rivers between Lake Ontario and the first dam upstream, opens this year on May 1st—not May 15th. Inland waters of the Tweed District will open the season May 11th.

And don't let these rumors of robins, chickadees, woodchucks, violets and other annual harbingers of spring lead you into believing the northern haunts of the brook, brown and lake trout are wide open and fancy-free.

Far from it. The lakes are still shackled in heavy chains of ice, although in several cases there is open water along the shorelines. The trout haunts are extremely dangerous and fishermen are warned to exercise care and caution if they plan angling in these waters.

Mr. Bittle informs me lakes in the Bancroft area are slush-topped and dangerous. Water is apparent along shorelines and the condition generally is said to be unsafe.

Lakes in the Plevna area also constitute a menace to angler safety, Mr. Bittle pointed out.

"These lakes are slush-covered in many places," he said, "and I advise great care on the part of anglers. There are a lot of hidden airholes that make travel extremely dangerous since they are hard to detect."

"Holes made by ice-fishermen at the start of the season are also a hazard," Mr. Bittle said. "These have become enlarged and an angler can be on top of one before he notices it."

Was the March 1st trout opening a success?

"It was, generally speaking," the official said. "There were no great hauls of brooks or lake trout, although some sportsmen got their quotas. There was not too much pressure on the trout population but the weather and party conditions in the northern spots gave many an angler a tummy-full of winter fishing."

"It created a lot of out-of-season, so-to-speak, recreation for trout-lovers, but a lot of the dyed-in-the wool fishermen walked for the spring and open water before trying their luck. We do not look for any great increase in angler population after the lakes and streams are open."

Choice Of Ten Former Winners

Palmer Masters Favorite

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the "people's choice," also is the favorite of the exclusive set—the former Masters Golf champions—to win the annual classic opening Thursday over Augusta National Course.

A poll of 14 former winners of the championship gave the muscular Pennsylvanian 10 winning votes. One of the four he didn't receive was cast by Palmer himself. His selection was Jack Nicklaus, his conqueror in a national Open playoff last year.

That, surprisingly, was the only first-place vote big Jack garnered.

Another eye-opener was that Gary Player, 1961 champion, did not receive a single first place vote. However, the jaunty little South African won six votes for second place and two for third.

O'Toole's Clipper Best Pal

By MIKE RATHET

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A little nail clipper in Jim O'Toole's pocket may have a big effect on the National League pennant race.

The cocky Cincinnati lefthander, who blames an ingrown fingernail for his slow start last spring, already credits the clipper for a string of 22 scoreless innings which have brought him the Redlegs' opening-day pitching assignment.

With his pitching hand carefully manicured, the 26-year-old southpaw set down Chicago White Sox with two hits in his eight-inning stint Tuesday as the Reds breezed to a 7-0 exhibition victory.

O'Toole, whose 19-9 record was a big factor in Cincinnati's 1961 pennant drive, slumped to 1-13 last year, largely because of early-season ineffectiveness.

While O'Toole continued to shine, somewhat alleviating the problem caused by Bob Purkey's inability to pitch because of an ailing right shoulder, outfielder Vada Pinson again powered the Reds at the bat as he had to get ready for opening day.

Pinson underwent an emergency appendectomy Feb. 19, began working out March 22 and returned to action Saturday. Tuesday he smashed a two-run triple in support of O'Toole. Pinson had collected two doubles Monday.

REDS HAVE 14 HITS

The Reds belted 14 hits against Lee Herlen, Mike Joyce and Early Wynn, who was notified by the White Sox after the game that he could not be carried on the roster. Wynn, seeking a chance to get his 300th victory, had been working out without a contract.

In other games, Kansas City Athletics shut out Detroit Tiger 4-0, New York Yankees belted Philadelphia Phillies 6-2, Milwaukee Braves defeated Minnesota Twins 5-1, Baltimore Orioles walloped Washington Senators 9-2 and New York Mets edged St. Louis Cardinals 7-6.

San Francisco Giants beat Cleveland Indians 6-3, Boston Red Sox edged Chicago Cubs 2-1, Houston Colts defeated Los Angeles Angels 9-5 and Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the University of New Mexico 4-0.

Hawks, Dogs Open Series Sunday

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The first game of the Eastern Canada Allan Cup final between Moncton Hawks and Windsor Bulldogs will be played here Sunday, April 7, OHA President Lloyd Pollock, CAHA convener for the series, announced Tuesday night.

Subsequent games in the best-of-seven series will be played Monday, April 8; Wednesday, April 10, and Sunday, April 14. Additional games, if necessary, are scheduled for Monday, April 15, Wednesday, April 17, and Sunday, April 21.

The survivor of the series will meet the Western Canada champion in the Allan Cup final, the series to be played in the East.

Lavorante Can Now Walk, Eat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Argentine heavyweight Alejandro Lavorante, who has been in a coma since he was knocked out in a fight here last Sept. 21, has improved to the extent that he can open his eyes.

He can walk from his wheelchair to his bed and eat his food unassisted.

"But Lavorante never will be a whole man again," says Dr. J. Dewitt Fox, neurosurgeon who has been in charge of his case.

The California Boxers and Wrestlers Fund that has paid for all his treatment and hospital costs now has exhausted the amount that legally can be spent for him.

Maroons Meet Falls In Finals

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Neil McNeil Maroons won the Metro Toronto Junior A playoffs Tuesday night when they defeated Toronto Marlboros 6-2 at Maple Leaf Gardens. The Maroons won the best-of-seven final series 4-2.

Gary Dineen and Bill MacMillan fired two goals each for the Maroons with Mike Doran and Andre Champagne adding singles. Duncan MacDonald and Grant Moore scored for Marlboros.

Neil McNeil will play Niagara Falls Flyers Sunday at Maple Leaf Gardens in the first game of the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Junior A finals.

DEMAND SESSION

JERUSALEM (AP) — Three opposition parties assailed Premier Ben-Gurion Monday night for what termed his pro-German attitude. They demanded a special parliament session to deal with mounting furor over West German scientist working for the United Arab Republic.

By BRUCE STOVEL

MONTREAL (CP)—At five foot-nine and 160 pounds, Dave Keon is one of the National Hockey League's smallest players.

But his effect on Montreal Canadiens in the last two weeks has been gigantic.

Canadiens' coach Toe Blake was talking Tuesday night about the duel his players have been waging with Keon, after Canadiens whipped Keon's Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 in their Stanley Cup semi-final game.

"I think that goal Keon got against us with eight seconds left, when Leafs won the league championship, really hurt," said Blake.

"We folded in the next game against Chicago . . . and we hadn't been the same since, until tonight."

"And then there was that goal against us last Thursday," Blake continued. "We played hurt as well as we did tonight, but we didn't have the scoring chances then, and Keon didn't miss when he got one."

Keon, a 23-year-old native of Noranda, Que., scored the winning goal last Thursday when Leafs edged Canadiens 3-2 to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series.

MISSED THIS TIME

Tuesday night, however, Keon came out second-best in his rivalry with Canadiens and their goalie, Jacques Plante. With Canadiens leading 2-1 early in the last period, Keon broke in alone on goal only to be stopped by a brilliant save by Plante.

"That was the turning point of the game," said Blake afterwards, wiping his forehead.

"That was the first breakaway I can remember that guy missing against us."

Canadiens' coach kept them in the semi - final series, which Leafs had threatened to wrap up in four straight games. Leafs now hold a 3-1 edge, with the fifth game to be played in Toronto Thursday.

Leafs took a 1-0 lead in the first period on a screened 10-foot shot by Ron Stewart that bit Plante's pads and dribbled over the goal line.

Henri Richard and Gilles Tremblay put Canadiens into a 2-1 edge with second - period goals, and Tremblay added an insurance goal early in the third period.

FUNCH PEEVED

Coach Punch Imlach was somewhat nettled after the game.

He took his players back to Toronto on the overnight train and said:

"I'm going to buckle them out to the practice rink as soon as we arrive.

"Things will be a little more serious Thursday night. I'll see to that."

He said Canadiens deserved to win, as they played better and had better luck. But he still was annoyed at his wingers for not carrying the puck out of their own end, and at the defencemen for losing their poise halfway through the game.

Neither club suffered any serious injuries.

But Leaf forward Bob Nevin needed eight stitches to close an ugly gash in the upper lip caused by a stray Montreal stick in the last minute of play, when Leafs benched goaltender John Bower for a sixth attacker.

And Montreal's slumping scoring star Bernie Geoffrion sat out the last half of the game after telling Blake his legs felt "stiff and tired." Geoffrion said he couldn't skate properly because of the muscle condition.

Team Physiotherapist Bill Head said the problem was caused by Geoffrion's infrequent use in recent games.

The game was fast and often rough-and-tumble, with each team having several near misses on clear scoring chances. Canadiens had more breakaways, and both Tremblay and Dickie Moore hit goal posts after beating Bower. Canadiens had a 40-24 edge in shots, and kept the crowd of 14,-084 roaring throughout most of the last two periods.

Both Tremblay's goals were scored while Canadiens had a man advantage, and Billy Hicke scored what would have been a third power-play goal in the third period, but referee Frank Udvari ruled the whistle had blown before the right winger jammed the puck behind Bower.

LEAFS HELP TREMBLAY

Tremblay scored his first goal when an attempted passout went in off Toronto defenceman Carl Brewer.

"On the second goal," Tremblay said, "Stanley Leaf defenceman Allan Stanley gave me the puck. He stopped the pass from Bobby (Rousseau), and then put it on my stick. All I had to do was shoot. I got it between Bower's legs."

Richard scored after Bower stopped Claude Provost on a breakaway sliding out of his net. Richard skated in quickly and whacked the puck into the empty net.

If necessary, the sixth game will be played here Saturday and the seventh game in Toronto Tuesday.

Wings Square 'Homer' Series; Win 4-1

Injured Hull Scores Lone Goal

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

Detroit (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings are a couple of homers. That's one conclusion to be drawn from the four games played to date in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

Coach Sid Abel of Detroit Pilous had a few more explosive things to say about his Hawks. They came here with a two-game bulge after 5-4 and 5-3 victories in Chicago. But the Wings walloped them 4-2 and then Tuesday night made it look easy with a 4-1 decision that squared the series.

"These guys," stormed Pilous in the dressing room post-mortem, "are supposed to have pride and prestige and they haven't shown them here. Let's not deny it—we've lost our bounce."

That's a fair summing-up the series now boils down to a best-of-three set with the fifth game at Chicago Thursday night, the sixth back here on Sunday. If necessary, the decisive seventh game will be played at Chicago next Tuesday.

"We deserved what we got," Pilous said. An Olympia Stadium crowd of 14,126, many of whom left early, had to agree with him. The Wings made it look easy despite the surprising appearance of Hawks' Bobby Hull.

The high-scoring left winger, eyes blackened and without a face mask to cover his badly broken nose, flew in from Chicago in the late afternoon after getting the okay from the club doctor. Hull supplied Chicago's only goal halfway through the second period.

It was 2-0 at the time on goals by Alex Faulkner and the incomparable Gordie Howe. Andre Pronovost made it 3-1 in the final two minutes of the period and Floyd Smith stretched it to 4-1 at 18 seconds of the third.

Chicago came to life after Hull's goal but the Wings soon bottled them up with stiff forechecking and the Hawks were no longer a threat. Hull, who also has a bruised right shoulder, took his regular turn on the ice, but he wasn't particularly effective.

The Wings didn't try to rough him up. "He wasn't getting into any tough spots and we didn't have to try to use the body on him," said coach Sid Abel.

Chicago goalkeeper Glenn Hall was the busiest man on the ice for the second straight game. He made 35 saves following a 44-stop night in the third game Sunday. The scoreboard showed he stopped 18 Detroit shots in the first period, eight in the second and 11 in the third.

Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets had an easy evening with only 17 saves—four in the opening period, 10 in the second and a mere three in the last 20 minutes.

Detroit scored its first two goals on power plays. Faulkner tipped in Alex Delvecchio's point shot and Howe, shaking off a check by big Moose Vasko, fired low in to the short side off Hall's pads.

Pronovost banged in the rebound after defenceman Bill Gadsby's liner from just inside the blue line, and Smith deflected puck into a corner on Doug Barkley's long, low shot.

Wings came out of it healthy. They didn't play veteran Vic Stasiuk who suffered a bruised collarbone in the third game and Abel said he may play Thursday.

For the Hawks, left-winger Ron Murphy, out since the first game with an infected ankle cut, still is in Chicago hospital. Defenceman Al MacNeil has two cracked ribs and Vasko went out late in the game with a five-stitch cut high on the forehead when he was hit by the puck.

Carrier Boy Gets Thrill

Gary Thompson, who shares an Ontario Intelligencer paper route with his brother Robert, recently won a day with the Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey club as a contest prize.

Gary, who lives at R. R. Carrying Place, was accompanied to Toronto by his brother and both were guests of the Leafs for a game against the Chicago Black Hawks.

The youngster was shown about by Leaf star Frank Mahovlich, who helped fit Gary with a pair of pro-style skates, as part of his contest prize. The Thompson boy plays hockey in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association Peewee grouping.

Gary and brother Bob met the members of the Leafs, including George "Punch" Imlach, manager-coach of the Toronto team. Gary had his picture taken with Mahovlich in the Maple Leaf dressing room.

The happy but slightly-awed youngster was also introduced to the Chicago players, including Bobby Hull and his younger brother Dennis.

Betting Shops Flourish

Britons Gamble Billions

LONDON (AP) — Betting is booming in Britain into a multi-billion-dollar business. A report issued today by the Churches' Council on Gambling said Britons gambled more than £850,000,000 ($2,500,000,000) last year —and that didn't include the amount staked at gaming clubs.

Gaming at clubs became legal under the Betting and Gaming Act of 1960. So did over-the-counter, ready-money betting at licensed shops established throughout the country.

One estimate puts the number of betting shops in Britain at 15,000.

The Churches' Council, a body including members from the Church of England, the Church of Scotland, the Methodists, Congregationalists, Baptists and the Salvation Army, estimated that £500,000,000 went on horse racing, with half of that amount being passed over the counter in betting shops.

A bet placed at a betting shop is as easy as buying a pack of cigarettes. All you do is walk in, place your bet over the counter, get a tab for it and then go back later and collect your money—if any.

The council estimate of British betting for 1962 was £100,000,000 up on 1961. And the council maintained the betting shops provided the reason.

Horses Stage Their Own 'Grey Cup'

TORONTO (CP) — The 4,054 racetrack fans roared "They're off!" as the horses took off in the fifth race at Greenwood Raceway Tuesday night.

Then there was a silence. Thick fog rolled in off nearby Lake Ontario and covered the steeds until they reappeared in the home stretch.

In the eighth race, won by Flash Song, with Alan Walker in the sulky, usually reliably sources said Flash Song took the lead in the back stretch over Gloria Elkington, second and King C. Lee, third.

MINOSO SOLD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Minnie Minoso, veteran Cuban outfielder, was sold by St. Louis Cardinals to the Washington Senators for an estimated $23,000, it was announced Tuesday. Minoso, 40 last November, has been a big league standout almost from the day he joined the Cleveland Indians in 1951.

Divulged Team Information

Probe Reveals Coach Guilty

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Atty.-Gen. Eugene Cook has concluded after a state investigation that Wallace Butts, who for 22 years coached football at Georgia, divulged vital team information to Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama prior to last fall's game between the two schools.

Cook's findings, made public Tuesday by Gov. Carl E. Sanders, stirred sharp attacks from attorneys for Butts and Bryant. The lawyers said Cook's conclusions were unwarranted, inaccurate and in some instances untruthful.

As the Georgia report was released, NCAA President Robert F. Ray said a preliminary inquiry indicated possible violations of the rules of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Investigations also are under way by an Alabama legislative committee, a U.S. Senate group and the Southeastern Conference.

In his lengthy report, Cook concluded the information given by Butts "was unethical and improper, and unsportsmanlike, and that the furnishing of such information might well have virtually affected the outcome of the game in points and margin of victory."

Alabama won 35-0 in the Sept. 22 opener for both teams.

The state investigation was ordered more than two weeks ago by Sanders after the Saturday Evening Post said Butts and Bryant rigged the game. Both men denied the accusations and Butts has sued the Post for $10,000,000 in a libel action.

Sanders said in there would be no further state action since no violation of any criminal statute was indicated and Butts is no longer associated with the university. Butts resigned as athletic director in Feburary.

Same Opinion Of Writers

Time Hasn't Changed 'Sliver'

By JOE REICHLER

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—If Ted Williams has changed, it isn't discernible to the naked eye or sensitive ear.

Outspoken, forthright, explosive intense, inquisitive, nervous and controversial, the big guy is as interesting as ever as he discusses baseball and baseball players, asking as many questions as he answers.

Sitting down, standing up, smiling, frowning, swearing, making sweet talk, gesturing, moving about but constantly talking, the great slugger relived his glory days with the Boston Red Sox.

"I have no regrets," he began. "I don't think I'd do a single thing differently if I were starting out again—except maybe concentrate a bit more on fielding. And I certainly wouldn't feel any different about most of you writers."

Except for a slight paunchiness around the middle and some lines on his ruggedly handsome face, Williams at 44 looks about the same as he did when he retired as an active player at the end of the 1960 season.

"You writers haven't changed a bit," he shouted. "Only the other day, a guy asked me to discuss present-day hitters. I told him there wasn't a hitter in the big leagues who couldn't improve and that went for guys like Mickey Mantle, Willie Mays or anybody. The guy made it appear that I was criticizing Mantle and Mays. I never intended that.

"I regard Mantle and Mays as among the greatest hitters I've ever seen. Those guys are super-stars."

Now a special batting instructor to Red Sox players, Williams admitted he misses the thrills of his 20 turbulent years with the Red Sox.

"I think I can still hit," he declared, "but if I tried to run I'd probably have a heart attack."

Cooper Is Fighter Of Month

NEW YORK (AP)—England's Henry Cooper, British Empire heavyweight champion, was named fighter of the month by Ring magazine today for his fifth-round knockout of Welshman Dick Richardson in a title defence.

Cooper is ranked ninth among the world contenders. He will meet Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, former world champion, in a 15-rounder for Johansson's European title at Stockholm April 22. Ingo was dropped from No. 1 contender to No. 2 because of inactivity. Bob Cleroux of Montreal is seventh.

There were other changes in other divisions, especially in the welterweight and featherweight classes, where new champions were crowned. Featherweight champion Davey Moore, dethroned by Sugar Ramos, died from brain injuries suffered in the battle. Welterweight king Emile Griffith was overthrown by Luis Rodriguez.

Bow 4-3 To Belch's

Belch Construction racked up its second straight one-goal victory over Hibbard-Callow last night, 4-3 over the Combines, to grab a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven Prince Edward North Shore hockey league finals.

The evenly-fought series continues on Thursday night and the fifth game is slated for next Tuesday. Game times are 8.15.

Belch's took a 1-0 lead in the first period of last night's thriller but the Combines tied it 1-1 in the second. Hibbard-Callow outplayed the winners in the third beat but couldn't put the puck behind goalie Tim Cook and Belch's outscored them 3-2 for the key win.

The losers outshot Belch's 28-27 and also took five of the game's nine penalties, including a misconduct to Rob Burrows.

Ralph Plane was the big gun for the Construction crew, scoring two goals and setting up the other pair. Doug Hallam had a goal and assist, Don McNevin a goal, Gord Young and Bob Yone an assist apiece.

Ab Wright paced the Combines with one goal and two assists. Larry Westfall collected one and one, Jim Campbell one goal and Jack Calnan two helpers.

Chips Are Down for Two Major Parties in Ontario, Liberals Holding Whip Hand

By JOHN LeBLANC

TORONTO (CP) — The chips are down for the two major political parties in Ontario.

All the portents say that if either the progressive Conservative or Liberal party is to come out of the federal election with a parliamentary majority, it will have to make big gains among this province's 85 seats.

The Liberals especially are under the gun here for, even should the Liberal tide run strongly April 8, Social Credit has knocked out the old assumption that Quebec seats will come automatically. Ontario is the big reservoir to make up any deficiency.

The Liberals need a net gain of 34 seats in all Canada to get a majority of the 265-seat Commons. The figuring is that about 15 of these will have to come from Ontario, where the party took 44 in 1962.

The Conservatives also may need this number from Ontario, or more, to move out of their minority status.

EYE MARGINAL SEATS

There is a particular scramble for about 30 seats where the margins were narrow last June, for perhaps 20 more where a swing could change things. They are scattered around the province in no particular pattern except that most of the bloc of 18 seats in the Toronto area were won closely.

In the campaigning, no particular sectional issues are being pushed. The Conservative organization remains hitched to Mr. Diefenbaker, who took 67 seats here in 1958 but slumped to 35 last June.

The Liberals, with 44 seats from the last election, are thumping on the theme of "responsible" stable government, which they equate with an overall majority for themselves.

Both the big parties entered 85 candidates. The New Democrats, with 80 starters, are working on the appeal of leader T. C. Douglas, their national politics and some local emphasis on unemployment. They elected six in 1962.

Social Credit is entered in 68 seats but has not been making any victory claims. The Communists have five candidates, admittedly going nowhere, and there are eight independents for a total of 331.

NO PCs IN NORTH

The Liberals, solid in the north except for three NDP seats, are concentrating much of their effort on about 18 mixed rural-industrial ridings strung like the arc of a necklace from the southwest to the Ottawa area and climbing the shores of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River.

The Conservatives took most of these in 1962, but in most cases the margins of 1958 were tight, and the Liberals now current and of them as "fringe" seats susceptible to turning over.

They are looking for some seats, too, in what once was the "solid Tory" section of Ontario—such as Perth, Huron, Oxford and Norfolk—which started drifting from the fold after the 1949 sweep of Louis St. Laurent.

In the rural areas, the Liberals are banking on votes from a pledge to name an associate minister of agriculture specializing in eastern farm affairs and from an effort to strengthen the party's identity with the farm community through its candidates.

ROBERTS RUN

In Conservative-held Wellington-Huron, they are running William Tilden, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture; Gordon McGavin, a former international plowing champion, is the candidate in Huron; and Ralph Dent, a professor at the Ontario Agricultural College, is contesting Wellington South.

In all, the Liberals have a total of 25 new faces since the last election.

Top strategists in the government party say they are going to improve on their 1962 showing but are not making any predictions on the total.

They contend the partial breakup of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's cabinet has not hurt the party in this province—indeed rallied support behind the leader—though Ontario was the province hit heaviest by ministerial drop-outs.

CLOSE IN TORONTO

Loss of the trade and justice ministers undoubtedly took some campaigning sting out. Previously, the breezy Mr. Hees and the fighting Mr Fleming were in cross-country demand for the stump.

Their former Toronto ridings of Broadview and Eglinton now are regarded as shaky. Liberal Mitchell Sharp, a surefire cabinet member if his party wins, is in the field again in Eglinton and Liberal candidate in Broadview is David Hahn, who gave Mr. Hees a scare in June.

Frank McGee, new minister without portfolio, is the only Conservative 1962 winner left among the cluster of 18 "Tory Toronto" seats, and he is in a stiff fight in York-Scarborough. This most populous Canadian constituency cut his margin from 39 to five per cent of the popular vote in June.

Apart from any effect of the ministers' withdrawals, the Conservatives lost back-room power in the defection of Toronto lawyer E. A. Goddo Goodman, who split with the prime minister on the nuclear issue and

Says Mt. Rushmore Figures "6 Ugliest Objects" in U.S.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television usually would rather be bad than scary, particularly when it comes to editorializing. Usually, when a controversial issue is involved, the approach becomes documentary, the various viewpoints carefully in balance. But that is not the task of outspoken Aline Saarinen, well-known critic and writer on art and design, who is a bi-weekly guest on NBC's Today Show. Mrs. Saarinen, a vermonal of strong opinion in the areas of her speciality, enjoys shaking up her audience by attacking and questioning things that are popularly accepted.

In a recent television appearance, she nominated the huge granite sculptures carved in Mount Rushmore as one of the six ugliest objects in the United States.

She's the enemy of awe-inspiring square skyscrapers that contribute, she believes, to the growing ugliness of great cities. She deplores the uniformity of typical development houses that spring up like mushrooms on cleared and treeless tracts. She described New York public for flocking to see the visiting Mona Lisa while 10 blocks away unsung and largely unvisited, hangs what she calls one of the greatest pictures ever painted: Rembrandt's self-portrait.

RECOMMENDED TONIGHT

CBS Reports, 7:30-8:30 est: The Silent Spring of Rachel Carson, a report on the widespread use of pesticides.

withdrew as top Toronto organizer. He had a strong hand in the Ontario victories.

HAS ROBARTS AID

The provincial party promptly tossed out Mr. Goodman as a vice-president, and Premier Robarts and former premier Leslie Frost gave Mr. Diefenbaker a cooling ecumenesis. The strength of Mr. Robarts' backing is still to be assessed, since he inherited the Government from Mr. Frost late in 1961 and has yet to run a provincial election.

In the Conservatives' minus column is the withdrawal of previous support by Toronto's Telegram and The Globe and Mail.

In general, party officials say, they expect to hold their rural seats—largely in the middle of the province — and get back some they lost by narrow margins, though they're not optimistic about getting back into the Toronto area bloc in strength.

The NDP hopes to hold its present six—three of them in that bloc—and pick off the odd one here and there. They regard themselves as strong in Mr. Hees's York-Scarborough riding; in Broadview, where the destination of Mr. Hees' personal following is uncertain, and York Centre, a Liberal - held Toronto seat where the last Conservative MP walked out in disagreement with Mr. Diefenbaker on defence.

At the Belle

"The Girl of the Golden West" starts Thursday for one week, at the Belle Theatre. Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, with Walter Pidgeon, Leo Carrillo and Buddy Ebsen also in leading roles.

Based upon the original stage play written by David Belasco, the picture is presented against the romantic background of the colorful gold mine camps of 1850, the romantic mission and villages with their gaiety and music and dancing, the High Sierras and giant redwoods and bandit camps.

It is the story of Mary (Jeanette MacDonald), who runs the Polka saloon in Cloudy Mountain. She is loved by all the boys, but Jack Ramsey, Walter Pidgeon is the favored one. On a trip to Monterey, the stage coach is held up by Ramerez, Nelson Eddy, a notorious bandit, who falls in love with Mary.

He follows her to Monterey and masquerades as Lieut. Dick Johnson. Mary does not recognize him as Ramerez, but in his persistent suit for her love, he is captured in her cabin by Rance. Mary and Rance play cards for Ramerez' life and she wins, but Rance has caught her cheating. She promises to marry Rance, if he will free Ramerez, but keeps her word to Rance again finds Mary in Ramerez' arms. He had promised to kill the bandit sight, but gives him an even chance. They circle the chapel in opposite directions to shoot it out in the film's suspenseful and explosive climax.

Although the screen version of "The Girl of the Golden West" is adapted from the drama by Belasco, an entirely new score was written for the film by Sigmund Romberg and Gus Kahn, including songs based on native Mexican music, rollicking camp songs and sentimental ballads of the period.

Jeanette MacDonald sings "Shadows of the Moon", "The Wind in the Trees", "Dream of Love", and Mary and Nelson Eddy solos in "Senorita", and "Soldiers of Fortune", and the two stars duet in "Who Are We To Say." Buddy Ebsen sings the humorous "The West A'int Wild Any More", and there are two lavish production numbers, "Sun-Up to Sundown" and "Mariachis".

"The Girl of the Golden West", was directed by Robert Z. Leonard, and produced by William Anthony McGuire, and will be presented on Thursday only, April 4th, for one day, matinee and evening, at the Belle Theatre in Belleville.

ROUGH RIDER QUITS

OTTAWA (CP) — Gilles Archambault, 28S-pound Canadian football star with the Ottawa Riders of the Canadian Football League for the last seven seasons, announced his retirement from football Tuesday.

He received a serious knee injury in the Ottawa-Montreal Big Four semi-final last fall.

Archambault said another knee operation would be necessary before he could play in even one game. Even then, there would be no guarantee the knee would stand up "and so I have decided to call it quits."

Movie Column

Format of Premiere Same As It Was During Twenties

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The names have been changed—from Wilma Banky to Red Lacroque to Natalie Wood and Warren Beatty.

Otherwise the Hollywood premiere is virtually the same today as it was 30 years ago.

The origin of this Hollywood rite is now clouded with time, but the premiere came into flower under the inspired showmanship of the late Sid Grauman. By the late 1920s, the format was set: The searchlights, the bleacher seats for cheering fans, the stars emerging from their limousines, the interviews at the microphone.

The standard speech for the occasion remains unchanged: "I know it's going to be a wonderful picture."

Despite the sameness of the ceremony, no one has come up with a better way of stirring up hoopla for the opening of a movie. Thursday night Universal will put on yet another premiere, for The Ugly American.

TOUCHY PROBLEM

One of the men in charge of the event is Dan Thomas, youngish-looking despite his 58 years as Hollywood columnist and publicity man. I dropped in his office as he was working over acceptances to the premiere and assigning positions on a large seat chart of the Pantages Theatre.

"Seating requires care," he explained. "You can't seat Hedda next to Louella. Nor can you put an actor next to his ex-wives. You have to keep track of the feuds and marriages in town."

Pressure is applied, if necessary, to assure that the stars of the picture will be present.

"After all, the prime purpose of a premiere is publicity," Thomas remarked. "If we don't have the stars of the picture there, you don't get much."

FEVER STARTS

Assuring a good star turnout becomes an increasing problem with the years. There are fewer stars.

Thomas pointed out: "Back in the old days, MGM alone had more stars than are in the movie business today."

Besides, many of them no longer make their homes here. And those who are working are sometimes loath to stay out late when faced with an early call. Cost of a premiere can range from a rock-bottom $4,500 to a splashy $20,000. Despite the movie companies' skimpy purse strings, they still make the outlay. If the premiere ever vanishes, so will Hollywood.

Williams Wins Over Johnson

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)-Heavyweight contender Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams scored a technical knockout over young Jack Johnson Tuesday night with two minutes and one second gone in the final round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

Williams, weighing 213 pounds had a difficult tussle with his 23-pound adversary in a wild battle that saw Johnson walk across the ring and hit Williams on the light blow after Referee Jimmy Webb called the technical knockout.

The only knockdown came in the fifth when Williams floored the New York fighter for an eight-count with a solid right cross followed by a left hook.

Handgun Shooting

Following are the team standings and top individual scores after the last shoot held by the revolver section of the R.N.W. Handgun Club. -

Team Standings

Team one 50 points (9513), Team Two 50 points (9486), Team Three 41 points (8808). Team Four 35 points (8213.)

The last regular indoor shoot of the season will be held on April 5.

ORDER AID

ST. PAUL, Minn. (CP)—Minnesota conservation agencies have been ordered to make an all-out drive to rescue and rehabilitate thousands of ducks threatened by oil pollution of the Mississippi River. Wardens from as far as 200 miles from here manned boats to rescue oil-logged ducks after the birds were spotted from planes. The oil patches, stemming from upstream industrial accidents during the winter, were estimated to have already killed thousands of ducks.

Astrological Forecast

For April 4
By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Snap decisions not wise today. Don't judge book by cover. Many around you say things and are sincere. But soon change minds . . . also sincere-ly! Wait for dust to settle.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Don't permit minor matters to upset you. Later, conditions "smooth" out. Gloom wastes time, emotional energy. Strive for matrority, understanding by following Golden Rule.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Plenty of activity today. But you must be sure you are not being "used." Check facts. Find out what you are to obtain for efforts. This avoids arguments later. Think in terms of future, not past.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Relief from recent pressures indicated. Better financial outlook shown. You should receive "shoulder to lean on." But don't too hard! Self-reliance also important. Express appreciation, love.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): You make impression upon public. But Leo showmanship must be combined with knowledge. Be thorough. Express self as authority. But insert note of modesty, charm.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Tread lightly on "feelings" of associates. Proceed steadily, with confidence. Cycle high enough to win support. Confide in family members. Younger person may come up with bright idea. Listen!

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Evaluate friendships, wishes. Are you being held back, or pushed forward? Answer important . . . must come from within. Day for self-analysis. Pisces-born individual helps arrive at truth.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You may get pressure from superiors. Be ready to prove your worth. Time to go all out and show you can handle added responsibility. Very good for cooperating in community, church activities. Welcome spotlight!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Day you spread influence. Write, read, express opinion. Day for making others aware that you exist. Public relations, advertising need attention. Follow through on past promises.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Strive today for added opportunity in thought and action. Money affairs can be straightened out. Take marital or business partner into confidence. If you require help — ask for it!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Bring of accomplishment essential to well-being. Start close to home. First step is eliminating false pride. Be friendly, diplomatic, considerate. You'll be amazed at results!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Key is consideration. Avoid self-pity. Look at situation as it exists for one close to you. Mature action accomplishes wonders. Much to gain. Remember sense of humor. No tears!

If today is your birthday . . . you are practical, but sometimes settle for action rather than waiting for best results. Year fine for realizing some of fondest hopes.

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Leo, Virgo, Libra. Special word to Pisces. A laugh today wins.

MADE BIG INCREASE

Britain increased exports to the Soviet Union from $135,000,000 to $230,000,000 between 1958 and 1962.

No Sign of Any Compromise Between R.C. Church and Soviet Union Despite Thaw

By JOHN ORGAN

ROME (Reuters)—Despite a current thaw between the Roman Catholic Church and the Soviet Union, there is no sign of any compromise between them on essentials.

A reminder of the continuing underlying tension is provided by a public exhibition here entitled The Martyred Church of Today which displays the sufferings of Roman Catholics in Communist countries.

In 1960, Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, secretary of the Vatican's Supreme Congregation of the Holy Office, publicly criticized contacts between Western statesmen and those who "slap the face of God."

He condemned the apparent race "to be the first to shake hands and exchange smiles with the oppressors of the church."

Now Pope John himself has shaken hands in the Vatican with Alexei Adzhubei, son-in-law of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and a member of the Soviet Communist party central committee.

Many believe that Pope John's talk with Adzhubei has cleared the way for him to receive Khrushchev, should the Soviet statesman visit Rome.

Small contingents of bishops from Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia were allowed by the Communist authorities to attend the first session of the Vatican ecumenical council.

For most, it was their first direct contact with the Vatican after many years of isolation.

More bishops from Communist countries are expected when the ecumenical council, the church's first world assembly for nearly a century, reassembles bes Sept. 8.

Two observers from the Moscow assembles here Sept. 8.

The Russian Orthodox Church attended the first session of the ecumenical council. Later, the leader of Ukrainian-rite Catholics in the Soviet Union, Archbishop Josyp Slipyj, was released after nearly 18 years' detention.

Statements from both the Vatican and the Kremlin appeal for peaceful coexistence in the world and the avoidance of force in settling disputes.

Catholics hope for more freedom for believers in Communist countries and an opportunity to repair some of the havoc wrought under Stalinist - type regimes.

But the bitter legacy of post-war years has not been forgotten.

The Martyred Church of Today exhibition uses the latest display techniques to paint a picture of repressive measures taken against the 63,780,000 Roman Catholics who live under Communist rule. They represent 12 per cent of the world's Roman Catholic population.

"Jest a Second"

"Our marriage is perfect it was HERE idea to come here."

Douglas Rejects Support of Reds

SAINT JOHN (CP)—T. C. Douglas, leader of the New Democratic Party, said Tuesday that Communist support is neither sought nor accepted by his party.

"The Communists are like fleas which keep jumping from one dog's back to another, moving each time they get scratched off," he said in an interview.

Mr. Douglas said he could recall Communist backing for the Liberals in 1945. He added that few people give any credence to how the Communists talk.

The NDP leader left Montreal early Tuesday on a scheduled Trans-Canada Air Lines flight and during the Montreal-Quebec leg of the flight he sat with Quebec Resources Minister Rene Levesque for a half-our chat.

It was the first personal meeting for the two men. Mr. Douglas greeted Mr. Levesque by saying "I'm a great admirer of yours." The Quebec minister returned the compliment and said during the chat he would like to see a seat which a Douglas aide had quickly vacated.

Reds Well Ahead In Space Race Says Kennedy

U.S. May Not Catch up, Ought to Keep Trying

WASHINGTON (CP) — Impressed by Soviet rocket power, President Kennedy says the Soviet Union is well ahead in the space race and he doesn't know whether the U.S. can catch up. But he wants the U.S. to keep trying in the hope the race will change by 1970.

Estimating the U.S. won't get its big rocket boosters before 1964-66, Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday the U.S. should not look with equanimity on the prospect that it may remain behind Russia in space all through the 1960s and possibly the 1970s.

The U.S. had started late and now with the new Soviet Lunik IV shooting towards the moon, Russia had launched a major new space effort. For the U.S. to try to catch up was an uphill race at the best."

Kennedy also said that since last November the Russians removed about 9,000 of their troops from Cuba and that probably about 12,000 or 13,000 remain. The U.S. would be watching for further withdrawals though Kennedy set no time limit for their removal.

CONDEMNS RAIDERS

At the same time he criticized hit-and-run raids by Cuban exiles and said there would be no move Fidel Castro from Cuba. The U.S. had imposed restraints on these raids, suggesting that those who wanted to aid their country should join the American armed forces.

Kennedy said that of the 1,100 Bay of Pigs prisoners released by Castro, about 1,000 have joined the American forces.

The trouble with the hit-and-run raids, he said, is that they are not controlled. No one in a position of responsibility knew what was going on. If a Soviet ship was hit in a Cuban port, there might be reprisals against American shipping and this could bring a response from American forces. When issues of this kind arise in the balance, the U.S. government wanted to be in a position of control.

Kennedy plans to fly to Europe in the latter part of June

FARMERS' UNION BRIEF URGES MEDICARE PLAN

Fallout Publicity On Milk Worrying

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature adjourned for a 12-day Easter recess Wednesday.

Matters occupying the House included an Ontario Farmers' Union brief urging establishment of a medical care plan as the earliest possible date, and the question of participation by political parties in royal commission hearings.

In a brief to the agriculture committee, the Farmers' Union urged adoption of a medical care plan that will cover all the medical needs of all the people in the province."

The brief said: No one in this province should be denied the fullest measures of health protection. Although it may be argued these measures prevail today, it must be admitted only so on the grounds that many must accept charity."

Another resolution urged establishment of an agricultural importation board that would have the power to issue import permits on agricultural products only when shortages occurred."

FALLOUT SCARE

The farmers' union asked the government to promote an educational program aimed at counter-balancing undue publicity being given of the supposed injurious effects of radioactive fallout on milk."

The program would deal with fallout as related to milk by using as a cross reference the amount of radioactive fallout in vegetables, shortening and margarine."

Other recommendations in the brief:

Government regulation to stop

Canadian Workers Must Realize Their Jobs Depend on Exports

OTTAWA (CP) — The president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association said today that present and future job prospects in Canada depend on how successfully Canada pushes its export drive.

Carl A. Pollock told the association's views at the opening session of a conference of Canada's trade commissioners. The conference is part of a trade promotion drive sponsored by the federal trade department.

The CMA leader called for a massive push to sell more goods to the United States than Canada buys.

Gordon Gland, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said the current atmosphere is favorable for an expansion of export trade.

Trade Minister McCutcheon said that if negotiations at the forthcoming GATT meeting in Geneva are successful, Canada should win "important improvements" in its export opportunities in the world markets.

The Canadian Labor Congress said that no time should be lost after the April 8 election in setting up a national economic council to bring labor, management and government together for effective economic planning. "Too much time has been lost already," said CLC President Claude Jodoin.

Their own jobs may very well depend on how successful we are at getting them [illegible] it," he said. So will the jobs created for tens of thousands of possible new jobs in the years immediately ahead."

He outlined the association's

FRENCH GOVT. REACHES ACCORD WITH MINERS

Compromise Ends Month-Long Strike

PARIS (AP)—France's coal mines are expected to reopen this weekend, following settlement of the month-long miners' strike that gave President Charles de Gaulle his biggest home front setback since he returned to power in 1958.

The managers of the government-owned mines and the union reached a compromise settlement Wednesday night. Quick ratification by leaders of the 170,000 miners in the coal basins was predicted.

Though the miners gave some ground in the settlement, de Gaulle's prestige has suffered. Early in the strike he ordered the men back to the pits under a requisition decree threatening them with dismissal, fines or jail. The miners defied the order. Other unions threatened a general strike, contending de Gaulle's decree abridged the right to strike. The government did nothing to enforce the order.

The miners had demanded an 11-per-cent wage increase, a 40-hour week and a fourth week of vacation. The government offered a 4.5-per-cent increase and a restudy of wage scales in September.

The agreement provides for a 6.5-per-cent pay raise effective April 1 and periodic boosts until the total increase reaches 12.5 per cent next April 1. Union leaders said the fourth vacation week was assured and the work week reduction will be studied by a management-union conference.

The government also promised to re-examine the whole wage schedule in September.

The coal miners have been averaging about $36 for a six-day, 46-hour week. They contended their pay had not kept up with wages in booming private industries. The government resisted because it feared having to grant similar increases in other nationalized industries, with inflation resulting.

Bomarc Issue Still Sizzles On Campaign's Front Burner

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Bomarc missile issue still sizzles on the front burner as the election campaign nears its climax.

Demagoguery," said Liberal leader Pearson in Montreal Wednesday night, referring to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's assertion that Liberal nuclear policy for Bomarcs might make Canada a burnt sacrifice."

Hoax," was the term used by Mr. Diefenbaker about Liberal defence policy as he tangled with Liberal hecklers at a Toronto meeting.

Speeches of both party leaders showed that election campaign fallout still is showing up

U.S. Says Russia Appeals To Emotions on Arms Issue

GENEVA (AP)—The United States accused Russia Wednesday of building up public pressure for a disarmament program "favoring the Communist bloc.

U.S. delegate David Mark told the 17-nation disarmament talks that Soviet insistence on radical elimination of nuclear weapons in the first phase of general disarmament disregards the existing world situation.

He said the Soviet Union's disarmament plan contains gross imbalance and favoritism to the Soviet side" and would cause "catastrophic and wholly one-sided harm to the Western alliance."

Mark said Soviet negotiator Semyon Tsarapkin in presenting the Kremlin's proposals has conducted "an incessantly repeated appeal to popular emotions so as to build up pressure on the West to adopt a disarmament plan favoring the military, political and strategic interests of the East in entirely one-sided fashion."

The U.S. delegate said the East - West military balance must be maintained throughout any program of general and complete disarmament.

Mark said that in the western view any general disarmament process must start by freezing arms and forces at their present levels.

The Soviet delegate made no from U.S. Defence Secretary McNamara's statement, made public last Friday, that Bomarc missile bases are useful at the very least" for drawing enemy ballistic missile fire if war comes.

Economic issues were tackled in speeches by the other two party leaders—New Democratic Party chief T. C. Douglas in Vancouver and Social Credit leader Robert Thompson at Innisfail, Alta.

Mr. Douglas said foreign control of the Canadian economy is the main reason why Canada comment on Mark's statement.

Canada's LL-Gen. E. L. M. Burns was criticized the soviet delegate for his consistent refusal to enter into substantive discussions.

Burns singled out a Soviet proposal whereby part of the means of delivering nuclear weapons could be retained till the end of the second stage of disarmament. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko made the proposal in general terms during last fall's meeting of the general assembly, but so far the

20 FARMERS TO STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER

Magistrate Wavers But Commits Them

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—A former prisoner-of-war camp became a temporary home Wednesday night for 20 Northern Ontario farmers after a magistrate committed them for trial on three charges each of non-capital murder.

The settlers, ranging in age from 18 to 59, were driven by Ontario Provincial Police to Monteith industrial farm 100 miles southeast of here. Many were on the verge of tears as they waved goodbye to wives and families outside the Kapuskasing municipal building.

Magistrate W. S. Gardner, who said he had wavered from one side to the other," finally decided that he could not in effect try the case and must leave it to the Supreme Court of Ontario.

The trials, possibly the largest in Canadian history on a charge of murder, are expected to begin next October. Defence counsel M. J. Haffey of Toronto said he is considering seeking a writ of habeas corpus before an application is made for bail. The settlers had previously been released on $5,000 property bail.

THREE LOGGERS SLAIN

The settlers are charged with the deaths of three loggers, cut down by a barrage of gunfire when they and an estimated 400 other striking bushworkers raided a log-cutting camp operated by a pseudo-farmers' cooperative at Reesor Siding, 32 miles west of here, Feb. 11.

Charges of shooting with intent to wound and of rioting were dismissed Wednesday by Magistrate Gardner when the Crown offered no evidence.

Magistrate Gardner first made his decision on the non-capital murder charges against

Queen Found No Lessening Of Ties

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth found that despite problems and interests different from Britain's the people of Australia and New Zealand "look at them in ways we instinctively understand and appreciate."

She told a welcome - home luncheon given by the City of London in the Guildhall on return from a two-month Pacific tour that she and Prince Philip found no lessening of Commonwealth ties during their visit.

"Whatever changes may have taken place in all these countries" she said, "there was certainly no alteration in the friendly and cheerful hospitality shown us by all sections of the community wherever we went."

Anti-Necking Bill Passed In Minnesota

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)— An anti - necking-while-driving bill was embraced in the Minnesota House of Representatives Wednesday by a 108-to-41 preliminary approval vote.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor for anyone in the front seat of a moving automobile to put his or her arm round another person. This covers driver or passenger.

Said Representative Leslie Edblund, St. Paul, a co-author:

"We got nation-wide publicity on this. If we don't pass it, we will be on record as condoning necking while driving on the highways."

Discuss Truce Terms With Rebel Admiral

Rebels Also Losing Fight for Second Base

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A column of loyalist army tanks and 3,000 troops rolled into the Argentine coastal resort of Mar Del Plata today and took over the rebel navy base there without firing a shot. The seizure left the rebels with one strong hold as they sought a truce to end their uprising.

The rebel fleet commander, Rear Admiral Eladio Vazques, turned up at government house this morning for his second meeting on a truce with loyalist military leaders.

The navy rose up in rebellion Tuesday in an attempt to overthrow President Jose Maria Guido.

The rebels were still in command — but apparently losing ground—at Argentina's largest navy base, at Puerto Belgrano, 350 miles south of here.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert Berreiles reported from Puerto Belgrano that navy and marine garrisons there were digging in and setting up fortifications against a possible move by loyalist forces on the base. Loyalist troops were reported in Bahia Blanca, about 35 miles from the base. They occupied the city of 200,000 Wednesday.

CHANGES ORDERS

Vazques, meanwhile, ordered the rebel fleet that had been threatening an attack on Buenos Aires to steer for Puerto Belgrano. Berreiles quoted a navy rebel spokesman as saying that the aircraft carrier Independencia with 22 jet fighters on board was in the vicinity of the base.

The carrier is the former HMCS Warrior, loaned to Canada by the Royal Navy in 1946-48.

The Argentine news agency Telpress reported that the rebel air base at Bahia Blanca was being abandoned by the rebels. The agency quoted a base spokesman as saying:

"It's all over."

The base at Mar del Plata was the navy's second most important rebellious stronghold. It is 230 miles southeast of this capital.

An eyewitness told The Associated Press by telephone that the loyalist takeover of Mar del Plata was uneventful, and "not a shot was fired." Navy units had evacuated the base.

A loyalist communique earlier reported that most of Argentina was under government control.

The communique conceded that the rebels had gained the

British Budget Fails to Evoke Any Warm Approval or Criticism

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons today greeted the Conservative party's new national budget—giving Britain taxpayers £270,000,000 ($810,000,000) in tax relief for the coming year—with neither real approval nor bitter criticism.

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror summed up the left-wing viewpoint with a complaint that Wednesday's budget was "dull" endorsing the labor party's charge of too little and too late."

But Conservative opinion, such as that expressed by The Daily Telegraph, said the budget would appeal to Conservative voters who had been shunning the austerity policies of the government in recent elections and would welcome the tax relief.

The Communist Daily Worker called the budget a "mouse"—with "all the impact of a lump of cold rice pudding."

A Liberal newspaper, The Guardian of Manchester, said the general effect of the budget is uninspiring . . . some of the special measures . . . bring Britain hardly nearer to the strength of the economy but they will do little immediately."

The independent London Times, under the heading "Good Intentions," questioned whether Maudling's "welcome clarity" helped to produce a coherent financial policy sufficient to meet his own aim of "expansion without inflation."

Observers said Maudling's proposals amounted to a "no election budget" and predicted another before Prime Minister Macmillan calls a general election.

Macmillan must call an election not later than October, 1964.

Labor Party Leader Harold Wilson welcomed the fact the government had been economically expansionist in the budget. But he complained that for years the Conservatives held back expansion by their overcautious policies.

ALL-OUT DRIVE AGAINST QUEBEC FLQ IS PLANNED

Acts of Sabotage Bring Police Parley

MONTREAL (CP) — An all-out offensive was promised against an extremist group of Quebec separatists known as the Quelqe Liberation Front (FLQ) after a meeting Wednesday of Montreal police, provincial police and RCMP investigators.

We mean business," Montreal Det.-Sgt. Leo Brunet told reporters following the closed-door session. Our three forces are going all-out to stamp out the FLQ."

The FLQ (Front de Liberation Quebecois) has claimed responsibility for recent acts of sabotage in the Montreal and Quebec City areas, including the explosion of a bomb in the ventilating system of the National Revenue Building here and damage to the CNR main line south of Quebec shortly before a train carrying Prime Minister Diefenbaker passed through.

Police report 16 bombs scares in the Montreal area within the last two days.

The latest anonymous caller said a bomb had been planted in the downtown Craig Street armory where Liberal Lester Pearson addressed a political rally Wednesday night. Like most of the others, it proved a hoax.

The letters "FLQ" have been painted on walls, bridges, road signs, on a freight shed near the damaged rail line and even

Month Added To Sentence

A former Belleville man, already serving time for false pretences today had another month added to his term on a similar charge.

William John Shaw, lately living in Toronto, pleaded guilty to passing a false $10 money order at Hamilton's general store in Foxboro March 18.

"He said he made an error," said crown attorney John Pringle. Shaw claimed he made it out to a Belleville bank instead of a Toronto branch.

Shaw was sentenced to two months on two other false pretences charges March 26 in Belleville.

"This is just one more then," commented the magistrate. "Are there any more (charges) coming along?"

"Not that we've heard of," replied the prosecutor.

Visiting Ban At Hospital Partly Eased

Partial lifting of visiting restrictions in effect at Belleville General Hospital for the past few weeks, has been announced by hospital authorities.

Hospital administrator Werner F. O. Daechsel said today that, in view of the gradual wane of the influenza-like illnesses in the community, it is now felt that some of the visiting restrictions could be lifted.

Immediate relatives of patients will be given visiting privileges as of Wednesday afternoon, April 3rd.

Mr. Daechsel said, however, it was hoped that even immediate relatives will restrict their visits to a minimum, as this precaution was necessary in view of the residual of the recent epidemic and the overcrowding that persists in the hospital.

He emphasized that the continued co-operation of all concerned would provide a safeguard for hospital patients.

Lifting of all visiting restrictions will be considered in the near future, Mr. Daechsel stated.

Missouri Choir Will Sing Here

The Evangel College concert choir of Springfield, Missouri, will give a concert at Calvary Temple, Dundas and George Street, here on Wednesday, April 10th, at 8 p.m., the Rev. Laurie Price has announced.

The 24-voice choir is directed by Hope Collins, a member of the music faculty at Evangel College, and visits South Africa, she is a composer and most of the arrangements sung by the concert choir are hers.

Currently on their annual spring tour, the choir is appearing in six cities from Missouri to New York, and in Ontario.

The choir's repertoire includes "Greatest Love of All", "Out of the Depths I Cry," and "God So Loved Love" as well as a cappella; "Nobody Known," "On My Journey Home," "Ride the Chariot," "In That Great Getin' Up Morning," and "I Hear a Voice a Prayin," Negro spirituslists; and other songs, such as "Ship Ahoy," "Gloria in Excelsis," "The Lord's Prayer", "Just for Today", "Warfaring Stranger," "Amazing Grace," and "Lonely Road."

Bay Almost Clear of Ice

Ice in the Bay of Quinte has been just about licked for another year.

This morning the bay was reported clear west of the Bay Bridge, while east from the government dock the open water can be seen, almost as far as the narrows near Point Anne.

In the cove to the north of Zwick's Island, however, the ice is piled up and a few patches are still visible on the bay northeast of the government dock. The inner harbor is also mostly ice covered.

But in a day or so the last remnant of ice will have disappeared and local boating enthusiasts will again be thinking in terms of their favorite summer fun.

Ontario's Department of Highways has taken a further step in the program of gradual establishment of two-way radio systems for its operating districts.

With the recent completion of two - way radio systems for the North Bay, Sudbury and Bancroft districts, the Department now has radio communications in 13 of its 16 districts. These are Chatham, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, London, Kingston, Owen Sound, Stratford, Port Hope and Huntsville. All together these districts are now covered by 390 mobile units in addition to the many fixed stations located at district bases and other strategic points throughout the areas serviced.

Senior Citizens Mourn Deaths Of 3 Members

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens Club was held on Wednesday evening with approximately 60 present.

The president opened the meeting. Birthday greetings to all those who will be celebrating a birthday during the month of April were sung, with Mrs. Shirley at the piano.

In one respect the meeting was of an unusual character, owing to the fact that during the ten days previous to the meeting, the club had suffered the loss of three faithful members who had been called to their reward by the persons of Messrs. Walter Haley, Fred Charlton and past president Harry Scales. The club choir gathered around the piano and led in the singing of two quite appropriate hymns and all observed one minute of silence in memory of the deceased members.

The secretary, Mrs. J. Robinson, read the minutes; Mrs. Gay reported on visits to a number of members who are ill and sent cards to hospitals.

The members then enjoyed the usual progressive euchre and fellowship. The winners were: Mrs. Van Alstine, Mrs. Kelley, Mrs. Joyner, Mrs. Lee; M. Bannister, Mr. J. White and M. Sandland. The winner of the door prize draw was Mrs. Stoliker. The refreshment hostesses served lunch.

Active bearers were Roy Benn, Ron Bonsor, Ed Flindall, Ken Farr, Arthur Bertram and Boyd Steele.

Interment was at Parham Cemetery.

Magistrate Rejects Accused's Story

A 19-year-old Deseronto youth was given a year's suspended sentence in Belleville today after Magistrate T. Y. Wills refused to believe his reason for being in possession of a stolen transistor radio.

Morris Hanna told police he had purchased radios on two different occasions from people he didn't know in Napanee and Madoc and had sold one to a man he didn't know in Toronto.

"Frankly, I don't believe the story," said the magistrate. "It is utterly fantastic, unreasonable and incredible."

He ordered Hanna to make $27 restitution for one of the radios.

MANY VISITED

Between February 1960 and February 1963, a total of 1,265,940 persons visited the National Gallery of Canada in Ottawa.

Three Men Hurt As Car Hits Embankment

Police today were still investigating the cause of a car accident in east Belleville last night that sent three Frankford men to hospital.

Scene of the mishap was Bridge Street East at Parrott Drive, where a car driven by 47-year-old Douglas Brown was wrecked when it crashed into a guide embankment.

Brown suffered possible concussion in the accident. Also in Belleville General Hospital today were Leonard Reid, 41, with suspected rib fractures, and Clinton Hannah King, 48, with a fractured cheekbone.

Police say Brown told them he was looking for a house address on Bridge when his automobile hit the embankment. Total property loss was estimated at $1,800.

Loses Licence, Fined for Leaving Scene

A Belleville district man who took the wheel of his own car after police had charged his friend for driving without a licence, today paid $100 for leaving the scene of an accident the same night. He also lost his licence for six months.

The chain of events was unravelled in provincial court this morning after Stanley Gordon Typhair pleaded guilty to charges of impaired and allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

Constable Wm. W. G. Willis said he stopped Typhair's car at Marysville February 28 because it was being driven erratically. The driver, John Lambert, had no licence and was charged. Typhair was a passenger in the car.

Two hours later the same officer was called to Highway 502, about four miles west of Marysville where two men were being held by the train driver of an automobile whose car had been hit. They were Typhair and Lambert. This time Typhair was driving.

Constable Willis said Norman Cressman, Crown Attorney was joined in a chase by another driver whose car had been forced off the road by the Typhair automobile. Minutes after they got the car stopped a provincial police officer from Napanee arrived on the scene.

Crown Attorney John Pringle said he did not intend to minimize the seriousness of the charges against Typhair, whose air had no record and there were no personal injuries in the accident.

The accused was fined $13.50, including costs, for allowing his friend to drive without a licence.

R. Plumpton Heads Traffic League Body

Ralph Plumpton, of Corby's Distillery, Ltd., has been named chairman of the export-import committee of the Canadian Industrial Traffic League, Golden Triangle District. The appointment was made at the district monthly meeting of the league, in Brockville. Twelve other committee chairmen for 1963 were named at the same meeting.

GEORGE S. MALLORY

Social Credit Candidate Here For Three Days

Four candidates are entered in the South Hastings federal election race this year, for the first time since 1958. George S. Mallory, the Social Credit candidate arrived in Belleville from St. Catharines yesterday afternoon· He will remain in the riding three days.

Mr. Mallory, president of the Ontario Social Credit League, lives at "The Hermitage," a famous country house near Cayuga, Ont., with his wife and nine children. Nine of the children are married. A Pentecostal minister for the past 18 years, he has worked as a machinist, farmer and radio repairman as well as his current trade of piano tuning. He has preached at Pentecostal churches through the Quinte area, and during the last war he lived at Frankford and worked, as a machinist, at Batawa.

Working for the church, Mr. Mallory has spent several years in missionary work through the Maritimes Northern Ontario and Northern Manitoba. He is a member of the American Fellowship of Christian Musicians — of a group of ministers who do sleight-of-hand for a living, and prides himself on his skill as a lightning oil paint artist. He claims he can finish a two by three foot oil painting of a landscape in 20 minutes flat.

Mr. Mallory's decision to run in Hastings South was made early during the election, but speaking engagements, some of them made at short notice, have prevented him campaigning on his own behalf. He held a meeting of Social Credit candidates from the surrounding areas in Belleville on March 21, but has been unable to schedule any public or house meetings in the riding.

Mr. Mallory's whole campaign is concentrated on personal distribution of literature, and a total of eight radio talks. The first talk was carried over CJBQ last night.

U.S. Has Denied Responsibility For Cuban Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Wednesday categorically rejected Russia's allegation of U.S. responsibility for two recent hit-and-run raids on Russian ships in the Cuban area and again pressed for withdrawal of Soviet troops from Cuba.

The American position was set forth in a note delivered to the Soviet foreign ministry in Moscow and made public by the state department, replying to two Russian notes protesting raids on Soviet ships in Cuban ports March 18 and 26.

Anti - Castro commandos claimed to have shot up the Russian merchant ship Lvog on March 18 and to have blown a hole in the Russian freighter Baku on March 26 using a small explosive-laden remote - control boat.

The Kennedy administration has publicly disavowed any connection with the freelance raids, which the raiders say were not mounted from U.S. territory, and has moved to clamp down on such harassing activities.

The U.S. note went on to remind the Soviet Union of Washington's statements and actions in recent days from President Kennedy down aimed at preventing hit-and-run attacks from U.S. territory.

Then it brought up the Soviet troop question by saying:

"In taking vigorous action to prevent misuse of its territory, the government of the United States trusts that the government of the U.S.S.R. will not misinterpret such action as indicating any change in U.S. opposition to Soviet military involvement in Cuba."

Agree on Need For Mental Health Clinic

The regular meeting of the Belleville branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association was featured by reports from delegates to the association conference held in Toronto recently.

Dr. John Stock, Rev. G. R. Fleming, Miss Kay Abbot, Stan Wiggins, Dr. Evelyn Williamson, Miss Allison MacEwen, Miss Kathleen Leney and Mrs. Janette Thompson were present from this city.

Of special interest was Dr. Stock's report of the meeting of the Belleville delegation with Dr. William Henderson, director of community mental health services for the province of Ontario. Dr. Henderson agreed with the local members that Belleville should have a full time mental health clinic.

With this in mind, the board decided to call a meeting of representatives from service and welfare organizations, education, clergy and industry.

This group would discuss the need for such a clinic and the question of financing. It was hoped that the various groups will then endorse the C.M.H.A.'s proposal for the establishment of a full time mental health clinic in Belleville.

Mrs. Janette Thompson, Ontario Division Board representative, reported on the two board meetings she attended during the conference. She noted that financing was a problem and that the board had found it necessary to endorse a proposed deficit budget for 1963.

Mrs. Thompson said she hoped that the local branch would become self-supporting so that it might be able to assist the Ontario division rather than draw funds from that source.

She reported that the scientific advisory committee had brought in four main suggestions for branch programs, one being that the special needs of mentally ill patients suffering from sensory deprivation be drawn to the attention of branches as a potential field for specialized volunteer activity.

A small group of volunteers has already been organized here. Plans are being made to have this group train essential patients now back in the community.

It was announced that Mental Health Week across Canada would be held from April 29th to May 4th. Miss Allison MacEwan was named Mental Health Week chairman.

TO MAKE GRANTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Grants totalling more than $20,000 will be given to Canadian scholars this year by the Canada Council to help them attend international conferences, competitions and festivals. The grants will be in the form of travel assistance, the council said Tuesday.

Fictitious Firm At Trenton Figures in Case

OTTAWA (CP)—H. J. Cashell, former supervisor of the transport department's aircraft overhaul base at Uplands Airport here, was the only witness heard Wednesday at the trial of Russell L. Bradley.

Bradley, head of Bradley Air Services of nearby Carp, pleaded not guilty Tuesday to charges of defrauding the federal government of $79,963 by selling it crown property and charging for aircraft repairs never carried out.

Cashell, sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary last month on two similar charges, gave his testimony under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

He told the court he had purchased an unspecified number of airplane engine magnetos from a Toronto firm for between $500 and $600 and turned them over to Bradley for use on transport department planes being overhauled by Bradley's Aero Engine Services.

He said conversations then developed between him and Bradley that because the magnetos were already paid for, there was an opportunity to make money since they could be charged for new ones.

FICTITIOUS FIRM

He said a fictitious company — J. B. Scarrow Aero Services—was established with a post office box at Trenton, Ont., and a bank account in Belleville, to obtain money from the Bradley firm.

Cashell said Bradley Aero Engine Services was charged $800 each for the magnetos by the fictitious company. He said he understood there was a further price markup before the magnetos were sold to the transport department.

Cashell said he was the only one with access to the bank account in Belleville and that he made cash payments from it to Bradley.

He said these transactions ended in 1961 when three Ontario provincial tax cases came into effect.

He said he felt then that the firm could be scrutinized by provincial inspectors touring the province to discover persons failing without sales tax.

Cashell was still on the stand when the trial adjourned until today.

Brazil Bans Political Acts By Bidault

LISBON, Portugal (Reuters) — The Brazilian ambassador said today his government had authorized a country visa for French ex-premier Georges Bidault on condition the anti-Gaullist leader does not engage in activities connected with French politics.

The ambassador, Dr. Dengrao de Lima, said at Lisbon Airport on his arrival from a trip to Rio de Janeiro that he had brought the authorization with him.

De Lima said he was sure Bidault would accept this condition.

The ambassador said he would take steps to have the French anti-Gaullist leader informed of the Brazilian decision and he could leave for Brazil as soon as he liked if he accepted the condition.

Bidault flew here more than a week ago from Bavaria. The day after he reached Lisbon, the Portuguese authorities "invited" Bidault to leave the country. West Germany banned him from rejoining and he sought permission to go to Brazil.

Boy Crushed By Fertilizer

MILDMAY, Ont. (CP)—Two-year-old Robert Reutz was crushed to death Wednesday when a bag of fertilizer fell on him while he was playing in his father's Carrick Township barn.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Reutz of RR 3, Mildmay, was playing with his four-year-old brother Peter when the bag rolled off the top of a pile of bags and crushed him.

Mildmay is 38 miles south of Owen Sound.

Planning Walk From Quebec To Guantanamo

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 20 persons will set out from Quebec next month on a 2,000-mile walk they hope will end at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

They are supporters of the Committee for Nonviolent Action and their march is to protest U.S. policies in Cuba.

Since it was organized in 1957, the pacifist organization has staged hundreds of demonstrations, in most major cities in the United States and many abroad.

The committee's latest project is the Quebec to Guantanamo march, is to begin May 26.

THEY'RE IMPARTIAL

SCARBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)—Board of education officials in this Toronto municipality decided to take especially impartial when they renamed two secondary schools. They voted one after former Conservative prime minister Sir John A. Macdonald and the other after former Liberal prime minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Constables Join Protest Delegation

Trenton — This week, Constable David Camp, president of the Trenton Police Association and Constable John Graham and Gary Davis appeared before Attorney General Frederick M. Cass in Toronto, as part of a 200-man association, to protest what the association termed, "treatment of police as second class citizens."

The association claims that police do not have the same rights as the man in the street when it comes to matters pertaining to law. Police say the association, should have the right to form trade unions and to call upon experts in the legal field when it comes to salary negotiations.

No Building Permits Sold During March

TRENTON — Building in Trenton for March was down by an all-time low, with no actual new building being carried on. Ten permits were issued for commercial and residential repair, valued at $10,-850.

Prospects for April are bright, however, building inspector William Anderson said yesterday. Mr. Anderson, and Le Syndicat D'Oeuvres Sociales Limitee, publisher, of the French-language newspaper.

The polls concerned were in the Quebec constituencies of Gatineau and Terrebonne where poll officials were questioned without pay for making a premature count of polling Saturday.

Mr. Castonguay said that the article on which the charge was based appeared in Le Droit Monday under the heading "Avance Liberale."

"The Canada Elections Act makes it an offence for anyone to publish the result or purported result of the polling in any electoral district in Canada before the close of polls," he said.

J. W. Swetkhamer, Toronto lawyer, has been retained by Mr. Castonguay as crown prosecutor in the case.

The election act ban on publication of returns until closing of polls on election day has been in the act since 1956. Mr. Castonguay said that as far as he knows, this is the first time a charge has been laid.

DINED ON FAGGOTS

MONTREAL (CP) — When the Welsh Society of Montreal held its annual dinner recently faggots were the main course.

Faggots are a kind of meat loaf made from chopped liver. Thirty pounds of the dish were flown in for the dinner, a gift of the Welsh Tourist and Holiday Board.

Budget Not Likely Ready This Week

TRENTON—Indications are that Trenton's 1963 budget will not be brought down by council this week. Last year, the budget was brought down and the mill rate struck on April 2. This is an Ontario government decision to grant a 75 per cent of actual cost subsidy on work on connecting links, announced last week, has caused council to take a second look at 1963 plans. But next week should tell the tale.

Ice Leaves With Roar

TRENTON — Bayshore dwellers on the south shore report that the ice went out of the bay with a resounding roar last night. High winds drove it down and out of the centre of the bay by midnight. Murray Canal, however a huge floating island of ice still remains.

Latest Style Garbage Truck To Be Used

TRENTON — This year, Trenton's garbage will be picked up in the very latest style. Garbage collector Ross Willman who renewed his contract with the town this week, intends to acquire a covered "packer" type of vehicle. The garbage will be automatically compressed as it is thrown onto the collector. Cost to Mr. Willman will be in the neighborhood of $15,000. Cost per year on the five year contract to the town will be $16,000, with a $1.10 per capita increase as the town's population increases through annexation of parts of Murray and Sidney townships.

Charges Laid For Publishing Result of Polls

OTTAWA (CP)—Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay announced Wednesday that charges have been laid under the Canada Elections Act against three members of Le Vaux Le Droit's staff for publication April 1 of "the result or purported result" of voting in two advance polls for the April 8 federal election.

The announcement said that an information has been sworn, laying the charges against Gerard Mouin, reporter, and Le Syndicat D'Oeuvres Sociales Limitee, publisher, of the French-language newspaper.

The polls concerned were in the Quebec constituencies of Gatineau and Terrebonne where poll officials were questioned without pay for making a premature count of polling Saturday.

Mr. Castonguay said that the article on which the charge was based appeared in Le Droit Monday under the heading "Avance Liberale."

Operator working from raft uses jack hammer to cut out weakened concrete facing of Belleville's "government dock" which is now under repair. Dock repair project is costing over $20,000.

$20,000 Dock Repairs With New Curbs and Facing Still Month From Finish

In progress since early in February, repairs to Belleville's weather beaten "government dock" still have another month or so to go before they will be completed.

Included in the $20,000 plus repair job is replacement of dock curbs with new concrete facing and installation of new "walers", the wooden bumper timbers which keep boats from bumping into the concrete dock structure.

Contractor for the dock repairs is the Rullff Grass Construction Company of Long Branch.

New curbing on the east and south sides of the government dock has now been poured and forms are being constructed for pouring of concrete on the west side. Reinforcing steel is being used to make a stronger job.

"It will take another month or so to finish the job, but it will go faster now with the warmer weather," stated Bob Johnson, superintendent for the repairs.

Cold winter weather, sometimes ranging down to 15 degrees below zero, hampered the repair job at the start.

During winter conditions no actual repairs were attempted, with workmen merely setting the stage for later work when the weather warmed.

Jack hammers were used to cut out the weather-weakened concrete dock facing and curbing, and holes were drilled deep into the remaining facing for setting of anchor bolts to hold the new waling timbers. The walers are 10-inch square fir timbers ranging up to 16 feet and more in length.

Specifically, the dock repair includes installation of 1150 feet of new curbing, 750 feet of new dock facing and 800 feet of new walers.

When the new curbing and above water dock facing is in place, additional work will be necessary to replace underwater facing. This will entail the use of diving equipment.

Harbormaster Mac Smith noted that the condition of the government dock has been gradually deteriorating over the years.

Parts of the curbing were breaking away and the dock facing was crumbling. Even some of the bollards (those iron stanchions to which the boats are tied) had become loosened.

So the Federal department of public works decided the only thing to do was to have a complete repair job.

Kennedy Meets Wilson

President Kennedy has had an opportunity to size up the possible next prime minister of Britain, Harold Wilson, who has visited Washington. Recently chosen leader of the British Labor Party, to fill the vacancy left by the death of Hugh Gaitzkell, Wilson is considered to have a good fighting chance of ousting Prime Minister Macmillan and his Conservatives when the next British election is held. Generally speaking, Britons in the past have proven much more ready to change governments than have Canadians. Add to this that the Macmillan Government is in trouble over economic and defence policies—the refusal of France to countenance Britain's admission to the Common Market and the scrapping of the Skybolt air-to-ground missile by the U.S.—and the election of a Labor government is well within the grounds of possibility.

Many U.S. politicians, of course, view this prospect with dislike. Socialism is a nasty word to them, even when it is socialism so greatly diluted as that of the British Labor Party. This dilution, of course, serves to make Labor a feasible alternative to the Conservatives—the experts have been confounded and it has been proven that a nation's economy can show a steady rise in the light pink of a Labor regime and still be bleached back to the white of free enterprise. But what remains in doubt is how often this process can be repeated, particularly when the Labor chieftain is, like Wilson, sympathetic towards the left wing of the party.

President Kennedy, who appears much more sophisticated than the average run of U.S. politicians, may not fully share this distrust of Wilson. One would imagine, however, that even he does not view such a possible change in the government of his country's most important ally with equanimity. But his talks with Wilson may have been reassuring in at least one aspect. Wilson favors turning over the entire responsibility for a Western nuclear deterrent to the United States.

This is precisely what the Kennedy administration really wants. The difficulty is that, even with support from Britain which has not in the past been forthcoming, such a policy may no longer be feasible in today's world. President de Gaulle of France is bitterly opposed to any such development, and French efforts to build their own nuclear deterrent have now progressed to such a stage that even the ousting of de Gaulle might not bring any change in France's independent nuclear policy.

Wilson is opposed to the creation of an independent NATO nuclear force, a development which the U.S. has suggested, not because it represents the administration's real desires but because it seems the only possible compromise to which France might agree. In this case, Wilson's view may not be altogether comforting to Kennedy. But it is already painfully clear that only a miraculous change of heart in the usually immovable de Gaulle would result in the proposed NATO force having the desired effect—keeping an independent French finger off the nuclear trigger.

One would think that many Britons, too, would be outraged at the suggestion that their country abdicate as a nuclear power and place its ultimate fate solely in U.S. hands. But the British are hard-headed enough to realize that in the event of a nuclear war their fate is sealed, in any event. They also have sufficient insight into the character and prevailing temper of the American people to understand there is little prospect they would ever be left in the lurch and decide how to accommodate nuclear blackmail because the Americans would not risk rattling their rockets.

Once the accuracy of these assessments of the situation are granted, Wilson's stand makes considerable sense. It not only reduces the number of fingers on the nuclear trigger, but provides firm moral ground for protests, backed by threats by the nuclear powers if necessary), against other nations joining the nuclear club. (In any proper sense, this involves independent control of nuclear weapons and cannot be said to include lands which accept warheads from the U.S., with the provision that they remain under U.S. control).

Finally, Wilson's policy makes one extremely telling point—it will serve to keep West Germany from even sharing in the operation of a nuclear force. There is strong reason to believe that any such German participation, however-ringed around with safeguards, would alarm and enrage not only Russia itself but many other lands in Central and Eastern Europe.

"Host With the Most" Hees Missed on Ottawa Scene

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Notes from the Campaign Trail — No matter who wins or loses next Monday, Parliament Hill, inside the Canadian political scene is going to be a sadder and lonelier place without handsome, happy "How-ya-doing-in-there-kid" George Hees.

Imagine it! If you can, the old smoothie, sitting in the sun and sand down there in Bermuda, with nothing to do but count his money and his memories.

Sitting out the thing he used to like the best — electioneering — and did so well.

You can have enough of fun and games — as intimates of George Hees say he has been finding out to his everlasting sorrow — and after a six holiday in the Swiss Alps and now a second vacation in the balmy breezes of Bermuda, he is ready to go back to work.

But doing what?

A terrifically fit 52, George Hees had made politics his whole life and now with another 20 or so tremendous years still to go . . . what's to do?

FUN AND LAUGHTER:

Money is not everything, as they say you always find out when you get a handful of it. (Who gets to try?)

Well, George Hees did. He was one of the lucky ones.

The only millionaire in the House of Commons, he had wise enough to enjoy spending it where he got the most kicks — in politics.

To become personal for a moment, I remember the night George Hees broke into politics.

It was on the platform of the Capital Theatre at Owen Sound at a meeting — rumored ed Grey North byelection of the 1945 "reconstruction" crisis," when Prime Minister Mackenzie King was trying and failing to oust General McNaughton as his new Defence Minister to replace the resigned James L. Ilsley.

Conservative Leader John Bracken was there and so was John Diefenbaker and that the not-very-many Conservative MPs of the wartime Parliament.

But the man you will always remember is George Hees. An Army officer just back, they said, "from overseas," as he bounded onto the theatre stage in a suit caked uniform and his arm in a sling, and gave a dramatically breathless first-hand account of how urgently reinforcements were required on the battlefront.

And what was he doing now since then, George Hees has been with the same dramatic flair.

LAVISH HOST

He was a smashing success as Trans-Canada Airlines' Brought Canadian Pacific Airlines into coast-to-coast competition with Trans-Canada Airlines and built some spanking new airports.

He was even a larger success sensation as Trade Minister, staging, some observers like "Operation World Markets," and generally putting Canada's splendid business hustle into the moss-grown Trade and Commerce Department.

But Parliament Hill remembers him most fondly as a host. Annually (and often, if he was the urge, twice a year) he would toss a gala spectacular. Did it in relays, a couple a hundred guests at a time on three or four successive nights. Hired the swanky Country Club. Laid on a buffet that even drew Ohs and Ahs from the gourmets and gunners at the Russian Embassy who make a career of feeding and watering the "Ottawa Mob." Set up at least three magnificently stocked bars (no drowning, please) and hired a roaring Twenties band. Even if they needed a wrap-ups cost $5,000, a total $15,000 price tag for the three in tandem.

Everybody who was anybody in George Hees' wing-dings could you see the Cuban Ambassador and the rest of the U.S. Embassy's senior attache twisting, or "Com Paul" Martin doing the Charleston.

It saddened Hees Pees, as his pals used to call him, when he had to leave his closing party last Fall early, to go, as he groaned, "down to dirty old Toronto."

Ah, happy Hee Pees day.

Perhaps if Prime Minister Diefenbaker wins the election again Monday, "Dief," as Hees Pees called him, will summon him back from exile: "Come on home, George boy, all is forgiven."

Strictly Personal
Man Was Not Meant to Be Totally Happy

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: It is the most common of delusions to think that if we had only one thing more — better health, more money, another love - life — we could then be happy; and the bitterest potion is preserved for those who obtain this goal, and then find that . . . there is one thing more needed.

The language of most advertising bears no relation to human speech, and that is why it takes so much repetition and volume to get through to human ears; like the phrase on the jar of jelly I was eating at breakfast today: "Open Fruit Good." What person has ever said to himself, "Mm-m-m, this jelly is fresh fruit good!"?

Those who insist that we must act like the Russians in order to "beat" the Russians (whatever that can mean these days) ought to ponder the remark of George Orwell: "I always disagree when people end by saying that what is an only combat Communism, Fascism or whatnot if we develop a stronger totalitarian state, it appears to me that one defeats the fanatic precisely by not being a fanatic oneself, but on the contrary by using one's intelligence."

As illustration. It must be added, Orwell pointed out that "A man can kill a tiger because he is not like a tiger, and uses his brain to invent the rifle, which no tiger could ever do."

Unless the encroachments of age are blurring my judgment, it seems that the quality of airlines stewardesses has been gradually deteriorating since I first became a regular flyer more than 20 years ago; at that time, they were sharp, competent and personable; nowadays the smiles are as bright and the legs as trim, but that's all.

More confusion is caused by the word "flesh" in the Bible than by almost any other; when we are "warned against "temptation of the flesh" we take it to mean physical temptations, but this is not at all what St. Paul means by flesh in any theological will tell you.

(Likewise, most people would be startled to learn that the author of the merry couplet: "Who loves not women, wine and song/Remains a fool his whole life long."

None other than the "strict" Martin Luther.)

Lovers' quarrels are a way of testing their love, not repudiating it; they are a means of renewing love from the doubts, the apprehensions and the fears that are unleashed upon passion; and unless the quarrels are too frequent or too fierce, they possess a salubealing quality.

April 4, 1963 . . .

Canada and 11 other nations signed the North Atlantic Treaty 14 years ago today—in 1949 — providing mutual defence in the event of aggression against any member nation. Three other nations, Turkey, Greece and West Germany, have since joined. NATO has a council composed of the foreign ministers of the member nations. The powers agree to further the aims of peace by developing their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
April 4th, 1943.

Today Belleville police are riding in a new 1942 model Dodge sedan. As the former police cruiser had outworn its usefulness a new police car was necessary. The Belleville Police Commission ordered the change last week and over the weekend the new cruiser was delivered. It will be radio equipped as were previous police cars in order that instructions may be given over radio station CJBL, the Belleville Police Department.

Rt. Rev. John Lyons, Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, officiated at the Confirmation service at Christ Church here Sun. night when 60 candidates were confirmed into the church during the religious ceremony, that was witnessed by a capacity-filled church. The confirmation class had been prepared by Rev. G. C. Wright, rector at Christ Church, who personally presented the three of applicants for their acceptance into the church by the laying on of hands.

Many band music lovers of Belleville were turned away from the Capital Theatre on Sunday night when the Trenton R.C.A.F. band presented a concert. The program was under the auspices of the O.E.S. Chap. 55 with entire proceeds being given to the Canadian Aid to Russia fund. Upwards of $103 were realized through the silver collection taken.

30 YEARS AGO
April 4th, 1933.

In further reference to the story which appeared in this column with regards to the man with one arm who had returned every year for the past ten years to rest in a corner of the cabin of Mr. Jim Cook's house on Foster Avenue near Queen Street, it is now learned that Mr. George Meagher was living ten years ago on Dundas Street between Dundas and Bridge Streets. One day in the early spring ten years ago he placed a robin nanging head down from the branches of a small tree; it was later extinguished as a result of string which evidently it had picked up to use in building its nest. The bird got struggling hard to get free but was becoming more and more entangled. Mr. Meagher called his neighbor, Mr. Maurice Callaghan and the robin was released. In his battle for freedom the bird had broken a leg; Mr. Callaghan amputated the injured member, applied gum ointment to the stump of the leg and released the bird. It is not far from where the amputation took place to the house of Jim Cook on Foster Avenue, and it seems reasonable to suppose that the bird which was nested for the past ten years in a corner of the eaves at Mr. Cook's home, is the same one which Mr. Callaghan performed the amputation.

40 YEARS AGO
April 4th, 1923.

Two indoor baseball games were played in the armouries last evening. The first game was between the Bear Cats and the Kelly Cats, the latter team won, the score being 17 to 15. The following composed the teams: Bear Cats — Gilbert, Curry, Brockel, Barrett, Miles, Bustard, Crozier, Anderson and Fleming. Red Sox — Wardhaugh, Cook, Cummings, Stork, Jeffery, Miles, Marnakys, Cornell and Cummings. The umpires were Stanley Nurse, and H. Gordonley.

The second game was between the Civil Service and the O.S.D., and the final score was 17 to 7 in favor of the O.S.D. The following composed the teams: O.S.D. — Laporte, Pye, Rorke, Nurse, Patterson, McGovern, Smith, Lally, and Suddy. Civil Service team — Lloyd, Callaghan, Rogers, Liberty, Ketchenson, Barrett, Hinchey, Burton and Jeffery. The umpires were Ken Colling and "Stub" Barrett; they did a good job.

Maple syrup sold on the market today at seventy-five cents per quart; it was not plentiful.

The Postal Department is now ready to install the letter carrier system in Belleville and desires to do so at once. However, there are some citizens who have not yet had numbers placed upon their houses, and who are helping to hold up the introduction of the system. It is imperative that the numbering be done at once. There is a by-law which was passed by the council two months ago, requiring the numbering of the houses; and the penalty therein stated is a fine not exceeding $10 for anyone offending. It would better to be placed upon the books of any citizen may be obtained by applying at the offices of the city clerk.

Mr. Wallace Robb of Montreal, formerly of Belleville, spent Sunday here with friends.

Mr. Robert Marshall is home on a visit from Edmonton, Alberta.

Why Assist E.P. Taylor?

Windsor Star

It's an odd fact there is much criticism of subsidies given to those who need them, or at least to help with them, and very little to those given to people who have no need for them whatsoever. Consider the grant by the Ontario Government, $70,000 to the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society and $30,000 to the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, for the improvement of horses. That is an illustration.

One president of these subsidies is alleged to be Mr. E. P. Taylor, one of the richest men in all of Canada, if not in the world. He needs a subsidy as much as a man needs two heads! In fact most owners of such horses are well-to-do. Breeding of thoroughbreds and standard breds is not a hobby of a poor man.

Quite apart from this, there is no merit in these subsidies. Thoroughbred and standard bred horses are among the most useless of the species. They are only good for race or show purposes. There are many other horses much more lovely to see.

Sugar and Honey
St. Thomas Times-Journal

The old saw about "an ill wind" is well illustrated by the recent rapid rise in the price of sugar, caused largely by the destruction of Cuban sugar to Russia and other Communist countries.

This has resulted in a scramble by wholesale honey buyers and packers for supplies. Export has been but a small factor in honey from Canada for many years, but European buyers are showing a keen interest at this time. Canadian honey producers should be able to recover from the low prices ruling for at least the past decade.

To Your Good Health

Some Poisons Are Valuable Drugs in Small Amounts

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: How can curare be used in surgery without poisoning the patient? — Mrs. C. G. B.

Curare is, in sufficient quantity, c poison, in that it paralyzes muscular activity. It does not damage the tissues, however, it kills by paralyzing, among other things the breathing muscles and death in that case, is from lack of oxygen. (Some Indian tribes have used curare as an arrow poison.)

In small amounts, curare is a very valuable drug. It helps to control severe convulsions and muscular spasms, for example. It also is used, again in small amounts to bring about greater muscular relaxation before surgery.

Curare is only one of many drugs which are poison in large quantities, but useful in small amounts. Take atropine or belladonna, which in overdose can kill but in proper dose has saved thousands of lives. Or sodium fluoride, which is a poison, but in proper doses but in one part per million is put in drinking water to prevent tooth cavities. There are countless other examples.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by scars on the heart? Mrs. R. M. L.

It could mean scars on heart valves, such as from rheumatic fever. Or it could mean scarring of the heart muscle itself, which would be the result of even following a heart attack. Both of these will be clear to you if you'll read my booklet, "How To Take Care of Your Heart." (To receive a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin).

Dear Dr. Molner: My four-year-old son doesn't talk. The only thing he has ever said is "ma-ma-ma." He seems to understand everything we say but is very stubborn and hard to make mind unless it is something he wants to do. He got what he wants by pointing and grunting and shakes his head for "no." What can be done to help him learn to talk? — Mrs. W.

By this age he should be talking a blue streak. Of course, he's laboring pretty well at least. There's quite a bit of variation in youngsters so I don't believe in getting worried too soon. But I'd have the little fellow examined. There could be some defect in his speech organs that need correcting. If not, a little guidance centre might be very helpful.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 40, suffers from kidney stones. What causes them? Would a special diet help? — Mrs. E.B.

Kidney stones form basically because the urine becomes too highly saturated with certain chemicals — urates, oxalates and phosphates are among them. Then they begin precipitating out as solids and become "stones." (There are other technicalities involved, but that's essentially it.)

Drinking lots of water to keep the urine dilute is important in preventing more stones. A change in diet also can help, but must be chosen on the basis of study of the chemical content of the stones. This may be done also to increase or reduce the acidity of the urine, but here again you need expert guidance to know which way to change.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles" write Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box, 158 Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Bigger Pie

Edmonton Journal

To use a worn but excellent metaphor, Canada cannot cut bigger pieces from her economy pie until pie takes a bigger pie. Any politicians who tells the people anything different is a deceiver.

The politicians might be surprised at the number of Canadians who are heartily fed up to the teeth with attempts of the vote-seekers to bribe them with their own money. And, even worse, with money that must be paid back by their children and grandchildren.

THE PACKSACK

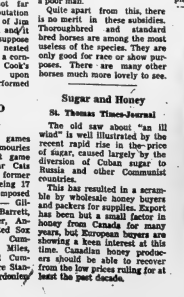
By GREGORY CLARK



A recent newsreel showed an important gathering in Moscow at which the speaker, and the crowd, emphatically clap their hands together. They applaud more enthusiastically than any other race.

"But most of all, notice how high they hold their hands when clapping. Away up in front of their faces. See how their arms swing from side to side, as they clap. It appears to me that in Russia it is not only necessary to applaud, and to applaud energetically. It is necessary, also, to be seen applauding."

"Notice," said one of us watching the newsreel, "how the Russians applaud. They emphatically clap their hands together. They applaud more enthusiastically than any other race.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market posted a marginal advance amid moderate morning trading today.

The exchange index showed industrials, western oils and base metals all higher, the latter reaching a new high for the year. Golds declined slightly.

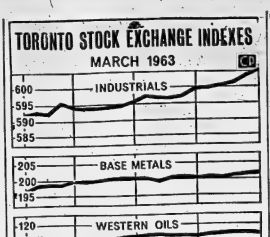
Financial institutions and investment companies moved generally higher with Industrial Acceptance, Investors Syndicate A., and Bank of Montreal all up ¼ and Bank of Nova Scotia ahead ¼. Canada Permanent Mortgage rose ½.

Steels and Motors also showed a number of advances featuring Ford of Canada ahead 1½ to a new 1963 high of 52, Dominion Steel and Coal up ½ and Dominion Foundries and Steel ⅛.

Declining industrials featured Shawinigan, which had a special-sized transaction of 11,000 shares at $30.33 a share, off 1¼ to 30, while Interprovincial Pipe ¼ and Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce down ⅛.

On index, industrials gained .51 to 604.84, base metals rose .34 to a new 1963 high of 202.2 and western oils were up .11 to 118.12. Golds eased .29 to 90.32. The 11 a.m. volume was 1,225,000 shares compared with 862,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Geco rose ½ and Labrador ¼ to a new high of 30¾ to lead senior base metals ahead. Speculatives featured Bibis once again as the stock rose nine cents to 30 cents on a first-hour volume of nearly 500,000 shares.



Western oils edged ahead in dull trading with Home A and B up ⅛ and ¼ respectively.

Prices remained static Wednesday.

One of the strongest industrial groups was steels which featured Dominion Coal and Steel ahead ¼ and Steel Company of Canada ⅛.

Other major advances were seen in General Motors, ahead 1⅛ to a new high of 73 and Canada Packers A up 1¼. Simpsons, Industrial Acceptance and Building Products all rose ⅛.

Big list losers included Canadian Tire A and Interprovincial Pipe Line each off ⅝, Can-$2.01⅛, the asked $3.02 1-16.

INDEX EDGES UP — The industrial index on the Toronto Stock Exchange hit 605.08 at the end of last March, it's highest level since the figure reached 629.06 in March, 1962.

Plastic Bags May Replace Garbage Cans

TORONTO (CP)—Civic officials in suburban Scarborough decided Wednesday to ask city council to supply heavy plastic bags to the township's 45,000 householders without charge, to replace garbage cans.

A test of the bags by 700 housewives showed 98.5 per cent favored them over regular cans. The housewives said the bags are easier to handle and less unsightly.

It would cost about $45,000 for a year's supply of the bags.

Use of dog-repellent plastic bags by householders and restaurant owners is also under study by the city of Toronto's public works committee.

Ald. Horace Brown said the bags give off an odor that dogs consider offensive.

"That's different from the usual tin garbage cans that dogs seem to like," he added.

Told Wife Slacks Tight, Man Stabbed

TORONTO (CP) — Herbert Hutton 30, was stabbed after he complained that his 27-year-old wife's slacks were too tight, a magistrate trial was told Wednesday.

Mrs. Irene Hutton, mother of three, was charged after her husband died in hospital last July from a liver-piercing stomach wound inflicted nearly two months earlier after an all-day drinking party at his home.

The hearing continues.

support of three small army units lost in the government radio announced one of these, a battalion of engineers in the Andean resort of Bariloche, had surrendered.

Military sources said they had received an unconfirmed report that part of the rebel hold on Mar del Plata had been broken by loyalist taxpayers of the artillery instruction centre there.

The communique said 34 navy planes were destroyed and nine others taken in the capture of the naval air station at Punta Indio. Government planes bombed the rebel base 80 miles southeast of Buenos Aires and tanks then led army forces into the base.

Among the planes destroyed were a number of Panther jets bought from the United States by Argentina's air forces the communique said.

The communique also claimed full control of Bordeba, where army paratroopers had staged a spirited rally to the rebel cause Monday and that order were put down by other army forces.

Chiefs of the army and air force, backing the buffeted regime of President Jose Maria Guido, called a post-midnight conference after Defence Minister Juan Manuel Astigueta relayed requests made earlier last night by Rear Adm. Eladio Vazquez, commander of the rebel fleet.

Loyalist army commander Juan Carlos Ongania told reporters after the preliminary discussions: "I believe there is hope for a solution."

Informants said Vazquez had outlined in a 45-minute talk with Astigueta conditions under which the navy would withdraw from the rebel role in its third day. It is the third military upheaval in little more than a year for the navy, which the government appeared to be winning.

The death total was placed unofficially at 28 including an armed civilian killed by an army patrol in the northern outskirts of Jujuy. The army has warned repeatedly that any civilians found with unauthorized looting or staging demonstrations would be shot. More than 100 government wounded were reported.

Shots rang out in Buenos Aires as the rebel fleet was emerged from Government House after discussing the rebel ultimatum with cassation leaders reported. A witness said the shots came from two speeding cars.

AP correspondent Robert Berelles reported from the big rebel-held naval base at Puerto Belgrano, 350 miles south of Buenos Aires, that officers and enlisted men appeared pessimistic.

The rebels early in a broadcast to the nation they would set up a new national regime in the port city of Bahia Blanco, adjoining Puerto Belgrano. But Capt. Kurt Dietrich press chief at the base, told Berrelles no such government had been set up in the area.

Firm's Auditors Did Not Examine Company Books

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Auditors for a garage company that employed Mrs. Dolores Clow, 36 accused of stealing $228,000 from the firm, did not examine company books when they prepared financial statements, a magistrate was told in court here Wednesday.

Ian Alexander, chartered accountant for the firm of Arthur A. Crawley and Company, said that Billings Motors Limited books were not examined under an agreement with the garage that the financial statement be prepared from records supplied by the company.

The preliminary hearing adjourned until next Tuesday. Crown Attorney Percy Milligan and Cornwall told Magistrate Gordon Jermyn that he still had several witnesses to call.

Under questioning by Mr. Milligan, Mr. Alexander said he was called in last Oct. 21 by E. Murray Billings and asked to examine company books. This, he said, was five days after Mrs. Clow had left town. About three weeks later the crown attorney also asked him to examine the books thoroughly.

"We examined the books from Jan. 1, 1961 . . . and found no cash books under - added by $218,251.47," Mr. Alexander told the court.

He explained that "under-adding" was an accounting term and meant the accounts were not properly added. "In this case," he said, "it showed that cash in that amount was missing."

Soviet delegation has not explained it.

"After reviewing carefully the records of what was said, we must conclude that it is still impossible to grasp the full meaning of the present Soviet position," Burns told the conference. He added:

"This is not due to any lack of effort on the Western side to understand what the Soviet Union is now proposing - -

"Although the Soviet representative has repeatedly asserted that he has given the conference sufficient answers to our questions, we cannot agree.

"Our requests for additional information have generally been met with the reply that the West must accept the Soviet proposal in principle and that only subsequently will the details of the proposal be revealed.

"The Canadian delegation believes that this sort of answer, which we have unfortunately encountered in other fields of our work, is in fact nothing more than obstruction . . . unless each side is frankly informed of the essential details of the position of the other side, negotiation is paralyzed from the start."

Canadian Dollar Is Unaffected By Election

BY HAROLD MORRISON

NEW YORK (CP)—Per Jacobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, said today Canada has replenished its foreign exchange reserves "in an impressive way," adding that this recovery is a remarkable demonstration of international monetary cooperation.

He noted also in a speech before the United Nations Economic and Social Council that the current Canadian election campaign hasn't troubled the dollar exchange rate — sharp contrast with events a year ago.

In June, 1962, there was "an explosive outflow of funds from Canada at the time of the general election and the consequent speculation regarding the value of the Canadian dollar.

"As I am speaking, there is again an election campaign in Canada but this time it has given rise to no questioning of the value of the Canadian dollar in the exchange markets."

All But Grits Short of Funds, Cut Publicity

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservative, Social Credit and New Democratic parties have cut their advertising budgets because campaign funds are short but the Liberals are spending almost as much as in the 1962 election.

Spokesmen of the four parties gave this picture of their advertising efforts in the final week of the April 8 election campaign. By law, political broadcasting ends Friday night, but newspaper advertising will reach its peak this weekend.

A Liberal party spokesman said the total advertising budget was trimmed "by a small amount" this year from last year's campaign, but the cuts that were made in television have been devoted to newspapers and magazines.

"The only difference in our campaign is that we have cut television a little and we are spending more in the magazines, including a lot of farm publications," Liberal Campaign Director Keith Davey said.

Said Dalton K. Camp, chairman of the Progressive Conservative party's campaign committee:

"We said at the outset we were running a shoestring and shoe-leather campaign."

"The Conservatives' budget is half what it was in 1962, and the cuts have been made principally in newspaper and magazine space.

A Social Credit headquarters official said his advertising budget is less than half what it was last year.

"We haven't much money," he said. "It took four or five months to get our bills after the last campaign, and we don't want to get that situation again. It's bad publicity."

New Democratic Party advertising appears limited by the same factors, and T. C. Douglas the national leader, has criticized the advertising practice of the Liberal party. At the outset of the campaign, A. R. Pauley, NDP leader in Manitoba, said the party was broke.

IMPROVEMENT PLEASE!

We don't see enough "Why don't they?", recently dealing with fashions and/or clothes. There are so many obvious improvements to be made in the field of fashion, that we hope our cry in the wilderness will influence a stylist or designer. Our concern is for more comfort and convenience, as well as beauty.

First of all, why doesn't someone invent a winter overshoe, with a removable, washable lining? About January, if the snowfall has been normal, most of the brand new overshoes, purchased in the fall, are getting dusty, stained linings With the usual ups and downs of our thermometer in winter, how could they do anything else but dirty? Why not a lining, perhaps detachable, and made of a dirt-resistant, quick - drying fabric? A great many women would buy several of these linings to protect their shoes and stockings.

In our opinion, overshoes are badly styled. Why does not one design one with a heel, fashioned for the smaller, pebbled shoe? The shoe industry is busy promoting and selling those heels all year round. It seems to us, that the shoe designers and the overshoe stylists should get together. While they're at it, they could also consider rain rubbers for those same pet - heeled shoes. If the manufacturers of rain rubbers had to endure the heel blisters, etc., we're brought on by high-heeled rubbers, worn with low - heeled shoes — there'd really more fun on this one. We hope we won't be forced to buy any more of those plastic, slip-on boots, which are hot, tend to discolour, and hardly attractive.

The shortage of girdles and corselettes in black seems to be a large scale affair. We obtain specialized sizes, one must still endure the long wait for a special order to arrive. We know from experience that, when the hot summer months are upon us, there won't be a black girdle or corselette available. Some women, because they do not always wear pastel dresses in the summer, still ask for these undergarments in black. Here, we cannot blame the manufacturers, we have to blame the store buyers.

We always ask why a girdle in black, automatically costs $4 or $5 more than its counterpart in white, but we have yet to get a convincing answer. Although we resent having to pay more for a girdle in order to avoid that weird appearance of white, showing through dark - toned skirts or dresses, we are still willing to pay for it. But we know that it will be a long time before foundation garments of any kind in June, July or early August, because many of the stores refuse to stock them.

Canadian workmanship is excellent, but why, of why, are buttons secured by only two loops of thread? No matter what price is paid for a dress — $6.98 or $125, the buttons are guaranteed to fall off. Yes, manufacturers supply an envelope of extra buttons, but keep your extra buttons, genius! Just sew on those buttons necessary to the dress, securely, and we'll be better satisfied!

Leather Is Riding on Crest of Fashion

Light as an April breeze, but warm enough for blustery spring days, leather apparel is made in travel right up to the hot months.

The softer more feminine look is interpreted in gracefully leather coats, in daytime and after - dark dresses, in hats and suits. Soft pastels and taupes are favored colors.

Both smooth, matte leather and buttersoft suede share the fashion spotlight.

Leather shows up in sleeveless, pleated - back suede sheaths for evening and in ellow - patched, leather-fronted knitted cardigans for casual wear.

For the bright look of spring delicate — Colored leathers team with silks, with cottons and with sheerest wools. A rust silk dress takes on added dimension with a silk-bound matching suede jacket. The contrast look is carried out in a Chanel - type cabretta jacket and matching, gently flared skirt.

Fall's darling, the leather shirt, turns into spring but in more body - clinging lines, in light tones such as rose-beige and pale blue. Handsome for town wear is the short coat in suede or supple smooth leather, in minty green or licorice black.

Simply styled, the season's coats accentuate leather texture. For after-dark wear, elegant wrap coats of smooth cabretta are embroidered or studded with fake jewels.

Lightly flared smooth leather skirts double for day and evening wear. Daytime sees them in middy or overblouse style in doe soft leather, nighttime with a beaded chiffon top.

For more after-dark glamour, the reed-slim A-line gown appears in taupe smooth leather or sandwiches leather.

The leather hat is spring-important in pillboxes and dooes, in turbans and sailors. It shows up in smooth and grained leathers, in artfully draped and wrapped turbans in shiny kidskin or soft suede. It flashes in black patent leather, in straw combinations, in pale lilac tones and navy blues.

Black patent now becomes more than a classic shoe material; it is fashionable in apparel as well as hats. As a coat, it takes to abbreviated trench styles. For the beach, it's lined in white terry cloth.

Lamps Light Indoor Life

"New lamps for old" may have proved unlucky for Aladdin, but the exchange should be lucky for the look of many homes today. Well-designed lamps at all price levels and in all styles — table, desk, floor, boudoir, pole and chain — are waiting for the return indoors this winter.

Many of the season's new designs, now in the stores, take their cues from traditional and classic themes. Such nostalgia is inspired adaptations of classic Mediterranean lines, and of the heritage in the best of Colonial styling.

Bygone eras are echoed even in the latest lamp developments. Graceful pole lamps with glass bowls, reminiscent of a gaslight age but teamed with modern wall trim. Chain lamps, rapidly growing in popularity, have taken designs from the past, too, including the traditional chandelier.

Shades are mostly simple in shape and unadorned, with off-white as the almost universal color. Colonial styles are decorated with attractive, appropriately authentic motifs.

Family Party Marks 45th Anniversary

RAWDON—On Saturday evening a family party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson, of Frankford, in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Barry, of Rossmore, on the occasion of their 45th wedding anniversary. The actual date of the ceremony was April 3rd.

The bride was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and the bridegroom with a white boutonniere. Mrs. Anderson was the former Mabel Walt of Stockdale, Ontario.

They have six children, and 16 grandchildren. One son, Dr. Hedley Barlow, of Edmonton, Alberta, was absent on this occasion. Those present were: Mrs. Warner McCaul (Phyllis) of Consecon; Mrs. Ernest Anderson (Margaret) of Frankford; Mrs. Douglas Clancey (Jean) of 8th of Rawdon; Mr. Gene Barlow of Ottawa, and Mr. Harold Barlow of Bancroft and their families.

The group enjoyed a delightful evening, and at the close refreshments were served, which included an anniversary cake which had been on display.

The happy couple were the recipients of several gifts, potted plants, cut flowers and greeting cards.

Legion Branch 99 to Receive Mounted Mural

At the regular meeting of the Col. Ptay Wills Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion for ex-servicewomen held at the Legion Hall, recently, many items of business were presented for discussion, by the president, Mrs. R. Kirby.

A mounted mural for the new addition of the hall to be hung on the main floor, was voted to be given to Branch 99, with the men choosing the scene from a selection, to be shown by Mrs. Kirby, at a Branch 99 executive meeting. Prices and necessary information regarding the mural has been procured by Mrs. G. Olsen.

Ways and means convener, Mrs. R. Bollins, reported the St. Patrick's dance had been most successful and that the committee is arranging for another dance to be held in May. The suggestion for rummage sale in April, was approved.

To contribute to the happiness of elderly ladies in both the County Home and the Belleville General Hospital, through acts of kindness and gifts, a thought, originally proposed by the welfare officer, Mrs. E. Robinson, and presented by the president, met with the favor of the members.

On Sunday, as many members as possible will attend the official opening of the extention to the St. Thomas' Parish Hall and will present the rector Archdeacon, the Ven. A. S. McConnell, who also is the Branch padre with a cheque.

An invitation to the Vimy banquet was extended to the Branch by Branch 99 with one of the Branch 587 members to sit at the table with the Vimy veterans.

A student from Moira Secondary School will receive the annual bursary, which rotates among the Belleville High schools.

THEY RESIST RAIN, BUT DON'T GROW IT

Simple, pared-down lines, luxury fabrics and styling for both rain and shine highlight new rainwear.

The smartest "raincoats" look like easy spring, evening or travel coat, but they have the plus of water-repellency.

Fabrics make important rain-shine news, with silk appearing prominently — silk linen, silk ribbed ottoman, silk worsted, silk pongee, silk surrah and nubby silk tweed. Other fabrics include wool jersey, cotton velveteen, waffle-weave pique, and poplin.

Message About Bowlegs

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS—Tell that mother who is worried about her baby girl's bowlegs that it is needless to fret. Our first child was so bowlegged that we figured the only solution would be to buy her a horse. She was so bad that her feet turned in too.

Doctors said take her out of diapers as soon as possible and her legs would come straight by themselves, which they did. The doctors would have put braces on her legs at night while she slept if they had not straightened out by the time she reached three or four years old.—PARENTS OF FIVE.

DEAR PARENTS—Good news! And thanks.

DEAR DORIS—In answer to a letter recently printed in your column, you spoke of a difficult person probably having had a "mean old stepmother." All that people ever hear about stepmothers is that they are "mean." Isn't that being unfair? I am sure it is time that some good was said for the good, kind and devoted stepmothers, rather than always using the word "stepmother" as though it were a swear word.

Many stepchildren have been so badly mismanaged by relatives and foster families that by the time a new "mother" comes on the scene, she has three strikes against her—but everyone seems to blame her, not the extremely difficult stepchild. Even the relatives have couldn't be bothered to take proper charge of the child themselves.

What about the many natural parents who do such a poor job a child protection agency has to step in? Let's hear from that side of the story, rather than blasting the woman who is doing her best in difficult circumstances.—STEPMOTHER, FOSTER MOTHER AND NATURAL MOTHER (all one person).

DEAR THREE DISGUISES—Touche! Mothering sometimes slays a child is no picnic. And it's often a thankless task, to boot. Thousands of stepmothers will have special stars in their crown.

DEAR DORIS—At fifteen I was going steady with a wonderful guy I'll call No. 1. He was different than the other boys and I was certain that he must be the "right-guy" for me. He was distant when he left me for the Army Apprenticeship training in Montreal for two years. I tried to wait for him but I couldn't, and, as always, he understood.

Before he left he introduced me to Number two with him—until I met No. 2. He was different still, and I found myself forgetting No. 1. I broke up with him with a "Dear John" letter, but he continued to write and I wrote him friendly letters, as he was very homesick.

No. 1 is a wonderful person! He writes four and five times a week, he is kind, considerate and loving. But No. 2! He is hot-blooded, forgets to be, attentive (and so on.) But Doris, I prefer this guy! On Valentine Day No. 1 sent me a beautiful big card and a gorgeous box of chocolates. No. 2 didn't even thank me for the card I sent him, let alone send me one!

I realize that some boys are naturally romantic and some boys aren't, but I would just like to know how I could improve upon this guy (No. 2) the fact that I must be treated like a girl he loves, and not a "cave man's wife"! —Please help me.—S. L. A.

DEAR S. L. A.—He will treat you like he is—a cave man. So what's here's news for you: If he were suddenly to begin sending you flowers and chocolates, and protesting his love, he'd be getting the next "Dear John" letter. You aren't ready for selfless devotion.

DEAR DORIS—I gave up university studies towards a teaching career because when I went to apply for a job there were teachers with degrees who couldn't get work. I concluded that my grade 12 and one year of teacher training would be living I had better forget about it. Then I took office training and have held responsible jobs.

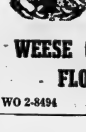
I have worked at my job worthy of the name for a year. I am a divorcee and have no desire to remarry. At present I am working for a room and board for an elderly gentleman who has allowed me to live here more out of pity than need of my help.

I am not very strong physically. Neither the employment office nor the welfare have given me any leads to find work. This is only a small town. I hope you will have an idea for me.—LILLIAN.

* * *

DEAR LILLIAN—I sense discouragement; even bitterness. Could it be you are scaring them off with your pessimism?

There is a spot for you somewhere. Get your faith back first; then exxplore tutoring, teaching, typing. Be willing to start at the bottom—which is where you are—with a smile on your face.



* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO FIFTY POUNDS OVERWEIGHT—You nibble because you are trying to make up for an empty life. You become overweight and unattractive and life recedes even farther from you. A new hobby, a dietdiet, a fresh resolve to take smaller portions, push away from the table, lock up the candies—well, how about it?

ST. MARK'S W.A.

BONARLAW — The March meeting of St. Mark's W. A. was held in the church hall on Thursday at 2 p.m.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Mrs. Everett Heath presided. The Rev. R. Stewart gave the invocation.

The Bible reading, from Isaiah 53 was read by Mrs. M. Tanner.

Eleven members answered the roll call.

The treasurer, Mrs. Neal, gave the report on oyster supper and correspondence was received.

Mrs. Heath mentioned that next year would be the 50th anniversary of the W.A. and for the members to think about it and try to have some idea on how to commemorate same. The members were also reminded to bring their thank offering next meeting.

Some discussion was held re an organ and the motion was put through that the W.A. take the lead in purchasing a new church organ and any donations from friends and parishioners to be received towards this object and, to try and have same installed by Easter.

Mr. Stewart closed the meeting with prayer.

The program conveners were Mrs. W. J. Barlow and Mrs. Ira Edwards. Mrs. Art Neal favored with a reading, "We Help Each Other"; Mrs. B. Woodbeck sang a solo, "Did You Stop To Pray This Morning", a paper on the "Season of Lent" was prepared by Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Heath gave an interesting and educational talk which was followed by a contest conducted by Mrs. Heath.

The lunch committee, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Tanner served lunch in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Light and Airy Shoes Step Into Spring

Light, airy and understated, the natural look is afoot for spring, in many styles and silhouettes. The natural — or feminine—look means pumps, flats, walkers, slingbacks in easy, fluid lines. It calls for sun-drenched colours, in single and multicolor effects.

It is interpreted in smooth and suede leathers, grained and brushed leathers, waxy and patent leathers — all made into foot-flattering shoes.

Opened-up effect of closed-toe, open-back or open-side shoes is part of the new spring look at ground level. Large potholes on vamp or sides, slim slingback straps or large vents are popular variations of the open effect, as are woven leathers, perforations, embroidered designs on vamp and toe.

Big girls take to little girls' styles in a huge variety of strap shoes — asymmetric straps, T-straps that connect at all points of the shoe, and wide sabot straps.

Casual footwear, led by moccasin flats and moccasin-front walking shoes, appears in every type of leather. Brushed leather, in flats and occasionally in boot shoes, is a new casual favorite.

In keeping with the trend to lighter shoes, these casuals are made in brushed split leather. The leather has literally been split — thinned down — to lighten the shoe and add greater flexibility while retaining durability.

Toes and heels hold few surprises. Rounded toe is seen chiefly on casual and walking shoes, pointed toe on daytime and evening shoes, square toe on late-day and suit shoes. Heels tend to be lower, except for more formal occasions and costumes.

Warm blues, strawberries and greens and a wide variety of neutrals make color news. Joining bone and white among dressy neutrals are mushroom, oatmeal and sage green.

Alpha Lambda Hears Talk on Collecting Art

Members of Alpha Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Wardman the president, Mrs. E. Brett, presided over the business meeting during which several reports were made resulting in much discussion. Mrs. Joan Thompson, convenor of the Black and Gold Ball, spoke briefly to her various committees and Mrs. C. Mutter outlined the plans for the forthcoming "Founder's Day" dinner.

Mrs. S. Calles introduced society sister, Mrs. M. White, who presented her program, "Pleasures of Possesson — The Collector."

Mrs. White spoke about the aesthetic and monetary values of collecting to individuals and mankind as a whole. Interest was stimulated by several thought-provoking questions regarding a psychological study of the collecting instinct and popularity of certain types of collections.

Among the interesting collections belonging to sorority sisters were: momentos of a two year' jaunt in various European cities; a fascinating collection of unusual hand-crafted jewelery and an interesting collection of family treasures circa 1890.

Mrs. D. Ivison thanked Mrs. White for her informative program and sorority sisters for their participation in making the evening so enjoyable.

Mrs. T. Shaw and Mrs. G. Brown assisted hostess Mrs. Wardman in serving refreshments bringing another Beta Sigma Phi evening to a close.

Easter Hams And Poultry Plentiful

OTTAWA (CP) — Hams, bacon, broiler chickens and turkey will be plentiful and economical on the Easter market, the agriculture department said Wednesday in its monthly food outlook.

The department says broiler chicken is still the most economical meat with good supplies available. Heavy weight turkeys are plentiful at attractive prices.

The seasonal peak in egg supplies is not expected to be quite as great as last year with the result that prices may be up a few cents a dozen but not at the low point of the season towards the end of April.

Canned apple juice and tomato juice are abundant and are selling at favorable prices compared with other juices.

Spring Musicale Given By BCIVS Concert Band

By EUGENE LANG

Last evening the B.C.I.V.S. Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Clifford Templer, presented its annual attraction "Spring Musicale" in the BCI auditorium, before an audience that was made up mostly of relatives, friends and acquaintances of the players in the band.

The band, of forty-two pieces, gave a program that was varied and well chosen as to the various selections offered in the over two-hour long program. In all of the concerted numbers the players showed remarkable co-ordination as to the conductor's intentions, breaking the musical seams in very few places. It seemed that the band achieved more unison of attack in the rhythmic offering than in those works that required a more subtle beat. These ears detected a weakness in the clarinets, but it could have been from where this listener sat in that the brass was overshadowing the reeds. Next time a better position will be chosen by this writer for listening than the side aisle seat picked last night.

The six soloists all perform extremely well and the long hours of practice that they have put in getting ready for this annual event were amply repaid for by the audience response to their playing.

The soloists were: Gary Chaffin (trumpet), Wallace Marner (clarinet), David Perrault (baritone), Donald Brearley (bass clarinet), David Templer (E flat alto horn) and William Buchan (E flat alto saxophone). The two brass trios featuring Cathy Cook, Jim White and David Murphy/Gary Chaplin, were musical fare that added greatly to the overall program. In each instance Mr. Templer accompanied at the piano.

The "Aladdin's Lamp" skit tossed in for that intermission was of such slight value that its election would have been justified. In Night Piece by Klein the conductor took on the double role as soloist-conductor in this modern number that contained a solo/obligato part. Novelty percussive effects were attained in the "Clock Store" item that pleased as much as the medley of Tschaikowsky from "The Nutcracker." The drugginess of "Manhattan Tower" Overture was aptly balanced by the vervo and vigor all players put into the "Galeta Parisienne" finale.

The stage lighting was arrived at to give the audience the shadows in not being able to fully distinguish the soloists. When the conductor walked out at the beginning and spoke to the audience he was in complete darkness, as were most of the soloists at times. Let's brighten up future concerts with better planned light.

The audience likes to see the performers, not have to grope in the dark to distinguish them. Otherwise a very delightful evening that more people should have attended. Congratulations to Mr. Templer and his musical charges.

Liberal Leader's Wife A Seasoned Campaigner

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA .CP)—Sitting on a political platform or standing up a table, Maryon Pearson shows she has acquired the finesse of a seasoned campaign trouper.

She has her own lines too.

"My wife usually pulls my pigtail when I exceed my limit," Liberal Leader Lester Pearson said, by way of apology, after he passed his allotted five-minute speaking time at a meeting in Guelph, Ont.

"I was just going to do that," said Mrs. Pearson.

Standing with Mrs. Pearson on a table to address an overflow crowd in London, Ont., Mr. Pearson said he was glad to report he was in good health—a sly dig at Conservative party claims that the Liberals had spread rumors about Prime Minister Diefenbaker's health.

After his wife whispered in his ear, he added: "My wife says to say that my mental health is also good."

The crowd roared.

Mrs. Pearson never expected to find herself in the role of a politician's husband when she married him in 1925 to the young man who had been her history teacher at Victoria College, Toronto.

ACCEPTS THE LIFE

Her husband's entry into politics in 1948 marked an abrupt departure from the cloistered halls of the external affairs department. His election to the federal house of commons in the general party in 1958 was another shift—away from the international flavor of 10 years as Canada's external affairs minister.

It isn't a life that many women would seek voluntarily but Mrs. Pearson, who is quietly shy, modish and prone to view events with some irony and a degree of non-partisan appraisal.

Nobody pretends even today that she is in love with the political life. But there is ample evidence that, in her third federal election campaign beside a potential prime minister she has learned how to live with it.

As wife of a party leader she is expected to be a platform presence night after night, perched under bright lights on hard chairs. She graciously accepts dozens of floral tributes and hundreds of cups of tea and coffee.

In previous campaigns Mrs. Pearson shone best among the folks the knew in Mr. Pearson's Northern Ontario riding of Algoma East. Now she can accept bouquets with aplomb anywhere, murmuring to the dressed - to - the - nines moppet about "that lovely hairdo." Usually she breaks off a bloom for the youngster.

QUIT VOICE OF WOMEN

She can step forward into the limelight to wave cheerfully to the crowd, or pitch into the handshaking on her own at receptions.

At informal meetings, which both the Pearsons relish, she can underline a point with a quick interjection, suggest a fast shift to lunch from speeches, or correct a date for her husband.

She also faced a personal decision this time, as a sponsor of the Voice of Women, an organization set up to promote international peace. She resigned March 8 on grounds the VoW had become "much more belligerent." This was after Mr. Pearson had announced a Liberal government would honor commitments to provide nuclear arms for Canadian forces.

As a couple, the Pearsons disagree publicly a mutual concern for each other's welfare. A heavy cold laid Mrs. Pearson low for one week of this campaign and she took another off but will spend the rest of the time until April 8 beside her husband.

Mrs. Pearson has been known to grip her husband by the coat collar to speed his progress through a crowd of well-wishers when the day's program already is behind schedule. She does it smilingly—and firmly.

CLOTHES ARE PROBLEM

Mr. Pearson likes to know where his wife is in the hurly-burly of a reception. Frequently when he's detained for a word with local party officials, he hunts for her to see how his wife is fearing, or turns back to make sure she's right behind him.

Her personal interests range from reading to gardening and a little painting. And she's never happier than when visiting her eight grandchildren.

Her daughter Pat is married to a Toronto doctor and her son Geoffrey has followed his father's footsteps into extrinal affairs.

Critics for the campaigning wife are a problem. Mrs. Pearson's are simple but tasteful. Perhaps she'd prefer not to wear hats but campaigns demand them and her choices are distinctive. She prefers beiges but wears some black. She likes lightweight wool suits for convenient packing and her shoes necessarily are the "sensible" kind.

Foxboro Road Resident Honors PC Candieate

Mrs. W. J. Tufts, Foxboro Road entertained her close neighbours at a tea on Tuesday afternoon in honor of the popular candidate, Mr. Lee Grills and Mrs. Grills.

After a social chat, followed by refreshments, Mr. J. Waller, Foxboro, addressed the ladies, on the importance of, their franchise and the great responsibility each and every one owes to this great Canada.

On Mr. and Mrs. Grills arrival, Mr. Grills addressed the group, leaving many fine and convincing thoughts of his tasks and accomplishments for all the people whom he represents, and the importance of Conservative party has made in Ottawa.

Cannifton, Corbyville W.I. Lists Officers

The Women's Institute of Cannifton-Corbyville held its regular meeting at Sunbrae Town Hall with Mrs. J. Latchford in the chair.

Regular business was dispatched and reports for the year were given by standing committees and officers. The October '62 meeting, which was a talk and films on cancer, by Mrs. A. Kugim, was voted the most popular meeting of the year.

Mrs. W. Andrews gave 'Resolutions' report, which gave the members much food for thought on important this particular phase of Women's Institute work is, and how it has done in improving living conditions in Canada.

1963 OFFICERS

Mrs. C. Ellsworth, retiring district director installed the officers for 1963-64. These are: Mrs. J. Latchford, district director; Mrs. F. Reed, president; Mrs. Charles Hinan 1st vice-president; Mrs. A. Boyd, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. D. Windsor, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. Boyd, assistant secretary; Mrs. G. Hamilton, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. W. Wannamaker, directors; Mrs. A. Boyd, pianist; Mrs. W. Latchford, Mrs. C. Ellsworth, auditors.

Standing committees are: Mrs. C. Ellsworth, press; agriculture Canadian industries; Mrs. N. Welsh, historical research-government; Mrs. W. Hinan, home economics-health; Mrs. F. Neale, citizenship - education; Mrs. K. Bowers, public relations; Mrs. W. Andrews, resolutions; card-flowers, Mrs. D. Windsor; Mrs. C. Ellsworth, curio - Mrs. Earl DeMille, Mrs. W. Andrews; phoning committee; Mrs. G. Hamilton, community centre fund.

PRESENTATION MADE

Mrs. J. Latchford, retiring president, was presented with a gift in appreciation of her untiring efforts in her two years of office.

Hostesses Helen Shorey and her assistants served lunch, focal interest of which was the Branch's 13th birthday cake, made in the form of twin sugel food.

Red Cross Board Gives Month's Report

The regular meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Canadian Cross Society, was held in the Red Cross rooms with the president, Mr. Newton Geoffrey has following.

Mr. A. S. Lewis, chairman of the Blood Donor Committee, reported that a successful clinic was held in February when 395 bottles of blood were collected.

Miss Tickell, reporting for the Loan Cupboard Committee, showed that most of the equipment was in use.

As in previous years, the Water Safety Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. B. Wright, will distribute Water Safety pamphlets to the pupils in the various schools.

HOMEMAKERS' REPORT

The report of the Homemakers' Committee given by Mrs. Buchanan, showed that up to date, 63 cases had received assistance and 140 children had been cared for.

The various accounts were ordered paid including the 1963 remittance to the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Brig. Longrigg Addresses Canadian Club on Middle East

"Local nationalisms will probably prevent extensive Russian penetration of the Middle East," according to Brigadier Stephen Longrigg. Speaking to the Women's Canadian Club meeting at Queen Alexandra School last night, Brig. Longrigg, an expert in middle eastern affairs, said most middle eastern countries shared anti-Western feelings developed during the years of Western domination, but would resist intervention from communist bloc countries with equal vigor. Most of the middle eastern countries are eager for outside aid, the Brigadier explained, but they want it without strings attached.

BRIG. LONGRIGG

Domination of the Middle East by the West is not in the best interests of the West, or of the Middle East, the Brigadier declared. What is in the best interests of both is that the Middle East attain stability, viability and open trade and communications, and that the West retain goodwill, and access to the oil supplies, in the area. Aid programs and diplomacy should be aimed at these objectives, the Brigadier suggested.

MANY CULTURES

The Middle East contains great varieties of cultures, of social levels and of religious outlooks, the Brigadier said, but there are enough common features to justify treating it as a single area. In its history, the whole region is an example of penetration from, and of, outside, by Western nations, for more than a century. Today it is unique to the West to retain the goodwill of the area. There is no easy or single answer to the "Middle Eastern Question," the Brigadier concluded, but an answer can be found, provided the West is willing to make a serious search.

Brigadier Longrigg was introduced to the club by the president, Mrs. J. H. Forrester and thanked by Miss Nellie Merry.

A report of the business meeting which preceded the adress by Brig. Longrigg last evening to the Women's Canadian Club, will appear in a later issue of the Ontario Intelligencer.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

HOW ARE YOUR PARKING MANNERS

Inconsiderate drivers don't have to be weaving down the open highway at seventy miles an hour to get your dander up. They can put you in just as uncomfortable a position when they're parked and standing stock still.

I speak from recent, uncomfortable experience.

Last week I took my four down-at-the-heel children into town to have them reshod — which, in our household, is an excursion that has to be made every other month, at least. The fortunate merchant who gets all our trade is located on a street that permits angle parking. So I parked at the proper angle, hocked the family jewels, and herded my jubilant group into the store to get sneakers and loafers.

When we finally emerged, I gratefully groped my way to the car, only to find it sandwiched between two other cars parked so close on both sides that none of the doors could be opened. Luckily, we have a station wagon, so I was able to open the back and bundle in children, packages and the inevitable balloons safely, if not decorously. A policeman stationed nearby courteously gave me a boost in and closed the door while I scrambled up to the driver's seat, popping one balloon on the way. It wasn't a drastic experience, but it does illustrate the sort of narrow view some inconsiderate drivers take on parking. They see only how they can get in, but don't look to see how others can get out.

I don't think I have any special talent for getting into tight spots. In fact, I usually park at the far end of a lot to avoid getting into a squeeze play and having to maneuver my way out of it. Inevitably though, I get hooked off in some direction. It happens so often that I'm beginning to think it's not unusual, but probably typical.

I think there ought to be a law (maybe there is) against discourteous people who:

Park so close behind you that it's impossible to edge your car away from the curb. This often is done by someone who easily has four feet of extra space to his rear and could leave you a few extra inches if he'd only take the time to be considerate.

Park so that they overlap, or jut out into traffic lanes so that others have just enough room to squeak past, providing they hold their breath.

Double-park to buy a newspaper or make some other quick purchase just as you get into your car in the hope of making a fast getaway.

The way things stand now (cars, especially), I'm inclined to trade mine in and join the ranks of the fifty-mile hikers. At this point, I don't think they do it just in the interest of physical fitness. They probably parked their cars and took up hiking rather than fight their way out of a parking lot.

Carmel W.I. Plans Pot Luck Dinner

Mrs. Percy Reynolds was the hostess for the March meeting of Carmel W.I. There were about 23 members present.

Mrs. Thompson presided. It was decided to have a pot-luck dinner on next week at noon to be held at the Church Hall. As this is the annual meeting, all reports are to be heard. Mrs. S. Homan, Mrs. S. Goss and Mrs. E. Ross were elected for nominating committee to present the slate of officers for 1963-64.

Quilt blocks for an emergency quilt are to be brought in.

Mrs. S. Homan reported for "Citizenship" and Mrs. C. Sullivan reported on "Agriculture."

Mrs. George Graham, convener of program, at this time introduced the guest, Mrs. Bakay.

Mrs. Bakay is the chief operator with the Bell Telephone Company of Belleville. She has been associated with the company since 1941. She trains and develops supervisors. Mrs. Bakay stressed the importance of good telephone habits that create a pleasant impression. She said, "you may change your voice as you change your hair. A recording of voices was taken on two lovely telephones. Mrs. Bakay was thanked by Edie Cowthorpe and presented with a gift.

Mrs. Graham concluded her program with a contest.

Lunch was served.

Ann Landers

Hydro Bill Increased 6 Cents Caused by Extra Ironing

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS—I am one of four college seniors living off campus in a private home. Together we pay $100 a month for two bedrooms plus kitchen privileges.

During the past few weeks I've been washing and ironing my fiance's white shirts. He is struggling to get by, as most of us are, and I am helping him out in this way. My fiance wears four white shirts a week.

The landlady feels that I am running up her electricity bill because of this extra ironing. Instead of speaking directly to me about it she has been talking behind my back.

I'm upset over this and would like your advice on how to handle it. Thank you in advance.—PRESSING FOR A SOLUTION.

DEAR PRESSING—Even if you are a slow ironer you can iron a white shirt in 15 minutes. It costs 1½ cents per hour to operate an electric iron. This means you are kiting the lady's electric bill by 6c a month.

The next time you pay the rent, put 6c in an envelope with a little note explaining that you insist on paying for the extra juice.

DEAR ANN—I was a psychology major in college and prided myself on being able to work out most of my problems in a mature, adult manner. My "mature, adult manner" somehow has deserted me.

Henry, my 16-year-old brother, was made a ward of the state because my parents were unable to handle him. My father is an alcoholic and my mother is a neurotic with an uncontrollable temper.

When I married last year I took Henry into our home. My husband and I were appointed his legal guardians by the court. The boy has shown remarkable progress. He is friendly, co-operative and does better in school.

My mother, seeing the vast improvement, insists that we give him back. I wouldn't consider it and legally she can't take him. I've told her this repeatedly but she keeps harping. Henry hates living in her home and is frightened to death of her. Whenever she comes over he has a "relapse."

What shall I do?—SISTER.

DEAR SISTER—Visit your mother in her home. Tell her she cannot come to yours.

Henry is fighting a tough battle and it's obvious that his mother's presence makes him ill. This may seem cruel but it is essential for the boy's recovery. Let's hope your mother will come to understand why.

* * *

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 25c in coin for a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

H-S Assoc. Holds Fine "Fun Fair"

WELLINGTON — The Wellington Home and School Association held its annual "Fun Fair" on the evening of March 29th in the Wellington School. The president, Mrs. J. Callow, welcomed the guests at the door and a large crowd was in attendance.

The theme throughout the school was the "Colonial Age". Members of the association were kept busy all evening at their various jobs. In one room, comic books, reading books and records were for sale. The homemade candy and food was soon disposed of in another room.

A white elephant table filled with parcels and the haberdashery were well patronized.

The movies shown by Mr. Soider were enjoyed all evening by a large crowd while the basement was the scene of activity.

In the gymnasium, the many games of ball throw, bowling, penny toss, ring toss and 'hook the duck' were much enjoyed by both the youngsters and their parents and by the sounds, they all had a real good time.

The fish pond was also the attraction of the youngsters. Hot dogs, freshly-popped corn and soft drinks were sold from the kitchen, while upstairs in the Home Economics room, tea, coffee and cookies were served.

DOOR PRIZE

The many door prizes were drawn for and went to the following: ash tray — Glen Smith; long playing record — Marion Wychuck; wall plaques — Clarence Malcolm; set of towels — Mrs. Quick; coupon for oil lubrication — Alfred Adams; 25 pounds dog food — Mr. McKerrie; two and a half pound cheese — Mrs. Bob Boyer; Mrs. Boyce also won the draw on a lovely cake. Mr. Glen Smith won a sani can; Mrs. Pat Thompson — a cushion; Kristalyn a plant; Mrs. Albert Davis a can of coal and Mrs. Henry Dick, the huge hamper of groceries.

The proceeds from this "Fun Fair" will go to purchase a record player for the school.

THANKS TENDERED

The association would like to thank the many merchants for their donations and all others who helped in any way to make this event a success.

Miscellaneous Shower

FRANKFORD—A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Lawson on Friday evening at 8 p.m. when neighbors and friends gathered to honor Mr and Mrs. Raymond Lawson, (nee Lorraine Brown, of Belleville).

Pink and white streamers and pink and white bells decorated the home.

Games were played during the evening.

Lorraine opened the gifts and thanked each donor.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Lawson and Mrs. John Reichert and Mrs. Claude Moran.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Many things are not really what they seem. There is a kind of unreality even about the big things. Things that loom very big are really just a fraction of their seeming size. What seem to be mountains are really molehills.

And that is true of things as also true of ideas. We sometimes have big ideas about ourselves and other people that turn out to be Tom-Thumb thoughts.

Consider the people who are provincial and contrast them with those who call themselves cosmopolitan. What makes a man provincial or cosmopolitan has little to do with the place in which he lives. It is rather an attitude of the mind.

The cosmopolitan thinks of himself as urbane, but more often than not he is only urban, or perhaps suburban. In his desire to be "a citizen of the world," he belongs to nothing because he thinks that he belongs to everything. It turns out that the strangest kind of provincial is the cosmopolitan. He is often glib and is usually a dilettante who lacks convictions of his own.

He dresses up and covers himself with the quilted patchwork of other people's ideas, which he borrows for each special occasion.

Lessons from the lives of great men are available: Albert Schweitzer is a citizen of the world because, in a certain secret spot in Africa, he reached the deepest meaning of life — of all life. And Gandhi and Weizmann were such people. Like Schweitzer, they had deep roots in their own tradition, a profound fervour and zeal.

But always they had the understanding that what they were doing was related to the deepest needs of all men.

LESS HUMAN

"Deep calleth unto deep." To be sure, we have not to belong to something if anything is to belong to us. But always, it must be believe to belong to us alone, we remain provincial despite our cosmopolitan claims.

When the boundaries of space or color divide us from each other, we become less human than we were destined to be. If we know only ourselves, we really never get to be our best selves. There is one antidote to being either provincial or cosmopolitan. We need to be fully human.

We are less than human because instead of seeking to know our fellow men, we tend to fear those who are different from ourselves.

One wise grandfather played an instructive trick on his grandchildren. He pulled an imaginary pistol from his pocket and pointed his finger at them as if it were a gun. And then came his lesson.

"If I were a stranger in the dark," he explained, "and I pointed a gun at you, you would be frightened out of your wits. But if you know me and you know that my weapon is a toy, you would just laugh it off.

"Fears," he suggested, "are just like that. If you understand what causes them, you become familiar with them; then you can easily get rid of them with a quick shrug and a calm smile."

He was right. We fear the things and the people we do not know.

I'd Rather Be at Home Says Caouette's Wife

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Real Caouette, 46-year-old wife of the deputy national Social Credit leader, would prefer a quiet life centred around home and family.

But she gives herself to politics "because I know how important it is to my husband and the country."

Mrs. Caouette has been busy federal election. She puts in a seven-day politicril week starting at 9 a.m. and ending around 2 a.m.

"I'm in this because my husband is," she said in an interview. "The sacrifices are worth it. I feel I owe it on account of the importance of the matter. But it's not a personal hobby."

She has become accustomed to politics in 25 years of marriage 23 of which her candidate husband was active, in the Social Credit party.

"I'm used to going around, and to being alone when the children were young," she said. The Caouettes have three children, daughter Andree, 12, sons Gilles, 23, who makes his debut in politics this year as Social Credit candidate in Montreal Laurier, and Roger, 24, who works at his father's farage in Rouyn, Que.

DOESN'T MAKE SPEECHES

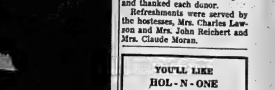
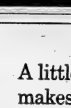
She said that when her husband was elected to Parliament last year, she found it difficult to leave Rouyn.

She lived in Ottawa from 1946 to 1949 when her husband was first an MP. "So I was just going back; it wasn't new to me."

They make their home in Hull, Que. when Parliament is in session.

On the campaign trail, Mrs. Caouette enjoys meeting people but stays in the background as much as she can. She says she gets restless during long speeches unless it's her husband talking.





She doesn't take part in political questions or make speeches and regrets that she and her husband can no longer find time for favorite pre-war diversions, reading, theatre and music.

She leaves no doubt of her feeling about this life.

"I wouldn't be in this if my husband wasn't. I'd rather be at home."

However, even at home she doesn't quite get away from political affairs. She says with an easy, gay laugh that in Rouyn her favorite television program is her husband's fiery speeches.

For Honest-to-Goodness Reducers

by Mary Moore

We were our own guinea pigs. We are perennial reducers. It is a lifelong way of life.

When you read the recipe for Polynesian Chicken with pineapple you will see that there are no hidden calories thrown in. The recipe for Crispy Popovers is a great satisfaction to a reducer who is slowly becoming a resentful recluse.

My sister who is a dietitian did most of the work on these reducers' recipes with some spasmodic help from me. Our non-reducers enjoyed them, too but just ate more.

All have been tasted, tested and approved by the daily-weighers in our family. One day each week I will devote the column to reducing recipes for the next four or five weeks so you will look lovely for Spring.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Tomato Juice, Old-Fashioned Pot Roast with Vegetables, Rich Brown Gravy, Fluffy Mashed Potatoes, Frenched Green Beans Pickled Beets, Chocolate Eclairs or Cream Puffs, Tea.

SUNDAY

(Selection for reducers)

Polynesian Chicken with Pineapple (see Thursday), Crispy Popovers (see Thursday), Green Peas and Slivered Mushrooms, Lettuce, Endive and Spinach Salad with Herb Dressing, Orange Jelly Mould (see Thursday), Cookies-on-the-Square (see Tuesday), Coffee.

POLYNESIAN CHICKEN WITH PINEAPPLE:

Chicken legs baked to a rich brown in a zesty soy-and-onion sauce. No fat needed. Recipe makes 4 servings. Bake for 1½ hours at 350 deg. Fahr.

Four chicken legs with thighs, ¾ cup chopped mild onion, ¾ cup soy sauce, 1½ cups water, 4 slices diet-pack pineapple, 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley. Arrange chicken legs in shallow baking pan. Mix onion, soy sauce and water and pour over chicken. Bake, basting several times with soy sauce mixture in pan. After 45 minutes, turn chicken and bake another 45 minutes until chicken is tender and richly browned. Serve with pineapple slices which have been well-drained and dried; then rolled along edges in chopped parsley.

CRISPY POPOVERS:

Two eggs, 1 cup skim milk, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, Butter (6 six-oz. custard cups baking). (Popovers will pop higher if baked in deep straight-sided cups.) Beat eggs slightly, add milk, flour and salt and beat briskly. With rubber scraper, scrape sides of bowl and beat for 2 minutes until batter is smooth and thin. Divide evenly into custard cups to fill about half full. Place cups on cookie sheet, not touching. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 45 to 50 minutes until puffed and golden brown. Do not peek during baking. (One crispy popover equals about 110 calories.)

ORANGE JELLY MOULD:

One 6-oz. can fresh frozen orange concentrate, 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin dissolved in ¼ cup cold water, 2 egg whites, ½ cup juice from canned lietie pineapple, 2 slices canned dietetic pineapple cut in quarters, 1 medium large red apple. Melt gelatin (which has been dissolved in the cold water) by placing over hot water. Mix orange and pineapple juice and stir in melted gelatin mix. Chill until softly congealed but not firm. Fold in egg whites beaten until stiff. Line a jelly mould with pineapple quarters. Core apple but do not pare and dice it into ½" pieces. Pour some gelatin mixture over pineapple and add layer of diced apple. Alternate mixture and apple until all is used. Chill thoroughly. Serves 4. (Other fruit may be substituted for apple.)

DIETING HINTS:

1) Serve potatoes without butter. To mashed potatoes add hot skim milk and salt and garnish with paprika or parsley. 2) With many green vegetables a few drops of lemon juice add flavor. Or a sprinkle of nutmeg.

Neighbors' Aid Displays Fine Winter Work

2ND THURLOW—The March meeting of the Neighbors' Aid was held in the Aid Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. B. Portt, presided. The meeting opened in the usual manner with a welcome extended to all and thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Archie Greatrix.

The secretary read correspondence including a letter from the boy adopted by the Aid from Vienna, in answer to a letter sent by Mrs. Ward Atkins on behalf of the Aid, at Christmas time. Thanks were also given for cards and gifts sent to Mr. B. Portt and Canadian, Mrs. G. Stratton, Mr. Don Leeming, Mr. C. Melburne, Mrs. Robert Atkins, and Mrs. B. Whalen for sympathy card sent at the time of her mother's death.

Mrs. D. Atkins expressed thanks from Mr. and Mrs. J. Tugnette for gifts sent recently.

One dozen chairs were purchased for the Aid.

The bakers for May meeting are: Mesdames C. Keene, S. Ray, E. Leeming and G. Tuepah.

Lining and a quilt batt are to be obtained for two quilts to be quilted later.

Mrs. Harry Grills will convene euchre on April 5th. Mrs. D. Atkins and Mrs. F. Mitchell will convene one later in April.

Mrs. B. Portt donated a money agron and Mrs. Kirk donated a copper cooling planter on which tickets are to be sold to help raise fund for a new kitchen. A strawberry social was discussed the date to be set later in June.

Roll call was answered by a piece of work accomplished during the winter.

Some beautiful articles were shown, hooked rugs, several bulky knit sweaters, Mary Maxim sweaters, embroidery, knitting, bed spread, shirts, suit, dresses, gloves, quilt top, slippers copper tooling, a knit hat and many other worthwhile articles.

Lunch was served by Mesdames Robert Atkins, B. Portt, M. Dent and J. Kirk.

Cookies-on-the-Square

(Recipe for reducers)

Two egg whites, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup skim milk, 1 cup sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon almond extract, 1 tablespoon melted butter, ½ cup finely chopped nuts, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually and beat until very stiff. Add milk, flour, salt, vanilla, almond extract and melted butter. Fold in nuts and orange rind. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. Fahr.) about 10 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Soft Fabrics Shape New Coats, Suits

There is a wonderful excuse to buy a new spring coat and suit this year. No matter how smart your old coat may be — it does not make sews unless it's in one of the exciting textured fabrics and clear pastels that are the hallmarks of new season coats.

The new '63 styles propose everything pretty and poetic, everything feminine and delightful to wear.

Thanks to the diversity of styles, spring coats are no confined to any one silhouette. Some are cased, over-flowing, fitted or Plumb-Line. Others are straight from shoulder to hem, with marvelous underpinning in front. Some have cascading back fullness, like a choir boy's surplice. Some swagger into belled trench types. All have a timeless chic.

Fabrics for spring tell a texture story - - - twists, bobbles, loops, bouclés, soufflés, nubby, puffed - - - and all are foamy light.

Color wise, coats are captivating. Pastels reign supreme with peaches and pinks leading the spotlight. There's a big salute too for red, white and blue.

THE NEW SUIT LOOK

For the woman who loves suits (and what woman doesn't) this is an important season.

Suits are different looking, more flattering and definitely more wearable for more women than they have been for quite a while.

There's news in jackets—they have a demi-fitted look and move closer to the body. They vary from the waist-skimmer to the hip-full basque, to the Chanel inspired cardigan, to the thirty-six inch length walking suit.

Skirts are slim or softly gathered, easy to stride in.

Cotton suits are favorites, especially when the accompanying blouse is a silk print with matching jacket lining.

The colors for the season invite dare-to-be different combinations — such as turquoise and brown; fawa and grey; black and white; or, green and navy. There are whites and off whites while exciting new clear pastels such as yellows, celery tones, corals, pinks, powder blue and citron glow smartly on the scene.

Tissue - weight fabrics, in rough to smooth textures, take the limelight. Leading the fashion parade are airy wools; crisp, dry worsteds; wave-patterned silks; cotton rivulets and grainy, new synthetics. Particularly new looking is a light weight Angle wool in an interesting diagonal weave. For a dressy look the silks and woolens are leading the spring suit hit parade.

Bold Pattern Jackets

Clean, crisp, contrasty patterns are making a strong comeback in men's and youths' sport jackets for the spring-summer season of 1963. This influence can be seen in the top selling polyester-worsted blends that were formerly dominated by dull mousey fabrics. It is also very apparent in the India Madras jackets (expected to be very strong in classic shops) where bright colors (sharply defined) are getting a big play. Seersuckers, beaded cloth, even greater acceptance next summer, are in the trend via broader stripes in deeper as well as brighter colors.

The cardigan (collarless) sport jacket has been achieving a higher standing in this country for a number of years. It's cool, comfortable and good-looking. It was a huge success in sweaters — still is, as a matter of fact — and seems to be gaining in popularity in jackets and sport coats.

Spring Calls for Flattering Hairdo

Why don't you try to do something different with your hair this spring? Spring is the time for a new look, a new line, a new lift. Changing your hairstyle shape to a fresh, spring fashion 'do is so easy these days with self-styling hair sprays, and a handful of rollers and clips.

You can brush it into a swirled cap of casual curls, or brush in a rounded pouf bang, or clip up the sides into a winged hairdo. These and countless more spring styling tricks are possible with "Adora", now packaged with a styling tricks booklet with new hairstyle photographs and instructions on how to do each of them.

For the casual cap coif, brush all hair back from the forehead. With your comb, turn up the ends of curls all over your head. Pull down tendril bangs over one temple. This is an easily kept hairdo for daytime activities during spring and summer.

For more of a change in line with flipped up curls, spray your hair first then wind a few rollers where you want flipped up ends, or height, or fullness. Use clips for procuring cheek curls or swirled bangs. Puffy bangs are set on large rollers wound under. The new setting will dry in about fifteen minutes, then you're ready to brush in a fresh spring coif. There are endless such variations for you to try for fun and fashion.

And here's another little styling trick: You can refresh a crushed or mussed hairdo without re-spraying. Simply dampen the comb with water and run it through your hair. This practically the spray as you re-comb into place.

What will you do with your hair this spring? Give yourself a headstart toward a fresh, new spring hairdo.

'Soft Look' Extends To Home Decor, Too

Today's furniture has a soft look of grace and simple refinement. There is more use of ornamentation, such as jewel-like metal accents, decorative marble inlays, carved effects and combinations of woods and other materials.

Infinite variety characterizes the many diversified collections in furniture. The homemaker can choose from designs that reflect Mediterranean, Italian, Oriental and Scandinavian influences, contemporary furniture with traditional elegance, or traditional pieces with a fresh, modern feeling.

If there is one thing that can be applied to the new home furnishings, it is "livability". The new creations are functional, but with richness, warmth and beauty. They serve a realistic purpose and fit into current patterns of living.

Chairs and sofas are luxurious in both comfort and styling - - - made for sitting, resting and relaxing.

Cabinets, chests and dressers are designed to store things conveniently and efficiently in the limited space of smaller modern homes.

Quilting and tufted detail add to the richness and elegance, and many sofas and chairs continue to feature loose pillow backs. In some collections the basic pieces are in a solid color with the pillows in a correlated pattern. In others, the sofa and chair sets come in plain and patterned combinations of the same fabric.

The present trend in living room groups is more in the direction of relaxed rather than matching pieces.

The fabrics are truly lush in wonderful silk and silk-like textures. The use of exposed wood for ornamentation is another significant feature of new upholstered furniture.

Upholstered furniture continues to be built along tighter lines with straight-and-narrow rather than overstuffed arms.

Riopelle Art On Exhibit At Toronto

Of considerable interest to local artists is the display of the paintings of Jean-Paul Riopelle, most widely known Canadian in international art. This exhibition, being shown at Toronto Art Gallery, organized by the National Gallery, of Ottawa, to honor one of Canada's major artists, includes nearly all the works shown in Venice as well as important paintings from Canadian, American and English collections.

Riopelle, still a Canadian, though he has lived and worked in Paris since 1946, began his artistic career in Montreal. In 1962 this 40-year-old artist won the UNESCO prize at the 31st Venice Biennale and became the first Canadian to win a major reward at the largest of international exhibitions.

The exhibition covers his artistic development from his conventional landscapes, still life paintings of the early 40's, to the first days in Paris in 1946, when he used the "Tachist" technique of Berdusa, the "controlled drip"; the palette knife and solid forms set off by large areas of white, all of which are included in this exhibition.

The exhibition closes on April 28th.

Fabrics Are News In Boy's Fashions Styled for Spring

Fabrics tell the fashion story for boys' wear this spring. From the very young man in his Eton suit to the older boy in sports jacket and slacks or suit, the news is not in styles, which continue on the "borrowed from Dad" theme, but in the novelty of fabrics and fabric combinations.

Denim is top favorite, in faded solids and teamed with white. Faded blue or brown and white stripes show up not only in Eton suits and sports jackets but also in casual suits, with matching caps. For an especially dashing look, fabrics prints are paired with denims.

Bleeding madras and batik makes smart young suits, while cord, ticking and seersucker are seen in suits, sportswear.

In a mens traditional mood are classic flannels, in jacket and shorts suits for younger boys, and worsted wools and blends in dress-up fashions for the growing-up set.

Knits, both dressy and casual, keep climbing in popularity, liked for the way they combine comfort and neatness. Wools, cottons, miracle fibres, the knits appear in everything from sports shirts to suits.

The red-white-and-blue nautical look is strong again, especially in boys' sportswear.

Gold-Filled Jewelry Aglow On Spring's Simple Fashions

The simple, untrimmed lines in women's clothes are an excellent background for the new fashions in gold filled jewelry. These exciting jewelry creations were designed to meet today's fashion needs and are most effective in dramatizing a spring ensemble — without fracturing even small budgets.

The focal point in today's new gold filled jewellery is the wrist, with bracelets in a variety that blend with the trend toward shorter sleeves and the simple lines of women's dresses and suits. Gold filled bracelets styled in today's new fashions lend themselves beautifully to these new simple lines.

Combinations of good taste may be attained by the use of three or four bracelets from any of the following groups: bangles, plain or engine-turned, turned tubes, scarabs, twisted wire, and a variety of chains.

All of these are available at your jewellers' and may be selected from a wide variety, including bracelets of cultured pearls and gem stones.

Earrings, a "must" in every feminine life, may be selected to complement the bracelets and necklaces. When used as a classic or conversation piece for the hip, shoulder, or glove cuff, pins of contrasting or harmonizing design are effective.

CHIFFON SCARFS

Chiffon scarfs in a wide variety of plain colors are to be seen in the shops this spring. Many white silk scarfs are shown, some touched with pigment white or bordered in brilliant colors.

K Says Russia Differs With Tito's Views

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has told Red China that "serious differences" exist between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia.

The statement, contained in a Khrushchev invitation to Mao Tse-tung to come to Moscow to discuss their ideological rift, may be a conciliatory gesture toward the Chinese. Peking considers Yugoslavia a traitor to world communism.

Publication Wednesday of the text of the letter also disclosed that Moscow had sought face-to-face talks with Albania, Red China's ally in the dispute, but the move failed.

There was no immediate reply from Peking to Khrushchev's invitation.

The Soviet leader extended the invitation to Mao in declining a Red Chinese proposal for him to visit Peking. If Mao cannot make the trip, the Soviet letter proposed that a substitute delegation come about May 15.

In Peking, observers said Mao Tse-tung is unlikely to agree to go to Moscow following Soviet Premier Khrushchev's turning down of his invitation to to Peking.

The observers said Mao seemed to have a marked aversion to travelling outside China.

On the other hand, Mao has been more publicly active in the last two months than at any time since he relinquished the chairmanship of the republic four years ago.

WON'T SEIZE BANKS

Mr. Thompson, campaigning in his Alberta constituency of Red Deer, said Social Credit has no intention of taking over Canada's banking system if it forms a government after Monday's election.

All party leaders are on the move today. Mr. Diefenbaker has a 15-point whistle-stop swing by special train around Southern Ontario leading to an evening meeting at Hamilton. Mr. Pearson flies to Northern Ontario for his only campaign visit to his home riding of Algoma East. Mr. Thompson flies east for meetings at Alexandria, Ont. and Ottawa, while Mr. Douglas flies from Vancouver to Winnipeg.

The rowdyism and organized disturbances that have marked several election meetings during this campaign brought a comment Wednesday by Mr. Douglas.

In a statement issued at Vancouver before his speech there, the NDP leader deplored the development and said it arises from the frustration of our times." He also blamed mounting personal attacks" by the Liberals on Mr. Diefenbaker.

DOUGLAS UNTROUBLED

There was virtually no heckling as Mr. Douglas spoke to a crowd of 7,200 in the Vancouver Forum, the scene of noisy demonstrations during campaign rallies for Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson. Earlier Wednesday the Liberal campaign chairman in British Columbia, Hugh A. Martin, asked Liberal supporters not to retaliate by disrupting Mr. Douglas's meeting.

But there was cross-fire from other politicians Wednesday night.

Liberal stalwart Lionel Chevrier attacked saccharin socialism" of the New Democrats and demagoguery" by Real Caouette, deputy Social Credit leader.

CBC free-time election broadcasts provided more campaign oratory, with Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson on television and Mr. Thompson on radio, all in recorded broadcasts.

London Honors Queen, Prince

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip were guests of honor Wednesday at a luncheon in London's Guildhall given by the City of London to mark their return from a two-month Australian tour.

The royal couple drove in state through central London past crowds that had waited an hour or more for a glimpse of them.

20 Farmers

Paul-Emile Coulombe, 34-year-old farmer and manager of the Val Rita Co-Operative, who was charged specifically in the death of Fernand Drouin, 26.

Then each of the other 19 settlers was called in turn, some times read in French as well as English, and all agreed to allow the Crown's evidence in the Coulombe case stand for them.

FONDERS DECISION

The magistrate recessed the court for three hours after a heated legal argument ensued while he pondered his decision. It had indicated Wednesday there was not sufficient evidence to commit Coulombe for trial on the murder charge.

He said the case was exceptionally difficult, not from the angle of the facts, but from the angle of the law.

It is important not only to the accused persons particularly with regard to the right of a person to protect his property against mob violence. . . The question is to what extent the settlers had a right to protect their rights. . . .

I am satisfied from the evidence that gunfire was the only way the mob could be or was stopped," he added. Police had testified that three dozen officers were brushed aside when the hordes of striking lumbermen, seeking to enforce a boycott of lumber shipments to a strike-bound mill, rushed the settlers' camp in the early-morning bid to knock over piles of cut logs.

I am satisfied warning shots were fired into the ground and over their heads."

WEAPONS SEIZED

Testimony had estimated that between 50 and 75 shots were fired in a period of a few minutes. Later 12 weapons of various kinds were seized.

The question, said the magistrate, is, was there more force used than was necessary to stop this mob?

The settlers had gathered in a Reesor Siding cabin, armed not to protect their lives but to protect the piled wood, he said. He felt there is a limit to the force which may be used to protect one's property."

Crown Attorney S. A. Caldbick had argued earlier that the law forbids people from assembling with arms for a private purpose" unless it is to protect their dwelling.

We are not living in the times of Marshal Wyatt Earp when every man defended himself," Mr. Caldbick said. We are living in a civilized country."

It was the settlers' duty to withdraw from the siding in the face of trouble, he said. Instead, they had gathered with arms to protect a few sticks of pulpwood and for no other purpose."

ADDRESSES MAGISTRATE

Addressing himself directly to the magistrate, the Crown attorney said: If you discharge the case, then you are saying they are guilty of nothing and yet three men are dead."

Mr. Haffey argued that if the settlers were guilty of unlawful assembly, which carried a separate penalty, they could not be guilty of murder.

The defence lawyer described Mr. Caldbick's arguments as ingenious," but argued that the settlers had a right to protect their property, especially after the police had been overwhelmed by the screaming mob of strikers.

The settlers actually suppressed the mob by firing on them," he said. And as a result of the Crown's evidence the magistrate could not possibly distinguish the guilty from the innocent."

He said the Crown had failed to establish which gun killed Drouin. There were no ballistics reports among the evidence. And although witnesses said Coulombe surrendered a .38-calibre revolver, a doctor testified Drouin died from shotgun wounds.

Nine other union members were injured in the battle. A total of more than 230 strikers have been charged with rioting, and they are scheduled to appear April 15 at a special court hearing in a Kapuskasing theatre.

Active Campaigner in B. C. Says Election Quietest Ever Seen, No Clear Issues

By BRUCE LEVETT

VANCOUVER (CP) — "If I didn't work in a committee room I wouldn't know there's a federal election coming up."

This observation by an active campaigner in the Vancouver headquarters of one of the major political parties seems to sum up the quiet political picture in British Columbia.

There are no clear-cut issues. In Canada's west coast province the campaign leading up to the April 8 election is bound up in the national issues of nuclear arms for Canada and the unemployment problem.

Underlying it all is the question of national leadership. The minor parties are stressing the theory that minority government can be very good government; the two major parties state that without a majority government in Ottawa the ruling party after April 8 will lack the power to carry out its policies.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives say they are confident of a majority position in the next House. However, in common with the New Democratic Party and Social Credit, they say they will offer the next government all possible cooperation short of coalition so long as that government progresses toward solution of the problems facing the country.

The west coast voter is traditionally a fickle voter and few care to speculate on how he'll jump on April 8.

Provincially, he has kept a Social Credit government in office for more than 20 years.

But federally, in the last five elections, he has gone Liberal, Progressive Conservative, NDP and undecided—favoring every party on the ballot except Social Credit.

B.C. went solidly Liberal in 1949, but switched to Progressive Conservative in 1953. In 1957 the voters spread their favor around, sending seven Conservative members to Parliament along with seven Progressive Conservatives and six Social Creditors. The other two seats went Liberal.

In 1958, the province lined up with the rest of the country and elected 18 Progressive Conservatives, giving the other four seats to the CCF.

Last year B.C. switched again and the count was 10 NDP, six Progressive Conservatives, four Liberals and two Social Creditors.

RIDING RECORDS

Two Progressive Conservatives have held fast to their federal ridings for the last 14 years — Works Minister E. Davie Fulton in Kamloops and External Affairs Minister Howard Green in Vancouver Quadra.

Mr. Fulton has since bowed out federally to become provincial party leader.

Only two ridings created since 1949 have remained true to one party—Burnaby-Coquitlam and Esquimalt-Saanich.

Robert Regier of the NDP won each time out in Burnaby-Coquitlam until he stepped down last year and turned over his organization there to party leader T. C. Douglas, who rolled to victory in a byelection.

Mr. Regier is running this year in neighboring Fraser Valley constituency.

The NDP organizers are counting on the fact that their national leader is operating from a B.C. base to help the NDP cause in this province.

Maj. - Gen. George Pearkes, former defence minister, held Esquimalt - Saanich from the time the riding was formed until he retired to become lieutenant - governor. The riding remained in the Progressive Conservative fold during the 1962 election.

PROVINCE ALOOF

With the legislature still in session and the provincial highways department embroiled in a graft investigation, provincial leaders of the Social Credit, Liberal and NDP parties have had little time for active campaigning on behalf of federal candidates. There are no Progressive Conservative members in the B.C. legislature.

The NDP is counting on support from the province's militant hand-the-bomb groups in B.C. In Vancouver Quadra the party has indicated the idea of not opposing Mr. Green, regarded as the central figure against nuclear arms for Canada within the Conservative party.

VARIED FIELD

In a province noted for voting for the personality, sometimes at the expense of the issues, the 1963 campaign has brought out a wide range of candidates.

There are nine women—three each for the Progressive Conservatives, the Social Credit and the NDP.

Liberals John Magor in Skeena and Tom Kent in Burnaby-Coquitlam and NDP incumbent Barry Mather in New Westminster have newspaper backgrounds.

There are two authorities, both NDP — Mrs. Steeves in Vancouver Quadra and blind veteran John Windsor in Esquimalt-Saanich.

Three Chinese-Canadians are running — Progressive Conservative Gladys Chong in Vancouver East and Douglas Jung in Vancouver Centre, and Edward Lum, Social Credit, in Esquimalt-Saanich.

Colin Cameron in Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands and H. W. Herridge in Kootenay West are the two voted with the government when it was toppled by a Social Credit subterfuge last February—are in the race again for the NDP.

Dr. C. J. M. Willoughby, who defeated Mr. Fulton for the seeking his protege's old seat.

Poetry - writing Rene Gauchi, perennial Social Credit candidate, is trying again in 1963 election in Kamloops, is Burnaby - Coquitlam and Bevi Walters, self - employed importer who believes there are "too many lawyers" in Parliament, is contesting Vancouver Centre for the Social Credit.

CONDUCT OF INQUIRIES

Allan Lawrence (PC—Toronto St. George) told the legislature that participation by political parties in royal commission hearings should be stopped.

He said the atmosphere surrounding a royal commission hearing should be one of calm serenity. The purpose of appointing such commission was to remove the topic from the political sphere. The hearings should be removed from screaming headlines, innuendos and slurs against individuals."

Political parties had been represented by counsel at commission investigations of Niagara Parks land transactions, Sarnia area dealings by Dimensional Investments and organized crime in Ontario.

SMOKED THROUGH NOSE

Historian Fernandez de Oviedo wrote in 1535 that natives of the West Indies smoked pipes with two stems inserted in their nostrils.

Legislature Recesses After Busy Session

TORONTO (CP) — The legislative chamber was empty today on the 70th anniversary of the official opening of historic Queen's Park.

The fourth session of Ontario's 26th legislature went into its second recess Wednesday after 39 sitting days in which members debated and approved the bulk of the government's legislative program for this year.

Despite the earliest start on the annual budget debate since 1944, members will return to the house April 17 to complete their business.

In the recess, provincial lawmakers will have time to add their effort to the last few days of the federal election campaign — and perhaps even go for their own campaigns in a provincial election expected later this year.

The date for that election may be one of the surprises which Premier John Robarts will have for members when they complete the last stage of this session, the first since 1949 to continue past Easter.

SS IT AGAIN FOR LATERS

Speculation at Queen's Park is divided between June and October as likely election months, although the mandate for the present government does not run out until June, 1964.

Included in the business still to be dealt with by the house is a promised government draft bill on medical health insurance. The bill would set the terms of reference for a special committee study, including hearings of representations from all interested parties, to draft final legislation on the politically hot issue.

Another touchy debate is expected to come to a head with the introduction of expected government legislation ending the ban on sale of colored margarine in the province.

Although official notice has not yet been given, reliable sources say the bill will be introduced this elon. Given full government support, the bill also would revoke a provision of the oleomargarine act which prohibits the sale of precolored margarine.

Leonard Reilly (PC—Toronto-Eglinton) told the legislature he would introduce a private member's bill should the government not act this session.

ASKS REMOVAL

Beverley Levis (PC—Toronto-York Humber) asked for removal of restrictions on sale of colored margarine, while Norman Singer (L — Toronto-York Centre) and Kenneth Bryden (NDP — Toronto - Woodbine) asked the government to allow a free vote, relieved of party discipline, should a margarine bill be introduced.

Ross Whicher (L—Bruce) said he would introduce any move allowing margarine to be colored yellow. To prevent any confusion with butter, margarine might be colored green, he suggested.

UNIVERSAL HEADACHE

Despite its name, the European red mite is a headache to apple growers throughout the world.

On The Political Front

Tommy Douglas Hits Export of Raw Materials

VANCOUVER (CP) — T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, said Wednesday night hundreds of millions of dollars worth of raw material which "should be providing jobs in Canada" is instead being shipped out of the country.

Mr. Douglas, addressing a rally in the Vancouver Forum, said Canada's loss of control over its economy is the main reason the country has the highest rate of unemployment in the Western world."

He said the fault is not that of the Americans, it's our own."

One of the first actions of an NDP government would be to set up a Canadian development fund. It would use loans from insurance companies, investment firms and the public to stimulate both expansion of private industry and creation of enterprises involving public and co-operative ownership.

He said Liberal Leader Pearson has asked us to remember that the United States is our best customer."

What Mr. Pearson didn't say was that Canada is the their best customers, we are buying nearly $700,000,000 more a year than they are buying from us.

We have now come to the point where 70 per cent of our industry is owned by foreign interests."

DEFICIT DOUBLED

The result was Canada was the only one of the U.S., the 1,000,000 a year in dividends and interests, he said.

"In the capital of $700,000,000 in the hole, we're down $1,400,000,000. We've come to the place where there is hardly anything left to be mortgaged."

Mr. Douglas referred to the 1957 federal election campaign during which the Progressive Conservatives, he said, conducted a "made-in-Canada" campaign.

He paused to don a cap bearing the words "Carry On John" which he said had been used by the Conservatives in 1957. A few moments later he removed the cap and pointed in the direction, he said, there was a note saying the cap was made in Columbus, Ohio.

BREAKS QUIET

There was virtually no heckling from the capacity crowd of 7,200 in the Forum, plus 2,000 in the Pacific National Exhibition Gardens listening by loudspeaker.

Mr. Douglas' reception contrasted sharply with the shouts and catcalls which greeted Mr. Pearson's appearance on the same platform Monday.

Hugh Martin, Liberal federal campaign manager in B.C., said before the rally he had urged that Liberal workers take no part in any disruption of the Douglas rally.

In a statement issued before the speech, Mr. Douglas said: All Canadians must deplore the rowdyism, organized hooliganism which had marred which have emerged [illegible] on the Canadian scene.

I think the cause is found ultimately in the frustration of our citizens."

He said it was symptomatic of a people living in fear of unemployment because of jobs through automation and a stagnant economy.

At the same time, political figures have become familiar figures through television and "we have inspire awe at a political rally."

PRINT INVITATION

PEKING (Reuters)—The Chinese Communist party organ, People's Daily today printed without comment the full text of a Soviet party letter inviting Chinese party chairman Mao Tse-tung to visit Moscow for talks on Sino-Soviet ideological differences.

Pledges Inquiry Into 'Crisis of National Unity'

By DON HANRIGHT

MONTREAL (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson made his second appeal of the campaign for Quebec votes Wednesday night by renewing his pledge of an inquiry into the "serious crisis of national unity" and with a caustic attack on Progressive Conservative defence attitudes.

Mr. Pearson was so wildly cheered as he rose to speak that he was delayed five minutes by songs chants of "We Want Mike" and applause. It was the same when he finished. But in between—during his 40-minute speech—he had an inattentive audience.

A constant rumble of voices seldom hushed, filled the hall as he spoke. The crowd of 4,000 packed into the Craig Street Armories in south-central Montreal remained uneasy as they watched sporadic outbursts by miniature and near separatist elements.

A mixed group of about 50 demonstrated outside the armories and had a few minor scuffles with police but no arrests were made. When Mr. Pearson began speaking they left their placards outside and entered.

CROWD SEARCHED

An anonymous bomb threat phoned to police resulted in a search of the crowd during Mr. Pearson's speech. But it was unobtrusive that few noticed. No bomb was found.

The Liberal leader, after waiting an hour through preliminary speeches, was given one third through his speech before he drew any large measures of applause by dealing with the strains and tensions on Confederation and the delay in dealing with them.

Renewing his pledge that a Liberal government would set up a commission of inquiry he said:

"I propose completely above and beyond politics that represents Canada's bilingual and biocultural character. He did not say whom he had in mind.

Mr. Pearson said the commission will try to find out "how to ensure that Confederation can and will be developed on the only basis that will be enduring—the full acceptance of the equal rights and responsibilities of the two founding races, cultures, languages and traditions."

MUST BE RESTORED

He said at another point:

"If we do not restore and strengthen the real foundation of Confederation—that of equal partnership, equal rights, equal responsibilities — then we may not succeed in preserving Confederation at all. It is as serious as that."

Mr. Pearson was sharply critical of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's statement that arming the Bomarcs would make Canada into "a burnt sacrifice."

"I ask you whether irresponsibility and irresponsibility can go further than that," Mr. Pearson said.

He added that Mr. Diefenbaker's remark would be quoted with approval by every Communist paper in the world.

"These are the deliperate tactics of desperate men," he said of the Prime Minister's recent statements. "I conplemn them [illegible] whatever source they come."

CARDS ARE LATE

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Londoners who failed to receive Christmas cards from their friends may have to reconsider their decision to cut them off their list next December. They may get those cards yet. A mail bag containing about 1,200 Christmas cards addressed to Londoners has turned up at the post office here. They'll be delivered today.

Diefenbaker Blasts Liberal Defence Policy

By ARCH MacKENZIE

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker lashed persistently at the Liberal Party Wednesday night to lambaste Liberal party defence policy as a hoax and review Progressive Conservative programs for urban-area assistance.

Paying his last visit to Toronto before Monday's general election, he spoke to 3,200 in a collegiate in Toronto's York East constituency, one of the 12 seats in the Toronto district that swung Liberal last June.

The heckler, most of whom seemed to be teen-agers supporting York East Liberal Steven Otto, were concentrated in the gallery although scattered interjections came from the audience generally.

Mr. Diefenbaker had arrived in Ontario from Quebec and spent the day visiting rural points in York North. He also spoke to about 600 persons at Bradford before the night meeting.

Today, stepping up the pace before the campaign ends, he packed a still unknown number at 7:30 a.m. with a business-men's breakfast.

Then the special train he headed for some 15 stops en route to a night meeting at Hamilton — Brampton, Orangeville, Dundalk, a noon meeting at Owen Sound, Harriston, Palmerston and a number of others.

INTERESTS' AGAINST HIM

At the vegetable-growing centre of Bradford, Mr. Diefenbaker said Wednesday great and powerful interests" are against him because I won't push easy."

American magazines were telling Canadians how to vote.

But the Conservative party was more united than ever and truly resurgent.

On Wednesday night, he repeated that his father had taught school in York East—and used that fact to take his first crack at the heckler.

He knew how to teach manners too," he said and a heckler right back at him: "He was a very good job."

The Liberals had falsely predicted ruin last June and the economy was expanding strongly. Prices had been restrained.

Liberal obstruction had blocked the government's legislative program.

Bomarcs with sandbags," hecklers jeered when he turned to defence and the Liberal party decision to accept nuclear arms.

The Bomarc had cost Canada only $13,000,000 or one-five-hundredth of total Canadian defence spending in the last five years, he said. No commitment had ever been made to accept nuclear warheads.

BOMARC OUTDATED

The Bomarc had been useful in the days of the manned-bomber but now was useless when the intercontinental ballistic missile was the weapon to watch.

Socreds Do Not Plan Takeover Of Banks

INNISFAIL, Alta. (CP)—The Social Credit party has no intention of bringing about a takeover of Canada's banking system should it form the government, party leader Robert Thompson said Wednesday night.

He told an all - candidates meeting in this town of 2,300 about 20 miles south of Red Deer that a Social Credit government would "socialize credit" through the Bank of Canada, but it would allow the chartered banks to continue operating in the commercial field.

Mr. Thompson was answering New Democratic Party candidate Paul Jenson, who suggested Social Credit would take over the entire banking system if elected to office in the federal election Monday.

Mr. Thompson is seeking re-election in the constituency of Red Deer in which Innisfail is located.

From Wednesday night's meeting Mr. Thompson travelled to Calgary to catch a plane to Ottawa. Today he planned to campaign around Ottawa and Eastern Ontario with Social Credit Leader Real Caouette at a big Social Credit rally in Quebec City. He campaigns in and around Barrie Friday.

During two weeks in the West Mr. Thompson hit hard on the theme the old-line parties have let Canada grow into a country he deserves a chance. He warned that NDP socialism would bring state control and compulsion.

Many times he went out of his way to praise Mr. Caouette, a controversial figure in the West.

Mr. Thompson held as many as 12 meetings in one day and three crowds ranging up to about 3,000.

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson, promising "four years of action" if elected to office after next Monday's election, said Wednesday night that he would not resign as leader of his party if he didn't carry out all of his promises in pensions and family allowances.

The broadcast was recorded. Mr. Thompson was campaigning in Alberta.

BAND LEADER KILLED

HALIFAX, Mass. (AP) — Peter Cutelis, 42, widely known in New England as a band leader under the name Pete Cutler, was killed Tuesday night when his car struck a tree and burned.

Six-Year Economic Plan For Quebec Contemplated

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Premier Jean Lesage told the Quebec legislature Wednesday his government hopes to start a six-year economic plan in 1963. He intimated other plans will follow.

He said in a speech on the provincial economy that the plan will extend through 1970 and "like the others that will follow it, will be conceived in relation to the development needs of Quebec and the concrete possibilities of action by our people."

It was a full day in Quebec, but in Toronto members were preoccupied with the adjournment of the Ontario legislature until April 17. It was the first time since 1949 that the Ontario legislature has failed to propose before Easter.

Premier Lesage said he hoped preliminary studies being continued during 1963 by the government's economic advisory council will permit the cabinet to "determine the rates of growth that it wishes to see realized in the province's economic activity."

Once this is accomplished, the government will seek the advice of various sectors of the economy on what goals should be sought.

Business in the other legislatures sitting Wednesday:

Charlottetown—A bill was introduced to equalize the status of all eligible voters and bring Prince Edward's voting system more in line with most other provinces.

Under the present system voters elect two types of members to the House—assembly and assemblymen. While their status in the House is equal, only property owners, their wives or husbands, overseas veterans and clergymen may vote for councillors.

Winnipeg—Agriculture Minister George Hutton outlined plans to double Manitoba's beef production in 15 years and place the province ahead of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

He said Manitoba now produces only eight per cent of all beef cattle in Canada, and has been surpassed by Saskatchewan which has raised its production to 17.5 per cent from 13 per cent in the last 10 years and Alberta where production has jumped to 24 per cent from 17.

Regina—Saskatchewan's controversial compulsory medical care insurance plan occupied most of the debate in the legislature's committee of supply. Liberal Leader Ross Thatcher said the government, contrary to law, is "unofficially or officially" encouraging formation of community clinics.

A clause in the Saskatchewan Agreement, which ended the bitter medicare dispute last year, permits establishment of community clinics, but forbids government assistance.

Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd said the charge was "absolutely false".

Thursday, April 4th — Clip out and use for 7 days only, this weekly "KU" DIRECTORY and TRADEMARK as your guide to reliable business service in Belleville, Brighton, Madoc, Prince Edward County, Stirling, Trenton and Tweed. Individually accept the "KU" challenge to build customer confidence from their pledged personalized service and honest workmanship that prevents today's unrealized and unnecessary financial embarrassments, produces permanently identified goods, model, serial number with a signed 100% unconditional guarantee up to 5 or more years from the manufacturer and worthy of listing as a "KU" IDENTIFIED PRODUCT. Any business not listing it proven to betray your confidence with unethical business practices or psychological gimmicks. Only those preferred with fine print concealed in detrimental legal agreements that can't be broken.

A FEW INTERESTING FACTS. Don't let IRRESPONSIBLE SELLING SPLIT THE TRUTH on your new home and build in unrealized and unnecessary financial embarrassments that may be impossible for your correction. EXAMPLE of 1 positive proof — when the law demands a 100 amp. service July 1st, 1963. This size of service was introduced in 1947 on farms at Trenton, Picton, Tweed and in 5 of the better built homes in Belleville in association with today's LIFETIME CERTIFIED "KU" LUXURY HOME ELECTRICAL INSTALLATION that was not named until 1957.

Statistics state electric loads are doubling every 10 years and the H.P.C. Rules and regulations governing Electrical Installations, eleventh edition, 1939, will prove that today's over-rated 100 amp. service often should only be expected to honestly deliver 35 amps. or less.

Use a "KU" HOME WIRING CHECKING KIT to detect the TRUTH and convince yourself that today's over-rated wiring is often more outdated than home wiring was in 1947 in proportion of load and our greatest need is for honest salesmanship.

You are cordially invited to use this DIRECTORY to eliminate confusion by proving and to prove by comparison the unbelievable difference in cost and savings when you demand THE TRUTH, "KU" KITS, "KU" IDENTIFIED PRODUCTS and CERTIFIED "KU" STANDARDS OF THE OWNER'S CHOICE.

Canadian Seaside Provinces Making Inroads in Export Markets --- Agent-General

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

LONDON (CP)—Nova Scotia can sell tartans in Scotland—in fact is doing just that.

Newfoundland eels, processed, are selling in Germany as a delicacy.

Sawdust from New Brunswick mills is the material of flower pots that adorn dwellings in Britain and elsewhere.

Europeans are munching on potato chips from the product of Prince Edward Island.

Fish offal is coming over in blocks and being used in Britain as food for poultry and animals, and processed for fish oil.

Maritime fish products are being sold in Nigeria—and that populous African country can become an important Canadian market — in quantities that would go to waste in North America.

This is not even the beginning of what can be done by the Canadian seaside provinces in export markets, says K. Watson Jamer, agent-general for the Canadian Atlantic provinces, whose third-floor office overlooks Trafalgar Square.

NEW IDEAS

"We have to emerge from the technique of the old-time lumbermen and railwaymen to the scientific thinking where we will utilize all our products, and byproducts," said Jamer. "Do you know that the Russians now are taking down trees not with saws but with bulldozers, so that they can extract the resin from the roots?"

Jamer's headquarters are ambushed with products of his homeland — ranging from toy kits with which biddies can build log cabins, using real Canadian "logs," to small ships from Shelburne.

Jamer feels there should be what he terms an intelligence centre in the Atlantic provinces to analyze the world-wide business situation and free the Atlantic provinces of Ontario and Quebec financial rule.

"We want to make Halifax an intelligence centre for commerce and industry," said Jamer, leading a reporter around his establishment. "Intelligence" may not be just the right word, but what I mean is a sort of clearing house of information relating to industry, transport, markets, finance — just about anything you can think of."

CLUB IN HALIFAX

Jamer, 58, a one - time car salesman - executive, indicated that old provincial jealousies in the Atlantic provinces are being submerged and there now is recognition that Halifax should be the intelligence — "there must be a better word for it"— centre.

"We don't want to be running to St. James Street or Bay Street for information," said Jamer, a New Brunswick man, referring to the traditional financial centres in Montreal and Toronto.

Jamer reported with enthusiasm that some 800 Maritimers with selling in mind — will visit Britain in April, the main force being a delegation of 260 Nova Scotia businessmen, whose visit will be sponsored by the Halifax Board of Trade. They will come by air and there also are April flights scheduled for a service club (Rotary), and for the Royal Canadian Legion.

Jamer, stressed the advantages of Halifax as a place for a business "community" which could look inward Britain, Europe, the United States and Latin America.

He said, for instance, that most European entry into the American market had been achieved through the ports of Baltimore and Philadelphia. But Europeans were afraid of United States inter-state laws and experience had shown they favored coastal and border locations in Canada. Halifax was within range of the heaviest U.S. population.

Jamer gave a few examples of how the intelligence centre should work. If one of the provinces had a surplus of blueberries, say, the world market might not be interested. But if the same product was offered in frozen form as pies, wherein home labor would be utilized, it might sell well.

The universities of the Atlantic provinces had already formed an organization that might rival the approach of colleges in such places as Aberdeen, Leeds and Manchester, which are teaching young people for jobs that may not exist until some 10 years from now.

"It is no good educating people to be coal miners or mine engineers if it is a dying trade," is the philosophy of the British schools, and Jamer gives his Amen.

Diversity of Styles Shown In Spring Furniture Themes

A more elegant look is reflected again in home furnishings as spring 1963 bows in.

The new elegance however, is lacking ornateness all of which perfectly fits present day architecture and your way of living.

There are several important trends in new furniture styles . . . design, color, versatility and value.

New designs reflect influences from around the world but the most important style trends are Italian Provincial and Mediterranean themes.

The two are unquestionably today's style leaders in home furnishings. The straight line designing of these styles fit today's home, and it has the touch of the Traditional, making it almost transitional.

One manufacturer introduced a captain's chest that takes its origin from the Orient. This chest is offered in various sizes, and can be used for anything from a dresser base to an accent piece in the living room or hallway.

Modern furniture remains the most popular. Here too, however, in many modern styles there is a trace of some other design influence.

There is style news too in the hardware that accents the new furniture styles. Pewter and the combination of pewter and copper are the trend. Brass is still tremendously popular in traditional pieces, but you will see pewter on many light-finish traditional lines. On seating units pewter is seen as ferrules on bandings.

Blue, coral tones, citrus tones and other hues will be the top accent colors with off-whites, toast, beige, and the browns taking the lead in the more basic units.

You will see Wedgwood blues, brilliant blues with metallic thread interwoven, navy blue, and luminous Persian blues appearing on the scene.

You will see more seating units upholstered in floral print material. A polished cotton fabric, quilted along the lines of the design, will be a favorite.

Upholstered pieces emphasize the up-off-the-floor look. Seating is light, and the design is low. For the most part upholstered seating units have the contemporary look, rather than the modern, or authentic traditional look.

Sectional sofas are being designed so that you can almost give a theatre look to your television room.

Again in 1963 the cedar chest makes a further style stride. The new cedar chest is a handsome piece of furniture—not just a sentimental storage piece.

Aside from the important style trends in the 1963 furniture, the versatility of many of the pieces will be most appealing to you.

Many of the new case pieces are purposely designed to fit into a number of rooms in your home.

Strides made in recent years in design, and manufacturing know-how have enabled the furniture industry to give you the home without the cost of elegance.

Taking into consideration the longevity of furniture and design attention given to each item, it's hard to find a better value on the market today.

Season's Styles Inspire Jewelry

Jewelry design for spring takes its cue from the new highlights in fashion.

The sleeve returns, drawing interest to the arm and hand. Wide cuff bracelets and chain chains around the wrist are only a few of the exciting jewelry ideas.

Rings, at the fingertip of the narrowed sleeve, make a focal point in big dome shapes, in pearls and stones.

Pins pinpoint the base of V-necklines and show up importantly on the fashionable sweater suit — placed at the hip or the shoulder, pin an ascot. Drop and pendant pins provide movement, in the graceful, feminine mood of the season.

High-rising jewelry collars in baroque or real pearl looks show off dramatic clasps.

More and more white, pretty pastels — yellows, blues and mauves, many pinks — are big for spring jewelry popularity.

Lingerie Follows Feminine Mood

To help every woman enjoy being a girl is the aim of spring's feminine lingerie, inspired by the new soft mood of fashion.

Sleepy-time gals will look beguilingly innocent in lace-larded baby dresses, and sleep-shifts with smocked, embroidered yokes, in soft fabrics and pretty pastels.

Spring sleepwear features country girl dirndl skirts, peasant tops and kerchiefs in old-fashioned fabrics such as gingham, dotted Swiss, pique and chambray.

Night-time's the right time for spring's fanciful 'fun' fashions, sleek and sophisticated gigas, and sweater-jacketed shifts and pajamas.

Smartly-shaped slips, half-slips and petti-pants are perfect partners for spring's slimmer silhouettes. The abbreviated chemise offers a short cut to lingerie fashion.

Undercover color is pale, pretty and floral printed.

Accessory Magic for Spring begins with a graceful, simple handbag to complement milady's simple, easy wearable fashions. New crisp designs are especially designed to hold all personals, with room to spare. Top fashion fabrics, genuine leathers and glistening brass all add elegant touches to the relaxed elegance of the new handbags.

Little Girls' Shoes Follow In Spring's Stylish Steps

Little girls' leather footwear makes big fashion footprints this spring.

Girls' shoes are classic in styling, softer in construction and lighter on the foot — depending on the new supple, sturdy leathers for their grace and comfort. Elaborate bows and the more pointed toes have been abandoned. Smooth, brushed, grained and patent leather textures underscore simple lines.

The "little girl" look of shoes is enhanced by wall-like sides, oval silhouettes and vamp treatments that underscore the new, popular square toe. Dainty is the word for inserts of contrasting leathers on the vamp, for small cutouts and pearly ornament. Lightweight leather soles are slim and trim, giving full support to active, growing feet without unnecessary, tiring weight. Heels are lower this year.

The "opened up" feeling of mother's shoes is also seen in many children's styles. Open vamp cutouts and T-strap sandals are seen in play, school and party shoes. Both ankle straps and swivel straps are again growing in popularity — particularly in dress shoes. The wide ankle strap is replacing the bow on even the dressiest of shoes. For playtime barefoot sandals with buckle straps are always a welcome change.

The smart young scholar likes her school shoes in color — as many colors as possible. One has been an upper of blue popular saddle shoe this years with leather and a tricolor saddle of red, white and green brushed leather. Yellow, gray and red will also be worn in smooth, grained and brushed leather. White is a very important leather color this year — second only to the ever-popular black patent leather.

Patent leather will shimmer and shine in as many hues as the rainbow. There will be delicate, pastel patents as well as deep, vibrant patents like bronze, coral and green. With the leather textures and colors so interesting in themselves, detailing is kept to a minimum. Cleaning the new patent leather is as easy as cleaning any other modern leather — a swipe with a damp sponge removes all except the deepest stains.

Cool Linens Are 'Hot' Items This Spring

Rivaling the prettiness of spring itself, is the lovely Irish linen being introduced. Favorite fabric for "round the clock," round the calendar, it's a favorite, too, of designers, all of whom feature linens of all types in their collections.

For spring, there are linens for every occasion — all with a wonderful hand-crafted look, clean crisp texture and distinctive fashion-rightness so typical of this wonderful fabric.

Linen is being shown in suit and dress weights, as well as gossamer sheer linen — all crease-resistant and adaptable to daytime and evening styles.

Tweed-like linen weaves, rich jacquard and damask linens in rustics, floral and delicate patterns lend exciting variety to the ever interesting story of fashions in linen.

Some of spring's newest linens feature a coarse hand and many upholstery-type dress-maker linens are in this group.

There are now more linens blended with wool or silk in the spring fashion picture.

Linens look especially wonderful and exciting in the new whitened, bright pastels and high colors.

Going the Practical Way

A richer, more luxurious look combines with functional comfort and carefree upkeep in today's approach to home decorating. Whether the budget is modest or lavish, and whether the furnishing or refurnishing project is do-it-yourself or with decorator assistance, h o m e-makers demand not only more elegance but more practicality.

Stimulated by modern mobility in travel, the tendency to draw upon a world-wide cultural heritage increases, giving rise to a rich variety of decorating and design ideas. From softened modern to gracious traditional, from Colonial and Federal to international mixtures, mellow beauty is the rule.

DECORATING "PLUS"

Yet the very interests and opportunities of modern living, which stimulate the preference for a gracious, elegant look in the home, also leave little time for struggling with maintenance problems. Today's furniture and furnishings, whatever the style, must be compatible with ease and care.

Modern materials, fabrics and finishes triumphantly meet the need. And they provide many a decorating plus, too.

Miracle yarns and finishes result in curtains and draperies that resist everything from soil to moths, clean easily and require little ironing. Plus values come from the fact that they're easy to hang and hold their shape.

On the floor go soil-resistant carpets and area rugs with the resilience and strength to withstand hardest use. Upholstery fabrics and furniture finishes are made to ward off spots and stains and stay new looking.

COLOR, TEXTURE SUCCESSES

Perhaps the most widespread "easy benefit" of rugged and carefree fabrics and finishes is in the field of color and texture. Luxurious patterns and textures that used to be associated with delicacy are, nowadays, as good as they are beautiful when it comes to soil-and-wear resistance.

Modern yarns and processes have opened whole new vistas of color to the homemaker, in practical, durable home fabrics with a rainbow range from pale and pretty to deep and vibrant — ready to please every taste and fit any decor.

Particularly this spring, colors in man-made fibres for home fashions veer toward the richer, more intense range. Featured are combinations of deep colors and patterns.

Pale Pastels Color Wigs For Spring

With wigs having settled into the role of a basic in a woman's wardrobe, the latest fashion in hair colors and therefore wigs too, are the "Flower Petal" shades . . . pale pastel shades which are especially flattering to a woman.

The pale pastel shades are barely noticeable, yet light up the face with their reflected glow.

The pale pink tones should go with a blue or black ensemble. A very light peach goes well with brown, green, or black costumes. Pale shades of beige and gold are universal colors which can be worn with most ensembles. The mature woman should consider light shades of silver.

The colors can be changed at the beauty salon each time the "Perma-Colf" is dressed. The color is unaffected by wet or yet can be easily shampooed out and a new color substituted.

Accessories Help Unify Ensembles

Spring 1963, and the mood of fashion has once again changed to complement the soft lines and clear colors of the season's newest styles.

In any season, accessories are the important unifying factor for the well-dressed, well-groomed look. Accessories are also the clue to a woman's expression of individuality.

As fabrics and lines go soft, handbag accessories take on strict, molded lines for the shape of the season.

Handbags that resemble train cases, camera bags or hat boxes are the important shapes of the season and state their case smartly in crisp, horizontal movements.

Big bags are on the scene again, often in ultra-soft handling — they're geared to travel, to country clothes and busy day-to-date-time schedules.

Brass, briarwood, b a m b o o types, plain or braided leathers are but a few of the handle styles that have a real hold on fashionable handbags.

GLOVES

The longer sleeve, so much "skinnier" than in past seasons — calls for e l e g a n t looking "little" gloves.

The newest shape for the new season is the gauntlet glove: a shorter glove with a wide cuff — just right for the longer, tighter sleeve.

Fashion will put more emphasis on four-to-six button lengths this spring and the discreet dressmaker glove has an altogether new look also.

Colors are ever so neutral — taupes, pale fawns and mushroom tones.

Gloves are being coordinated with scarves; gay silk scarves have their color counterparts on the turn-up cuff of new gauntlet styles and are being shown as duets.

The "little glove" usually has one touch of detail to give it spring softness A bit of shirring, piping, a little bow, buttons, beads or a bit of soft drapery.

In leather, in fabric or crochet — detailed or classic — this spring, gloves are taking short cuts on the high road of fashion.

JEWELRY

So many details of the new fashions invite the important fillip of jewelry accessories. The long, tight sleeves call for lots of bracelets. Deep "V" and "U" necklines are foils for swaying, elongated necklaces and for ringed ropes and drops.

Underrated sweater suits, neat overblouses and new suit silhouettes call for slippy versions of the rope necklace or pendants or accessory pins that are imaginative fantasies representing birds, fishes, flowers and abstracts.

Pearls, of course, are everywhere, used alone or in combinations with glass beads, gold and mock jewels.

There are corals galore, turquoise, jades, bright whites and dazzling golds on the scene—in bracelets, necklaces, pins, pendants and new, gay gypsy earrings. Pastel enamels and pale stones are expressly used with lacy, delicate airs in many jewelry pieces.

THE LITTLE EXTRAS

Distinctively-smart capes and capelets swing into spring in wide shapes — they may be short and straight in front, full in back, or in free-swinging tunic lengths. Both plaids, big checks and houndstooth patterns are all newsmakers in these.

Simply defined accessory jackets are also important for spring to ensemble with skirts or top and dresses.

Scarves become important again this year as they go from the neckline as a fill-in, to head-lines as a covering, or tied to a handbag handle as a soft note of color.

And, at the waistline, scarves and ribbons tie like sashes. While leather belts are also ultra-soft and crushed smartly to encircle the waist in gay color. The shoestring belt is worn at the natural waistline to enhance soft yet disciplined lines of the many overblouse styles.

So, proper accessories become the important connecting link in creating the togetherness of Spring '63 costumes. In the radiant colors of the season, in novelty styles and classics, too — accessories move in new directions to compliment and complement spring's fashion coverage.

HUNTING WITH AIR

Wolf hunting with aircraft has become an increasingly popular sport in northwestern Ontario.

The Cardigan Coat is a favorite this season with young men. The striped fabric made with Crealan acrylic fibre is lightweight, wrinkle resistant and washable — added pluses for warm weather living.

In Any Weather this water repellent coat has all the smart details that mark Spring's men's wear fashions In the popular 42½ inches length, the coat has set-in sleeves, hacking pockets and features a handsome plaid lining. The fabric is a real "smoothie" in all cotton poplin.

WHITE OR COLOR

You can wear white underpinnings all the time, if you like. But here are lots of other colors in foundation garments nowadays, and the colors match lingerie.

Rugged Leather Grains Popular In Spring Shoes

Men's fashions are returning to the classics this spring — from the ground up. Pacing this development are shoes with traditionally masculine styling, definite textures and light but rugged leathers.

The executive puts his best foot forward this season in leather brogues. Traditional in appearance, the modern brogue is a far cry from the "two pound" shoe of yesteryear. Thanks to new leather-making processes, the new brogues look beefy but are as light afoot as a continental-styled oxford.

LEATHER GRAINS

The brogue fashion has given impetus to a new interest in leather grains. The smooth look is still a popular one, but big, rugged leather grains are being seen on city streets and suburban courts. Pebbled grains, large patterns and deep lines make the fashion news.

Even the tapered American continental style shoes, which have become a men's shoe classic in the last decade, are showing signs of the good life. Though the moccasin silhouette is still the style leader in this field, more styles are seen with moc fronts and backs. Detailing, such as perforations, tend to run over more of the shoe and to be larger in size. The strap - and - buckle style tends to run to wider straps and is equally divided between strong grains and smooth leathers.

TEEN'S FAVORITE

While the "working men" in the family step into brogues, the teen student — ever an individualist — gets his fashion kicks from a high riser. Higher front, higher back and higher laces distinguish favored shoes for the high school man.

For his leisure hours, the smartly and comfortably dressed man will step out in hand-sewn slip-ons. The hand-stitched moccasin in soft, supple leathers set on lightweight leather soles has been a standby in the collegians's wardrobe.

Light or Dark — take your pick in topcoats this spring, suggests the Wool Bureau. The popular dark coat has been given a new lustrous, iridescent effect by mixing dark brown and golden brown yarns in this dressy all-wool worsted topcoat. A lightweight, all wool Shetland in heathered grey plaid, the natural shoulder topcoat has a three-button straight cut with high roll at the lapel.

New Spring Fashions Call For Head-to-Toe Grooming

The look and feeling in fashion for spring is feminine, fresh and young — and since beauty and fashion are so inextricably coordinated, it is virtually impossible for a woman to look her very best unless she has founded and followed through on her personal good-grooming program.

This spring, fashion will focus on all legs and feet! Shoes are open, sandal styles with cut out insteps and lower, wider throats on pumps. Colors in leather are warm, pale, lightened neutral shades. Pastels have been "whitened" in a wonderful range of "Easter-egg" colors.

Fashion designers forecast stockings for spring that provide only the sheerest possible film over legs. Color, as such, has virtually been eliminated in hosiery. The big news is in the way hosiery color is used — as a cosmetic — to compliment skin tones just as facial make-up blends with complexions.

All new spring hosiery shades will reflect true skin tones in pale creamy bone, whitened taupe and yellow tones, or tawny tones toward sun-tan shades.

The clue to color in leg fashion is to match legs, stockings, shoes and feet for one total effect independent of dress or suit ensemble.

As legs become unveiled in clear natural hosiery tones, meticulous women will want to step up their leg grooming habits. For whether legs are long, short, thin or plump, the first step to leg beauty is flawless grooming.

A weekly pedicure is a must for scrupulously groomed legs. Soak feet in hot, sudsy water, perfumed with bath salts or oils. Go over toes and any rough spots with a soap brush and use pumice stone to smooth away rough surfaces. Push back the cuticles while patting feet dry.

Cut toenails straight across and then apply polish. The faint suggestion of color on toes is best with an open shoe.

Therefore, say the fashion experts and makers of "Lady Remington" shavers, since the image you create will be detected in details, you should be sure that all unwanted hair has been removed from legs. An electric shaver does the fastest, most effective job without any fuss and bother or nicks and scratches. An efficient shaver is one made especially for women that features adjustable roller combs that can adjust the shaver for leg grooming (or underarm shaving) just by pushing two buttons for a closer, more comfortable shave.

EAT MORE BEEF

Consumption of beef in the United States rose from 80.5 pounds a person annually in 1958 to 86 pounds in 1961.

Gals May Choose From Wide Variety of Spring Fashions

Gals, of all ages, have a wide variety of soft, flattering and colorful variations of spring '63 fashions from which to choose.

Whether Miss or Mrs. Canada, age six or sixty-six or anywhere in between — no matter what her figure: junior, junior petite, half size or regular—little girls, pre-teens, teens, their big sisters, their mothers and grandmothers share most fashion silhouettes — the body skimming, frankly-feminine look!

Styles everywhere have a minimum of frills. The skimmer silhouette is paramount. It is cut and seamed to curve gently along the slimmest lines, and the skimmer stars in all fashion showings.

Skimmers in dress lines range from rajah types with tunics, to long torso drop waists, to just plain shifts.

Some are real and some are simulated spit levels (such as the one-piece with the two-piece look), others have jackets or coats.

More often than not, these dresses are stripped of non-essentials: they're sleeveless, collarless nar frill-less.

While the long, soft look is the "big" look, there are of course, other "looks" and fashion themes.

Traditional dress-up dresses for young and old alike are still important. Although somewhat softpedaled to show the restraint of the season, they softly flow, flare or bell for dress-up occasions.

Such sheers as chiffons, zephyr, cottons, organdies, and silks are used dramatically. Boleros, stoles, short capes and jackets are favorite add-ons, while low-placed, or Empire-high sashes often mark the start of slender, tucked, draped or pleated skirts.

The "big flip" and high tied tunic dress are most newsworthy in these dress-up occasion fashions.

"SKIMMER" COATS

Coat designers, too, thrill to the easy-look tailored into spring coats — skinny Norfolk coats, demi-fit Chesterfields and a semi-shaped sailor style are all "in" for the new season.

Coat makers hit a new fashion high and the skimmer shape is but one of the happy reasons. The guardsman coat, with wide double-breasted front panel look" great. The shirt waist coat, with cuffed sleeves and placket front, is another winner.

Just as long as there's a curve around the rib cage, a little bit of "flare" at the hem line, spring coats will look obviously and smartly very-new.

FOR FUN — FOR PLAY

Sportswear takes its cue from elegant sailors — middy blouses, drawstring jackets with built-up hoods, bell-bottom pants are everywhere. Pants are also in the news with straight-line trousers, very short shorts and culottes. Wrap skirts still lead the pack, but the pantskirt is coming along as a separate, and in suits too.

Sweatshirt fabrics make up every conceivable type of sporty top, while shell blouses in solids or small floral prints look like the traditional ruffled and tucked suit blouses.

On the sportswear scene, fashion folk in the know, are redorsing jumpers, beachcoats and tunic tops as big news. Casual suits are being treated with extra-long jackets in keeping with the new line. Even swim suits get a skinny look via a long overblouse or low hip belt.

Yellow is the fashion color for dresses; white is for high-style coats. Pink and blue look good in all their shadings, along with a host of whitened neutrals. Rose and grey are expected to be favored colors for outerwear while red, white and blue lead the parade for sportswear.

Textured fabrics, especially in rough thread types, cut across category lines to become a season signature. Real or rayon linen is tops for dresses; slubby novelty-weave woods and blends; and shaggy mohair go for coats; denim, duck and homespun blanket the sportswear field.

Flat is everywhere, and dimensional knits — cottons, wool, Orlon and Acrilan — are especially important in suits, Calico, gingham, batik and madras fit in nicely as a foil to rugged fabric.

As the new styles burst into Spring '63, the season ahead promises to be colorful, provocative and above all, feminine — with just a hint of tomboy on the sportswear scene.

Skim-fit dresses are fashionable for spring, practical in carefree fabrics. This one is in Celanese Arnel triacetate and cotton.

Leisure Look Makes News

Loungewear leads a fashionable private life for spring.

Women can spend their leisure hours in loungedresses, robes and separates that are at-home both in and out of the bedroom.

Natural or shift-shaped loungedresses, in knee to ankle lengths, cover home ground in a flatteringly feminine manner.

The long look, which gained favor in fall and winter, continues for spring in light and airy fabrics in styles for patio living as well as for sleeping and lounging.

Pared-down loungedresses are preferably printed, in floral, abstract or "conversationalist" motifs. Tent-dress types bloom out in colorful solids and glamorous prints.

Pants and jumper or shift "cover-ups" enable women to be fashionably at ease upstairs, downstairs, all around the house for spring. Long tunic tops and brief bared-midriff styles accompany the pants, which may be any style from slim and tapered to flared bell bottom. Lightly bloused harem styles are still another choice.

The shapeless robe is a thing of the past. Today's fashionable robes copy coats, narrowing down to favorite spring shapes — sliver slim or bi-at-front, free-flowing at back.

Ready for relaxing are a number of casual tom-ons, inspired by straight, mannish blazer jackets and sweaters.

Dresses Follow Easy Lines for Spring

Springs most fashionable dresses are those that suggest rather than insist on shape.

The new soft mood of fashion is interpreted in dresses, coatdresses and costumes that flow fluidly over the figure, curving close to the body but never clutching or confining it.

Women will like spring's dress styles because they are feminine, flattering and easy to wear.

WHAT COMES "NATURALLY"

Many dresses are doing what comes 'naturally' for spring. The new natural dress skims lightly over the figure, widening slightly at the hemline. It offers the wearer easy elegance, as do spring's flared A-line skimmer styles and shiftshapes that hang shaft straight or are gently sash-tied.

The tunic-top dress, reflecting 'rajah' inspiration, casts a long, lean shadow over spring fashion. Straight or slightly flared skirts emerge from beneath skinny or shaped tunics in three-quarter or seven-eighths lengths.

Spring's pullover-dress combines an overblouse shirt with a slim, flared or pleated skirt.

ENSEMBLES ABOUND

The most casual of spring's easy-going styles is the sliver slender sweater dress with a V-neckline.

Every woman will want at least one spring ensemble in her closet now that so many of the prettiest dresses come with their own jackets or coats. Spring prints are often paired with coordinated cover-ups lined with matching print. Other dresses are accompanied by a scarf or stole for the 'total look.'

The simple shapes of spring's dresses are kept uncluttered by a minimum of soft, lady-like detailing. Necklines may or may not have collars. V-necks sometimes filled in with scarves, abound as do soft, cowled and draped neckline effects.

SLEEVES ARE NEWS

Sleeves are a new area of fashion interest for spring. Although there are plenty of sleeveless dresses for women who prefer them, many of the smartest new styles feature cropped sleeves, cuffed shirt sleeves, long skinny sleeves, leg o' mutton sleeves and puffy sleeves.

The wandering waistline is on the move again. For spring, a dress's waist may be where nature intended it to be, lowered, or lifted for a flattering high-waisted effect.

Dress skirts, whether full, shaped or slim, carry out spring's theme of soft mobility.

The color range of spring's dresses goes all the way from smarter-than-ever black and navy to mouth-watering pale and pretty pastels. Spring will see many, many white, off-white and cream colors.

Favored Styles Look Graceful

Fashion for spring revolves around a look of youthful grace and soft femininity. Silhouettes are diverse, but easy, uncluttered lines predominate, giving play to the beauties of fabrics and colors.

Whipped cream textures bubble up into the limelight, in appropriate colors — whites and off - whites, pale beiges and pastels, clear prints. Traditional spring navy is brightened and lightened. For effective contrast, crisp and ribbed textures make an entrance, while rich, dark colors set off the many pale shades.

DRESSES TAKE THE EASY LINE

"Pure and simple" tells the dress story. Silhouettes are dubbed "sculpted," "slimmer," "shift," all of which are agreed on easy, slender, figure-following lines. Princess curves, lifted waistlines, coatdress styling make spring news. The "open air" look, a country mood slicked up for town, concentrates on airy fabrics, open necklines, shirt-cuffed sleeves.

Forever - fashionable jacket dresses appear in great numbers, while the dress-plus-coat gains new importance.

Variety of silhouettes leads the way in suits. Handsome tunic suits herald a plentiful array of long - jacketed styles of every type. Middy or pull-over suits abound — either true pullovers or jackets with zippers so artfully concealed they seem non-existent.

SHIRT SUIT COMES TO THE FORE

New emphasis on sleeves finds the shirt suit well to the force, showing off its shirt cuffs. Young and lively is the suit with flipflip, or peplum effect, jacket. Designed to provide a refreshing change are the "dandy" suits — man-tailored to a perky perfection.

While "lean look" styles are most numerous in coats, a silhouette to watch is the coat with gathered back fullness. High waisted effects are created by seamed yokes, integrated with the sleeve in front, and gathers across the back.

A fashion world in itself, sportswear produces every look of spring, in styles for every hour and occasion. News to note includes: a greater-than-ever wealth of knits, denim and denim effects; bare mid-riff separates, bell bottom as well as slim pants, long skirts for lounging and entertaining; patio dresses and, in fact, a striking selection of lounge-wear of all types for casual living.

DRAMATIC ACCENTS IN DEMAND

Simplicity of styling in coats, suits and dresses calls for dramatic accents. Hats are draped, high turbans in airy fabrics; straws with important crowns, brimless or with attenuptlited brims; and, of course, the spring - perennial floral hat.

Spanish influence is notable in brimmed hats of shiny straw. Reflecting the soft mood of fashion are snoods and berets, as well as hats with attached, drapable scarves.

Impressive jewelry has a precious look, includes short, collar-like necklaces; multiple-strand beads for neckline filling; pins and bracelets moving into prominence. Soft neutrals and pastels stand out.

Neat, ladylike handbags tend to boxy shapes, highlight texture interest. With the advent of the longer, narrower sleeve, short gloves are welcomed. However, the long, long glove prevails for evening and sleeveless daytime fashions.

TRI-COLOR THEMES

One of the spring's most inspiring looks depends on a bold use of color! These shades of the same color team are combined. For example: pale green, lime and turquoise . . . or pink, peach and coral. These colors are combined in separates: a blouse, sash and skirt; or jacket, blouse or pants.

Men's New Slacks Are Slim and Trim

Trim, slim and comfortable describes the look in new men's slacks for spring. Both belt loop styles and self-supporting models share the fashion spotlight, with pleatless and single-pleat styles dividing the honors.

For early spring, lightweight worsted flannels, gabardines and bengalenes set the pace. With warmer weather, look for tropical weights, wash-wears.

Grays, olive - tans, pewter shades and variations on the new yellow tones called "Banana" will be among the most wanted spring and summer colors. There is also a big swing to whites , especially in the wash-wear types.

"Tericote" shirts never need ironing.

Men's Spring Hats Show Strong Trend to Pinched Front Crowns

When it is said that men's hats are "shaping up" for spring, it is more than a mere figure of speech. There will be more smart shapes in both blocks and brims than have ever been offered before.

The new crowns are offered in several variations. The most popular is the crown with the plain centre crease, in both full and tapered shapes.

There is also a strong trend to the pinched front crown, the newest of which have rather elongated side dents extending from the front to a point close in the rear of the bow.

The new silhouette blocks with the convex tops are going great guns in sports hats, particularly in those made of fabric.

Brim widths range from the very narrow 1¼-inch for young men, through the most popular 1⅝-inch, up to a rather wide 3-inch width.

Obviously, weights for spring are lighter and the average felt hat body is far more supple as a result. However, there are some even lighter and more supple than the rest. These are the rollable, foldable, packable travel hats.

Similar types are growing in popularity in straw hats, too. Some of those soft bodied straws can even be shaped to the wearer's taste.

For business or dress-up wear this hat comes in blend of rich brown with a subtle blue cast. By Knox.

Foundations Echo Spring

Fashions for spring have soft, supple lines — and so do the season's foundations. While girdles, brassieres, corselets tend to cover more of the figure, they do so lightly, in the prettiest possible colors and fabrics.

Brassieres shape gently, molding a high and rounded bustline, close to the body. Girdles are marvels of weightlessness and movement, with new waistband and, in pantie girdles, new leg constructions for greater freedom and ease. Corselets feature soft, natural cups, dipping backs, lacy trimmings.

NECKLINES VARY

With spring's "little boy" suits and casual dresses permitting no bosom emphasis, none is evident in the newest high fashion brassieres. Padding and foam contours are played down, with shaping achieved instead through subtle bias cuts and cloud-soft cup linings.

Just as couturiers are carving out necklines front and back, so are bra designers offering varied necklines in late-day foundations. Wide-set straps are frequently featured, as are back-plunge brassieres both with straps and without straps.

Built-up styles are no longer only matronly styles; they come in sheer fabrics for youthful figures. Nor are long-line brassieres confined to "problem" figures; they're offered also for slim sizes to wear under those slivers of dresses that fit smooth through the midriff.

WAISTLINES MOVE

Waistlines move upward in girdles, and leg sections stretch longer in pantie girdles. Even some junior foundations fit from just under the bustline all the way to mid-thigh. They're controlling because they're designed to be; comfortable because they're made of spandex; essential because outer fashions subtly define the figure.

Featherweight Woollens in many different textures will be starring smartly this spring. Shown here is Vitalook suit noteworthy for shorter length, semi-fit jacket highlighted with interesting pocket treatment and bracelet length sleeves. The whisper-weight Anglo-worsted fabric is in a handsome windowpane check.

Even the loose-and-lifted waistline demands undercover control. More revealing than concealing, its best foundation is a corselet that elongates the figure by improving its proportions. Pantie styling continues popular in one-piece foundations, and can be found in brief to long-legged versions.

Pastels lead the color lines, as is generally true in spring foundation collections, and often they're found in floral patterns co-ordinated with slips and petticoats.

SWEATER-JACKETS

Sweater-jackets are important for costume co-ordinating this spring.

Denim Designs Can Whirl Through Homework

Time was when the lady of the house could get through her daily routine with a few housedresses and aprons. Today, however, there is another considerations — her dual role; as a homemaker with a million hectic chores and, during leisure hours, as an active participant in community life. Her wardrobe, too, requires more attention and must serve a dual function.

With this consideration in mind, many sportswear designers have come up with smart creations for the homemaker in blue work denim — designs that are functional because of the very nature of the rugged fabric.

Among the more popular items for spring are the blue denim wrap skirt and culotte combined with attractive co-ordinates. These outfits will see a woman through the most strenuous household chores and whisk her smartly through an afternoon of meetings and shopping.

That dreaded doorbell can now ring a dozen times a day without being answered with the exclamation, "I'm a mess!" — thanks to the navy work denim tent dress and loose-back shift treated with such accents as calico trim and red or white stitching.

The return of blue denim bell-bottom pants should please the woman who likes the comfort of slacks but prefers to avoid the "skin-tight" look.

SPRING FOR COLOR

This is the spring for color, according to fashion experts. Brighter color is found in accessories than ever before, largely due to new dye processes which makes color practical in accessory leathers and fabrics. Spring favorites will be clear yellows, peachy corals, and turquoises.

Chicago Fans Want Red Wing Blood

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO (CP) — Chicago Stadium hockey fans, who demand blood with their seat stubs, may get just that tonight. If not, they'll probably witness a lot of shooting by the Black Hawks.

That's the word as Detroit Red Wings and Hawks get set for the showdown fifth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final. They enter the contest all square at two games each.

However, all the talk isn't scaring Sid Abel, coach of the Red Wings.

"They're running out of alibi," said Abel. "When we won that game last Sunday they said it was because they didn't have Bobby Hull. They had Hull on Tuesday and we still won. "What will they say when we win the next one?"

The Red Wings arrived Wednesday night after a bumpy plane ride from Detroit minus leftwinger Vic Stasiuk, who has a neck injury.

We could have played him but it meant taping him up," said Abel. We didn't want to take any chances. But I'm sure he'll play in the next game at home Sunday night."

We're all healthy apart from Stasiuk."

MacNEIL FIT

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks was glum, although he plucked a regular from sick bay Wednesday. Defenceman Al MacNeil, out for a couple of games with a cracked rib, skated at a 75-minute practice and was declared fit to play.

Still on the shelf, though, is leg winger Ron Murphy. He has been in a hospital isolation ward for a week while doctors have been trying to figure what drug he can take with no ill effects for an infected ankle cut.

Defenceman Elmer Vasko and Pierre Pilote have head cuts, but these are incidental to National Leaguers. The Hawks, who dropped 4-3 and 4-1 games on Detroit ice after opening the series at home with 5-4 and 5-2 victories, have orders to shoot and forget about the fancy stick-handling and passing plays that marked their games on the road.

Pilous called Wednesday's practice to correct that fault. And the Hawks were letting fly from all directions. They had directed only 39 shots against Detroit goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk in the last two games while the Red Wings bombarded Glenn Hall with 88.

Eric Nesterenko will continue to shadow Gordie Howe," said Pilous. That's our plan and I think he's been doing a great job. I have no criticism of his play but I can't say the same for some of the others."

Nesterenko has stayed with Howe most of the time but big Gordie has still scored four goals in four games.

The sixth game will be played at Detroit Sunday. A seventh, if necessary, will be here Tuesday.

Coach Is Confident

Bulldogs Set To Meet Moncton

By JIM McKAY

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor Bulldogs, having advanced further in Dominion hockey competition than any predecessor, entertain no illusions about their chances of winning the Allan Cup, emblematic of senior supremacy in Canada.

"I think we're in the driver's seat," said coach Harry Watson as he prepared his charges for the opening gate Sunday afternoon in a best-of-seven Eastern Canada final with Moncton Hawks.

"This is a tough, experienced team here, capable of scoring goals or preventing them," said Watson. "Besides that, all the games with Moncton will be played at Windsor Arena and so will the Dominion final if we make it. Things are pretty tough to beat at home."

The Russian national team, which recently won the world hockey championship, found that out last November.

In the Windsor segment of their nine-game tour of Canada, the Russians were bombed by Bulldogs, 9-2, their only loss of the tour.

Watson, the former National Hockey League ace with Toronto, Detroit, Chicago and the old Brooklyn Americans, guided Bulldogs to the regional pennant with a 34-12-1 record in his rookie year as a senior coach in the traditionally-strong OHA senior A circuit.

The Windsor club then coasted past Woodstock Athletics, 4-1, in the semi-finals before hooking up with Chatham Maroons for the OHA crown. Bulldogs survived a gruelling series to win in six games, 4-2, then coasted against Noranda Aluminites in the all-Ontario final, 11-3, 14-4 and 7-4.

Windsor has had many great Spitfire junior and Bulldog senior teams since the Second World War but none has ever won an all-Ontario title until this year.

Bulldogs feature explosive scoring punch backed up by exceptional depth. Barring injuries, Watson will have the problem in every game of benching three members of his 18-man squad.

The Irwin Gross-Bob Brown-Tom Walker threesome is the most publicized line. They scored 102 goals in 47 league games, right-winger Brown pacing the circuit with 41, two more than Walker. Gross, the balding former pro centre with Shawinigan Falls, won the scoring title with 102 points including 62 assists.

In 14 playoff games to date, Brown has added 14 more tallies.

The goaltender is rookie Wayne Rutledge who starred with Niagara Falls junior Flyers for three seasons. Before joining Windsor, the Boston-owned Rutledge filled in four games for Bruce Gamble with Kingston in the Eastern pro league and allowed nine goals. He compiled a 3.25 average in league play.

Wolves Nip Hull-Ottawa In Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

You couldn't blame Hull-Ottawa Canadiens if they rooted for Toronto Maple Leafs to eliminate Montreal Canadiens from the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs—and soon.

Hull-Ottawa, which fought for the lead in the Eastern Professional Hockey League most of the season faded late in the year and finished eight points out of first place.

They lost 3-2 in overtime in the first game of their best-of-five semi-final series with the third - place Sudbury Wolves Wednesday night.

Not the least of the reasons for this late-season slump has been the swelling up of key players by the Montreal club in an effort to regain the glory it once enjoyed in the NHL.

THREE CALLED UP

Montreal took three players from its Hull-Ottawa farm club for the semi-final against the Leafs. They were two of the team's top defencemen, Terry Harper and Jacques Laperriere, and ace winger Bill McCreary. And Red Berenson has gone up and down all year.

So, if the Leafs can put Montreal out of the competition Hull-Ottawa may get a new lease on life. Leafs can do it with a victory in Toronto tonight. They lead their best-of-seven semi-final 3-1.

Winger Les Rosson and goaltender Gerry Cheevers led the way for the Wolves. Rosson scored a pair of goals, including the winner after five minutes of overtime.

Cheevers stopped 38 of 40 shots fired at him by the Canadiens, including two slam - bang drives in the overtime period.

Paul Andrea scored the other Sudbury goal. Keith McCreary and Bob Eliot scored for Hull-Ottawa.

Defenceman Suspended For Life

TORONTO (CP)—Tom Riley, defenceman for the Port Dalhousie Lakers this year, was suspended for life Wednesday by the executive of the Lincoln County Senior Hockey League.

Riley, who had been suspended for three games early in the schedule, was one of four players involved in a pushing and vocal attack on League official Russ Masterson after a game in Thorold Friday.

The other players were censured but not otherwise penalized for their actions.

DISABLES MANY

Multiple sclerosis has disabled an estimated 25,000 Canadians, mostly in the 20 to 45 age group.

Gelding Wins Fourth In Row

TORONTO (CP) — Alex Walker urged six-year-old gelding Clement Hanover to a popular one-length victory over Armbro Duke Tuesday night to capture the $2,000 added Fort Erie Trot, second early closing stake to be presented during the young Greenwood Raceway season.

Clement Hanover was posting his fourth straight victory, two at Greenwood this season and two at Blue Bonnets last season, for his owners D. Sweiger and Alex Walker of Owen Sound. Armbro Duke, with Harold McKinley driving, seesawed for the lead with Clement Hanover and fell short of his bid to win by one length.

The quinella of Clement Hanover and Armbro Duke returned $17.80.

After Penny Coolen got the bettors off on the right foot, returning $4.40 straight in the first race, Vital Victory captured the second and completed a $28.80 daily-double.

Bisons Whip Reds 10-2; Barons Win

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Providence Reds trounced Buffalo Bisons 7-2 Sunday in the final game of the American Hockey League schedule, but it was a different story Wednesday night as the Calder Cup playoffs started.

The Bisons, Western Division champs, walloped the Reds, Eastern Division kings, 10-2 for a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final series.

In the openers of the best-of-three quarter-final series between the second and third-place finishers in each division Hershey Bears whipped Baltimore Clippers 4-1 and Cleveland Barons defeated Rochester Americans 6-3.

A Buffalo turnout of 6,003 saw Doug Robinson and Jerry Melnyk rap in three goals apiece as the Bisons routed the Reds. It was 8-0 before Ed Mazur scored for the Reds in the third period.

Other Buffalo scorers were Eddie Kachur, with two, and Cliff Schmautz, Pierre Brillant scored the other goal for Providence.

Dick Meissner also turned in a three-goal performance on home ice in leading Hershey to victory.

It was 4-0 before Baltimore averted a shutout on Ed Ehrenverth's goal in the last period. Howie Yanosik scored the other Hershey goal.

Hank Ciesla, John Ferguson, Cal Gardner, Bill Masterton, Dick Van Impe and Fred Hilts were the Cleveland marksmen. Bob Armstrong, Stan Smyth and Jim Pappin did the Rochester scoring.

Big 'M', Boomer Duds

By BILL MacDOUGALL

TORONTO (CP)—There's a malfunction in Montreal Canadiens' and Toronto Maple Leafs' heavy artillery. Both clubs hope the duds will boom out tonight.

Bernie Geoffrion, an explosive right winger, has been shortcircuiting the Montreal attack.

Frank Mahovlich, usually a fire-skating and high - scoring left winger, is taking some of the punch out of Toronto's attack.

In tonight's fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final between the two clubs, the Canadiens have to win or pack their bags until the fall. They're down 2-1 in games in the best-of-seven series.

Toronto won the first three games on jhe strength of solid goaltending and defence work and hard - checking forwards, and Montreal stole a page from the Leafs' book in its 5-1 victory in Montreal Tuesday night.

WON'T STRESS DEFENCE

Montreal coach Toe Blake, who brought his club into town Wednesday night, said he does not plan to stress defence tonight.

We never plan a defensive game—we always play to win," said Blake.

But, Blake said, good checking, as long as you have some offensive power, is the secret of beating any team."

Toronto manager - coach Punch Imlach has said during the series that if a team plays good defensive hockey the breaks will come—and they did for Leafs in three of the games.

But both coaches would be exultant if their ailing wingers broke out. Geoffrion asked to be benched in Canadiens' victory Tuesday, saying his legs felt stiff. Blake disagrees, declaring it's nerves, that's all."

Mahovlich got the flu near the end of the season and an eight-stitch whack on the mouth in the series' first game. The illness and the injury put him on a liquid diet, depleting his strength. Imlach says only that the big winger is playing poorly.

BOTH BIG SCORERS

Geoffrion is one of three players to score 50 goals in one National Hockey League season and he also has scored more goals—37—than any other player in Stanley Cup action. Mahovlich has scored 48 goals in one season.

As could be expected, neither coach is taking tonight's game lightly.

It will be life and death," Imlach said after running 10 of his players through a voluntary practice. Canadiens are not going to fold. We're going to have to beat them and they're pretty good."

Blake said that if Canadiens win—we'll have them worried sick, I guess."

The Leafs are healthy. Only winger Johnny MacMillan, out since late in the season with an elbow injury, is on the doubtful list and he has yet to play in the series.

Blake brought more players than he needs to Toronto but said who the dress won't be decided until tonight. But he did not plan to use defenceman Tom Johnson, out since Feb. 28 with a broken cheekbone.

Plans Made For 1964 Olympics

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's hockey entry for the 1964 Olympics will play a series of exhibitions across Canada and in Europe—including Russia—before going for the big series at Innsbruck, Austria, early in 1964.

This was disclosed by team coach Rev. David Bauer of St. Mark's College, University of British Columbia, as he announced initial plans Wednesday for the training camp across Canadian entry.

He emphasized that while the team can be expected to be composed of a number of players enrolled in graduate and undergraduate studies, the team will not in any sense be a University of B.C. team.

"Rather it will function under the auspices of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association as the 1964 Canadian Olympic national amateur team representing Hockey team and will be a truly senting all Canada."

Father Bauer said the plan is to have the nucleus of the team start its training in Toronto during early August this year and from then on it will be known as the Canadian Olympic team. It will participate in the CAHA clinic at Edmonton during the latter part of August and will come back to the UBC campus in early September where it will be based until its departure for Europe in early January.

The team will play approximately 30 games against collegiate senior amateur and professional teams in early winter and late in December will play a series of exhibitions across Canada against national teams from Russia, Czechoslovakia and the United States.

Father Bauer said he expects the team will have Canada about Jan. 13, 1964 to play a 10-game exhibition tour of Russia, East and West Germany and Switzerland in preperation for the Olympic games at Innsbruck Jan. 29-Feb. 9.

WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—Warren Spahn, an 18-game winner in 1962, believes he can return to the 20-game circle this year. But the Milwaukee Braves southpaw wonder, nearing 42 years of age, makes one important proviso. New manager Bobby Bragan must let him pitch every fourth day.

"I realize that most of the other older pitchers like to work no sooner than every fifth day or perhaps once a week, but with me that's no good," Spahn insisted. "My arm is a creature of habit. It's accustomed to working every fourth day and that's how it must continue. Otherwise my arm has very little life in it."

The veteran star, a 20-game winner a dozen times and holder of almost every southpaw record in the major league books, continued:

"I'm a power ball pitcher. If he doesn't throw a curve, he loses it. If a fastball pitcher lays off his fast one, he'll find that it's not easy to get back. It's the same with me with pitching in my normal turn. If I don't do it, I just can't pitch."

Spahn is going into his 15th full big league season the same as he did his first—working as a starter and long as anyone else on the squad.

"There's only one way I know of getting into shape and that's by following the same routine set up for the whole camp," he said.

To prove his case, the ageless Spahn has been moving at as speedy a pace as any player in the Braves' camp. Inside of the first three weeks of the exhibition season, the Hartshorns, Okla., ranch owner has made six mound appearances.

The last of these was a gilttering route-going effort against Minnesota in which he allowed only six hits in defeating the Twins 5-1.

SIGN DRAFT CHOICE

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Argonaut Football club has announced the signing of their number one Canadian draft choice, John Wydareny, a six-foot, 185-pound halfback from the University of Western Ontario. The 22-year-old Wydarenny, described by coaches as the "best halfback to come out of this year's draft," was the number one choice of at least seven Canadian Football League teams.

If the Canadiens pull this one out of the fire, the sixth game will be Montreal Saturday night. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played here Tuesday night.

AGREE TO DRAW

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet grandmasters Mikhail Botvinnik and Tigran Petrosian agreed to a draw Wednesday in the sixth game of their world chess title match. The score now stands at 3-3 in the 24-game match.

Army Boxing Finals Set For Friday

QUEBEC (CP)—Pte. Nelson Mercier of the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, needed only two minutes and 20 seconds to come up with a technical knockout Wednesday night over Pte. Melvin Coffie of Sydney, N.S., in the lightweight division of the Canadian Army boxing championships.

The finals of the week-long competition are to be staged Friday.

In another lightweight battle, Cpl. Leo McGrath of the Van Doos' 1st battalion earned a unanimous decision over Gdsm. Willie Keetch of Ajax, Ont.

Pte. Robert Comeau of Negaac, N.B., won a decision over Pte. John Harb of New Glasgow, N.S., in the welterweight division. Comeau represents the 3rd battalion of Van Doos and Harb the 1st battalion of the Black Watch.

Two other welterweight bouts ended in decisions.

Pte. Yves Lemieux of Costicook, Que., a 2nd battalion Van Doo, defeated Pte. Bill Jackson of Slave Lake, Alta., from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. Cpl. Harvey Reil of the Princess Pats formerly of Taber, Alta., defeated Pte. John Anderson of Lucknow, Ont.

In middleweight action, Cpl. Robert Latrelle of the Royal 22nd, Ottawa, won by decision over Tpr. William Bernard of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Hunter River, P.E.I.

A Saskatchewan Indian, Pte. Marcel Greyeyes of the Princess Pats, defeated Pte. Freddie Berrigan of the 1st Battalion Black Watch, Glace Bay, N.S., by unanimous decision in the same division.

Pte. James Beaudro of the Black Watch, Weymouth, N.S., decisioned Pte. Lee Jackson of the 1st Battalion Princess Pats, Edmonton.

L.-Cpl. Edward MacKillop of the 1st Battalion Black Watch, Sydney, won by decision over light heavyweight Earl Pilgrim of Roddickton, Nfld., representing the 1st Battalion Princess Pats.

Golf Body Rescinds Pro Rule

TORONTO (CP)—Changes in rules governing amateur status were announced Wednesday by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

It has rescinded a rule which stated that after a player's 21st birthday amateur status was forfeited if compensation was received for serving as a caddie or in some other earning capacities at a golf course.

Such persons, the association said do not have any advantage over others working at golf clubs and should not be penalized by being classed as professionals.

The association said former rules implied that a player could take several actions before his 19th birthday which would not class him as a professional. Such an interpretation, it said, is no longer possible.

Forfeiture of amateur status now applies irrespective of age and occurs under specific actions listed by the association.

A player forfeits his amateur status, for example if he receives compensation for serving as a professional golfer; for giving golf instructions; or for a personal appearance involving his golfing skill or golfing reputation.

He may also lose his amateur status if he accepts a prize or testimonial having a retail value exceeding $200. Previous value was $150.

Masters Starts Today

Finsterwald 'Forgotten Man'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The 27th Masters golf tournament starts today and Dow Finsterwald, a slender, soft-spoken veteran, finds himself in the role of the forgotten man.

Most of the pre-tournament speculation has centred on golf's ruling triumvirate — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus. Finsterwald and the other 80 competitors have been lumped together as "the field."

There is a tendency to forget that last year's Masters involved a three-day playoff. And one of the three men all square at 280 strokes after 72 holes was Finsterwald.

Finsterwald played poorly in the 18-hole tie-breaker, taking a 77 to Palmer's grinning 8 and Player's 71. But the fact remains that for 72 holes he matched Palmer and Player stroke for stroke—and finished 11 shots ahead of Nicklaus.

Finsterwald was paired with the Canadian Professional Golfers Association champ, Alvie Thompson of Toronto, in today's opening round.

Al Balding of Toronto was paired with Bob Rosburg and Stan Leonard of Vancouver was paired with Ken Venturi.

Palmer seeks a record fourth Masters title. He, Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret have won three apiece.

The 83-man field will be trimmed after the first 36 holes. The top 44 players, plus ties or anyone within 10 shots of the leader, will qualify for the final two rounds.

TIGERS CUT ROSTER

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Detroit Tigers trimmed their roster Wednesday to the opening day limit of 28 players by shipping five pitchers to Syracuse. The Tigers, who'll start the American League season Tuesday with six rookies on their squad optioned Howie Koplitz, Mickey Lolich Alan Koch and Doug Gallagher to their International League farm club.

So What's New About This Ball?

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Two Miami University staff members say they have invented a golf ball with less, repeat less, bounce.

It is meant mostly for beginners who don't want to spend most of their time chasing balls.

The dead pill was developed by varsity trainer Jay Colville and Dr. Richard T. Mackey, supervisor of golf in the university's physical education program.

Colville said: It gives you the feel of hitting without the feel of hiking."

Dodgers Chosen For Flag

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Where will lightning strike this year in the National League?

Five different pennant winners in the last five years make a fellow wary of sticking his neck out—especially one who picked St. Louis Cardinals to win last year. They finished sixth.

Milwaukee won the title in 1958, Los Angeles in 1959, Pittsburgh in 1960 Cincinnati in 1961 and San Francisco in 1962. Now what?

This is the way it looks from here:

1. Los Angeles, 2. Cincinnati 3. San Francisco, 4. St. Louis 5. Pittsburgh, 6. Milwaukee, 7. Philadelphia, 8. Chicago, 9. Houston, 10. New, York.

KOUFAX THE KEY

The pick of the Dodgers is based on the belief that they would have won last year if Sandy Koufax had not been stricken with that circulatory ailment on the index finger of his pitching hand that put him out of action the last half of the season.

Walt Alston's club shows no serious effects of the September flop of last year when they blew the pennant in an unprecedented swoon. The humiliating episode may spur them on.

The Dodgers' big problem is the pitching. Don Drysdale, Koufax and Johnny Podres are the big three. Help must come from Bob Miller, Larry Sherry or Pete Richert.

Cincinnati has one big edge—if Bob Purkey is all right. He is having shoulder troubles.

They can count on 60 wins from Purkey, Jim O'Toole and Joey Jay. Jim Maloney appears ready and Jim Owens may make a comeback.

Gene Freese is back to play third after missing a year due to a broken ankle.

If the Giants lose it will have to be because Billy Pierce, Jack Sanford, Billy O'Dell and Juan Marichal don't measure up to 1962. It is the feeling here that they will not.

SPORT BRIEFS

RACING TO START

MONTREAL (CP)—Trotters pacers and thoroughbred racers are set for a new 200-day season of racing in Montreal that will start Friday night with a 46-day harness meet.

It will be the earliest opening in history—despite a hard winter of snow—for the eastend Richelieu Park where the harness meet will set the season off.

SIGN QUARTERBACK

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference have announced the signing of Quarterback Steve Spafer, who set a season pass completion record while playing for Utah State. The former high school sprint and pole vault champion was the 14th draft choice of San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League.

TO MEET 'SPURS

MARSEILLE, France (Reuters)—OFK Belgrade of Yugoslavia qualified to meet the English Cup winners, Tottenham Hotspur, in the semi-finals of the European Cup winners' soccer cup tournament when it beat Napoli of Italy 3-1 in their quarter-final playoff here Wednesday.

DENY TRADE

HAMILTON (CP — Hamilton Tiger-Cats Wednesday denied reports that they had traded two of their football players to Montreal Alouettes. A report from Montreal Tuesday said Alouettes had traded corner linebacker Ron Brewer and halfback Jack Espenship for Ticat import guard Ellison Kelly and Canadian defensive end Ken Kilrea.

So What's Now?

Yanks Picked For A. L. Pennant

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees, solid at every position as usual, are being quoted at 1 to 2 to win the American League pennant for the third straight year. Never before has a team been made such a prohibitive favorite.

The Yankees should win again but they need not have a cakewalk. At least six of the teams which trailed them last year will be better. They are Los Angeles Angels, Minnesota Twins, Detroit Tigers, Baltimore Orioles, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox.

Of the six, Los Angeles and Baltimore appear to be the most improved. They call the Angels' third place finish last year a miracle. New adjectives may have to be coined to describe Bill Rigney's crew this year. They could climb to second and may even give the Yankees a run for it.

Minnesota, the Yankees' most persistent rival last year, should be just as good and perhaps better because the team's experience gained by the kid infielders Rich Allen, Rich Rollins and Zoilo Versalles.

HAVE NEW FACES

Baltimore opens the season with new faces at four key positions as a result of several profitable deals that brought outfielder Jim Piersall, outfielder Al Smith catchers Dick Brown and John Orsino, infielder Bob Johnson and pitchers Pete Burnside and Stu Miller.

Detroit should be better if only because Al Kaline, the great outfielder, is in good health again having fully recovered from a fractured collarbone which kept him out of action for half the '62 season. There is also a strong possibility that Frank Lary, former 30-game winner—may be available. The gritty righthander was sidelined with a sore arm virtually all last season.

Cleveland, in the midst of a rebuilding program emphasizing youth, has unearthed a trio of flashy rookies who have been the talk of the Cactus League in Arizona.

Boston, a do-nothing club for years, finally decided to become active in the trade mart and came up with a couple of long ball hitters in Dick Stuart and Roman Mejias.

The possible order of finish: 1. New York; 2. Los Angeles; 3. Minnesota; 4. Baltimore; 5. Detroit; 6. Cleveland; 7, Boston; 8. Chicago; 9. Kansas City. 10. Washington.

TRAINER DIES

SAN MATEO Calif. (AP — R. R. Darbyshire, 55, Canadian horseman, died Wednesday at Bay Meadows racetrack while training mounts. He apparently suffered a heart attack. A resident of Victoria, B.C., Darbyshire was known affectionately as "Doc" by friends in racing, both in the United States and Canada.

Koufax Bombed Again!

By MIKE RATHET

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The most important finger in baseball failed another test Wednesday.

The delicate digit belongs to Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers' fireballing southpaw. When it turned numb last July, the Dodgers abruptly terminated their runaway in the National League standings and ultimately yielded the pennant to San Francisco Giants in a playoff.

This year Koufax pronounced the finger sound when he appeared for spring training. But he has been bombed for 11 runs in 18 innings and was tagged for a triple and a double by Roman Mejias as Boston Red Sox nipped the Dodgers 3-2 in an exhibition game Wednesday.

Koufax also walked three batters while striking out only three, far below his usual one-an-inning clip.

Elsewhere, two fine pitching performances were turned in. Jim Maloney and Jim Brosnan each allowed one hit in a 5-0 shutout by Cincinnati Reds over New York Mets and Denny LeMaster and Tony Cloninger combined for a five-hitter as Milwaukee Braves edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2.

GIANTS BEAT INDIANS

In other games, San Francisco Giants defeated Cleveland Indians 4 - 3, Detroit Tigers nipped Minnesota Twins 5-4, Kansas City Athletics belted Chicago White Sox 10-5, Pittsburgh Pirates took New York Yankees 6-4, St. Louis Cardinals whipped Washington Senators 6-4 and Houston Colts downed Los Angeles Angels 5-2.

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton's cocky Flyers, who just squeezed into the Western Hockey League playoffs, look like possible comers on their first playoff performance.

Forward Ike Hild led the way with three goals and goalie Gilles Boisvert was spectacular in the net as the Flyers handed Seattle Totems a 5-3 defeat in the opener of their best-of-three Northern Division semi-final at Edmonton Wednesday night.

In the Southern Division, San Francisco Seals came up with a 2-0 victory over Los Angeles Blades.

The Flyers took the lead in the opening period on a goal by Jack McIntyre. Seattle came back with two in the second by Gayle Fielder and Gerry Leonard but Elik replied with two. Sid Finney and Elik rounded out the scoring in the third period.

In San Francisco, Len Haley and Ed Panagabko scored for the Seals.

SET GAME

MONTREAL (CP) — Verdun Shamcats Eastern Canada finalists in senior football last season, announced Wednesday they have scheduled an exhibition game Sept. 28 against Queen's University Golden Gaels in Kingston, Ont.

Says Derby Will Be 2-Horse Race

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A man who should know says this year's Kentucky Derby should be billed as a match race between Never Bend and Candy Spots.

Wood Stephens, who trains Never Bend for Cain Hoy Stable, said I think this year's derby definitely will be a two-horse race."

After Candy Spots and my colt you just have a bunch of horses—none of which are even in the same class with these two.

In fact, if just these two colts started in the Derby it still would be one of the finest races in history.

We tied into Candy Spots at Chicago last year and lost by half a length. We're looking forward to a second try."

How will Never Bend like the 1¼-mile Derby distance May 4? I don't really know," Stephens said. But he handles a mile and an eighth like it wasn't there. From this, I'd have to say he shouldn't have any trouble with the distance in the Derby."

Candy Spots, owned by Rex Ellsworth of California, is unbeaten in six starts, his latest victory coming in the Florida Derby last Saturday.

Never Bend, the biggest money-winning two-year-old in history, scored his latest victory in the $100,000-added Flamingo in Florida.

Pesticides Controversy Gets Television Airing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—We are bombarding our environment each year with 900,000,000 pounds of chemicals to kill insects, weeds, rodents, and other organisms considered to be pests. The question the controversy—is what all these recently developed poisons are doing to the nation's wild life, to the balance of nature and to man.

CBS Reports undertook to find out—in an investigation that occupied eight months. The result was shown Wednesday in The Silent Spring of Rachel Carson, the sweet-faced, gentle - voiced biologist who wrote a documented book that started the controversy.

CBS cameras and producer-reporter Jay McMullen visited the prime sources of information: Miss Carson, agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman, Surgeon - General Luther Terry, commissioner George Larrick of the food and drug administration, the director of the U.S. fish and wildlife research center and many others, including a spokesman for the chemical industry, which manufactures the pesticides.

WAS FRIGHTENING

Result was a thoughtful, unemotional, clear and thoroughly frightening program. It was frightening because, as McMullen summed it up, it seems that nobody really knows how serious the pesticide danger is because there is "an appalling scarcity of facts concerning the effects" of them.

No one seems to know whether in small quantities they can cause genetic damage or contribute to cancer or even if the residues found in the bodies of wildlife or men are dangerous.

The chemical companies' representative, Dr. Robert Whitehead, insisted that when used according to directions, pesticide are not harmful, but he was the only one who seemed certain about it. The fish and wildlife service man said that 30 per cent of all wildlife it examined contained pesticide residues. Miss Carson feels so strongly that she believes they should be called "biocides" because of their danger to all life.

Picton

Bethel Citizen Honored on 89th Birthday

PICTON — The 89th birthday of Mrs. W. H. Allison was marked by a family gathering Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Ernest L. Way, with Mrs. Clarence Allison as co-hostess. About forty enjoyed a delectable dinner which featured a birthday cake. Mrs. Allison was the recipient of lovely gifts from the family and grandchildren, and many cards.

Adding pleasure to the occasion was the unexpected arrival of Mrs. Allison's only sister, Mrs. Alice Ward of Tillsonburg. They are the last surviving members of a family of eight. Also present were: Mrs. A. D. Way and Mrs. Sarah Allison, both in their 'Nineties, and there were many interesting reminiscences.

Mrs. Allison, the former Edith Dorland, moved from Dorazeo to Bethel as a bride of 18 years ago and has resided there since.

Mr. Allison died ten years ago. She is in good health, attends church and is active in the U.C.W.

Her family consists of a son, Clarence, with whom she resides, and three daughters, Myrtle (Mrs. Harold Ward); Irene (Mrs. Gerald Gowling); and Helen (Mrs. Ernest Way).

Council Asked To State Views On Harbor Depth

PICTON — Picton town council is being requested to state its wishes in regard to the width and depth of the navigable channel and turning basin desired in Picton harbor, Douglas Allenbrack announced yesterday.

"In order to compute the estimates for dredging of Picton harbor, I have been asked by the Department of Public Works at Ottawa to obtain information as to the town's wishes in regards to the channel and turning basin. When this information has been obtained, a dredging plan will be drawn up and estimates made in order to obtain approval of the treasury board," Mr Allenbrack said he had been advised.

Recent sounding tests had been taken to determine present water depth and area of silt and council is now asked to make an official request for the type and depth of channel desired.

Astrological Forecast

For April 5

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): If you expect regular routine today, you're in for a surprise! Friends, associates act "differently". Air of anticipation surrounds you. Take sudden changes calmly. They may change right back!

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Good Moon aspect today highlights romance . . . and the appreciation of romfiee. Evening for getting around, for having some fun. But get important work finished early in day.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Trip spotlighted. You make plans, add up assets and debits. Key is "a system." Means plan, ask, advise, read newspaper. Necessary to "shore up" resources, including emotional strength.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): You have strong influence today! Means you can afford not to press, insist or threaten. Laughter wins the day . . . and the night. Very good for entertaining and being entertained.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Ask yourself what you require, not merely what you desire. Need for tightening purse strings. Concentrate on quality products. Avoid waste. Stop duplicating efforts. Rest tonight.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Cycle high. You can utilize powers of persuasion for the good. Push ahead with original approach. Stress added independence. Do nothing to lose self-respect.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be aware of time. Realize certain projects, resolutions require attention. Putting things off could prove costly. Maintain attitude of finishing, accomplishing. Means stick to task until you win.

Scorpio (Oct. 22 to Nov. 21): Unusual proposal by friend is indicated. Investigate, probe, find the answers. Be open-minded. Check motives, but don't neglect your own needs. Be fair to yourself!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): If question is whether to go back or ahead, move forward! Day to assert yourself. Place yourself at front. Speak, write, communicate. Don't take back seat or no for an answer.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Good indications, but better ones upcoming. Check details, statements. Long-range view best, but not easy. Don't be drawn into disputes which do not concern you.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Good news indicated where finances are concerned. Virgo individual may figure prominently. Be ready to perceive opportunity. Means don't be satisfied merely with status quo. Move ahead!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Are you presenting proper image? Question very important. Are you being understood by family, associates, fellow workers? Take time today to make intentions clear.

If today is your birthday . . . wonderful opportunity this month of patching up domestic differences. You have fine capabilities, magnetism and sympathy.

General Tendencies: The stated, the conservative cause major surprises. Keep eye on Virgo individuals!

Grain-Growing Regions Of West Canada Get More Than Normal Moisture Dose

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The grain-growing regions of Western Canada, with two exceptions, received more than the normal fall of moisture during the fall and winter months.

Excesses in eight of the 10 regions are shown in statistics prepared for The Canadian Press by the meteorological division of the federal transport department. South Alberta was seven per cent below normal and southeast Saskatchewan 14 per cent below.

Precipitation for all Alberta was 14 per cent above normal, for all Saskatchewan one per cent above and for Manitoba 13 per cent above normal. The normal is based on the 30-year average from 1921 to 1950.

This all-Prairie average of eight per cent above normal precipitation for the months August to February inclusive contrasts with a deficit of 14 per cent for the same period a year ago, and of eight per cent below average two years ago.

DAMP START

Considering the Prairie provinces as a whole, precipitation was generally above normal last August. It was below normal in most areas in September, slightly below in October and generally below in November and December except in the Peace River district, where both months were wet.

In January, however, precipitation was well above normal everywhere except in southern Manitoba and southeast Saskatchewan. Over the entire west precipitation in February was not far from normal.

For the period as a whole Alberta experienced precipitation not far from normal except in the Peace River region, where there was an excess of 32 per cent. Alberta's northcentral region was five per cent above normal and central Alberta two per cent above, with a seven-per-cent deficiency in the south.

In Saskatchewan the higher-than-normal precipitation was eight per cent in the northwest, six per cent in the northeast and two per cent in the southwest, compared with the 14-per-cent deficiency in the southeast.

The eastern grain - growing area of Manitoba had an excess of 12 per cent to the end of February, the western part 15 per cent.

SEASON'S PROGRESS

In Manitoba, August was wet with most areas receiving more than twice the normal fall. By contrast, September was extremely dry with precipitation about one-third of the average for the month, or lower.

October was above normal in western Manitoba grain districts but below normal in the eastern. The opposite was true in November, although in this month all districts were nearer normal than in the previous month.

Precipitation in Manitoba's grain areas amounted to three-quarters of the normal in December, and in January there was less than half in all areas. In February precipitation was generally above normal, however, individual stations ranging from 60 to more than 150 per cent of normal.

WET AUGUST

In Saskatchewan August precipitation generally was well above normal, excesses reaching 40 per cent in some districts. In September, the southeast corner had only one-third of the normal fall with the rest of the province's growing areas close to normal. In October the situation was changed, with about one-third the normal fall reported from the northwest while the rest had excesses ranging up to 50 per cent.

All sections of Saskatchewan were dry during November, the southwestern part getting only about a quarter of the average fall. This section was also below normal in December while other parts of Saskatchewan were getting normal precipitation or a little higher.

February showed small excesses in western districts of Saskatchewan and small deficiencies in the eastern districts.

NORTHERN MOISTURE

In Alberta's Peace River district precipitation was well above normal in August, slightly above in October and well above average figures for November, December, January and February.

Only September was below normal, the Peace district showing about one-third of the average that month.

In the other grain-growing areas of Alberta there were slight excesses in the central portions in August and September, but otherwise these districts were below normal from August to the end of December.

In January snowfall was almost twice normal in Alberta as a whole, but in February there were excesses only in the central area between Edmonton and Calgary, while the southern and northern areas showed deficiencies.

DRY MARCH

From incomplete returns it appeared the March precipitation totals would probably be somewhat below normal, especially in Alberta.

The below - normal fall in southern and northern Alberta recorded in February continued into March. For Saskatchewan, indications were of below-normal precipitation in most stations in the early part of the month, but for the entire period there were probably slight excesses. In western Manitoba, precipitation was well below normal in the early part of March, with excesses in the eastern section of the grain areas.

If You're TIRED ALL THE TIME

Now and then everybody gets a "tired-out" feeling, and may be bothered by backache. Perhaps nothing seriously wrong, just a temporary condition caused by urinary irritation or bladder discomfort. ## Farmers' Local 171 Hears Talk On Cheese Board

BONARLAW — The March meeting of Local 171 of the Ontario Farmer's Union was held in the hall at Springbrook. The president, Murney Bateman was chairman. The press reporter neglected to send the February report to the paper and at this time would like to say that Sid MacDonald was the guest speaker at that meeting. He spoke on farm safety and highway safety and showed some interesting slides of scenery around Stirling and in Hastings County.

Patsy Jane Wilson gave a good speech on "Conservation of Our Forests".

CHEESE

The president introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Hector Arnold, chairman of the Cheese Producers Marketing Board, who gave a brief history of the marketing board and explained the condition of the cheese industry at present. He said that the supply of cheese is low and that the board is having trouble getting enough cheese to meet export requirements. Mr. Arnold said the farmers received about 40 million dollars in subsidies last year and the city people are led to believe that the farmer is living off the government. At the same time hundreds of millions is spent in government assistance to towns and cities for sewage disposal, housing, expressways and many other things. This seems to be all right in the public eye. One or two large cities would probably receive more government assistance than all farmers in Canada.

An interesting question posed followed Mr. Arnold's address.

George Williams moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

The Ontario Farmer's Union is presenting a brief to the Provincial Government soon and delegates are asked to attend.

The next meeting will be held in the hall. Arrangements are being made to have slides on feeding of livestock.

Lunch was served and a social time spent.

Great Lakes Navigation Is Delayed

CLEVELAND (AP)—The navigation season in the upper Great Lakes area probably won't be open before the last week of April, the ice committee of the Lake Carriers' Association reported following a meeting Tuesday.

"We are shooting for a target date somewhere between April 20 and May 1 but there may be some activity in the Straits of Mackinac before that time," a spokesman said.

The committee reported there still was a lot of ice in Lake Superior particularly in White Fish Bay, but there had been some deterioration in the last week because of the warmer weather.

Ferry's Voyage To Wolfe Island Takes Five Hours

Surgery by Flashlight Reported by Hospitals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Surgery was performed by flashlight and a 30-minute Lake Ontario ferry trip took five hours Thursday as winds up to 70 miles an hour whipped across southern Ontario disrupting utilities transportation and communications.

By early today the storm had all but spent itself with the highest winds in the province of 25 reported at Mount Forest near Kitchener. The forecast for today was sunny and warmer with light winds.

Serious damage was reported Thursday from such widely separated points as Kitchener, Kingston, Metropolitan Toronto and the eastern shoreline of Lake Simcoe.

At St. Mary's Hospital in Kitchener, 62-mile-an-hour winds blew out a transformer cutting off power while five major operations and two lesser ones were in progress.

All the operations were later described as successful and hospital officials said flashlights were used until auxiliary power could be restored.

TAKES FIVE HOURS

The ferry Wolfe Islander took five hours to complete a usual 30 - minute Lake Ontario trip from Kingston to Wolfe Island when wind gusts drove the ferry channel separating the island from the mainland.

In the Toronto area, two persons were struck by falling objects, but not seriously injured. Mrs. Helen Hogan, 30, was struck by wooden fencing ripped from a construction site by gales up to 60 miles-an-hour and Albert Huber, 44, was knocked unconscious by a tree which crashed over on to his truck.

High winds knocked out windows, littered streets with television antennas and bowled over fences, poles and trees which swept down hydro lines as they fell in different parts of Ontario.

At least a dozen plate glass windows were smashed in grocery and department stores and garage and out-building roofs were peeled off.

Seventy-mile - an-hour gusts piled the ice a height of about 20 feet in some Lake Simcoe areas. Docks and boathouses along the shoreline were crushed.

Kitchener reported a rash of snarled traffic signals, and false bank burglary alarms when

NEW YORK (AP) — Fires fanned by roaring winds spread havoc Thursday from Maine to Georgia, killing at least three persons.

In New York City, a workman was killed by a wind-tossed plank. In a Syracuse, N.Y., suburb a woman died of electric shock as she stepped from her car, which had become entangled in live wires. A man died in Passaic, N.J., when a fire-damaged building collapsed and showered debris on a parked car.

Hundreds of acres of woodland and meadows burned. Brush fires went out of control by the dozens. Winds were expected to diminish and temperatures to rise today.

New England staggered under high winds, snow squalls and freezing temperatures. In northern Maine the mercury plunged into the 20s.

REACHES 81 M.P.H.

At Bridgeport, Conn. an 81 m.p.h. gust of wind was recorded at the airport.

Snow flurries, hail and winds hit upstate New York areas, knocking down trees and power lines. Fire visible for almost 20 miles destroyed a nursery on the outskirts of Geneva, N.Y.

In Schenectady, N.Y., where gusts reached 65 m.p.h., power was cut off to 2,000 homes during the day. In the Oneida Lake area of central New York, whitecaps washed the ice into towering piles.

More than 20 fires were reported in the New York City area.

Philadelphia, Pa., had more than 200 fires.

Billed Nuns Out of $100,000 On Pretext of Furnishing Home

DETROIT (AP)—A man, who said he has a son studying for the priesthood, a daughter who is a nun and another daughter studying for the sisterhood, was convicted Thursday of swindling the Franciscan Sisters of St. Joseph of $100,000.

A U.S. district court jury deliberated 45 minutes before finding William S. Cwik, 45, guilty on charges of interstate transportation of a cheque obtained by fraud.

Cwik who specialized in furnishing institutions, had been charged with bilking the nuns out of $100,000 in the pretext of furnishing their new home for the aging, Mary Crest Manor, in suburban Livonia.

Two members of the Franciscan order testified that they gave Cwik a series of cheques between March and September, 1961, because, they said, he came to them well - recommended by other Catholic organizations.

Cwik said he had none of the money left. He said he used part of it to pay some old bills.

Conviction carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman ordered Cwik held until the probation department completes its investigation.

LEADERS MEET TO END REVOLT IN ARGENTINA

Die-Hard Rebels May Oppose Pact

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Army commanders and rebel navy leaders were to meet to end Argentina's four-day revolt.

There was no immediate indication whether die-hard naval elements at Puerto Belgrano—the rebels' last stronghold, 350 miles south of Buenos Aires—would agree to the pact. It calls for quitting the navy's 35,000-man force at least by half.

Terms of the conditional agreement were pounded out by loyalist military leaders and Rear - Admiral Eladio Vazquez, the rebel fleet commander, at a two-hour post-midn ght session in Buenos Aires. In a terse communique they said agreement in principle had been reached in requirements to halt the fighting and return the armed forces to normal.

SPELLS OUT TERMS

The communique did not spell out terms. Informed sources at Bahia Blanca, adjoining the Puerto Belgrano base, said they called for:

1. Urondit onal surrender of the naval fleet and air force.

2. Reduction of the navy's maintenance force to a skeleton 15,000 men, which would at least halve the 35,000-man navy.

3. Surrender of navy men and civilians responsible for the revolt to be tried.

4. Repair by a naval unit of damage in the Magdalena area where the navy air force destroyed or damaged eight loyalist tanks and a number of buildings, Killing 16.

Pearson Would Divert Firms To Depressed Areas of Land

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Contrasting prescriptions for economic growth in Canada were offered by two of the campaigning party leaders Thursday night.

Liberal leader Pearson pledged direct government intervention to establish industry in hard-up areas. If this is called socialism, "that doesn't worry me a bit," he said at Sudbury.

New Democratic leader Douglas said at Winnipeg that a redistribution of purchasing power is needed to spark the economy, and proposed higher old age pensions, guaranteed prices for primary producers and other social and welfare measures.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, after a busy day of whistle-stop electioneering, ran into more heckling over his defence policy during a Hamilton speech in which he said Canada's economic growth last year was the highest in the free world.

At Ottawa Social Credit Leader Thompson predicted his party will form a minority government after Monday's election.

With the campaign end in sight, only a brief final spurt of campaigning is left for the four leaders.

Mr. Diefenbaker speaks at Paris and Brantford today and on Saturday embarks on a final whistle-stop tour in Ontario with an evening speech at Sarnia before flying to his Saskatchewan constituency of Prince Albert.

Mr. Pearson speaks tonight at a major Toronto rally and next day flies to Ottawa where he will be on election night.

Mr. Douglas campaigns in the Vancouver area including his Burnaby - Coquitlam constituency, while Mr. Thompson speaks today at Sudbury and Barrie, Ont., before heading tomorrow to his Alberta riding of Red Deer.

Thursday saw Quebec's premier Jean Lesage make another speech urging his province to support the Liberals. And Real Caouette, deputy Social Credit

Tahiti Expects Technicians To Prepare for Bomb Test

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The Australian Broadcasting Commission said today that about 150 technicians were expected in Tahiti this month to begin preparing a French nuclear test site in the Gambier archipelago of French Polynesia.

(In Paris, French official sources declined comment on the report.)

The radio, quoting its correspondent at Noumea, on New Caledonia island, said the Tahiti capital of Papeete would be residential headquarters while the technicians built a series of airstrips in the archipelago.

The radio said it was reported in Noumea that one airstrip would be of international classavailable to civilian flights which could serve as a stepping stone to South America.

It said the French planned to build a series of observatories and radar stations in the archipelago.

According to earlier Paris reports, the test site is expected to be Mangareva island, about 3,000 miles northeast of New Zealand.

LUNIK IV SAID WITHIN 10,000 MILES OF MOON

Radio Connections Satisfactory

CP from AP-Reuters

MOSCOW—The Soviet Union's Lunik IV flew within 10,000 miles of the moon today, Tass reported.

The Soviet news agency said the 3,130-pound moon probe was about 236,000 miles from the earth at 6 p.m. Moscow time (10 a.m. EST). The moon is about 238,854 miles from the earth.

A communique reported radio communications with the space probe good.

"Telemetric information reported the normal functioning of apparatus and instruments. Experiments and measurements continuing according to plan."

The statement did not give any information on Lunik's mission.

Tass news agency announced Thursday night that Lunik IV was on its last lap to the moon and would pass close to the surface, indicating no landing was planned. The announcement said the Lunik's instruments were all functioning normally.

The radio communications by Tass and the last reported speed of the satellite would have placed it near the moon today, Moscow time, or about 6:30 p.m. Eastern Thursday.

The Soviet press said Lunik IV was being controlled by a scientific centre in the Crimea.

Russian sources indicated Thursday night the wording of the announcement strongly implied the space vehicle will pass by the moon without going into orbit around it.

But it was still thought possible that in passing Lunik IV will attempt to drop instruments on to the moon or send information and pictures back to earth.

London Man Charged With Slaying Indian

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Lloyd McFadden, 20, of London was charged with capital murder early today in connection with the death of Delos Dokstator, 32, an Indian, whose beaten and bound body was found wrapped in a blanket in a ditch Thursday.

Provincial Police Inspector A. E. Ayers said Dockstator's head "was bashed in and the body set on fire."

Russia Approves Plan To Prevent Accidental War

U.S. Warmly Welcomes Acceptance by Soviet

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it is ready to accept a direct telecommunications link between Washington and the Kremlin to prevent an accidental outbreak of world war.

Tsarapkin said the Soviet Union was willing to negotiate such a link immediately, without waiting for agreement on a general disarmament treaty.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle said the United States "warmly welcomes" Tsarapkin's announcement.

REJECTS MISSIONS

Tsarapkin rejected two other preliminary disarmament measures suggested by the United States. These called for a permanent exchange of military missions and advance notification of military manoeuvres. Both would permit Western espionage in the Soviet Union and would serve only to increase world tension, the Soviet delegate said.

"However, the Soviet Union is ready to accept a direct telephone or teletype line between the two governments" Tsarapkin said.

He said details should be worked out in separate negotiations by the United States and the Soviet Union. These talks could begin immediately without waiting for progress or general disarmament or a nuclear test treaty.

He said each of the two governments should be left free to determine the exact point where the direct link should terminate in its own capital.

Campaigning Political Leaders Clock 100,000 Miles in Journeys

OTTAWA (CP) — Campaigning leaders of the four political parties will have clocked about 100,000 miles on their election tours by this weekend.

Train, plane, bus and auto plus thanks many other modes of travel as they sought to convince voters of the merits of their programs at political rallies, coffee parties, platform chats and Main Street encounters.

Three of them — Liberal Leader Pearson, Social Credit Leader Thompson and New Democratic Leader Douglas — piled up most of their mileage in air travel. Prime Minister Diefenbaker did most of his by train and car.

The four party headquarters made these estimates of flight mileage—Mr. Thompson, 35,000; Mr. Diefenbaker, 26,000; Mr. Douglas, between 25,000 and 30,000; and Mr. Pearson, 18,000.

The Social Credit leader campaigned in all provinces except Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, concentrating on Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia with one trip into the Maritimes and two to Quebec.

Mr. Douglas also skipped Newfoundland and Prince Edward—Island, concentrating on the provinces from Ontario to B.C. with one visit to Quebec.

Mr. Pearson, who began his campaign in Ontario and ended it in Ottawa this weekend, made four separate visits to Quebec and two each to the Atlantic provinces and the Prairies, and a lengthy one to B.C.

Mr. Diefenbaker began by whistle stops en route for the formal opening of his campaign at Prince Albert, Sask., his home constituency. He made three Prairie swings, two in Quebec, three in Ontario and one each in the Atlantic provinces and B.C.

On election night, Mr. Diefenbaker will be in Prince Albert, Mr. Pearson in Ottawa, Mr. Thompson in his Red Deer, Alta., constituency, and Mr. Douglas at his home in the Vancouver suburb of Burnaby in his constituency of Burnaby-Coquitlam.

COST OF LIVING WAS STEADY IN FEBRUARY

Consumer Index Held at 132.1

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian living costs remained unchanged during February, with the consumer price index holding at 132.1 on March 1, the record high reached a month earlier. The bureau of statistics said today that the index—a prices yardstick based on 1949 levels equalling 100—held steady at its Feb. 1 level as decreased food prices offset increases in the cost of housing and clothing.

The March 1 index was 1.9 per cent above the March, 1962, index of 129.7.

Further substantial price decreases for beef resulted in the food index falling five-tenths of a point to 128.9 from 129.4. Other price declines were limited to pork fats, fresh tomatoes, lettuce, bananas and grapefruit.

Higher prices were reported during February for eggs, sugar, jam, oranges and orange juice and most fresh vegetables.

SALARIES INCREASED

Prices of February levelling of prices followed an increase in salaries and wages in January. The index of average industrial wages and salaries for Feb. 1—latest date available—was 192.3, compared with 183.4 a month earlier and 187.2 a year earlier.

The wages index, also based

Charged With Failing To Feed Livestock

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Robert Holmes, 33, of RR 3, Mitchell, Ont. has been charged with failure to provide suitable and adequate food, water and care for livestock on his farm where 31 dead animals were discovered Friday in a ramshackle barn.

John T. McCarthy of Toronto chief inspector of the Ontario humane society and county holding its annual convention here, said he laid the charge in Stratford Thursday.

Two Main Issues Debated

Defence, Stable Govt. Feature Speeches

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The questions of defence and minority versus majority government have overshadowed all other issues in the federal election campaign now nearing the finish line.

Economic and financial issues, dominant in the campaign for the inconclusive 1962 election, have been prominent again this year but not to the extent of capturing the most public interest.

Liberal Leader Pearson's advocacy of nuclear warheads for Canadian forces, the outright rejection of these weapons by the New Democratic Party, and official statements emanating from the United States guaranteeing top billing for the defence issue.

Similarly, constant repetition by the Liberals of their call for stable majority government and by the smaller Social Credit and New Democratic parties of what they would do in the event a minority government was elected have made this a burning issue.

The Canadian voters—a record of more than 9,800,000 are eligible to cast ballots—will decide whether Canada will accept nuclear arms immediately and whether the country is to have its third minority government since 1957. Polls are open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. local Standard Time.

For the task has been predicted by Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay. The best previous turnout was 79.8 per cent of the 9,131,000 eligible voters in 1958, almost equalled in 1962 when 79.3 per cent of the 9,700,325 eligibles voted.

To achieve a majority in the 265-seat Commons, a party must elect a minimum of 133 members. Last year, the Conservatives won 116 seats, Liberals 100, Social Credit 30 and NDP 19.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker went with virtually the same speech throughout the campaign, devoting much stress to his charge that the Liberals obstructed legislative accomplishment in the last parliament and to the benefits flowing from last spring's devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Meanwhile, Mr. Pearson has virtually given an advance

Questionnaires Indicate Training Program Scope

Plans for the retraining program for unemployed persons hoped to be set up in Belleville took another step forward this week when members of the Mayor's Advisory Committee met at city hall.

To determine the required scope and content of the program, 3,000 questionnaires will be circulated through the National Employment Offices at Belleville, Trenton, the Picton-Napanee and after a full analysis of questionnaires the committee will advise the type of training needed for an approximate number of unemployed persons ready to take the training.

Following the survey, the committee will ask the Department of Education to implement more detailed plans for the appointment of a co-ordinator and finding the accommodation and facilities that may be required.

Mayor A. McLean Haig feels sadly that the personal effect which up-grading the skills or the unemployed have on an unemployed man and his family, the retraining program would also result in many diversified benefits for the city.

Some of these benefits were a better trained work force to meet requirements of industrial growth, increased purchasing power through increased employment and increase in local business along with a reduction in welfare costs.

Members of the Mayor's Advisory Committee attending the meeting were: George A. Whitman, director of welfare, as chairman; Adam S. Stalker, city clerk, as secretary; Dr. J. S. Barlow, vice-chairman, representing the Bay of Quinte District High School Board; Herb W. Pointer, representing the Belleville and District Labor Council; Al Green, from the National Employment Office; A. D. Revell, representing industry; Irvine Shulman, representing the Businessmen's Association of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce; Mario Huffman, from the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club, and Gerald Wishart, representing industry.

Alhambra Caravan Holds Communion

A Communion breakfast was held recently by the Alhambra Caravan No. 109 of Belleville at the Colombus Hall. Eminent Grand Commander Francis Murphy of Frankford presided.

It was largely attended by the Caravan members and their wives.

An interesting address was given by Dr. Charles Doondale, who is president of the John St. Retarded Children's School of Belleville. This was of great interest to those present as the Alhambra Caravan help in aiding this school. One of their latest propjects was the donation of ¼ projector to aid in the training of the retarded children.

Much information was given the members on the course of studies these children receive.

Dr. Doondale was introduced by Sir Noble Edward Buckley, of the Belleville Caravan and thanked by the Deputy Supreme Organize Frank Domenico.

Recreation Highlights

BRUCE JARAVAIS,
Assistant Director

Everyone should swim. From the earliest times swimming has been enjoyed as a healthful recreation activity for young and old, the weak and the strong. It is also a great sport for muscle building and for keeping fit at any age. Once a person becomes a proficient swimmer, he may look forward to wholesome fun, sociability and lifelong recreational benefits.

In spite of its popularity and of the wide distribution of good facilities, the level of swimming skills in Canada is still low.

Perhaps 75% of the millions who seek recreation in and on the water swim either very badly, or not at all.

Your fear of the water before you learn to swim is a protection to you. There is nothing more wholesome than an honest fear and respect for water. Statistics show that the 25 to 35 age group contributes the largest number to the nearly 2000 Canadians who die annually from drowning. Of course, some of these are "good swimmers" who take foolish chances, but the majority are the people who did not take the time to learn to swim when they were young, or did not grow up where good facilities were available.

You have probably heard someone say "when I learned to swim, they threw me out of a boat and said swim". There is tragic evidence that this sink or swim method has proved unreliable.

The age limits for learning to swim skillfully are difficult to set. The ideal age is from 7-9 years of age, when generally the enthusiasm of the child is at its peak. Although a certain degree of applied psychology and great perseverance are necessary to instruct a child at this age, the fundamentals are usually grasped more quickly.

You do not take as long as one might think to learn to swim — even after the ideal age has passed.

If you learn slowly, like most of us you may find that by practising one hour each week, you will reach your goal in about five months. However, during the summer months when one is learning to swim is also the "go at it" time. If you practise for a quite often during each week, he will find that by the end of the summer he can at least "hold his own". It is easier to learn from a good instructor.

The swimmers "never" code should be learned as part of the first lesson and never be forgotten.

Never swim alone; never swim beyond your depth without a boat near you; never swim in a pool, indoors or out, that is not supervised by a lifeguard.

South Hastings Candidates Address Park Dale Meet

The Federal election candidates spoke to the Parkdale Ratepayers' Association Wednesday evening and discussed the issues of the Federal Election.

Mr. Lee Grills, South Hastings member of Parliament, in the last federal government and Progressive Conservative candidate declared that he is proud of the record of the Conservative government, and of the way the government has supported the Hastings South Riding.

Mr. Grills quoted from a survey compiled by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, concerning 110 different manufactured items. Of this total, 106 showed marked production increases in 1962 over 1961, and appear doing even better so far this year.

"Is this a failing economy?" he asked. "Is this an indication that Canada is falling apart, as some people would have us believe?" he questioned.

DEFENCE POLICY

Speaking on defence, Mr. Grills denounced reports circulating that the Conservative Party favors withdrawal from NATO and NORAD.

"We aren't going to go back on our friends or forsake our obligations," he reiterated, "but this must bring ourselves down to reality."

He declared that nuclear arms are not a defence, they are the sure destruction of the world.

"We first took the Bomarc because the United States wanted us to," said Mr. Grills, "when decidedly it was out of date, yet they still think we should accept the nuclear arms for us. "Will they not use it themselves?" he asked.

In closing, he said that he was proud to stand for Canada and its duties to his constituents, no matter what their political beliefs.

LIBERAL PLANS

Liberal candidate Robert Temple for the Liberal government would immediately implement a plan to "get the Canadian economy on a sound footing. He declared that things will be difficult at first; that there will be little money to be spent on investment in Canada. Insisting that we can't have our cake and eat it too, he declared that unemployment cannot be cured until the necessary requirements and can support more jobs.

He explained that a Liberal government would create a department of industry, supplemented by an advisory planning board. In addition, a system of tax incentives for industry would be instituted, as is presently done for mining.

EDUCATIONAL POLICY

The Liberal party favors indirect federal assistance to education, through the Provincial governments, so that no one with ability would lack ability would be denied higher education.

Mr. Temple was sharply critical of claims of obstructionism made against the Liberals.

He said his intention was merit for failing to allow debate on the austerity program, which he insisted is taxation and nothing else; therefore the rights of parliament were infringed.

Mr. Temple stated that Canada as a nation must honor its defence commitments.

"The Prime Minister brought in the Bomarc and the Voodoo aircraft to replace the Arrow," declared the Liberal candidate, "well-knowing that these weapons are designed and require nuclear warheads. Now he says they are no good, but can't make up his mind what to do about it," he continued.

"By this example," he ended, "we might as well decide to scrap everything, split NATO by withdrawing, turn all our friends against us - and play directly into the hands of the Communists."

OPPOSES A-ARMS

Les Digby, NDP candidate, covered the usual political cries for lack of policies.

"The New Democratic Party is the only party with courage enough to come out and state a defence policy," said Mr. Digby, "and here it is: Canada must not accept nuclear arms, but must train and maintain strong forces equipped with the best types of conventional arms."

Mr. Digby further set out at the Conservative and Liberal parties for their lack of Medicare plans. He said that the Liberals first talked of this in 1919 but still had not done anything concrete.

Mr. Digby said that his party favors a portable pension plan and a 10% increase in the old age pension, and federal assistance to education.

He explained that approximately one-half the population of the world goes to bed hungry every night.

"If we don't feed these people the Reds will," insisted Mr. Digby, "and it is down to communism as they do."

In closing, Mr. Digby scored the Liberal campaign slogan for a "majority government." He denounced previous large-majority St. Laurent and Diefenbaker governments as "do nothing" parliaments. More progress in Canada with a government in power does not depend on large a majority and is forced to "keep on its toes," he said.

SOCRED PRINCIPLES

George S. Mallory, Social Credit candidate, explained that the monetary policies of his party seem unusual only because they are unfamiliar. Mr. Mallory said most people have little conception of economics and do not really comprehend even our present monetary system.

The candidate stated the four basic principles of Social Credit were set out in plain terms. The individual is considered to be of greatest importance. The function of government should be to get the results the people want. Freedom with security, not security without security, is best. Things that are physically possible and morally right should be financially possible.

Social Credit policies mean the wise use of social capital, the spending of money that results in the growth of social capital, not the death of private capital," maintained Mr. Mallory.

Yesterday Wind Brought Grief To Utilities

Despite gale-like winds which at times reached up to 50 miles per hour in gusts, there were almost no hydro interruptions in the city yesterday afternoon and last night.

"We had very little trouble in Belleville at all," William H. Phillips, utilities commission line foreman, stated this morning.

But the local utilities did have trouble Wednesday night when a defective insulator on a 110,000 volt line at the station in the north end of Hillcrest set the pole afire and threw three sub-stations out of service.

It was three-quarters of an hour before crews could be called out and power brought through alternate lines.

"It was just one of those things," commented Mr. Phillips.

The city public works department is reported only minor trouble.

A checkerboard traffic sign on Canifton Road was blown over, while on North Front St. a detour sign directing traffic around the new bridge construction was also tipped over.

'Cancer' Spreads

LONDON (Reuters) — About 40,000 copies of the controversial novel Tropic of Cancer by American author Henry Miller were reported to have been sold in Britain Thursday the first day of its publication in the country.

The book has been banned in Britain as obscene for 30 years and has been the centre of court actions in various parts of the world.

MRS. WINNIFRED ALICE SECKER

The funeral of Mrs. Winnifred Alice Secker was held Thursday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home, where a service in the chapel was conducted by Rev. R. G. Fleming. Interment was in Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Robert Matthews, John Matthews, George Woodcroft, Frederick Hillman, Richard Rowbotham and Garfield Little.

REV. W. I. TERRION
Kemptville

MARMORA — Former parishioners and friends were shocked to learn of the death of Father Wilfred Lauter Terrion, parish priest of Holy Cross Church in Kemptville following a few weeks' illness.

Born in Marmora Township on April 7th, 1900, he was a son of the late John Terrion and the former Ellen Gallagher. He attended the local schools, St. Peters High School in Peterborough and studied for the priesthood in St. Alexander's College, Ironside, Ont., from which he graduated in 1922. The same year he entered the Grand Seminary at Montreal to complete his studies. He was ordained St. James' Cathedral, Montreal, May 1926.

As a young priest he served as assistant at St. Mary's Cathedral, Kingston, Ironside, the parishes of Brockville, Smith Falls, Lavant, Picton, Carleton Place, Read and Campbellford. In 1939 he was named pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Bedford. Later he became pastor of Howe Island, thence to Stanleyville. In 1950 he made a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome. On returning he was pastor of St. Mary's in Morrisburg and St. Michael of St. Cecilia at Iroquois. In 1960 he succeeded the late Father Quinn as pastor of Holy Cross Church at Kemptville where he remained until his final illness. Father Terrion was responsible for the building of a two-room separate school in Iroquois and acquired property on which a separate school will be built this year in Morrisburg, also a beautiful new manse in Iroquois. An ardent golfer and curler, Father Terrion made many friends.

He is survived by two brothers, Dan Terrion of Cleveland, Ohio and John Terrion of Marmora; three sisters, Mrs. Charles Thompson (May) of Marmora.

The funeral was held at Holy Cross Church and Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by Most Rev. J. A. O'Sullivan, Archbishop of Kingston assisted by Msgr. A. J. Welsh of Kingston, and the sermon was preached by Very Rev. J. A. Carley of Carleton Place.

Interment was in the Parish Cemetery at Kempville.

INFANT KATHERINE DIANNE TUCK

A funeral service for Infant Katherine Dianne Tuck was held Thursday afternoon from the John R. Bush Funeral Home with interment in Belleville Cemetery.

The service at the chapel was conducted by Rev. C. W. Coleman.

MRS. ELLEN BROWN

The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Brown was held from the Thompson Funeral Chapel on Thursday afternoon, with Rev. R. G. Fleming of Christ Church, conducting services at the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery.

Bearers were Lorry and Fred Pollitt, Morley Cashman, Frank Beauchamp, William Page and Albert Mulvey.

MISS CORA BELLE CLARKE

The funeral of Miss Cora Belle Clarke, 189 William St., was held Thursday afternoon from the Pinkston and Luscombe Funeral Home, with service conducted by Rev. Alfred Poulter.

Interment was in Wellington Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jack Dickens, Edgar Buchanan, Arthur Marshall, William Connor and George and Ralph Dorland.

MRS. THOMAS SKEGGS

Mrs. Lulu Skeggs of 22 Grier Street, died suddenly at the Belleville General Hospital on Friday, April 5th. She had been in failing health for about five years.

Born in Ivanhoe she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Reid. She had resided in this community all her life.

She was a member of Tabernacle United Church and was very active in all church work, and was a member of the Belleville and Prince Edward Club.

Surviving is her husband, Thomas Skeggs and one nephew Carl Reid of Picton.

Resting at the Grant Funeral Home; funeral arrangements appear elsewhere in this edition.

Wind-Blown Tree Crashes On Car Top

A motorist on 41 highway, north of Napanee, had his journey abruptly interrupted Thursday afternoon when a wind blown tree-limb fell across the roof of his car. The driver escaped injury, but damage to his recently purchased auto with only 1800 miles on the speedometer, was extensive.

The incident occurred during the height of the windstorm which swept through the Bay of Quinte district.

Two Women Left Children Unattended

Charged with leaving their children unattended, two Hungerford township women appeared in family court in Marmora on Thursday before Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

The two women pleaded guilty to the charge and were remanded on their own recognizance to appear later for sentencing.

The nine children, seven of them from one family, were ordered into the care of the Children's Aid Society at Belleville.

The family court was told that the incident could have resulted in tragedy as two hours after the children were left alone at 11.00 a.m., the house burned down.

The eldest of the children, age 9, had the presence of mind to herd the other eight children from the burning dwelling.

A neighbor spotting the fire, rushed to the scene and found the children were already out of the house. The Tweed fire department was called, but flying embers had already caught in the barn and this building also was destroyed.

Provincial police at Madoc were called in an effort to locate the mothers and the two women were located at Tweed by Constable Larry Calnan at 10.00 p.m.

Will Study Long Term Works Needs

A special committee formed last week in Picton will study the town's long term capital works requirements. Among the first items to be considered are downtown parking, a new building for the town offices and a storage shed for municipal roads equipment, new storms sewers, rebuilding of sidewalks and a new fire truck.

The committee, consisting of Councillors James Bird, Andrew Jarvis, Deputy Reeve Don Thompson, Town Treasurer Wilfred McArthur and the town's auditor was appointed by the Town Council Monday. Councillor George Worden originated the motion from which the committee members." Councillor Andrew Jarvis, who seconded the motion, suggested the town should set a definite amount as "the top ceiling for debenture debt." He said a municipal debt and calling for annual interest and principal payments of more than $100,000 would be excessive.

Traffic Officer Not Heckled By Mr. Frost

It's difficult to be great and go unrecognized — even in a rush hour.

Directing traffic near Belleville's Hotel Quinte where former Ontario Premier Frost was due to speak last night, a police officer spotted a car in some difficulty. It was obviously attempting to turn onto Pinnacle Street — with no signal blinker flashing.

His hands full with rush-hour problems, the officer strode over and suggested to the youthful driver "If you used you signal lights maybe we'd all know which way you were going."

The driver apologized and followed the advice. A man and woman remained silent in the rear of the limousine. The constable instantly recognized them. It was Mr. Frost and his wife.

"He never said a thing," reported the officer.

Strikers Clash With Miners Going to Work

PARIS (Reuters) — Die-hard strikers in the Lens area coalfields of northern France today clashed with fellow-miners returning to work after Thursday's official settlement of the six-week strike by 240,000 miners.

Most miners throughout the nationalized industry appeared to have accepted the settlement negotiated by their union leaders, but in the Lens area shooting and bitter arguments broke out when some miners tried to report for work.

After hot debate some miners still refused to return to work and nine mines stayed closed.

But in the eastern Lorraine coalfields, all miners appeared to have accepted the settlement.

Meanwhile, President de Gaulle's government was faced with more labor trouble in the state-owned radio and television networks as performers, technicians and administrative staff began a 24-hour strike at midnight to back demands for more pay and improved working conditions.

The strike reduced radio and television programs to records and news bulletins.

TENSION CONTINUES

Labor tension continued in the state-owned gas and electrical industries and university professors and research workers threatened a 48-hour strike in three weeks if their pay demands are not met.

However, a series of strikes scheduled by gas and electrical unions were suspended pending the outcome of negotiations scheduled to begin today.

The government Thursday also reached agreement with 350,000 employees of the state railroads to avert surprise strikes that have caused transport chaos in France.

Coldwell Sees Minority Government

KINGSTON (CP)—The New Democratic Party will support any party that "gives the country good government," M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader said in an interview Thursday.

Predicting either a Liberal or Progressive Conservative minority government after the April 8 federal election, the former CCF leader said:

"We're running to be the government, but failing that, we intend to be a responsible and effective opposition."

Mr. Coldwell said, however, the NDP would never be able to find any common ground with the "pro-Fascist" Social Credit party.

U.S. Companies Favor Liberals Says Douglas

WINNIPEG (CP) — Many United States companies favor the Liberal party in the April 8 election, T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, said Thursday.

He told an airport press conference U.S. firms "find it easier to get control" of the Canadian economy under Liberal governments.

Much of the Canadian economy slipped into the hands of the United States in the 1935 to 1956 Liberal tenure, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Grills, Dr. and Mrs. John S. Stock are pictured with Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Frost at a reception held for the former Premier of Ontario at the Hotel Quinte on Thursday night. Dr. Stock is president of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Association.

Frost Is Still 'Mr. Big', Hypnotizes His Admirers At Twin Quinte Receptions

Ontario's former Premier Leslie Frost last night stepped above the current maelstrom of a troubling national issue to remind Canadians ourselves energy in its peaceful form held out unprecedented vistas of progress.

"It is a very great mistake to look at nuclear power as a method of destroying and burning (humanity)—because that is not it at all," he told audiences in Belleville and Trenton.

Current hydro projects in Ontario, harnessing nuclear energy indicate a "boundless opportunity" for raising living standards.

Ostensibly, Mr. Frost came to Belleville and Trenton yesterday to support Hastings South Conservative candidate Les Grills. Unavoidably, his real appearance in what he himself called "some semblance of the political arena" signalled a home-coming gathering of party-workers and non-party admirers. At first he was cheered as the man who left his stamp on one of Ontario's most buoyant eras.

The Journalese that described him during his official days has altered slightly. The "Mr. Ontario" title of his premiership now has a nostalgic ring, but he still is "Mr. Big" of Ontario Conservative party politics to the newswriters. The description has only changed with the situation. For his listeners yesterday, the personal magnetism of Leslie Frost was as dynamic as ever.

The man who strode through dusty township halls as familiarly as the corridors of power politics once again was up for public action — at typical Frostian style.

More than 700 turned out at personal receptions in both Quinte communities to again admire that style.

By and large the gatherings had reminiscent overtones.

LIKE A RE-UNION

It's almost like a re-union," said one local Conservative as close to 600 people trooped through the Hotel Quinte's main dining - room last night to sip coffee and shake hands again with the Frosts. For almost two hours, under the guidance of maitre d'hotel John Keenan and hosts Dr. and Mrs. John Stock, the Frosts renewed old acquaintances for the visitors with a personal era in Ontario public life.

Mr. Frost himself grew the key to the event.

"It has been a great pleasure to return to some semblance of the political arena, to have the opportunity of supporting Lee Grills and meet so many old friends in Belleville and Trenton," he told his audience before he and Mrs. Frost bade farewell.

His addresses in both communities were kept on that level, personal links and mild — but blunt! — politicking. His one departure from the themes however, was taken with gravity as he spoke of nuclear power. Without directly referring to the current national issue, he reminded his audiences of the other side of the controversial coin.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY

In Trenton, he told his audience: "The days we live in are very, very remarkable days indeed; days of very great peril and I might say, but still days of enormous opportunity."

"I often think this about the development that followed the splitting of the atom a few years back."

Nuclear power, he said, holds out the prospects of unprecedented progress for the betterment of all mankind."

"Now people in these days are talking about all sorts of things — about bombs and projectiles . . ."

But, added, Mr. Frost, he liked to think "there is a commonsense that is divinely endowed" in human reasoning.

Ontario is endowed with rich uranium deposits promising "greater progress than we have ever had."

"The future of the uranium industry depends upon the ways of peace and not upon the ways of war at all.

"The uranium and power that is stored in the ground there, will all be needed for a greater Ontario and Canada."

In Ontario, the Deep River pilot nuclear plant is now pumping 30,000 horsepower into the province's electric grid system. Shortly, a second plant at Kincardine developing 300,000 horsepower will be in operation.

"I would say that these things are an indication of boundless opportunity."

At one point, as he spoke of nuclear hydro power the lights at the Trenton Community Garden Sicked out, as high winds struck outside power cables.

As audience laughed at the impromptu but perfect timing Mr. Frost quipped: "That is a pure indication of what I say is true. It even made nuclear power blink."

HITS OPPOSITION

Politically Mr. Frost stepped federal Opposition parties for undermining Canada's economic position in the 1962 election.

"A year ago we had a party in this country that was bent upon selling its country short," he said, in an obvious tilt at the national Liberal party.

The criticism caused a run on the dollar but this has long since been corrected, he said.

"Today . . . we have the highest surplus supporting our dollar in the history of our country. Those people who said things about our economy and about the strength of Canada just nine months ago weren't correct."

"On the strength of that alone you should support your Progressive-Conservative candidate."

"Don't let people sell you down the drain. Don't let people tell you Canada is not going uphill.

"I want to express my utmost confidence in this country and its future," continued Mr. Frost.

"My confidence in my country is stronger than ever. There is no doubt about our capacity to do things, about our capacity as Canadians to meet challenges."

Confidence and hard work were the twin elements necessary to guarantee Canada's future, he said.

"There is no limit to the future of Ontario and Canada. Again, we have a great many perplexities (but) all of these things we can solve as Canadians. I see nothing on the horizon that Canadians cannot handle and cannot do."

GREETS OLD COLLEAGUES

His addresses did not neglect provincial affairs. At the Belleville reception, beside Mr. Grills, the former premier was joined by two members of the Ontario Legislature — Clarke Rollins (Hastings East) and Elmer Sandercock (Hastings West). Also among the guests was Roscoe Robson, sheriff of Hastings county and a former colleague of Mr. Frost in the Legislature.

"There is hardly a road or a bridge that I pass over (in Hastings county) that, at one time or another, these( zealous representatives of yours have not spoken about," he said.

He noted that during the day he had driven Highway 401 — "observing all the speed limits, you understand friends."

"I remember days when I used to come to Belleville and they had their doubts it (401) would ever be done. People thought it was just another overstatement of the Premier of Ontario. I remember the great problem of getting a bridge across the Trent River."

"These days have been solved and now we turn around and we look for the next thing to do."

The touch of hometown Ontario, the characteristic wit of former premier's speeches, also was present in both his addresses.

"My brother and I went to practise as lawyers in Lindsay 62 years ago," he told his Belleville audience. "We are just now being accepted as Lindsay people after all the time."

The Belleville reception had a particular personal significance for Frost and his wife, said Mr. Frost.

"On our honeymoon we came through this town in a Ford car and stayed at this hotel."

Barbershoppers To Gather Here For Convention

Final plans have been completed, and barbershop quartets and choruses from all over Ontario will be in Belleville on April 26, 27, 28, for the Ontario District contest and convention.

The headquarters for this outstanding barbershopping event will be the Quinte Hotel.

The Ontario district preliminary quartet competition will be held during the morning of April 27 at the BCIVS auditorium and the seven top quartets will compete in the evening at the same place to decide the district champion. Indications are that about 12 quartets will compete for the right to represent Ontario in the international quartet contest to be held in Toronto July 3 - 7. Two quartets will then go on to the evening contest to represent this district.

A chorus contest will be held in the afternoon to select a district champion for the ensuing year. Prizes, indications are that choruses from Kingston, Ottawa, Thunder Bay, Timmins and many other centres will be competing.

Although close harmony will be the predominant activity of the weekend, the singers will hold several business sessions including the Ontario House of Delegates meeting which will take place at the Quinte Hotel, April 28, at 8.00 p.m. Following the meeting there will be a reception and dance in Pinnacle Room.

The quartet finals on Saturday evening will be followed by a harmony jamboree presented by the local chapter. This portion of the program will feature the 60 voice East York Chapter Chorus that will represent Ontario at the forthcoming international contest in Toronto, and will also include a number of the quartets and choruses that are taking part in the contests.

One-Legged Man Has Made Over 300 Parachute Jumps

NEW YORK (AP) — George Girvden, 34, founder and operator of the parachute centre in Flemington, N.J., has made more than 300 jumps in the last three years.

His highest jump has been from 18,000 feet. He fell free to 2,200 before opening his parachute.

Girvden has only one leg. He lands in the skydiver's standard number's well, distributing the shock over the whole body. But he also has made stand-up landings, a privilege allowed only to skydivers with 200 free - fall jumps.

"I never been hurt yet," he said.

His story was told in the New York Mirror today by columnist Sidney Fields.

A native of Lexington, Ky., Girvden went to airborne school to become a paratrooper after graduating from West Point. In the Korean War in 1952, Girvden got a grenade between the legs while his unit was raiding an enemy outpost.

LEG BLOWN OFF

"It blew off my left one above the knee and broke the right one," he says.

When Girvden got out of hospital, he took a master's degree in psychology taught the subject at West Point for two years and asked to get back to jumping.

"The army said yes," he recalls, "but the surgeon-general was sure I'd break my other leg and so did I. Ironically, I was permitted to run the cadets' skydiving team."

Retiring from the army in 1960 Girvden went to New York University as a research psychologist to adjustment problems of amputees and picked up skydiving as a weekend sport. He bought 485 acres around Flemington to start the tri-state parachute centre.

RCAF Team Attempts to Detect ICBMs

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence authorities Thursday disclosed a tiny bit of information concerning a new Canadian research project being operated from the U.S. Air Force base at Thule, Greenland.

A team of 24 RCAF personnel and five civilian scientists is gathering data over the Arctic on the use of infra-red (heat) rays as a method of detecting intercontinental ballistic missiles. It is using two CF-100 jet interceptors for the high-flying research.

Officials disclosed that a five-week operation was conducted out of Thule last August and September and that the current operation began in January and will end about May 1.

The Defence Research Board and RCAF have been conducting experiments with infra-red as a missile detector for at least three years.

ISSUE WARRANT

TORONTO (CP)—A warrant for the arrest of Wallace James Atkinson, 42, of suburban York Township was issued Thursday charging him with capital murder in connection with the slaying of his friend George Albert Bailey, 32. Bailey, a window washer, was stabbed in the side Wednesday while sitting in a parked car. He died shortly afterwards in hospital due to loss of blood.

No Commitment For Warheads Says Minister

VICTORIA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Green says Canada has no commitments to accept nuclear warheads for its Bomarc missiles.

"Any commitments made by Canada come under my department and I can tell you that we have made no commitments to anybody to take nuclear weapons," he told an election campaign meeting Thursday.

"On the contrary, we have carefully refrained from making any commitments.

"We have made no commitments to the United States to take nuclear warheads for the Bomarc and we have refused to take nuclear warheads on Canadian soil for the Bomarc."

Obtain Site For College

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto President Claude Bissell announced Thursday a site has been acquired west of Toronto for a new off-campus arts and sciences college.

Copies of a letter from Dr. Bissell were received by mayors and reeves in the Toronto-Georgetown - Burlington triangle, announcing the choosing of the site.

"Because negotiations for purchase of the property are not yet complete," Dr. Bissell's letter says, "it is, unfortunately, not possible for me to disclose its exact location, but I can say that it is very conveniently to the heavily-populated and rapidly growing areas along the shore of Lake Ontario from the town of Oakville to Etobicoke Township and even to such points as Burlington, Brampton and Toronto."

Dr. Bissell said the site will cover at least 150 acres which would "provide adequately for all present needs and for probable future requirements not now apparent."

How Should I Vote?

In today's world the task of the voter in a democratic country grows steadily more complicated. Gone are the days when there were one or two main issues and only two viewpoints on them. There are four party viewpoints from which issues in the present election campaign are being judged, and a multitude of problems which are being presented as important issues.

Fortunately these issues can be classified into three groups, political, economic and military.

The main political issue—many people would say the main issue—is the need for stable government. In most parliamentary democracies, and certainly in Canada today, this means government by a party which has an overall majority in the House of Commons. But an overall majority does not automatically assure stable government—the governing party must itself possess stability, in its leadership and in the willingness of the rank and file to follow these leaders.

The party which wishes to merit the support of the voter who regards the assurance of stable government as the primary issue must thus pass two tests. It must not only have a reasonable prospect of electing the largest bloc of members to the House, but it must also present to the voter a possessing the kind of leadership which will use an overall majority in an energetic, reasonable manner likely to provide the country with good government.

The main economic issue, in the opinion of most Canadians, would surely be the problem of a continuing high incidence of unemployment. It is no mistrial of this assertion to argue that statistics indicate a gratifying rate of economic growth. Indeed, this merely serves to emphasize the seriousness of the problem and the difficulty which is certain to be experienced in achieving any permanent solution. Our trade difficulties, the question whether wheat exports can be kept at their present level, the devaluation of the dollar, the steadily rising incidence of American ownership of our major industries, our balance of payments and the question whether recent improvement can be carried further—all these matters can be considered as separate issues or as factors which have to be weighed in any attempt to cure unemployment.

But surely any effective attack on these problems demands the existence of a stable government?

Stability is also desirable, but perhaps not so essential, in dealing with the nation's military problems. Here the question is whether or not Canada should equip, weapons she already possesses, Bomarc missiles, Voodoo interceptors and Honest John rockets, with nuclear warheads. The main point at issue between the two major parties, the Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals, is whether Canada has committed herself to accept such warheads. The Liberals say yes, the Conservatives no. But it ought to be added that a prior commitment does not bind a future government irrevocably. To argue otherwise is to maintain that no government has a right to remedy past errors, whereas the fact is, this is one of its most urgent duties.

The development of the so-called splinter parties complicates the election picture to the extent that no one party can easily get an overall majority. Thus, Canada may be placed again in the same intolerable situation which has faced the Progressive Conservative Government since last June.

The Diefenbaker Government has made its mistakes, some of them, large, but on the other hand, has the Liberal Party rid itself of the faults which led to its humiliating downfall in 1957? Some of the irresponsible tactics resorted to or accepted during the election campaign make it appear doubtful that the party has learned its lesson. This is so despite the fact that Mr. Pearson, one of our nation's greatest citizens, has done wonders in re-organizing the party he heads.

Some few voters in Hastings South and other ridings in the Quinte district will seriously believe that true political or economic stability will never be attained until the socialistic policies of the New Democratic Party or the monetary policies of Social Credit are implemented. But for the vast majority of district voters there is a plain duty to choose, between the Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals, the party the individual believes most likely to be able to provide stable government. Canada's need for a government with an overall majority transcends all other considerations.

He who pays the piper may call the tune but, popular music being what it is today, he may not recognize it.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Horses Wore Snowshoes

James McCook in Ottawa Journal

In the fairy stories of Western Quebec, there are apt to be unbelievable tales about the days when horses wore snowshoes.

The National Museum has a set of horse snowshoes used in the Lievre River country. The "shoes" for the front feet were circular, made of heavy wood and attached to the hoof with a leather shoe and heavy straps.

The hind "shoes" have an elongation like a small beaver tail of wood. Why no beaver tails on the front "shoes"? Because the horse would trip on them, of courses.

To prove this is not just fantasy the museum has on display a sketch of a Lievre horse wearing snowshoes and towing a sled with a barrel of maple sap aboard.

The expression of "what-will-these-humans-think-of-next" on the horse's face indicates it is an exact study.

The snowshoes for humans appear in various shapes and sizes. Only the Chipewyan Indians, who had particular pride in their work, made snowshoes in this collection which are fitted to the right and left feet. Other snowshoes are interchangeable. The Chipewyan design is very distinctive and after 40 years or so in the dry halls of the Victoria Museum the thong binding is as firm as ever.

• • •

Early Indian snowshoes apparently were round, rather like the "bearpaw" the Canadian Army issued in the Second World War. The elaboration into fish shapes came later.

Eastern Indians generally preferred their snowshoes short and broad and the Western Indians long and narrow. Sometimes both types were used.

The museum has dredged up the outfit worn by a member of the Montreal Snowshoe Club about 80 years ago — long, red stockings, short thick pants, long blanket coat, brave sash and blue toque.

Skis, the museum finds, must have held the attention of men who would have been making rockets to the moon if they lived today. An Austrian Army ski, of the First World War vintage, had a type of snapping turtle harness with various springs and adjustments that would be great fun at 10 below.

The Norwegians, who used skis before anyone else thought of them, provide some of the older exhibits. One set, dated 1870 and probably older, has one ski 9½ feet long and the other 6½. A military order issued in 1762 explained how these skis should be used — weight on the long one going down hill and the short one going up. On level ground they carried them, for all we know.

• • •

The first toboggans are thought to have been deer hides in which the hunter loaded his meat and dragged it after him on the long trek home. To prove this is not just theory the museum has a deer skin hide used for hauling by Eskimos who presumably had been caught without one of the efficient sleds they have come to know as explorers have known them.

The handsomest exhibits are horse-drawn conveyances, outstanding item the four-passenger model obtained from the Pritchard family at Lachute.

The ironwork joining the body to the runners is as handsome as anything ever seen as ornamental door or fence. Blended into the iron work are two efficient foot-scrapers. The passenger about to board the cutter scraped the snow and ice from his shoes without missing a step and settled over his foot-warmer without messing up the buffalo robe.

Now if someone would install scrapers on the 1936 cars,

20 M.P.'s Can Open House

Ottawa Journal

Party leaders speak of calling an early session of Parliament after the April 8 election. How soon can it be?

The election machinery began to roll when the Chief Electoral Officer, Mr. Nelson Castonguay, issued writs of election to returning officers across the country. They must be issued on or before a date decided by Cabinet which is May 8 in this election.

The election writ when returned reports to Mr. Castonguay the name of the candidate elected in the constituency, the statements from polls and other information of the vote.

The Chief Electoral Officer, having received the writ, reports it to the Clerk of the House of Commons, Mr. Leon J. Raymond, and makes formal announcement of the candidate's election in an issue of the Canada Gazette. This is done whenever the writ is received, which may be before May 8.

The candidate then is able to present himself to the Clerk and take his oath, pledging true allegiance to the Queen. He is then entitled to claim his seat in the House.

In the normal course of events the MP takes his seat when Parliament is assembled on a date announced by the Prime Minister. The 1958 election, for example, was on March 31 and Parliament assembled on May 12; in 1962 the election was June 18 and the session began Sept. 27.

In 1963 the various party leaders say they are most anxious to get on with the nation's work promptly and any one of them would be open to criticism were there delay in calling Parliament to deal with such urgent business as the Budget.

Liberal Leader Pearson says that if he has the chance he will call Parliament on May 16, which he considers the earliest practicable date.

Mr. Diefenbaker has not yet stated a date, although the formal date for the resumption of Parliament is the election proclamation is May 16, Mr. Pearson's choice. The formal date given for resumption when an election is announced is almost never the actual day when Parliament resumes, but this year for a change it might be so.

While looking into precedent on the calling of Parliament we encountered the kind of fantasy which democratic procedures invariably include.

Parliament is a nervous slave of tradition and the Canadian tradition has been to wait for the Prime Minister, or the man who thinks he has enough support to be Prime Minister, to announce a date of meeting.

This tradition may well be worth two strokes of the Black Rod. For all the rules say 20 or more members may legally claim their right to take their seats in the House by April 24, if being satisfied that the writs certifying elections will begin to reach Mr. Castonguay in substantial numbers about April 22. Who is to stop them if they do claim their seats? The Governor General summons Parliament on the advice of his ministers. If this is the country are normal the Governor General would doubtless decide that waiting until May 16 or even later would be normal. But were there a threat of war or bankruptcy or some other national emergency it is presumably within the Governor General's power to permit those members who wish to open Parliament at once to do so, even if the ministers were reluctant.

It is a delightful idea for a play. We mention it now not with the idea that a score of members should try to pull it off but with the thought that all members and the Prime Minister-elect might keep it in mind in case they are in a mood to put things off unduly.

Britain's wartime leader Winston Churchill retired as prime minister eight years ago today, in 1955, and was knighted by the queen. Sir Winston was succeeded by Sir Anthony Eden. Then 80 years old, Churchill did not retire from politics but contested his constituency of Woodford in the general election the following month and held his seat. Churchill first became prime minister in 1940, leading the nation in a wartime government but his Conservative party was defeated in 1945. In October, 1951, Churchill again led the Conservatives to power.

Strictly Personal

Power of Evil Outstrides Power of Good

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Exactly one hundred years ago, in a burst of typical 19th century optimism, Victor Hugo wrote an essay on the "future of man" in which he predicted:

"In the 20th century, war will be dead, the scaffold will be dead, hatred will be dead, frontier boundaries will be dead, dogmas will be dead, man will live. He will possess something higher than all these — a great country, the whole earth, and a great hope, the whole heaven."

These ringing words were inspired by the Industrial Revolution, by the discoveries of Darwin and Huxley, by the advances in science, medicine and technology. In the latter half of the 19th century, it seemed as if man might at last conquer the conditions of his existence and create a new Eden based on Rationalism, Progress and Humanism — the three religious beliefs in the pantheon of that era.

But it was not to be. Hardly more than a generation after the turn of the new century, the Western world was plunged into the bloodiest and bloodiest of all wars. Twenty years after the end of that, another war engulfed half the world. And now, again 20 years later, we are poised on the brink of the most calamitous conflict that can be imagined — indeed, it cannot even be imagined.

War is more virulently alive than ever, hatred is greater and deeper than ever, frontier boundaries are more sharply defined and more passionately defended, and the twin religions of communism and fascism have become pandemic. The savagery, barbarism and irrationality of the 20th century have outstripped anything that the most sinister periods of civilization.

Never before has one age been so wrong about the next. Except for the rare dissonant voices of a Nietzsche or a Kierkegaard, all the sages of the 19th century failed to foresee the upsurging of our primitive drives, the recrudescence of hatred, the bloody tides of racism and nationalism, "the fears and anxieties that would plague modern man.

Why did this come about? The reasons are various and complicated — but the main reason is my opinion is that men concentrated too much on control of their environment, and too little on control of themselves. Thus, every advance in our supremacy over nature only increased the distance between the perfection of our means and the confusion of our ends. Our capacity for doing evil outstripped our desire to do good.

The central problem of our age is not political or economic or military. It is the problem of raising our humanhood to the level of our technology — or else having our technology obliterate our humanhood. Our failure to see this, and to act upon it, is the sin of our time.

To Your Good Health

Wash Fruits, Vegetables Always, Before Eating

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: It's almost impossible these days to buy any vegetable or fruit that has not been sprayed with a chemical bug killer.

Don't you feel that continued use of insecticides and pesticides will harm our food and endanger our health? I have heard that a lot of people are dying from this kind of thing already. — Mrs. R.

No, I don't think they will "harm our food supply and endanger our health." Quite the opposite.

Nor is there any basis for wild stories that "people are dying from this kind of thing already."

Naturally these chemicals must be used properly, and we should wash the produce before we eat it. Careful distributors are conscientious about washing before the products ever reach the grocery stores. Naturally people using these chemicals for farms, gardens and orchards must handle them with due caution.

Believe me, the problem wasn't been overlooked. It has been studied very carefully.

I have never seen or heard of a single death from proper use of any agricultural product.

Carelessness is another matter. People have poisoned by not being careful, just as they constantly are being poisoned by misuse of aspirin. Two pounds, household chemicals and even aspirin.

Last year 39 deaths were caused by insecticides and pesticides improperly used.

In the same time 150 were killed by improper use of ordinary aspirin.

Federal and other health authorities test all such materials and go to great pains to see that people are informed of the right way to handle them.

These chemicals primarily are not a danger to our health.

And our food supply? It is vastly more abundant because we can control insects and pests. For the simplest sort of example, some people have an apple tree in the back yard, and wonder why the fruit is wormy or stunted. An orchardman would tell them why fast: "When did you spray it last?"

Since in different localities, food may come from many sources, the neighbor's next door garden or from a huckster, just keep the same rule in mind: Wash everything. Then stop worrying.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am having a terrible time with deterrent burns on my hands that have tried many solves, but with no success. — D. M.

You evidently are one of the people who are overly sensitive and your skin erupts. Different brands may be less annoying. If not, try ordinary soap. Or, perhaps the soaniest answer in your case is to wear gloves whenever using detergents. Some stores have them with a cotton lining. Or get a loose pair of rubber gloves and wear plain cotton gloves underneath so that your hands won't sweat and the rubber won't irritate.

Note to G. P.: I question whether even the exertion of trying to push a tractor would cause this skin condition. Either the trouble developed otherwise, or the real damage is a muscular strain of some sort. Exact diagnosis will guide you to the proper steps to take.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Parking Spot Comes First

Financial Post

A drastic new parking law in Japan may have a sinister warning to drivers in crowded Canadian cities.

Anyone who wishes to buy a car by the end of next year must produce a police certificate proving he has space to park it off the public highway. This means that the garage must come before the car. As land is extremely scarce in Japan this is an expensive proposition.

And this is not all. Toyko car owners have discovered that it is now cannot be parked continuously in the street for more than 12 hours without being towed or risking a fine of $30 or three months in jail.

It is not surprising that car registrations in Japan have fallen drastically, much to the chagrin of auto manufacturers and retailers, to say nothing of service stations and parts placement dealers.

This couldn't happen here — yet. But if streets in Canada's densely populated residential areas continue to be clogged with parked cars, the city fathers may have to look closely at the Japanese regulations.

Driving Paradox

Brantford Expositor

A significant fact, brought out by radio and television, is that when road and weather conditions are at their worst, the traffic rate is lowest.

This seeming paradox is explained on the ground that drivers — and pedestrians — tend to be more alert, cautious and careful under such circumstances than when conditions are good.

THE PACKSACK

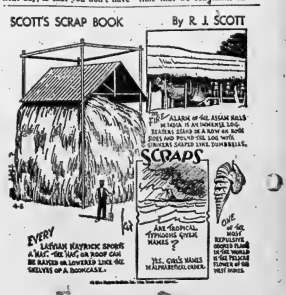
By GREGORY CLARK

The great difficulty with newscasts on radio and TV is that there are too many of them. They are too frequent. And each one, whether half-hourly on radio or every couple of hours on TV, assumes that there has been a crisis, or all day long. It gives you the whole packet, plus any new items.



The great problem about newspapers, which occasionally have to carry over a news story in whole or in part from one edition to another, even to the next day, is that you don't have to read again what you have already had in order to move on to the next item.

The news as dished up by electronics is subject to the curse that besets commercials. Repetition. In order to get the latest bulletin you have to sit through the whole blather, every syllable of which you heard six or eight hours ago.

It will be interesting to see how long human patience will put up with this as well as with several other marvels of our time that we can think of.

Ford of Canada was among the stronger gainers as it advanced 2¾ to 178, followed by Chrysler, ahead two points to a new 1960 high of 108, and U.S. Ford, up 1¼ to a new high of 52. General Motors also touched a new high of 74 earlier but closed unchanged at 73¢.

Higher steels included Page-Hersey 4 at a new 4½, Dominion Foundries and Steel and Dominion Steel and Coach each up ¾, Steel Company of Canada ahead ¼ and Atlas up five cents to a new high of $37.60. Most major banks showed gains in a ¼ to ¾ range, with the exception of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce which closed unchanged at 65¾.

Other gainers were Distillers eagrams up ¼ to a new high of 50¾ and CPR up ¼ to a new high of 27¾.

Canada Packers A showed one of the largest declines as it slipped a point to 38¾ and most other drops were in a narrow range.

On index, industrials advanced 1.67 to a new 1960 high of 605.80 and base metals rose 2.59 to a new high of 304.32. Golds fell .29 to 90.33 and western oils .09 to 117.29. Final volume was 3,961,000 shares compared with 3,944,000 Wednesday.

Base metals showed ahead strongly with Noranda rising ¼, Falconbridge ⅝, Geco ½ and Labrador to a new high of 30¾.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Trading opened dull on slaughter steers, heifers and yearlings with these classes under pressure on heavy receipts at the Ontario public stockyards this week.

The demand improved by midweek on lighter receipts resulting in stronger prices.

Cow prices were firm throughout the week and replacement cattle met a good inquiry at steady prices.

Veal calf prices opened easier but regained the loss to close firm. Hog prices were lower and lamb prices were strong. Spring lambs made their initial appearance in large numbers.

Cattle receipts were estimated at about 8,800, about 800 fewer than last week and about 400 head less than the same week in 1963. Western cattle receipts numbered 325 head, an increase over last week of 40 head. Western stock calves numbered 15 head as compared to 36 head last week. One load of 25 cows were shipped to Eastern Canadian slaughterers and 40 cattle and 9 veal calves were shipped off the market for export to the United States.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers 23-24 with fancy light feedlot steers to 24.50; good 22-22; medium 20-21; cows, common 15-18; good heifers 21-22 with choice 22-22.50 and odd sales to 23; medium 19-21; common 14-18; choice fed yearlings 24-26; good 22-24; canners and cutters 11-15; good to choice bologna bulls 19-20 with sales to 20.75; common and medium 15-18.50.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers 24-26 with good Western stock calves to 29; common and medium stock calves 18-23; cutter calves 20-23.

Calves: Choice vealers 34-36 with odd early tops as high as 39; good 29-33; medium 24-28; common 20-23; boners 16-19.

Hogs: Grade A 22.75 - 25.85; heavy sows 17.15-18.35; light sows gaining a 2 premium; stags 17.50 on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Good feedlot lambs 28.50; spring lambs 35 - 40; common and medium feedlot lambs; light sheep 8-10; common sheep 3-7.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices prices were reported unchanged today.

The egg market was steady with offerings barely adequate for a fair demand.

Country dealers are quoted by the federal department of agriculture on Canada grade eggs, delivered Toronto, in three cases: A large 47; A medium 45; A small 40; B and C grades no market.

Butter prices: Canada first grade: Ontario tenderable 51-52; Quebec tenderable 50½, in fair trading; Western 51-52 (nominal).

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP)—The noon bid on the U.S. dollar was $1.07 25-32 in terms of Canadian funds, the same as $1.07 25-32 Thursday the noon bid and asked were the same. Pound sterling noon bid was $2.9015, the asked $3.02 1-16.

CBC to Air Newsworthy Statements

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC said Thursday it plans to broadcast reports of newsworthy political statements in the 48 hours immediately preceding the April 8 federal election, and on election day itself.

Later, the Board of Broadcast Governors said if there appears to be any violations of the ban on programs of a "partisan political character" during this period it may be necessary to take court action in an attempt to get a court interpretation of the law.

Later, the Board of Broadcast Governors said if there appears to be any violations of the ban on programs of a "partisan political character" during this period it may be necessary to take court action in an attempt to get a court interpretation of the law.

Later, Fraser, CBC vice-president for corporate affairs, when asked about the publicly-owned corporation's plans for this year's election, said:

"Our policy in the past was to report legitimate news items and we intend to go ahead with that. This includes reporting political statements considered newsworthy."

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters representing most private broadcasting stations, said it recommends member stations to follow the spirit and the letter of the law and regulations.

Premier Lesage Makes Budget Speech Tonight

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage tonight makes his annual budget speech apparently timed for maximum effect on the waning federal election campaign.

Any personal and corporation tax changes that might be disclosed are expected to be minor.

But its effect on the campaign is unpredictable.

The premier has called a rare Friday night sitting of the legislative assembly to deliver his speech.

He has indicated several times he will go heavy on the problem of federal - provincial fiscal relations.

His speech is expected to end about 10:15 p.m., leaving little time for the federal parties to reply through the broadcasting regulations, television and radio reports and comment on the campaign must stop at midnight, 48 hours before the vote.

The premier, breaking with recent tradition in Quebec, has come out publicly on behalf of the federal Liberal party, although he hasn't appeared on the hustings.

SCORES INTERCEPT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army's Nike-Zeus missile has scored its fourth intercept of an intercontinental ballistic missile target warhead fired over the Pacific some 5,000 miles from California, it was announced Thursday. It was the first intercept of a target warhead propelled by a Titan I, a more powerful rocket lofting a heavier payload than the Atlas ICBM which figured in the first three Nike-Zeus intercepts last year.

Liberals Have It Made Senator Croll Maintains Supporting Robert Temple

TRENTON — Senator David Croll predicted a Liberal victory in next Monday's general election, when he spoke to approximately 300 persons at a rally for Robert Temple, Liberal candidate for Hastings South, at Branch 110 of the Royal Canadian Legion in Trenton last night.

Senator Croll was introduced by D. R. (Nick) Fraser, secretary of the Trenton Liberal Association, as "a man always in the vanguard where Liberals are on the march." Senator Croll paid tribute to the late Senator W. A. Fraser of Trenton as a man who had a great affection for his home town and who had done more for it than any other person.

It was a pleasure to see young men such as Mr. Temple (26) in the Liberal Party, men with many years in community service, he declared. "I am not a Liberalism in the air at the present time," he said.

"I've been in a great many across the country recently. And we've made it. We will have a majority in the House of Commons," forecast Senator Croll.

He said Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's image had "soured" across the country; the New Democratic Party was playing second-fiddle at a time when there was no use for second fiddlers; and the Social Credit Party was "one of the big threats facing the country. "I've known these people, (the Socreds) since 1935, when I sat in the House of Commons with them," said the Senator. "And one of the good things Mr. Diefenbaker has done is to get rid of them. You can't argue with them - - whatever goes in one ear comes out the other," he stated amid laughter.

"Caouette (deputy Social Credit leader for Caouette's province, Quebec first, Canada second. As Liberals have always said Canada first - - period."

The way to get rid of Mr. Caouette and anyone else like him is to elect a majority, Liberal government, said Senator Croll.

He claimed that Mr. Diefenbaker was destroying himself by running a one-man campaign just as he ran a one-man government. "But what is Diefenbaker preaching?" he asked. "He's preaching east against west, north against rural interests; Canada against the United States and if you read the papers, you'll believe he was running against U.S. magazines. He says nothing about the issues of the day."

The Senator dealt only briefly with defence, saying he considered the government's acceptance of Bomarc missiles "as a commitment to arm the weapons with nuclear warheads.

MOURNS ARROW

He reminded the audience he was chairman of the Parliamentary Committee which investigated the cost to A. V. Roe of producing the Avro Arrow jet interceptor.

Some 18,000 persons in Toronto and another 14,000 outside the city were assembled to work on the Arrow, he said. "A great electronics team was created, but what happened — Mr. Diefenbaker closed the plant overnight. Canada had a chance to lead in the electronics industry, we had the experience and the manpower, but it went out the window. This is something we should remember; something we should not forgive.

"We should never forgive them for taking away the opportunity of our young people, for the thousands of young persons joining the labor force every year. This from a man who said in 1957 that no one will suffer from unemployment while I am Prime Minister."

Senator Croll said the same men assembled for the Arrow project now have unlimited the U.S. and one of them is second in command of that country's space program.

Today, in the machine age where automation is king, unemployment is a problem among many communities, claimed the Senator.

"One of the great tragedies of our day and age is that there are plenty of orders for jobs, men working while their men folk are doing odd jobs around the house."

Senator Croll accused Mr. Diefenbaker of never having once referred to the problem of unemployment in his campaign. He added that Labor Minister Michael Starr was apologetic about the matter, asking only "what would the Liberals do?"

"The Liberals would establish a Department of Industry," said the Senator. "For as long as we all can remember we've been selling our resources. We have never gone into the export market for secondary products. But the time has come when we must do it in self-defence in this day of automation, we can compete with the best of them. We must create jobs for young people. We must give everyone the opportunity to produce something."

"Canada is one of the industrial wonders of the Western world. No country fails to exploit its resources — both human and technical — like Canada."

Senator Croll said men who needed education and training for new jobs would get it under a Liberal government.

NEED PORTABLE PENSIONS

Another problem facing the country was that men are chained to their jobs because they want to lose their pensions. The Liberals would make pensions portable, he said, so they could be kept despite a change of jobs.

"People promising social security overnight are kidding you," he warned. "No party knows more about social security than the Liberal Party. Most of today's social security was put there by the Liberals. And Mr. Pearson says that when the economy is on its feet again, we will be able to think of some more good social security. But people must be put to work first.

The Liberals now have a team "the like of which the country has never seen before," claimed Senator Croll.

Senator Croll was thanked by Robert Ranson, president of the Trenton Liberal Association.

TEMPLE SPEAKS

Mr. Temple spoke briefly taking issue with his Progressive Conservative opponent in Hastings South, Lee Grills. "You know, I've been looking at my opponent's pamphlet and I'm not sure what party he's running for," he said. "It doesn't say in the pamphlet. There is no reference to the party leader. Presumably he's running for the Conservative Party. Well, I'm a representative of the Liberal Party and proud of it and it's in all my campaign advertising."

Pallabet: nnjl

Mr. Temple charged that Mr. Grills had, in his advertising, credited Mr. Diefenbaker with building Ontario highways.

The Liberal candidate also took issue with Mr. Grills' claim for credit in providing work for local citizens when the new $4,000,000 hanger at RCAF Station, Trenton was built. The contractor came from Niagara Falls, he said, and the steel was not prefabricated from Trenton's Central Bridge Company.

Mr. Temple further charged his opponent had wrongly taken credit for Belleville's $1,357,000 federal building. "This was started when Frank Follwell, a Liberal, was Parliament for Hastings South," he claimed.

Finally, Mr. Temple criticized Mr. Grills' campaign slogan, "Work Before Has One Done More."

"But one has done more, and that was Billy Fraser of Trenton, that's who, a good Liberal."

Senator David Croll speaking on behalf of Hastings South candidate Robert Temple Thursday night predicted the Canadian electors would return a Liberal majority government on Monday. He said he based his prophecy on observations made campaigning from coast to coast and on experience gained from 30 years in political life. He warned his audience of 250 to fear a Conservative-Social Credit alliance and vote Liberal accordingly.

Poorly Planned Recital Encouraged Rudeness

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS—They say children can be terribly cruel. Well, how about adults who should know better?

Our child was in an accordion recital last week. Seventy students appeard on the program—and not a single child was left out. They all practiced hard on their little numbers and I'm sure every mother and father felt in his heart that his child was a star.

The teacher rented a hall for the recital. There was no admission charge. It could have been a lovely evening, but the adults ruined it. Most of the parents waited only to hear their own child perform, then they marched out of the hall.

The program wasn't boring. There was a good variety of numbers—waltzes, polkas, rock and roll, light opera and boogie-woogie. Our child was next to the last to perform and my husband and I were almost the only ones left in the hall. Comment, please.—DESERTED.

DEAR DESERTED—It was extremely rude of the parents to leave with their children before the others had a chance to perform. But this story has another side.

"I enjoy accordion music as well as the next person, but I would not wish to listen to 70 numbers—even if Lawrence Welk was playing.

Next year let's hope the teacher schedules two recital nights. Duets and quartettes would help, too.

DEAR ANNE LANDERS—I was interested in your reply to the woman who was upset because her guests insisted on helping her clear the table and do up the dishes in spite of her protests.

When we entertain guests I'm perfectly relaxed about leaving the dishes until they say goodnight. But this one friend of mine is an absolute nut about orderliness. She just can't stand it.

I've begged her not to clean up, but she may as well be deaf. She goes right ahead, clears the table, washes the dishes, puts everything away, dumps the garbage, scours the sink and bleaches the dish cloth.

I can't tie her to a chair, Ann, and she simply insists on cleaning up in spite of my pleading. In recent months I've let her go ahead and do it. Am I being rude in permitting a guest to work while I sit in the living room?—SOUTH DAKOTA.

DEAR DAKOTA—Relax. You're doing her a favor. This woman obviously has a compulsion to clean—so let her enjoy herself and don't give it another thought.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS—Why is it that some people think just because you live next door to a family you know their every move and are perfectly willing to act as messenger boy, check-room attendant, or anything they want.

It happened again today. A woman banged on my neighbor's door for 10 minutes. It sounded like a herd of elephants. Then she came over and handed me a package. She didn't ask me, she told me to give the package to my neighbor.

Delivery boys leave plants, groceries, fertiliser, whatever they want to unload so they won't have to make another trip.

Please print this letter and educate the public. Just because a family happens to live next door doesn't mean they are boson buddies or even nodding acquaintances. — NOT CHUMMY.

DEAR NOT CHUMMY—Some neighbors are happy to help out—even if they're not boson buddies. I'd hate to live next door to you, sister, but if we should wind up neighbors I'd be happy to take care of your packages.

Military Camps Get County Canned Goods

PICTON — Efforts to have more Prince Edward County canned goods used in military establishments across Canada was a pledge of Douglas Allenbrack last year. Since that time he has made many representations on behalf of growers and canners.

Yesterday, Mr. Allenbrack announced that the Minister of Defence Production at Ottawa had advised him that, as a beginning, a contract has been awarded to Edgewater Canners Ltd., Northport, for 15,680 cases of fruit and juice, costing almost $75,000. These are for delivery to various army, air force and naval supply depots across Canada as required, up to March 31, 1964.

"I feel this is a good start and am seeking to have county tomato and other fruits used to greater extent in service depots. This award will mean a good deal to many county apple growers, and others associated with the industry and I am hopeful that it is just a beginning," Mr. Allenbrack stated.

A rise of one-tenth of a point occurred in the housing index which moved to 138 from 138.9. The shelter component was unchanged but the household operation component was higher due to higher prices for furniture, floor cover ngs and household supplies.

The clothing index rose to 115.6 from 114.8, reflecting higher prices for men's, women's and children's wear and footwear. Lower prices were recorded for piece goods and clothing services.

A decline in the operating cost of automobiles offset a rise in local transportation costs, keeping the transportation index steady at 139.6. There were lower prices for the month for gasoline, batteries, tires and mufflers but higher prices for motor oil, lubrication, brake relining and repairs.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Toronto Telegram has been charged under the Canada Elections Act with illegal publication last Monday of an advance poll count in the April 8 federal election, Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay said Thursday.

He said an information has been sworn out against The Telegram and J. D. MacFarlane, its vice-president and editor-in-chief, for publishing "the result or purported result" of voting in an advance poll in the Quebec constituency of Terrebonne.

Earlier he announced a similar charge against Ottawa Le Droit and three of its staff.

MY FELLOW CITIZENS IN HASTINGS SOUTH

I think each and every one of you realizes the seriousness of Canada's present political situation. Much is at stake on April 8th. Canada's future hangs in the balance.

The political experts — at least quite a few of them — have forecast another minority government. It their prediction is realized it is quite a few of them — have forecast another minority government. Canada—and Canadian citizens cannot afford the repetition of such a waste of time. We are face to face with the most critical time in Canada's entire history.

We hear cries from three major political parties that Canada's present problems — just like yesterday's — can be solved by them. To me this present one thing — that they are gained no knowledge from the past. To me this Parliament—a Parliament which was rendered useless by lack of leadership and by a minority government.

- WE HAVE AN ECONOMY WHICH IS JUST BARELY MOVING.
- WE HAVE A THREE BILLION DOLLAR DEFICIT IN THE LAST SIX YEARS.
- WE HAVE LOST THE CONFIDENCE OF OUR FRIENDS.
- WE ARE LOSING THE TWENTIETH CENTURY WHICH, AS SIR WILFRED LAURIER PREDICTED, WAS TO BELONG TO CANADA.

Most disheartening of all is the fact that one of the major Canadian political parties is conducting a campaign which refuses to acknowledge — as it did in June of 1962 — and to recognize one of these problems.

The leader dwells on issues concerning his own stature—not on the problems of his fellow Canadians. This sorry self-centred attitude is only made more emphatic when one considers the refusal of so many of the top men of this party (cabinet ministers) to carry on with him.

We hear cries from three major political parties that Canada's present problems — just like yesterday's — can be solved by them. To me this present one thing — that they are gained no knowledge from the past. To me this Parliament—a Parliament which was rendered useless by lack of leadership and by a minority government.

Canada deserves something much better than what she has had for the past nine months—in fact, for the past six years.

Canada is a land with great natural resources, a large working force, young industries which are looking forward to growth.

Canada CAN GO ahead.

We CAN overcome our problems.

But WE NEED A MAJORITY GOVERNMENT.

We need a political party whose leader is able to think of others besides himself. We need a party in office which recognizes that problems do exist and—better yet — has a sound program for forwardthinking ideas to get Canada moving again.

We need a political party whose leader is able to get Canada moving again.

PAST RECORD IS GUIDE FOR FUTURE

THE GOLDEN ERA OF GROWTH in HASTINGS SOUTH

A LIBERAL ACHIEVEMENT — For 25 years the Trenton RCAF Base, established in 1929, has provided jobs for several thousand service and civilian personnel. The $1 million monthly payroll is the backbone of the Quinte area's economy. Full credit for the location of this project of magnitude and consequence is due the late Senator William A. Fraser of Trenton.

LIBERALS IN OFFICE LOCATED BIG R.C.A.F. BASE AND MANY MAJOR INDUSTRIES

In potential, Hastings South might well be a shop-window for the typical Canadian community of the future. It was such a display case in its recent past.

A closely-knit area, it holds in capsule form, all the ingredients needed for such a community. On the economic map it pairs the twin industrial potentials of manufacturing and agriculture. Until recently, this was the picture it presented, a picture of flourishing confidence:

Its solid farming background, established by its United Empire Loyalist settlers, provided a firm basis for the latter-day industrial revolution of Canada. In Hastings South this turning-point had started even in pre-war days. A quick scrutiny records that expansion. Among the industries located in the riding during that era were: Bata Shoe Co., Central Bridge Company, Northern Electric, Hinde and Dauch, Union Carbide of Canada Ltd., Dewey Coulter and Company, Erie Resistor of Canada.

Secondary industry boomed as the population, based on the persistent development, increased. New markets opened for local producers.

Today, residents of Hastings South are living out a graphic study in contrasts. No new industrial development of any consequence has taken place since 1957. Worse, industries strictly involved in straight manufacturing or farm produce are even closing down. (In Belleville two plants have announced they will withdraw from the city this summer. At Foxboro, one of the area's largest canning operations is already out of business.)

Layoffs have taken place in other operations and the population, based on the official voters' list, is declining. This last is a troubling possibility. It occurs while the population of the rest of Canada is still on the natural increase.

A quick survey through the riding reveals a common feeling—concern — either as an undercurrent in many or an outright expression that fears for future domestic security. Whether in its larger market centres, its farming settlements, its villages and hamlets, the same note of anxiety is reported. It is paired with one question: What Went Wrong?

There are a number of explanations, all of them linked with a date—1957.

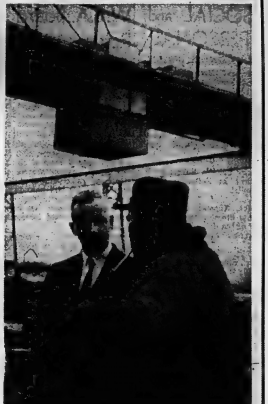
During its boom years (and the term is not a loose one), Hastings South, with the rest of Canada, was being operated by a Liberal Party of Canada government. Again, there may be a number of explanations for that party's success in creating a burgeoning economy for its country. But a key word to its achievements in this success story. That word was "Confidence."

Treating national government as the country's biggest business, it instilled an image of confident administration, insisting that a promise made was a serious matter, a pledge to be kept.

Its success on the national level filtered down to its local representatives, and nowhere was this better illustrated than in Hastings South.

Since 1957, national government has taken a turn for the worse. Once more there is no more graphic showcase for this sorry testimonial than Hastings South.

Progress ground to a halt after 1957. In Hastings South the aftermath to this has been a creeping erosion of the riding's economy, affecting both town and country.



There is yet another date linked to this story—1963. Confidence in Canada took a plunge after the election campaign that saw a government party since that everything was "A-OK" economically. Within days after that election the same government engaged in a drastic salvage operation—the results of which are still uncertain. The question being asked today on the home front as Canadians face their fourth election in six years is: "Just how much could be wrong this time we haven't been told about?"

Nobody knows, and it is this uncertainty, now a state of national nerves, which contrasts recent administration and that of the Liberal Party of Canada.

The Liberal Party of Canada, through the example of its successors in office, now stands as the administration that returns the confidence of Canadians by telling the facts. This is nothing more than sound business. In government is the only way to do business, and do it successfully, the record shows.

In Hastings South, the issues, the troubling possibilities facing Canadians are now different.

The contrast makes a shabby display, but the exhibits in the shop-window can be changed for the better April 9th.

LEARNED NEEDS. On a tour of the industrial plants in Hastings South candidate Robert Temple talked with management and workers alike. On his stop at Central Bridge at Trenton he found they had a problem. Once a hive of activity until the government changed in 1957 the work force at the bridge company has dropped from 350 to 80. And there was concern expressed about only two weeks' orders ahead and more expected layoffs. The new Liberal industrial development policy calls for incentives to stimulate production and encourage growth.

ANOTHER GREAT ACCOMPLISHMENT. During the Liberal era the world-wide Bata shoe making organization was induced to locate a factory and community for employees on a 500-acre tract in Sidney township. Today some 1,100 workers draw $50,000 weekly pay to bolster trade and commerce in Hastings South. Future expansion depends on Canada's planning for progress.

NEW FARM INCENTIVES FOR EASTERN CANADA

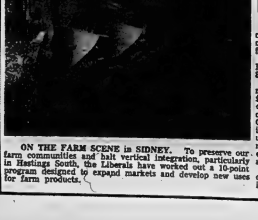
In 1962 farm income in Eastern Canada, including the richly-productive farm area of Hastings South, dropped $15,000,000.

A lot has been talked about farming in recent years. Unfortunately, the talk has concentrated on Western farming. For the farmer in Eastern Canada—including Hastings South—making his living, basing his security on his land, there has been little federal action.

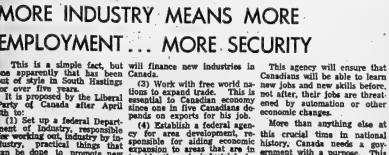
The main problem now is that Canadian farmers have been caught in a tight squeeze between the cost of producing their goods and what they get when they sell them. In effect, they have to buy on a sellers' market and sell on a buyers' market.

Canada's farmers provide food and fibre in plentiful quantities and at low prices. Despite the fact the cost of the materials the farmer must purchase for his production is up 53 percent since 1949, he is currently paid prices almost exactly the same as those of 14 years ago.



Farming is a tough chore that has its rewards, but these rewards today have never been in need of more serious attention, in need of a confident government attitude. The Eastern farmer needs his representation guaranteed at Ottawa. This is the crucial preliminary to tackling his problems.

A new Liberal Party of Canada government will include both a Minister of Agriculture and an Associate Minister of Agriculture of cabinet rank, one of whom will be specifically responsible for agricultural problems in Eastern Canada.



But this is only the start, the guarantee that sweeping policy changes will be legislated when the Liberal Party of Canada is returned once more to Ottawa.

A new Liberal government will maintain price supports on important agricultural products that are fair and realistic. They will be based on principles, not expediency. Where appropriate it will also provide deficiency payments that will protect farmers in seasons of price declines by calculating payments on a quarterly, instead of an annual basis. Where appropriate also, support prices will be put on a regional basis.

These are some of the urgent issues on which the Liberal Party is planning action on behalf of the farmers in Eastern Canada, among them the farmers of Hastings South.

ON THE FARM SCENE in SIDNEY. To preserve our farm communities and halt vertical integration, particularly in Hastings South, the Liberals have worked out a 10-point program designed to expand markets and develop new uses for farm products.

MORE INDUSTRIAL GROWTH. It was in good times when the Liberal government guided Canada's destiny that the great Northern Electric Company decided to build a plant in Belleville. Employment provided by this concern has been a boon to the merchants and residents of the locality. Some 1,000 steady jobs are guaranteed here.

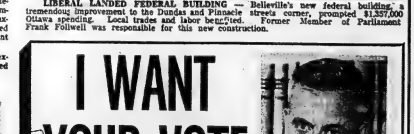
MORE INDUSTRY MEANS MORE EMPLOYMENT... MORE SECURITY

This is a simple fact, but one apparently that has been out of style in South Hastings for over five years.

It is proposed by the Liberal Party of Canada after April 8th to:

(1) Set up a federal Department of Industry, responsible for working out, industry by industry, practical things that can be done to promote new Canadian production. Consulting with management and trade unions, it will establish government policies to encourage the establishment of new plants and expansion of existing ones.

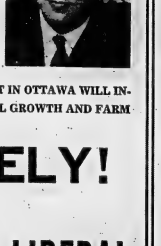
(2) Set up a National Development Corporation. Through it, public and private capital will finance new industries in Canada.



(3) Work with free world nations to expand trade. This is essential to Canada's economy since one in five Canadians depends on exports for his job.

(4) Establish a federal agency for area development, responsible for aiding economic expansion to areas that are in trouble through industrial decline.

(5) Establish a federal agency for investing in the most precious of Canada's resources, the skills of Canadians. This agency will work with industry to set up training and re-training courses.



This agency will ensure that Canadians will be able to learn new jobs and new skills before, not after, their jobs are threatened by automation or other economic changes.

More than anything else at this crucial time in national history, Canada needs a government with a purpose. This government must have clearly-stated objectives for the country's economic future and for the peoples' well being. That kind of government — purposeful and decisive—can only come from a party that knows its objectives.

LIBERAL LANDED FEDERAL BUILDING — Belleville's new federal building, a tremendous improvement to the Dundas and Pinnacle streets corner, prompted $1,337,000 Ottawa spending. Local trades and labor benefited. Former Member of Parliament Frank Follwell was responsible for this new construction.

Atomic War Survival Topic At Gamma Mu

The business meeting was conducted by vice-president, Mrs. Ray Riley.

Mrs. John O'Flynn introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Kenneth Willcocks, who spoke on "Survival in Atomic War."

Mr. Willcocks explained, with the aid of diagrams, Canada's attack warning system; the effects of a 5 megaton hydrogen explosion, and radiation. He also discussed steps which could be taken to help insure survival in an atomic war.

A lively question and answer period followed.

Mrs. Ray Riley thanked Mr. Willcocks, on behalf of the group, and she presented him with a plant for his garden.

Sandwiches and coffee were served by co-hostesses, Mrs. Doreen Greer and Mrs. John O'Flynn.

Versatile Sportswear

Topping the smartest, newest pants and skirt styles are blouses and skirts of all kinds. Some are still a-flutter with ruffles; at the collar, down the front or simply softening the end of the sleeve.

Overblouses are ablaze with novelty all-over prints and color-wise with border trims. The skimmer look takes over in overblouses and they may be midriff short or tunic long.

There's fashion adventure in stem-slim pants . . . many of them in skin sleek stretch pants, in fine cottons and blends. Denims too, are very, very new — in color and patterns. Gay cotton sateens are a new note this season.

Double-knits continue to make news in the separates, coordinate and mix-match picture. They are wonderfully wearable, wrinkle resistant and lend themselves exceptionally well to color.

They match-up or mix beautifully in T-type tops, skirts and pants and a variety of jacket tops.

And as for sweater colors — think in terms of ice cream flavors, of bon-bons, of a summer-fresh bowl of fruit — think them clear and bright — and lo, you have the sweater-plus color palette for the fun-in-the-sun season ahead.

Spring cover-ups in sweaters are fabulously exciting. In addition to traditional types in classic pullovers and cardigans, there are tunic types, ponchos, brief boleros and long, almost coat-like styles.

There's a trend to wraparounds — especially in California-styled sportswear; back-wrap skirts and casual dresses.

PALMER — BROADWORTH

Potted yellow chrysanthemums and ferns formed a lovely setting in Salem United Church, Harold, Ontario, on Saturday, March 23rd, for the marriage of Shirley Ann Broadworth, of Harold, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Broadworth, to Frederick George Palmer, of Stirling, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer. The Reverend P. J. Hommerson officiated.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. Francis Rose, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Donald Rose, both of Belleville, in her rendition of the "Wedding Prayer," at the altar, and "Bless This House" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her street-length bridal gown of French lace, fashioned with tiny molded bodice with pleated overskirt of silk organza and worn with crown style headdress with finger-tip veil highlighted by seed pearls, and carried a cascade of red and white carnations.

Mrs. Robert Elliott, of Kingston, was matron of honor for her sister, while Miss Doreen Elliott, of Belleville, and Miss Doreen Broadworth of Bonarlaw, Ontario, were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in silk organza with matching shoes and headdresses; the matron of honor in pink, and the bridesmaids in green and yellow respectively. All carried nosegays of white mums tinted to match their gowns.

The little flower girl, Miss Debra Broadworth, niece of the bride, was demure and sweet in her organza frock with turquoise headdress, and carrying a pink basket of turquoise-tinted mums.

The ringbearer, Master Gary Collins, nephew of the bridegroom, was natty in his grey flannels and blue blazer with white boutonniere.

Mr. Robert Palmer of Glencoe, Ontario, attended his brother as groomsman, while Mr. Douglas Broadworth of Bancroft, brother of the bride, and Mr. Richard Dunster of Toronto, cousin of the bridegroom, ushered the guests.

The reception was held at the church hall where the bride's table was appointed with white damask linen and centred by a three-tier wedding cake flanked by bouquets of pink and white carnations. The bridal bouquets completed the nuptial accent.

The guests were received by the bride's mother, attired in a brown double-knit gown, with gold accessories, and corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted in receiving line, gowned in mocha-colored brocade, with beige accessories, and corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, London, and points west, the bride wore a three-piece double-knit suit with matching hat, navy and white accessories, with corsage of white carnations. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Palmer will reside at 214 Bradwood Ave., Peterborough, Ontario.

Guests attended from Stirling, Glencoe, Toronto, Campbellford, Eldorado, Bancroft, Peterborough, Hastings, Belleville, Lindsay, Kingston, Madoc and Gananoque, Ontario.

Robert Davis Presents 'Texas, Lone Star State' at Collegiate

Last evening at the Collegiate Institute, Robert Davis, under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville, presented the "Lone Star State, Texas," to a capacity audience. This travelogue was the fourth in the World Travel Adventure series, which for the past ten years, have delighted travel lovers with "armchair" scenes of faraway places at a minimum of expense and exertion.

Texas, the land of sunshine, of stalwart cowboys and "Thundering Herds", was a radiant film - story of one of the most colorful States in the Union, expertly photographed, and interestingly narrated.

Beginning with the early history of Texas, which is the largest of the United States, with a population of nearly 7,000,000 and 300,000 square miles in extent, Mr. Davis pointed out its many resources in oil, which is the life-blood of the state; rich farm lands where wheat is produced and vast ranches of cattle which have been greatly improved by scientific breeding, with the Indian Brahman bulls. Besides cattle ranches, there are horse ranches of which the Arabian are the 'elite,' beautifully proportioned with slender pointed ears, dainty muzzle and kindly dispositioned.

OTHER NATURAL RESOURCES

Other resources included the mining of sulphur; fishing of shrimps, of which there is an abundance of flounders and others. The raising of mohair goats and sheep; as well as orchards of citrus fruits, oranges and luscious red-flesh-ed grapefruit; also fields of spinach, which is cleaned by machinery and packed for shipping apart, and the harvesting of huge carrots, and onions, some of which measure from 6 to 8 inches in girth.

Among the many beautiful slides shown were those of the Mission Churches, influenced by Mexican architecture, with that at San Jose which is the largest with its famous rose window. Some of the well-to-do families have private chapels in their own homes, which are designed by the Spanish theme.

WILD LIFE

The dinosaur tracks were noted, six feet apart; also the Armadillo, a type of ant eater, which make good pets. They have a peculiarity in that they reproduce in fours, all of one sex, there are no mixed sexes at birth. Other wild life included playful deer; great black buzzards sunning themselves and alligators, which were being hunted for the skins from which shoes and other articles were made. In catching these creatures the hunter crawls through the bogs, pin them down with long poles; put a noose over their jaws, tie their feet together over their stomachs, and pick them up, being careful to watch out for the swish of their tails which can floor a man.

In the Lone Star State there are many beautiful parks, such as the Rio Grande, lovely coastal canals; and state parks, including over 1000 and thousands of miles of fine paved roads.

BEAUTIFUL BANKS

At El Paso was the school of mines, University of Texas, and the Arundel Observatory, and at Fort Worth broad streets and beautiful buildings, the interest for which "Jack Ice" is "wide open spaces." Dallas is a great city with beautiful banks, lavishly arcaded, and dribbling fountains of polished brass looking like gold. All the cities are different, each with its own personality. Pleasure boats cruise in the canals, and lunch is served on board to the music of guitars; and ice cream is served in the restaurants which is imported from California.

Many are the lovely and ornate floats on special occasions almost impossible to describe, which parade both day and night, the night lights adding a pretty touch to the overall picture.

The making of cowboy boots and hats was also shown, the boots ornate, and the hats multi-purpose, to mention but a few of the scenes shown.

Mr. Davis was introduced by Mr. J. W. Musgrove.

The final film to be shown this season will be "Portraits of Brazil" by Curtis Nagel, on May 2nd.

St. Julian Ch. I.O.D.E. Enjoys Travelogue

The April meeting of the St. Julien Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held at the home of Mrs. C. F. Bishop, 168 Albert Street.

With the blood donor clinic being held at the Kiwanis Centre, April 11th, the usual assistance will be given by the chapter members.

Plans were finalized for the fair show in May and further projects discussed and evaluated by the larger group of members present. Regent, Mrs. R. Ellis, after calling on various committee chairmen for their reports, thanked the members for their enthusiasm and co-operation in the many matters of work now on the agenda.

The highlight of the evening was the showing of films taken by Mr. and Mrs. J. Parrott on their recent Caribbean cruise. These included Trinidad, British West Indies, Panama, Virgin Island, etc., and a most interesting commentary by Mr. J. Parrott brought the tempo of these countries clearly to the viewers, while everyone absorbed the beauty of the islands in technicolor.

A delightful lunch was served. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Bishop.

HAVE FOOT TROUBLE

About five of every seven Canadian women have some form of foot trouble, often caused by ill-fitting shoes in childhood.

Christ Church C.C. Confirmation Reception

The regular meeting of Christ Church Contact Club was held in the parish hall Monday evening with president Mickey Lake presiding.

Final plans were made at the regular business meeting for the Confirmation reception being convened by members of the Contact Club, Sunday evening.

Shirley Harris outlined further plans for the "Coffee Serenade" being held May 1st.

It was announced that there would be a work meeting in the parish following the church service Monday evening.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mabel Damjanov, Irene Weatherstone and Edith Pringle.

CNRA Enjoys Pot-Luck Supper, Euchre

Last Tuesday at Club Canara members and friends enjoyed another monthly potluck supper and social evening.

The supper consisting of many delicious hot and cold dishes and desserts, was served buffet style and enjoyed by all attending.

Numerous small gifts were given to members holding the lucky tickets. The door prize, a basket of groceries, was won by Mr. Elmer Urch.

During evening euchre and darts were played with cash prizes being won by the following: A. Westerfall 1st; Mrs. A. Westerfall 2nd; E. Urch 3rd, and W. Gleen consolation.

How to Be Well Dressed On Trip

By XENA CHERRY

Travel agents predict more Canadians than ever will visit Europe this year and so, I went to the fashion buyer for one of Canada's largest department stores for the answer to, "What clothes will I take?"

Said Helen McMurray who goes abroad regularly - "I take six outfits but some women might be going to more than six others spend more time on a Riviera beach - they could add beach suit to the outfits. The easiest thing, and it's been said so often but it's true, is to build on one. Decide whether you're going to be a black, brown or navy girl and stick to it. I'm for black. For instance, I travel in an oxford grey suit — jacket over dress, the dress with scoop neckline and short sleeves.

"Number Two outfit," she continued, "will be another two-piece story, simple black linen dress and jacket with velvet collar, giving me a warm weather daytime suit, and a dress capable of a last-day date on its own. Number Three, a tailored wool frock, not too pretty because I don't like black shoes with pale hues, but with grey or beige shoes all right. Mine is grey and with white shortie gloves it's nice for town wear; with fur and white striped jacket, good for a country week-end.

Number Four — a black sheath. It's equipped with a pepper red silk-linen boxy jacket, and also a beige coarse linen jacket.

Number Five — a black and white-dress print dress which with its jacket removed is a short formal. And Number Six — a black linen suit and black silk jersey robe which doubles as my dressing gown.

Most smart women in Europe do not wear hats — but take along one in case you change your mind. In case you want to keep your hair down — are invited to a wedding — or wish to visit a cathedral.

As for accessories, here is where one color pays off. I wear the best looking softest black suede shoes I can find (for evening you can add glips). Then, good leather walking shoes; and, black Capezio ballet style slippers which I can also use as bedroom slippers. Always in my purse I carry foldable sets folded in a little case, because, when I only have three pairs of shoes with me I can't take the chance of getting one pair soaked shapeless.

I pack one black cocktail-size bag for evening and carry a large black leather purse with outside pockets for current essentials like tickets and passport.

My one extravagance is gloves — 12 pairs of white — they vitalize an outfit like nothing else. And, oh yes, one dozen pairs of stockings.

I take nylon underwear — but no slips. If a dress isn't lined, I have a lining put in — travels and looks better.

As for a fur piece — this is controversial — you won't need it very often but personally I think it's almost a necessity for the cold occasion. You can always carry it over your arm or — don't laugh but there's never been a better suitcase made than a pillow-case. It will also take those odd French hats you might buy and all the souvenirs you'll find yourself lassoed in. Pile a bright silk ribbon around the top of my pillow-case to keep it closed.

"How many suitcases do you carry?" I wondered.

"One large one and a weekender — and my makeup case which I carry. I have an Elizabeth Arden one covered to match my luggage."

"Finally," I asked, "the question which seems to bother most people — what kind of coat?"

Said Miss McMurray, "My advice is the smartest one you can find in a bright gay color. It will give a dash to your whole wardrobe. I don't mean a fancy one, but a plain coat that will look well travelling and sightseeing and with a clip on pin will do for evening. I find I don't need a raincoat, but I do take a folding umbrella."

Bon Voyage.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: I have some questions on proper etiquette that I would like to have answered through your column. There are several points of controversy existing in our family. The parents of the bride-to-be and the parents of her fiance. Any assistance you can offer at the earliest possible date will be greatly appreciated.

Will you please advise whether it is proper etiquette on the part of relatives and friends living outside of the state where the couple resides, to bring wedding gifts rather than send them through parcel post or other channels? The relatives and friends in question live some distance away. The postage would be prohibitive and add to the cost of the gift, so they would like to bring them along when they attend the wedding.

Another question: who has first preference in selecting the color of her dress, the mother of the bride or the groom? Is it not correct for the bride's mother to make known her preference and if a question lingers should not the proper procedure and select a color other than that chosen by the bride's mother?

If both sets of parents share equally in the cost of the reception, how is the guest list divided? It is a hard-and-fast proposition or, as is happening, can the groom's parents insist they have the right to a certain list?

Finally, is it proper for the groom's mother to be the guest of honor at a party to the groom, himself, simply because she is sharing expenses and fetes? Is this the right? Shouldn't the young couple be able to invite couples they are most friendly with at the time? Is it not proper that the bride and groom receive guests together on their wedding day of days?

An answer to this letter as soon as possible would relieve the tension resulting from not knowing what is correct.

A Friend, Hackensack, N. J.

Answer: Gifts should be sent to the bride before the date of the wedding. If they can't be sent through the mail, then of course should be brought or have them dropped off, by messenger if necessary, at her home before the ceremony, bringing them to the reception might cause confusion and disorder as there it's difficult to open presents at that time and unacceptable to the bride because they are delivered to her home afterward, anyway.

As far as the mothers' gowns are concerned, the bride's mother chooses what style and color she likes, then forwards the scheme worked out for the bridal party. The groom's mother then is advised of the selection — often the bride sends her mother a swatch of the color — and chooses her own gown accordingly. Dresses of both mothers should be the same length and should harmonize in style and color.

The answer to your third question, both sets of parents correctly should not be sharing the cost of the reception, and this seems to be the main hitch in the bridal plans. Traditionally, the bride's parents assume the entire expense and have final say on all arrangements. The groom's parents may make suggestions, but the bride and her mother make the major decisions. They also tell the groom's parents how many guests they may summark for the reception. Naturally, relatives and close friends should be given first consideration.

Usually, even though the bride's parents pay for the reception, the bride and her mother try to give equal representation to the groom's relatives and friends. This is generally done when the bride and groom come from the same town. However, the groom's family tends to be shorter when he and his family live in another city. Many of his relatives often cannot attend, and it's only natural that the bride's friends and family will be in the majority.

While Mrs. Lewis cannot undertake to answer individual letters, she will use readers' questions in her column whenever possible and when they are of general interest.

Ont. Diocesan W.A. Hears Fine Talk

The Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary held its monthly meeting at St. George's, Trenton, with the rector, Canon K. F. Blachford conducting the devotional period and Mrs. A. O'Keaffe, president of St. George's afternoon branch welcomed the many members.

A Communion service was presented to Rev. L. E. Hawkes of Weed for St. John's Church Cloyne by Mrs. R. H. Godden, Diocesan Dorcas secretary-treasurer. Warm gratitude was expressed on behalf of this small church in the mission of Addington, one of the more remote sections of this Diocese.

Mrs. W. F. H. Mitchell introduced the speaker Mrs. Desmond C. Hunt, wife of the rector of St. James' Kingston, who commenced by reminding her listeners that as it was "Passion Week," the week preceding one of the most important festivals in the church year it would benefit everyone to assess their attitude towards personal prayer, public worship and prayer life. It is a sin, she said, to be distracted and to whistle in one's self, either at the communion rail or during a service. Don't be "fidgety" in church or in the refrigerator.

Dinner Menu

FRIDAY: (Guests for sure) Scalloped Scallops (on Wednesday), Parsleyed Carrots, Broccoli, Sliced Tomatoes, and Cucumbers and Radishes, Celestial Hash (see Tuesday), Coffee.

APPLE BUTTER:

3 Imperial quarts sweet cider, 2 Imperial quarts washed, quartered (but not peeled) cored) tart apples, 2 cups sugar, ½ to 1 teaspoon cinnamon (optional) or 1 stick cinnamon, ¼ to ½ teaspoon cloves (optional), or 6 whole cloves.

Boil cider until it is reduced by half (1½ quarts). Add prepared, measured apples and cook until very tender and mushy. Force through colander or coarse sieve — but one that is fine enough to keep out the seeds. Add sugar and spices, if used, and cook until of "butter" consistency, but you must stir it almost constantly to prevent burning. Do not overcook. Remove whole spices, if used. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

QUESTION:

" insist on buying freshly kitre fowl, farm grown (as opposed to the big commercial growers). We find the birds tastier, juicier and we also can get good sizes for roasting and smaller ones for frying. My problem is how do you roast them? I always end up with broken skins when are not careful enough or don't rough for my taste. I have tried a hot oven for a short while, a slow oven for a slow cooking time period plus broiling and a medium oven but somehow my birds still insist on breaking out of their skins. The meat is tasty but does not look good — L.A.

ANSWER:

Rub the skin of fowl with butter or dress strips of side bacon over breast bone. Wrap in foil or cover with foil like a tent. Roast slowly at 300 deg. Fahr. for lower temperature, until tender. Fifteen or 20 minutes before serving time, remove foil and baste bird with pan drippings thoroughly. Turn heat up to brown skin for serving period. Do not worry about browning until bird is tender.

You did not include your address. Please do next time.

Readers' Friday Column

by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Would you please print recipes for both apple and lemon butter? No name.

ANSWER:

I know you will not mind me asking you to please include your name and address on a stamped envelope next time you request recipes.

LEMON BUTTER:

½ cup butter, 2-3 cup egg yolks, beaten, 2 cups sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch or arrowroot (arrowroot is preferable for clearness — buy at drug store), ½ cup plus 1 tablespoon strained lemon juice, (3 lemons) ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Melt butter in top of double boiler. Blend sugar and cornstarch or arrowroot, add eggs and beat well, then stir into the melted butter. Now add lemon juice. Cook over gently boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture is thick as far as clear, from 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in rind. Cool, then pour into a clean jar. Cover and store in refrigerator.

Religious Instruction Discussed At Queen Victoria H-S Assoc.

The April meeting of the Queen Victoria Home and School Association was held recently, at which time Mr. H. B. Frink, principal of the school, spoke on "Religious Instruction in Ontario Schools."

Mr. Frink was recorder for religious instruction at the Ontario Conference of Education at Windsor, and was able to present a clear picture of both sides of the issue. Although there has been no problem in Belleville concerning the program, other Ontario cities have been considerable opposition to it from time to time. In fact in the Toronto area private schools have been started by some parents in North York in order to circumvent the problem entirely.

In 1944 the Ontario Government passed the following regulations: Shall be opened daily with the Lord's Prayer and the reading of a Scriptural passage; two half-hour periods weekly, of religious instruction to be held during either the first or last half hour of any morning or afternoon session; an official guide book to be followed and no sectarian matters to be discussed; ministers could be employed for this instruction. (This is done locally for the grade 7 classes); parents were given the right to withdraw their children from the religious instruction; school boards were given the right to supply for permission to withdraw religious instruction from their system if desired; teachers were given the right to withdraw from teaching religion.

Young Couple Feted With Money Shower

RYLSTONE — A money shower was held on Friday evening, April 5 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson (nee Fernie Reid), of Havelock.

The lucky couple at Fetherick's Corners was the locale for the shower and it was filled to capacity.

Maurice Brunton, a close neighbor of Fernie's, acted as chairman for the short program of piano solos, duets, readings, vocal and instrumental selections.

Donalda Kerr read an address to the bride and bridegroom and Fernie and Bob were presented with a purse of money. Both made a suitable reply.

Those taking part in the program were Mrs. Clarence Thomson, Mrs. Stanley Kerr, Marlene and Mary Thomson, Mrs. Chas. Fetherick, Barbara Watson and Norma Patherick.

Refreshments were served and the balance of the evening was spent in dancing.

There were also several gifts received by the young couple, mostly from relatives.

U. C. W. Hear Talk on Quin-Mo-Lac

Tabernacle United Church Women met Tuesday evening in the church parlors with president, Mrs. Jack Aitchison conducted the meeting. Mrs. Ted Fennell, secretary and Mrs. Frank Davidson, treasurer, performed their respective duties in the usual manner.

Mrs. John Babiak, program convener, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Margaret Hillis, who gave a graphic view of Camp Quin-Mo-Lac situated on Moira Lake near Madoc. This is the United Church Bay of Quinte Conference Camp. It comprises 300 acres of land and a mile of sandy beach water front. It has been in operation since 1946. A dining hall 75 by 30 feet and kitchen 30 by 26 feet were the first buildings to be raised on the site. Sleeping cabins which accommodates eleven people have been erected from year to year until now there are ten cabins. Another building called "The Leaders Lodge" has been erected and dedicated to the memory of Rev. F. Vanderburg who was active in the operations of the Conference Camp. A large marble fireplace has been installed in this lodge in memory of Rev. Robert Hamilton, first organizer of C.G.I.T. in this area.

In 1960 a second camp was raised and designed to accommodate families but at the present need of more smaller cabins, a new dining hall and a new dock should be built this year.

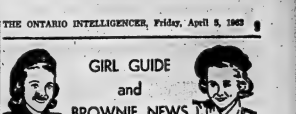
Over 1,100 campers took advantage of the opportunity of camping last summer at Quin-Mo-Lac. Camping is one of the most vital parts of the Christian education program of the church.

Miss Hillis showed slides of the activities of the camp. Wordless, it was the most impressive picture of any camp. Here children and youth experience the wonder of nature and the oneness of God in His great out-of-doors and often hear God speaking to them personally. Many have been called to full-time work in the church at a camp. Camp teaches people to live together amicably and the highest ideals and moral standards are enjoyed.

Miss Hillis asked for the cooperation of all in the financial and church members. She said "if we cannot go to Camp ourselves, we can help some one else to go. A Camp is as strong as the leaders who guide the children. We are now training leaders. The need is for mature men and women to go, stay over and who can give a week or ten days to the Camp. There is no salary but the reward is great. It is a very fine contribution to make to the Christian Education department of your Church."

Mrs. W. D. Embury, 2nd Vice President, thanked Miss Hillis for her most informative talk.

A most fitting accentuation to the program was the impressive summary of the work of three youth groups in the Church. Messengers by Mrs. Glen Lees; Explorers by Mrs. Jack Vardy and Mrs. Ted Lee; and Canadian Hand work by the children was on display and these articles will be sent to Hong Kong missionaries.



Mrs. Babiak showed the film "Judgment and the Crucifixion" which was followed with an interesting devotional by Mrs. Fred Rogers of Unit 4.

Members of Unit 6 served refreshments.

GIRL GUIDE and BROWNIE NEWS

This week Girl Guide Commissioner Mrs. Ross Hall, assisted by Mrs. Ted Corbett, visited the Moira St. Fire Department as a part of their weekly programme, to gain some useful information in connection with the fire prevention clause of the Second Class badge.

Under the direction of Captain Culhane, the girls were given a complete tour of the station; initiated into the mysteries of fire truck apparatus, rescue and first aid equipment, as well as the system of bells which alerts the men to a call, and sends them flying down the shiny pole. Each girl received a pamphlet on fire prevention in the home, also a helpful leaflet with special instructions for what girls alone in times of emergency.

NOT STANDING STILL

Company 13 hasn't been standing still too much lately! After weeks of work and planning, 13 Guides of this group, and 24 Brownies of Pack 2 (St. Christ Church), with their Guiders, set out on a big adventure - a Saturday trip to Toronto. A stocky rang early in homes all over Belleville and area as the C.N.R. Station was buzzing with eager blues and browns. One alarm wasn't enough, however, and the two responsibilities almost had to hitch-hike to the big city, but they managed to get there and made it in time.

VISIT TORONTO H. Q.

The Brownies of Pack 2 began the whole thing when they subscribed so generously to the Building Fund for the Girl Guides of Canada Headquarters in Toronto, and then decided they would like to see some of the "square inches" of the building they had helped to buy.

Several of the Guides in the new company 13 had been Brownies and had an interest too, so it seemed a good idea when they were invited to join the trip.

To finance the venture the girls made use of cereal coupons and today, they are privately earned part of her fare and spending money.

Everyone along the way was friendly and helpful. The C.N.R. provided a special coach both ways, and were extremely patient in many of the tickets and seeing that the Guide and Brownie funds were used to the best advantage. Mr. Bedford and Mr. Beckett travelled both ways with the group, and smoothed things out marvellously.

SUBWAY GUIDED RIDES

In Toronto the TTC sent an inspector who was assigned to girls on each of the three necessary subway rides.

The Guides and Brownies were escorted around Headquarters by Mrs. Bertram, a most gracious and pleasing guide. The modern building, with its roomy, airy brightness, as well as the offices of Brownies and Guides learned a great deal about how "their" headquarters functions. Of particular interest was the large stores department from which the many items so necessary to Brownies, Guides and Rangers are shipped to points all over Canada.

SURPRISE TREAT

Having enjoyed a surprise treat of cookies and hot chocolate provided by Metropolitan Toronto Guiders, the group were fortified for their trip to the Royal Ontario Museum. There they ate lunch, and proceeded to investigate the many wonders of the fabulous place. There wasn't time enough of course to explore it all, but the clock and tired legs eventually signalled the return to Union Station.

NOT STANDING STILL

A restaurant snack was another highlight and then followed the trip home, with singing and laughter, and much to talk over!

The Brownies were fortunate in having Mrs. McCullough along as a guide. Sharon Owl, Tawny Owl and Packie, so that each Six had an adult in charge. Mrs. C.N.R. Station was buzzing with eager blues and browns. One alarm wasn't enough, however, and the two responsibilities almost had to hitch-hike to the big city, but they managed to get there and made it in time.

Guides to Get New Uniforms

EDMONTON (CP) — Canada's girl guides will soon have new uniforms and a new program.

These are among changes being studied for the movement to adapt it to present-day needs, Miss E. H. Osler of Toronto, chief commissioner of Canadian Guides, said here.

A uniform which will adapt itself better to all guide activities and a program to meet the growing sophistication of young girls are being developed, Miss Osler said in an interview.

leader, again attacked Mr. Lesage for "interfering" in federal politics—"he's lasted too long as premier."

There were reports that two other premiers will take to the hustings on the last day of campaigning — British Columbia's Premier Bennett in Quebec to support Mr. Caouette, and Ontario's Premier Roberts to travel with Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Pearson, who spent most of Thursday campaigning in Algoma East, had an audience of some 1,800 in Sudbury for his speech in which he described the "investment expenditures" that would be made by the Liberals' proposed National Development Corporation.

He said that in the early years of a Liberal government, not one dollar would be spent that would not bring back more dollars.

Accusing the Conservatives of conducting an anti - American campaign, he said Canada can't afford to stir up trouble with its friends.

"That does not mean, however, that we should not talk up—talk back, if necessary—to the United States in authentic Canadian terms."

Mr. Diefenbaker, after a busy day of whistle-stop electioneering through southwestern Ontario had a full house audience of 2,300 in a Hamilton theatre—and a renewal of heckling over his government's defence policy.

One man walked down the aisle toward him shouting repeatedly: "Why don't you scrap the Bomarc?"

At one point steady chanting of "we want policy" stopped him and he snapped: "They have their job—at $1 each evening to interrupt meetings. Modern Liberals organized disorders."

Survey Team Whips Winter In Labrador

OTTAWA (CP) — A government survey team has successfully mapped a barren stretch of Labrador under the most arduous and dangerous winter conditions ever encountered in the history of federal surveying.

The survey party was forced to battle temperatures as low as 85 degrees below zero, strong steady winds, raging blizzards and snow eight feet deep on a 270-mile trek across the frozen Labrador wastes.

The 2½-month trip—from Jan. 14 to March 28—was made to record elevations for use with aerial photographs in the production of maps of this mineral-rich part of Canada.

From the northern tip of Michikamau Lake, about 100 miles east of Shefferville, the team travelled some 100 miles north and then east to a point 50 miles north of Hopedale on Labrador's northern coast.

"We almost had to push our five motorized toboggans over the route because of the deep snow," said 37-year-old William MacLellan, party head from the mapping branch of the technical surveys department.

Cancer Research Grants Made

TORONTO (CP) — The National Cancer Institute of Canada has announced a total of $1,748,097 in grants and fellowships to scientists and medical researchers throughout the country.

The largest grant, for $190,940, went to a research group working under Dr. Arthur W. Ham at the Ontario Cancer Institute.

The money represents an increase of 13.6 per cent over awards last year by the institute. Eighty-six per cent of the money will come from this month's 1963 fund-raising campaign of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Dr. Ham's group, studying the role of viruses in cancer is trying to determine why the body does not react to tumors to resist them. It is also attempting to determine whether anything can be done to stimulate the body's defences against tumors.

Among other major grants: $142,000 to the University of Western Ontario under Dr. A. V. Wallace; $71,820 to a second group at the Ontario Cancer Institute under Dr. Harold E. Johns.

Marmora

MARMORA — Mr. Cecil Bennett is a patient in Peterborough Hospital.

Mrs. Basil McTaggart had the misfortune to fall and break three ribs.

Miss Mary Meehan underwent an appendectomy in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nedelcroft and children, of Toronto, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Empey. Mrs. Gordon Casselman and children returned with her sister for a visit.

Mr. R. J. Barker spent the weekend with his brothers, in Oshawa, and Cooksville, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Lambert of Long Branch, spent the weekend at their Belmont Lake Cottage, and visited Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Green in Marmora.

Messrs. Pete Empey, Morris Lynch and Wesley Vilneff are patients in Peterborough Hospitals.

Pearson Will Put Industries In Needy Areas

By DON HANRIGHT

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Liberal leader Pearson struck a theme home—and electoral—Thursday night with a pledge of direct intervention by a Liberal government to set up industries in areas that need them.

He said Elliot Lake, the hard-hit and struggling uranium town in his neighboring constituency of Algoma East, would be one such area. But he said there are others that need such federal intervention.

"If that is social control—so-cialism if you like—that doesn't worry me a bit," he told a packed theatre crowd of 1,800.

The Liberal leader, flatly predicting that he will be prime minister after Monday's voting, spoke in Sudbury after a 200-mile automobile circuit of Algoma East communities of Elliot Lake, Blind River and Espanola.

Tonight he makes the major wind-up speech of his campaign in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

HITS AT PM

Moving at a fast clip through his riding Thursday Mr. Pearson continued to lash out at what he described as Prime Minister Diefenbaker's anti-Americanism and his "irrational and irresponsible" defence policies.

But the Liberal leader plugged even harder at Liberal programs and policies. And among them was the proposed National Development Corporation.

He said the corporation—something new for Canada"—would pump public and "we hope" private funds into projects that private concerns now consider too risky.

Mr. Pearson also hit hard at the Conservatives' expenditures" theme and said a new Liberal government wouldn't spend a dollar in its early years that would not bring more dollars back.

"Where are you going to get the money?" yelled a Sudbury heckler.

The Liberal leader shot back that the money would come out of the growth in the wealth and resources of the people of Canada.

He described as sensible and logical the Liberal plan first to restore confidence, then make investment expenditures that would increase production and employment and would pay for social welfare measures.

COUNTERS CHARGE?

Touring his own riding, he repeatedly countered his local opponent's charges of absentee representation and said his roots now are in Algoma East and he is as much a part of the constituency as any other participants and has looked after its interests.

He recalled when he first entered the St. Laurent Liberal cabinet as external affairs minister in 1948 and was "a stripped-pants candidate foisted on this constituency" by Ottawa. Now confessing his seventh election here, he was at pains Thursday to say he no longer is a stranger.

In Espanola, the small pulp-and-paper community that is Algoma East's political seat, he circulated through a crowd of 100 and called many by their first names.

Then he told them that while he didn't want to be cocky, that Monday's general election would return him as the member for Algoma East "and the prime minister of this country."

Sounding this note of confidence even louder, he told the Espanola people that they can always call on him at Ottawa—that "the prime minister's house is the house of the member for Algoma East."

Prime Minister Moves Into Hamilton

By ARCH MacKENZIE

HAMILTON (CP) — A long campaign day ended Thursday night for Prime Minister Diefenbaker in a clash with sustained heckling and a detailed recital of Progressive Conservative legislation and plans.

The prime minister and his wife moved into this steel city after making 15 stops in rural Ontario.

Their day began with a 7:30 a.m. breakfast in Toronto, thinly attended. About 150—a third of the places set—were filled.

Despite wind, snow squalls and biting spring cold, crowds ranging from 100 to 200 persons turned out to watch the prime minister descend from his private rail car, shake hands and say a few words.

As the day progressed, the party fell into a pattern and behind schedule and finally took to automobiles to go to Hamilton for the night meeting.

There had also been a major address at Owen Sound at noon. One point of call included Neustadt where Mr. Diefenbaker and his party were born.

About 2,300 people jammed side the Palace Theatre here—Liberal leader Pearson drew some 6,000 earlier this week at another site. The heckling directed at Mr. Diefenbaker Thursday night was mild contrasted with the uproar that Mr. Pearson got.

The prime minister took his customary jabs at the defunct Liberal government of Mr. St. Laurent, Liberal coloring book that is critical of the opposition, and also an abortive plan early in the campaign to send some pigeons to Joliette, Que., from London, Ont.

He reviewed at length legislation passed by the government and said: "We have done what we said we would do." Economic and Canada in last year was the highest in the free world.

He made his usual attack on Liberal party nuclear policy, saying that the decision to accept nuclear warheads for the Bomarc anti - aircraft missile bases in Algoma East was an impossible situation.

The usefulness of the Bomarc could be said, when the CF-105 replaced the manned bomber as the main threat.

He did not answer when a man walked down the central aisle toward him, shouting over and over again: "Is it true you serap the Bomarc?"

Canada's MPs here are ex North Bay, Ont., and La Macaza, Que.

There were jeers and boos when he said at one point: "I will always give the facts," followed again to say what he is going to do with the Bomarcs, he retorted: "I'm only talking about my survival. That wouldn't concern you."

A chant of "We want policy," in which Conservative supporters joined with "We want John," drowned him out and he snapped: "They have their job. At 51 for each evening to interrupt meetings of decent Liberals, organized disorders."

At Owen Sound to about 800 people he said it would have been easy to accept nuclear warheads but it would not have been right.

Visits Thursday touched north of Toronto through the constituencies of Peel—which swung Liberal last June—and Grey Bruce and Grey North. both remained Conservative when the party's standing in Ontario last year was cut to 35.

Thompson Plans Five-Community Tour Today

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Social Credit Leader Thompson goes on a five-community tour of Ontario today, passing the century mark in the number of speeches he has made when he brings his national campaign to a close tonight.

Mr. Thompson planned to fly to Sudbury for a noon meeting and then to Barrie for a helicopter tour of three other towns before a Social Credit evening rally in Barrie. He will also send a verbal message to the closing rally of his party in Montreal before going to Toronto to return to his home in Red Deer, Alta.

Thursday night in Ottawa with a planned excursion to Hull by helicopter cancelled by bad flying weather, Mr. Thompson told a gathering of 200 party faithful that he is confident of big gains in Quebec and Alberta, and sufficient wins in other parts of the country to give him minority control of the new House of Commons.

SAYS HE'LL WIN

Earlier Thursday, he flew in from Calgary and drove to Hawkesbury and Alexandria in Eastern Ontario's Glengarry-Prescott riding, which he says his party will win. Rolland Chilton is the candidate.

In both of his major addresses Thursday, he concentrated on the theme that Canada needs a government that will give leadership without fear of being down its political opponents.

He epitomized the theme by telling Alexandria audience of 200 at Alexandria whether they would go back to hire a hand and "get bossed around" himself incapable of doing his work properly just because he acted and was instructed not to be just as useless.

He told his evening meeting in Woodroffe High School that the Conservative and Liberal parties are concerned with defeating each other—that the Social Credit party "is going to go in right through them."

He told his Ottawa meeting that in last year's election, the Social Credit party won 26 million bee seats and four in Western Canada, for a total of 30, forming the fourth - ranking party group in the Commons. The Conservatives elected 116, the Liberals 100 and the NDP 19.

SUMMARIZES GAINS

From East to West, Mr. Thompson summarized the Social Credit picture as he sees it this way:

Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Edward Island—making yards "but not as I would have liked to see it."

New Brunswick — "Winning four seats."

Quebec—"Our people are enthused with the possibility of winning 60."

Ontario—Continent of winning in Glengarry - Prescott, Simcoe North and Dufferin-Simcoe—and making yards in Northern Ontario and southwestern Ontario.

Manitoba—"Our workers are very enthusiastic — and expect to take five or more seats."

Saskatchewan — "The Liberals are going on plan, and "it's the last stronghold of Conservatives in Canada."

Alberta—"Twelve — and possibly one or two more."

British Columbia — "We will double at least our present triple or quadruple (the two B.C. seats Social Credit held in the last Parliament)."

Says Banker Told Employees How to Vote

By KEN CLARK

WINNIPEG (CP)—T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader has accused the president of the Royal Bank of Canada of telling bank employees how to vote in the April 8 election.

Mr. Douglas said President James Muir wrote a letter to all employees urging them to vote for majority government.

"I don't think the people of Canada will appreciate this type of attempted intimidation," Mr. Douglas told a capacity Fort-rose Theatre crowd of 1,600 at his last major rally before Monday's election.

Mr. Douglas added that it is "a strange day for political democracy in Canada" when the president of a bank thinks the wages he pays entitles him to tell the employees how to vote on election day."

He said the letter suggested it was a departure from precedent "but you are urged to vote for majority government next Monday."

In Montreal, Mr. McLaughlin said he had received and read "the most important sentence in the letter." The sentence, he said, would certainly not presume to suggest how anyone should vote." Mr. McLaughlin said the letter also urged employees to get out and vote.

Mr. Douglas made his charge towards the end of a 75-minute talk to the partisan crowd.

He began by saying he had "just been informed" that Mr. McLaughlin had sent a letter to all the bank employees.

Just before this he said the "last letter" people of special privilege are "swinging behind Mr. Pearson and the Liberal party."

After the meeting, reporters asked Mr. Douglas and other party officials for a copy of the letter, but none was available.

Mr. Douglas said a copy of the letter was in the NDP's national office in Ottawa and the information it contained "was read to me over the telephone."

The letter was received by bank employees Thursday, Mr. Douglas said.

(However, it was learned elsewhere the letter read as follows:

(While this message may be a departure from precedent, nevertheless in view of the situation which exists in Canada today I feel it my duty to urge all members of the staff who are qualified to vote to exercise that right when the general election takes place April 8.

(If this country is to cope efficiently with the many problems facing it a majority government is essential.

(I would certainly not presume to suggest how anyone should vote but I am sure you will agree that it would be tragic if through lack of interest a few of Canadians generally a clear mandate were not granted.

(Among the most previous rights we as Canadians enjoy is the right to cast a vote. Let each of us make good use of this privilege.

(Please bear of the vital importance of the coming election that I send his message personally to you.

speech from the throne for the next Parliament—in the event of a Liberal victory—in sketching the action his party proposes for the first 30 days of the new Parliament.

Both leaders have promised to call parliament into session at the earliest possible date, which is around mid-May.

Social Credit Leader Thompson has talked most about the need for new, stronger leadership, saying Canada has been led by men and policies out of the 19th century.

New Democratic Leader Douglas, in addition to his anti-nuclear stand, has stressed a planned economy and immediate social welfare measures.

TAKES ISSUE

In the latter, he has taken issue with Mr. Pearson's stand that some social welfare measures, such as a medical care program, should follow and not precede steps aimed at economic expansion.

The question of American domination or dictation has been associated with both defence and economic issues. Mr. Diefenbaker has plumped for made-in-Canada policies, from which opposition groups have labelled as thinly-veiled anti-Americanism.

A big question puzzling Canadians trying to assess the outcome of the election was the extent to which plain curiosity and good organization contributed to big crowds.

WILL SEEK OTHER SITE

TORONTO (CP)—The executive director of the Eastern Farm Equipment Association of Canada has threatened to transfer the association's 500-delegate convention next November if Toronto proceeds with its proposed three-per-cent tax on hotel rooms. L. L. Sykes said Thursday in a letter to Mayor Donald Summerville that as soon as the proposed tax becomes effective, the association will seek another convention site.

Chiefs Ask For Meeting With Vanier

OBSWEKEN, Ont. (CP)—The chiefs of the Six Nations Iroquois confederacy asked Governor - General Georges Vanier Wednesday night for a meeting "on your earliest convenience" to receive a message for the Queen.

The chiefs declined to reveal what points they wish to discuss, but Chief Joseph Logan said in an interview that among items rankling the chiefs is "that we are not able to control our own reservation, and other things—things that have been done for a long time."

In addition to a telegram to the Governor - General, the chiefs sent a copy of a letter from Buckingham Palace, sent Feb. 27, 1961 to Chief Logan. The letter advised the chiefs that any communications for the Queen should be directed through the Governor-General.

Bitterest Cups of Life

By ROY L. SMITH

There is something that is comforting in the fact that some of the bitterest cups of life came not be removed. At least one was not removed even for Jesus.

It is easy to think, when everything is going wrong, that we are the victims of life, that no one else has ever had it so hard, that God (perhaps we call it "fate") has failed us.

And most of us are disposed to think that we have a right to expect that life is going to be good for us. By that we mean, of course, that life is to be easy on us.

DANGEROUS DAYS

The Gospel of Mark from which this week's lesson has been taken was composed just when the storm clouds were beginning to gather over the young Christian Church. Peter, the old Galilean fisherman, had suffered martyrdom. And though we have no historical record of the fact, it must be assumed that the Apostle Paul had met his death at the hands of Rome.

A terrible threat was in the air. Rome was never inclined to deal gently with revolt or treason, and the Christians had been maneuvered into the place that they were being made to appear to be enemies of the Empire.

At least one purpose of the Gospel of Mark was to nerve the Christians to face up to their fevers, and even to their death, with courage and fortitude. The story of Jesus' terrible death is told as if to say, "If your Lord could not escape death, how are you to hope for any escape? Look how He died —courageously, without flinching. That's the way you must die — unafraid."

No one joined the church in those days with the hope that it might improve their business chances, their social standing, or their good reputation.

EASY?

There is something very serious in the question that rises in connection with Jesus' appeal that the cup might pass from Him. Only a little while before He had warned His disciples that they might have to drink of a cup that was too bitter for them. And here He is asking to be excused.

But these momentary fears, hesitancies and tremblings do not represent the last word of life. It is true that Jesus asked to be excused. But when it became necessary, He drank the cup to its dregs.

There is no sin in trying to avoid pain, in quailing before danger, in looking doubts in the eye. These are some of the agonies of life which can never be avoided. They are the experiences that inject iron into the blood and power into character.

There is an old saying on the desert that "Nothing ever grows where the sun always shines." It takes some of the clouds and the storms to make a land productive and it takes a certain amount of risk to make a life magnificent.

INESCAPABLE CUPS

There is something very serious in the question that rises in connection with Jesus' appeal that the cup might pass from Him. Only a little while before He had warned His disciples that they might have to drink of a cup that was too bitter for them. And here He is asking to be excused.

There is an old saying on the desert that "Nothing ever grows where the sun always shines." It takes some of the clouds and the storms to make a land productive and it takes a certain amount of risk to make a life magnificent.

It ought to be of great assurance to us, in the hour when we are drinking from some bitter cup, to know that Jesus drank the bitterest of all, and came through triumphantly.

what they were getting into, and it sometimes appeared as if they were inviting martyrdom. This was not because they enjoyed pain, but because they so greatly appreciated their salvation, that even death did not deter them.

FAITH NOT UMBRELLA

There is a lesson here that needs to be learned with great care. There are some things that faith cannot do for us. It is not an umbrella guaranteed to protect us against everything uncomfortable, unpleasant, inconvenient.

Our world is just a bit like a building I visited some time ago. It was an enormous structure, designed to accommodate two or three hundred tenants, and it was just far enough along to admit visitors. But a sign near the entrance said, "You visit here at your own risk."

Our world is in the process of building, developing, expanding. And it is impossible to live in that kind of a world without incurring risks, just as it was impossible to visit that half-finished business block without taking some chances.

A risk-less world would be a terribly tame affair. There would be no zest in living. If one took no chances, faced no obstacles, knew that everything was going to come out all right, no matter how stupidly we managed our affairs.

The little lad was right when he said of a discarded puzzle, "There's no fun in it if it's too easy."

Small Canadian Companies Show New Eager Interest In Foreign Export Field

TORONTO (CP) — Small Canadian companies are showing eager and new interest in the foreign export field, partly because of extensive promotion by the federal trade department.

The trend is in evidence at the National Canadian Samples Show where the small companies are jostling with old, established firms to win orders from 600 foreign buyers flown in to see the show.

The show, being held this week in the automotive building at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, is part of the federal government's drive, "Operation World Markets."

An average example among the small fry is Bostlund Industries Limited of Oak Ridges, a village 18 miles northwest of here.

Founded by Danish-born engineer Gunnar Bostlund, the 10-year-old firm makes 250 cleanware lamps weekly, half of which are sold in the United States and half in Canada.

The product is turned out in a converted barn where Bostlund, his wife Lottee, their three children, and three employees, work feverishly to meet a yawning demand.

CAN'T KEEP UP

Bostlund is already running three months behind on deliveries of the lamp whose retail prices range from $25 to $145.

Three hours after the samples show opened Tuesday, Bostlund could see four or five big U.S. sales in sight. Now he says, he will establish a subsidiary in the U.S. and another in England to take care of the European market.

Across the aisle, Gell-Craft Industries, which is just starting to produce laminated furniture with full-color paintings impregnated into the material, says it has U.S. buyer interest.

Ben S. Gellman, a 33-year-old sales promotion man who worked with "overseas associates" for 18 months on the impregnating process, believes it's new in North America.

He says the firm is export conscious since it can sell its products cheaper in the United States than in Canada. The Canadian dollar discount almost offsets U.S. duty while freedom from sales tax gives another edge.

General Refrigeration of Canada, another newcomer, is trying to get in on the new European market for compact-type store fixtures and refrigeration equipment.

Another family firm, from Guelph, Ont., is producing a combination home freezer and kitchen table, designed for apartments, that the W. C. Wood company is putting on the market a month ago and hopes to fit into its export line.

Professors Confused by Statements

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian professors are "confused" by opposing statements from the justice department and RCMP on investigation of alleged subversion of the campuses, Prof. Stuart Reid, executive secretary of the Canadian Association of University Teachers, said Thursday.

He said the association intended members to refuse to answer any investigator's questions after the then Justice Minister Fleming denied in Parliament that campus investigations were made.

"But then we started getting more complaints about investigation attempts," he said.

"And the RCMP commissioner Harvison came out at an interview with college student editors and said such investigations would be made on the campus when necessary.

"We are confused." Prof. Reid said. "We have the minister of justice saying one thing and the RCMP commission saying the opposite."

Identify Body Of Man Found in Ditch

LONDON Ont. (CP) — Provincial police Thursday night identified the burned body of a man found in a ditch on a West-minister Township concession road a mile southwest of here early Thursday as William H. Doxtator, 52, of the nearby Oneida Indian Reserve.

Earlier Thursday, Inspector A. E. Ayers said Doxtator's head was bashed in and the body set on fire.

Police, meanwhile, have seized a taxicab for examination in connection with a cab was stolen Wednesday night and was believed to have been used to transport the victim's body—to the lonely lane.

"We are checking on a number of persons in this case," said Inspector A. T. Eady of the OPP's criminal investigation branch here Toronto. No arrests have been made.

It has not yet been determined how Doxtator met his dead before he was burned. Inspector Eady said an autopsy today should reveal the time elements of the case.

Stewart Wright a London taxi driver, said police seized his cab Thursday night and later asked him to identify charred parts of a blanket which was missing when the cab was recovered about midnight Wednesday.

Peace River Dam Bid $25 Million Below Estimate

VANCOUVER (CP) — A low bid of $73,538,648 was submitted Thursday for a contract to build the giant Peace River dam in northern British Columbia.

The bid is almost $25,000,000 less than originally estimated by B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

It is believed the contract for the 16-mile-long, 600-foot-high earth-filled dam for the mammoth Peace River hydro-electric project—which is expected cost estimated at $800,000,000— will be the largest ever let in B.C. and possibly in Canada.

B.C. Hydro officials expect the contract will be let within a month and construction will start this summer.

The tender of Peter Kiewit Sons Company of Canada Limited of Vancouver with Al John-son Construction Company of Winnipeg, Utah and Dawson Company Limited of Vancouver was a group tender. Spokesman-ship Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Three other bids ranged up to $97,297,297.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the hydro authority, said estimates for the dam in 1961 were $99,178,000.

Later, a jubilant premier said at a press conference that the low bids will mean power will be delivered to the lower mainland at "less" than the four mills a kilowatt hour originally anticipated by B.C. Hydro.

Medical Body Will Study Recommendation It Initiate Campaign Against Smoking

TORONTO (CP)—A vigorous national campaign to induce Canadians to stop smoking cigarettes will be recommended to the Canadian Medical Association at its annual meeting in June.

The CMA's committee on cancer agreed unanimously to the recommendation Thursday after eyebrowing evidence linking lung cancer and cigarette smoking.

CMA President Dr. M. R. MacCharles of Winnipeg who recently urged fellow doctors to quit smoking themselves, told a press conference after the committee's meeting: —

"When some of my colleagues and I graduated, lung cancer was almost unknown. But it has increased remarkably, and is now eight to 10 times what it was 20 years ago. The major part of this increase is due to cigarette smoking.

"... Having convinced ourselves (about the connection between smoking and lung cancer), the next step is to convince the public. We think that something in the way of a campaign is called for to restrict smoking and to prevent youngsters from ever starting to smoke."

Dr. Norman C. Delarue, chest surgeon at Toronto General Hospital said—as an individual, rather than as a committee member—that "we can't pussyfoot around any longer."

"We hope to take as strong action as has been taken anywhere in the world," he said.

Dr. R. K. Magee of Peterborough, Ont., chairman of the cancer committee, said the CMA had called together representatives from every province but Quebec—whose representative could not attend—to discuss the problem at the request of the Canadian Cancer Society.

It decided to recommend an educational program for the public. Dr. Magee said, although "it is a tremendous task because it endeavors to change a habit that has occupied mankind for many years—and has become accepted."

Dr. R. M. Taylor, executive vice-president of the cancer society, said the committee considered a number of scientific studies linking cigarettes with lung cancer, as well as criticism of the studies. The criticism was not considered valid, he added.

Dr. John O. Godden associate editor of the CMA journal, said smoke "will have to sit down ultimately and talk to cigarette manufacturers about this problem."

DISTRIBUTE BALLOT BOXES — J. W. Hamilton, deputy returning officer for the riding of South Hastings, is seen handing out ballot boxes to be used in Monday's federal election. Receiving one of the last of the 169 boxes to go out is Mrs. William A. VanTassel, returning officer for No. 50 poll in Belleville. Monday night the boxes will all come back, their contents deciding who will be the next riding representative in the House of Commons in Ottawa.

Time Element Important In Planning Centennial

TORONTO (CP)—The Fathers of Confederation took 34 months to create a nation. A group planning for Canada's 100th anniversary has been at work for 18 months and is worried that a fitting centennial program won't be ready in time.

The fathers held their first full meeting at Charlottetown in September, 1864, and completed their assignment with Confederation July 1, 1867.

Some 50 national organizations formed the Canadian Centennial Council at Ottawa May 17, 1960. The non-governmental preparatory group now has 274 affiliated organizations, scores of suggestions, a fulltime director in Norbert Prefontaine of Montreal, but few firm projects for 1967.

The time factor is bothering a lot of us," Council President Norman MacKenzie told a press conference Thursday. He attributed some of the delay to "uncertainty" in the federal political situation.

Dr. MacKenzie was appointed head of the council following his retirement last November from the presidency of the University of British Columbia.

The Centennial Council will meet in Montreal April 15-20 and the National Centennial Administration, of which Dr. MacKenzie is a director, is scheduled to meet April 22.

Dr. MacKenzie said local groups should decide what they want to do, and not wait around. it instead of waiting for government financial assistance.

He indicated federal assistance for regional projects will spread thinly and predicted competition for a share of the funds will mount.

The council's $10,000,000 of the $100,000,000 pledged by the government in 1961 for centenary celebrations will be available for local programs. The system calls for federal assistance to be channelled through provincial governments on the basis of $1 a head of population—making Ontario's share about $6,000,000.

Domestic Wins $211,500 in Libel Action

NEW YORK (AP)—A Negro domestic Thursday won a $211,500 libel verdict against Harlem's most influential citizen.

U.S. Representative Adam Clayton Powell (Dem. 18th).

"The king is dead," exulted Mrs. Esther (Mommy) James, a widow, who had sued the Negro congressman for $1,000,000.

"This is the happiest day of my life. I have my reputation again, and that is more important than money."

Powell, who did not appear during the trial, was not available for comment. His office in Washington said he plans to appeal.

The 66-year-old woman accused Powell of libelling her two years ago during a television interview by calling her "a bag woman (graft collector) for the police department." At the time Powell was engaged in a campaign against gambling and police corruption in Harlem.

U.S. May Build Canadian Plane

WASHINGTON (CP) — U.S. Army Secretary Cyrus Vance says the Caribou II transport plane, being developed in Canada, may be manufactured in the United States.

He gave that response in a closed-door hearing before the Senate armed services committee where members criticized th U.S. plane order in Canada and suggested a similar plane could be manufactured in the U.S., providing more employment for Americans.

A transcript of the Feb. 28 hearing was made public Thursday.

Senator Howard Cannon, Nevada Democrat, said he has heard defence Secretary McNamara say there is no doubt the Caribou can do that similar American planes cannot do.

Senator Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat, said it seek "unfair advantages."

While the U.S. is worrying about unemployment, Canada sells hundreds of millions of dollars worth of wheat to Communist China, he said.

"If we are losing business because a foreign country finances the competition as a government operation, in part, that would seem to be an unfortunate development" he said.

Cleveland's Newspaper Strike Ends

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's newspaper strike is over after a record 128 days. Employees of The Plain Dealer and The Cleveland Press and News were called to work today to prepare for Monday publication.

A handful of printers, mostly supervisors, returned to their jobs at The Plain Dealer at 12:22 a.m., a time which could be called the official end of the strike. It came just over an hour after the printers became the last of 11 unions to ratify contracts.

Business, Labor Pledge Support for Expansion Of Canada Trade Drive

OTTAWA (CP) — Business and labor vowed enthusiastic support Thursday for a new drive to expand Canada's trade abroad.

Spokesmen for the federal government, industry, business and labor backed the renewed export drive in speeches to the opening session of a week-long conference of, Canada's frontline salesmen, the trade commissioners posted to Canadian missions in 45 countries.

"When we talk about trade we are talking about jobs," said Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

"We should not fear competition. Rather we should accept this new competition as a challenge to move on to new and better accomplishments."

Said Carl A. Pollock, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association:

"In the context of today's competitive world climate, many of us can no longer afford to settle for the home market alone. Canada is much too important a trading nation...for us to harbor any delusions of a second-like existence."

SAYS BUSINESS AWARE

Victor Oland, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, added:

"Our business community is more aware than ever before of trade opportunities and the need to make the most of them."

Trade Minister McCutcheon said the forthcoming GATT talks in May in Geneva should lead to "important improvements" in Canada's export opportunities in world markets.

The commissioners went into private sessions that will last until next Thursday.

Their private conference is aimed at thrashing out trade problems, comparing export experiences and evolving new policies and techniques for advancing foreign trade for Canada.

After the conference, the trade commissioners will be available for a massive trade promotion project in which they will meet with individual businessmen interested in expanding export sales in specific areas.

At the latest count, 1,637 businessmen representing 902 firms have made appointments for 10,002 interviews with trade commissioners.

The trade commissioner's conference and the promotion interview are part of a two-week export drive sponsored by the federal trade department as "Operation World Markets."

Cannot Prevent U.S. Station Backing Grits

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Andrew Stewart, chairman of the board of broadcast governors, said Thursday that there is nothing the board can do about an American radio station telling Canadians how to vote.

Station WYSL Buffalo, a 250-watt station heard in the Niagara Peninsula of Ontario, read a statement authorized by Arthur H. Holtz vice-president and general manager, saying:

"I strongly urge Canadians to elect Hon. Lester B. Pearson prime minister on April 8 . . . There is only one major issue —defence."

It said Prime Minister Diefenbaker, a "bogus politician," has an "ostrich-like" attitude toward defence.

Dr. Stewart said that so far as the board is aware the statement was "a voluntary action of the station itself."

"We have no knowledge to the contrary."

In Washington, a Federal Communications Commission official said he knows of no plan to prevent Canadian listeners to vote Liberal in next Monday's election.

The official said the commission's first doctrine is to maintain "free competition in radio with fairness in expression of views on controversial issues.

If station WYSL does violate the spirit of the Canadian Act, then in all fairness the station might allow the Progressive Conservatives time to make some statement to provide a balanced viewpoint, the official said.

"But frankly, you've caught me flatfooted," he added. "I've never before had to deal with a political complaint against an American radio station affecting Canadian politics. If there is a complaint, we'd have to investigate it and then the station's licence came up for renewal."

Licences for all New York state stations are due to expire June 1 and renewals now are being processed for consideration. The official who handles the renewal branch said he has heard of no formal complaint against the Buffalo station.

The Liberal party described the broadcast as an unwarranted intrusion into the Canadian political scene.

SUES HEDDA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Michael Wilding filed a $3,000,000 defamation suit against Hollywood columnist Hedda Hopper Thursday. Wilding said pas-sages in the columnist's book The Whole Truth and Nothing But, subjected him to ridicule, contempt and humiliation and damaged his career.

Average Man May Solve Future British Budgets

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — Don't bet your last fiscal dollar on it, but there's a possibility future British budgets may be something even the average man can understand.

Strange as it seems, the treasury may settle for just one deficit instead of two or three.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, presenting the latest budget Wednesday, included a pledge that exchequer accounts may be somewhat simplified.

After Easter, a white paper will be introduced. This, he said, will form the basis for public discussion which in turn may result in a streamlining of revenue and expenditure figures.

As things stand, accounts are divided under treasury legislation which distinguishes between "above-the-line" and "below-the-line" items.

ITS 'NORMAL'

"Above the line" is normal current expenditure on the services as civil defence, welfare, education. It forms the bulk of government spending and once spent there is no return.

"Below the line" includes repayable advances, such as loans to nationalized industries.

The chancellor counsures outsiders. It is easy, for instance, to emerge from a reading of Wednesday's budget with a £90,000,000 deficit — above the line—or a shortfall of £597,000,000 below the line.

Which in turn is a total deficit of £687,000,000—or as Maudling put it, nearly £700,000,000.

Next year this confusion may be swept away.

Sentence Men On Bogus Ballot Charge

MONTREAL (CP)—Two men were sentenced Thursday in connection with the uncovering of 4,000 counterfeit voting slips found in a locker in Montreal's Bonaventure railway station before the Nov. 14 provincial election.

Jean-Guy Moreau, 23, of Montreal north was given a suspended for perjury while Robert Paquin, 31, received 16 months on a similar charge.

In Quebec City Andre Lagarde, a former Nationale party organizer, said in a letter to Premier Lesage that if four Quebec provincial policemen were questioned at a public hearing, it would be shown that "people in high places" involved him in court action over 4,000 counterfeit voting slips seized before a provincial election last november.

Premier Lesage said later he had not yet received the letter.

African News Agencies Plan Full Coverage

TUNIS (AP) — Representatives of African news agencies Thursday made the first step toward establishing a national news on the African continent. The Tunisian agency Tunis-Afrique Press and the Middle East news agency announced they agreed to exchange their news file to foster "the cause of information in Africa."

At the same time, Algerian representative Mohammed Ben Mehal announced his country was constructing a 50-kilowatt transmitter to facilitate news dissemination in Africa.

He offered the use of the transmitter to any African agency wishing to profit from it.

The offers were made at the meeting of experts on the development of news agencies in Africa, sponsored by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

A representative of the U.S. News services urged that "serious thought" be given before the adoption of a proposal to tax and limit operations of agencies in Africa.

Andrew Berding, representing as an observer The Associated Press and United Press International, spoke after suggestions had been made to impose limits on western news.

Berding said ,U.S. agencies have no profit in Africa. He said the requirements of Africa can news subscribers have been steadily increasing their operational cost.

Kingston Scholars Get Research Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council Thursday announced grants to 48 Canadian scholars, including university staff members, for work on research projects during the summer.

The grants range in value from $300 to $1,200.

All research will be in the humanities or the humanistic fields. Two-thirds of the scholars will do research outside Canada.

Total cost of the council is about $80,000.

The scholars include the following from Kingston:

SETS SENTENCE DATE

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Federal Judge R. E. Thomason Thursday tentatively set April 15 as the sentencing Billie Sol Estes, convicted last week of charges of fraud and conspiracy.

SPRING: HOME, GARDEN IMPROVEMENT TIME

What Is Owner's Liability For Injuries to Workmen?

At last — you're ready for the remodeling job! all those scribbles on the backs of envelopes have been turned into a professional plan. Now it's time for the workmen to come in, and get down to business. Presumably, you've already discussed the job with the contractor or handyman. Everything is ready — except for one point which too many remodelers overlook.

Each year more people are injured in the home than anywhere else, and with a remodeling job underway, the accident hazard increases. What happens if a workman is injured while working at your home?

Generally, sizable contracting firms provide workmen's compensation to protect their men if injured on the job and liability insurance in case they are held responsible for an accident to someone other than an employee of theirs.

The accident situations that should most concern you, the homeowner, are the occurrences where a man might be held liable because your negligence contributed to the accident. Negligence laws are sometimes confusing and vary from state to state.

Although you might think that if the contractor carries workmen's compensation and general liability, you — as the homeowner — haven't a worry in the world . . . you're wrong. There have been occasions where both the contractor and the homeowner have been sued because of a home accident.

You certainly should be concerned if the contractor or handyman doing the job for you carries no workmen's compensation. One case in point occurred when a handyman, taking down storm windows, used his employer's ladder and it broke. He was severely injured and collected $4,000 in a judgment against the homeowner.

On occasion the person injured has been a visitor to the home while remodeling work was going on. In Connecticut, a householder and a handyman were building a cinderblock storehouse in the backyard. When they left for lunch, a 9 - year - old boy came over from next door to investigate the half - built walls. He fell and broke a leg. The boneo failed to knit properly and the householder was sued for $50,000.

Whatever the situation may be, the safest move you can make is to call your insurance agent and ask him to review your homeowner's coverage. Ask him to let you know if you are covered against all hazards and fees when remodeling your home.

Hose pneumatically forces loose mineral wool into spaces between wall studs to insulate home. Individual shingles were removed and holes cut in sheathing to admit hose nozzle. At job's end, shingles were replaced.

Industry Leaders Spur Modernizing

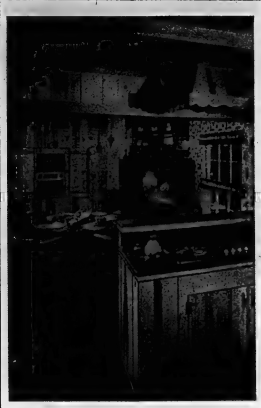
The year 1963 has been designated as a nation-wide "Home Improvement Year," by leaders of the building products industry.

National trade associations, manufacturers and government agencies are co-operating in a massive program with the objective of persuading homeowners to upgrade their homes. The program is being co-ordinated by the National Home Improvement Council.



Home improvement Year activity, according to the Council's executive director, Edgar Hall, will centre on "providing the homeowner with all the information he needs to start his own sensible, sound home improvement program."

With the co-operation of local dealers, jobbers and contractors, the Council in 1963 will organize "How to Improve Your Home" schools in many home-town areas. Evening "classes" in the schools will cover subjects that are of concern to most homeowners, such as how to finance a home remodeling job, how to choose a home remodeler and how to be sure a remodeling project is a safe investment.

Newspapers and other communications media will participate in the Home Improvement Year observance by publishing special "how-to" information throughout the period.

Local chapters of the Council in a number of major cities are mapping ambitious programs of public education.

Government interest in the private industry program is extensive, Hall said, because government officials recognize in home improvement a substantial opportunity to stimulate the national economy.

Many happy hours will be spent in this family room-kitchen, which strikes a gracious keynote of comfort and informality, enhanced by built-ins and paneling of knotty western Pine region wood, in which natural color is retained to contrast with fireplace.

Steady Savings on Fuel Bills Soon Cover Entire Cost of Installation

Practically everyone can think of exciting ways to improve a home — but they all cost money. However, there is one home improvement that has the most budget - minded of families: it's having their homes fully insulated to meet recommended standards. These families reason that:

1. Insulation will pay for itself in a few years in savings on fuel bills.

2. It will continue to save money for them indefinitely.

3. If the house is sold, the original cost of the installation usually will be completely recovered because insulation is a permanent improvement.

4. They would welcome the added comfort: a warmer home in winter, a cooler home in summer.

Various studies conducted through the years show that when a house is throughly insulated, families will realize a saving on heating of from 30 to 40 per cent compared to their inadequately insulated homes. It doesn't take long at that rate for savings on heating to equal the initial cost.

PROMOTES COMFORT

Insulation provides added comfort. Temperatures throughout the house are even and easy to maintain; chilling drafts eliminated.

Families who want to make sure they get optimum results from their insulation can follow the Quality Home Requirements of the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. These call for insulation to provide an installed resistance to heat flow of R-10 or R-34 for ceilings, R-11 for walls, and R-13 for floors.

The "R" number indicates its resistance to the passage of heat. The higher the number, the more effective the insulation.

The development of new installation techniques using "blowing wool" has made it possible to insulate older houses without damaging existing walls. To insulate the walls of an older house, a contractor first removes sections of the exterior siding. He then cuts neat holes in the sheathing and with pneumatic equipment forces the insulation through a hose into the spaces between the wall studs. After the walls are filled, the exterior siding is carefully replaced.

In the attic, the hose is often brought in through a louver, and the mechanic simply fills the spaces between the joists to the proper level. Batts or blankets are used where required.

Bags of blowing wool used to insulate existing houses are marked with the coverage needed to provide the resistance to heat flow specified for each of the key areas of a house.

FOR ADDED ROOMS

Home owners who add a room to their house can easily install batts or blankets of mineral wool insulation themselves, as long as this is done before interior walls and ceilings are finished. The basic tools needed are a sharp knife and a heavy-duty staple gun.

Here are a few installation tips to keep in mind:

1. Always install insulation with vapor barrier toward heated-in-winter side of walls, ceiling and floors.

2. Use plenty of staples, no more than six inches apart.

3. Insulation should fit snugly between studs and joists.

4. Insulation with a reflective facing should be installed to provide air space between it and the inside wall.

These Tips Will Promote Safety In Family Pool

Whether you now own a swimming pool or hope to build one some day, knowing the rules of swimming pool safety may make a vital difference to you and your family.

Here are some protective pointers:

1. Arrange for an adult to be present whenever the children are in for a swim. In the case of neighborhood kids, make an informal rule that no small children will be allowed unless accompanied by an adult.

2. Be sure that swimmers stay out of the pool for at least an hour after meals.

3. Have a life preserver handy — an inflated inner tube is fine.

4. A high fence around the pool will protect wandering tots — and possibly save you from negligence charges. Keep the gate closed whenever the pool is not in use.

5. Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer, help prevent falls into the pool.

6. Filters should be run so that pool water is completely filtered every 12-24 hours.

7. Filters must be cleaned every 8 to 10 days.

8. Keep water well-chlorinated to fight the growth of algae and bacteria.

9. During the off-season, pool should be constantly covered with a plastic or canvas top strong enough to support the weight of a person who might fall or step onto it.

10 Tips to Make Painting Easier

Painting job coming up? For an easier decorating project, here are ten suggestions from the Canadian Paint Varnish and Lacquer Association.

1. Use quality paint to hide the old surface better and make the need for two coats less likely. Quality paint will hold its color and last longer.

2. Remove hardware from doors and cabinets and loosen wall or ceiling electric fixtures. This allows you to paint faster without worry of marking the metal.

3. Instead of trying to match the color of wall paints exactly with drapery or upholstery fabrics, select variations of colors that will harmonize with them. An exact color match is virtually impossible.

4. If the color of your walls is light, paint the ceiling the same color. Then you will not have the problem of keeping ceiling paint off walls and vice-versa.

5. Use the largest roller or brush that you can comfortably manipulate to speed up your work.

6. Use a smaller roller to paint your baseboards. Protect your wall and floor with cardboards or a metal shield available at most paint stores.

7. Enamel woodwork with semi-gloss or gloss enamel before applying flat paint, latex or alkyd to the walls. It's easier to remove paint from enamel than enamel from paint.

8. If paint gets on window panes, do not worry. When the paint has dried, scrape it off with a safety razor blade.

9. When painting ceilings, if you place a 1¼-inch plank at the proper height on the treads of two solidly - footed step ladders, it will eliminate much climbing.

10. An easier method, if you prefer it, is to use a long-handled roller. This will permit you to paint most of the ceiling while standing on the floor.

Patio Becomes an Attractive Haven For Relaxing, Entertaining Outdoors

One of the easiest and most economical ways to add both comfort and value to your home is to build a patio.

A patio can be as simple or as complex as you want to make it. By using wood, it's possible for a weekend carpenter, using simple tools, to do the whole job himself.

WOOD FOR HARMONY

Flagstones are frequently used for patio floors, but, in some cases, wood will harmonize better with the color and styling of your home. The deck should simply be laid on a framework of naturally durable or preservatively treated 2x4s partly imbedded in the ground. It's a good idea to put a layer of sand between the ground and the underside of the decking.

Before embarking on the construction job, though, plan the patio carefully. Decide first of all what it will be used for — dining, sun-bathing, reading? Patios also serve, of course, as children's play areas and make ideal settings for summer parties.

Some patios have built-in storage areas which are used for such things as gardening tool and outdoor furniture.

If the family is going to be using the patio at night, you'll probably want to install electric outlets and screening. Sunbathing calls for a patio with a western or eastern exposure. If very young children will be playing in the area, you may want to make it easily visible from the kitchen. Another point to remember in picking a location is that existing walls and fences can provide part or all of the enclosure needed.

If an additional enclosure is desired, it can be built in a number of ways, since one of the big advantages of wood is that it provides almost infinite design variation. You can cut it to satisfy any set of dimensions, shape it or assemble it into a variety of attractive patterns and obtain additional variety through the use of the natural grain by applying paint or stain.

Wood is also easily available and economical. A lumber yard or building materials dealer is probably only a short distance away from where you are right now.

Some very attractive patio enclosures can be built by forming an open lattice of horizontal and vertical 2x4s spaced 6 to 12 inches apart. Another idea is to build a framework of 2x4s and then panel it on one or both sides.

A patio or sundeck might be free-standing, attached to the house or detached but connected via a series of protected decking walk-ways. Whichever it is to be, consideration must be given to the existing landscaping, property lines and the direction of the sun's rays and the prevailing winds.

And when selecting the actual design of the structure, these factors must also be taken into account. That is the functional must be considered as well as the aesthetic.

Perhaps for example, the windward side of the patio, deck or pool ought to be sheltered. Such protection can be achieved by incorporating a distinctive solid lumber screen along the windward side. By using a lattice-work design, vertical louvres or a basket weave design for the screen, protection can be achieved without cutting off the supply of light and air completely.

DECKING PLACEMENT

Whether or not the decking is to be placed directly on the ground or raised is another question that depends largely upon the general lay of the land. It may be constructed either way, but if the yard slopes appreciably, it would be better to raise the decking on posts. Solid lumber is ideally suited to this type of construction.

Choosing Right Size Vital In Buying Air Conditioner

Ceiling Tile is fastened directly to gypsum board or rock lath with new type stapling gun by Bostitch.

Stapling Gun Is A Handyman's "Best Friend"

By many "do-it-yourselfers" the handy stapling gun is well used for such annual chores as repairing screens and venetian blinds, trimming shelves and furniture, and installing insulation and weather stripping.

The squeeze of the gun's trigger drives each staple cleanly and accurately, with material firmly engaged to one another.

They have put a new head called a "crown") on one stapler to make it even more useful.

By simply changing the head of the stapling gun from a standard driver to a crown driver, the tool can be used to double - staple acoustical or ceiling tile directly to gypsum board or rock lath.

Here's how double - stapling action is effected; the crown of the first driven staple conforms to the crown driver of the stapling gun, and serves as an anvil; the legs of the second staple flare out and reinforce the holding power.

Which of course, adds a new dimension of usefulness to the do-it-yourselfer's handiest tool!

Even a youngster can enjoy a nursery filled with crisp, clean air by an economical room air conditioner that eliminates air-borne dust, dirt and pollen. General Electric Thinette.

Choosing Right Size Vital In Buying Air Conditioner

When buying a room air conditioner, it's important to select one with the right cooling power. There's no point in buying a 12,000 BTU/hr unit if an 8,000 BTU/hr unit will do the job. A unit with excessive cooling capacity won't do a better job, but it will cost more to buy and operate.

Room air conditioner dealers are equipped to advise families on what size units they'll need and where they should be installed, but dealers need information to arrive at an accurate estimate.

PERTINENT POINTS

The homeowner should be able to tell a dealer:

1. The size and use of the area to be cooled.
2. Number and location of windows.
3. What exposure outside walls have to the sun.
4. Whether electric circuits are 115, 208 or 230 volts.
5. Whether ceiling or roof above is insulated.

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., in a current booklet on room air conditioners, advises families to draw a simple floor plan to show the area to be cooled in relation to the rest of the house. Using the above information, a dealer can determine the cooling capacity needed in BTU's per hour.

BLEND WITH DECOR

Families who buy room air conditioners this year will find it's easier than ever to get a unit to meet specific cooling needs. In addition, many new room air conditioners blend better with the decor of a room.

The largest-capacity units are becoming increasingly popular. Often one or two units are installed in the walls while a house is being built to provide adequate cooling for the entire house.

Some families place through-the-wall models under a window, while others prefer a spot high on a wall to provide maximum circulation of conditioned air.

MEETS YUGOSLAV GROUP

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev Wednesday received a visiting delegation of Yugoslav trade union officials at his vacation resort at Gagra on the Black Sea, the Soviet news agency Tass reported. The leader of the Yugoslav group, Svetozar Vucma a novicehmep, and Khrushchev had a "warm and friendly talk" Tass said.

Expansion Plans Should Provide Needed Heating

One of the most important aspects in home expansion is extra heating. According to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, over 90 per cent of all home expansion projects require some kind of heating work.

To heat a new room with your present heating system, you must first determine whether your heating plant is large enough to take on the extra heating load. Next, if the heating plant is large enough, you must find out if the heating system's piping or duct work can be extended to the new room without expensive alterations to the heating system or major structural changes in the house.

A reliable heating contractor should be called in to check your heating system and to investigate the heating requirements of the new room. He is the only one qualified to advise you about the proper and most economical method of heating your new room.

Chances are that you'll have fewer problems heating the new room if you now have a hydronic (hot water) heating system. Such plants are frequently installed with sufficient additional capacity to take on the extra heating load of a new room.

Moreover, this type of system uses finger-thin piping, or subbing, which is easily extended to the new room without ripping apart existing walls. Only a few small holes need to be drilled so tubing can be "snaked" through stud and joist spaces.

If you find that your heating system is not expandable, an individual room heater may be installed if you want to heat a small room. But be careful in your selection, because room heaters are not always economical to operate. Moreover, heat is usually concentrated in one spot around the heater.

To heat larger rooms or a wing, a miniature hydronic system, using a small, space-saving hydronic heating plant, is ideal. A small, silent pump is used to convey heated water from the boiler through finger-size tubing to hydronic baseboard heating units.

This type of system is easily installed and will provide a high standard of comfort at a relatively low operating cost. Also, it will provide zoned heating since a separate thermostat can be used to control temperatures in the new room apart from the rest of the house.

Most Improvements Can Raise Value of Home

Many homeowners are now seriously planning to install a swimming pool or to finish the basement into a playroom or to convert the garage to an apartment or den this year just to add comfort and more space to the family's way of living.

Such improvements mean better living, yet they may add thousands of dollars to the value of the home if they are wisely planned and constructed.

Increasing the value of a home can be done not only in cities where there is a ready market available for resale, but also on farms, in small towns and other rural areas. A purchaser almost always is willing to pay for added living comforts that are offered to him.

A swimming pool may be a profitable investment in many instances, for it may make a home worth hundreds of dollars more than the cost of the pool to assure profit for the far-sighted owner.

A swimming pool has an added value in that it can be used for fire protection simply by keeping a water pump nearby for immediate use if needed. An LP-gas pump is excellent for such emergency because it can't be put out of action by fire which may burn incoming power lines.

A favorite value-adding project is the conversion of a drab basement into an attractive playroom where youngsters can have friendly gatherings. Not only does such a move add value to the home, it also keeps children at home where they can be supervised properly.

A laundry room can be included as part of the basement conversion, screening it with a low-cost lattice work or other attractive cloak. Heat for the playroom and for the laundry room's clothes dryer is available simply by connecting on to the home's LP-gas system providing fuel for the kitchen range, furnace and other appliances and equipment.

Timely Tips

While waiting for the weather to turn warmer, it is a good plan to study the seed catalogue, brush up on both the common and the scientific or Latin names. Then we are absolutely sure of what we are getting when we place our garden orders.

Don't wait too long about ordering seed, especially of the new introductions. The stock of these new introductions is limited the first year or so until enough seed can be harvested to meet demands. As soon as your decisions have been made as to colors and quantity, mail the orders.

Along with a detailed plan of the garden we are going to have this year, it is an excellent idea to have a garden calendar. This need only be a few slips of paper attached to any calendar at certain future dates or one can use a desk calendar. In the note jobs to be done, seeds or shrubs to be bought and planted, new system, to be adopted at some time ahead. It is simply a reminder so that we get more pleasure, interest and value out of our gardening operations.

SCOTTISH REUNION

Les Gandette, former Trenton Arena manager, now with the Galt Arena Commission, has organized a reunion of all Canadian hockey players that played in the old Scottish League between 1856 and 1857. Gandette expects over 300 ex-Scottish Leaguers and their wives is attend, including John Trendell, and others of this city. Trendell played with the 1853-54 Paisley Pirates.

The Scottish League was organized by Claude Kewley, in the late summer of 1946 at the old Ravina Rink, Toronto, and players from all parts of Canada tried out for berths on the Paisley, Perth, Dundee, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Falkirk, Dumfermline and Kirkcaldy clubs that formed the loop. Ex-members are requested to contact Gaudette at the Arena, Galt.

WIN THEIR LETTERS

Two district hockey players who starred last winter with the varsity hockey squad of Brown University have been awarded their varsity letters. They are Leon Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bryant of Wellington, Ont, and Robert Olsen, of Marmora, Ont.

Leon is in his sophomore year at the Providence, Rhode Island University, and compiled an enviable record as a high-scoring winger. He led the college team in points and was the top scorer in the Ivy League.

OUTBOARD MARATHON

There'll be foam, fury and high water flying on the St. Lawrence River come June 9th when the annual 1000 Islands International Outboard Marathon gets under way. The $5,000 in cash prizes and trophies to be awarded the top five winners of each class range in amounts from $500 to $25. The marathon is open to all stock outboard utility classes except JU.

Sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association, the 100-mile open course classic starts and finishes at Alexandria Bay, touching Clayton, N.Y., and Brockville, Ontario, en route. The coveted 1000 Islands Bridge Trophy, given annually for the best improved time over last year will be handed over by the present holder, Harry Doelge, Waddington, N.Y., to the new winner.

O.B.A. ELECTS NEW EXECUTIVE

Jack Carson, popular "boss-man" of the Ontario Baseball Association, is the second city resident to complete a two-year term as president of a provincial sports organization. Don Lee, steps down from his OASA presidency on Saturday, after a successful term in office.

Mr. Carson completed his term this year and was succeeded by Jim Waldis of Milton, Ontario. First vice-president is Wilfred Johnstone, West Lorne; second vice, Dave Bell, St. Catharines, and third vice, George Bain of Hamilton. Elected executive members are Grant Kett, Hagersville; John Leask, Fort Erie; Ward Spicknell, London, and Joe Zinetti of Chatham.

Thanks to the leadership of Mr. Carson, baseball, which had dropped to an alarming low in fan support, is once again on its feet. The Belleville proxy was highly regarded by his executive associates and baseball men in general and his efforts while in the presidential chair did much to restore interest in the game.

PICKEREL DERBY

The Prince Edward County Chamber of Commerce and Quinte Isle Tourist Association are sponsoring a Pickerel Derby on May 3, 4 and 5th, with prizes worth $1,500 up for grabs and hooks. Top is a motor, boat and trailer worth $635; next is an outboard tabbed at $195 and third a pump gun worth $118. There are two big prizes, a special prize of a movie camera and ten honorable mention prizes.

But I am told, some of the district anglers are not too happy with the prize arrangements since the top three are open only to residents beyond a 40-mile radius of Picton. The local boys do not think this is fair and some of them are not making any secret of the fact.

In addition to the Derby there will be a Fishermen's Ball on May 4 at the Yacht Club, and a Sportsmen's Show in the arena on Friday and Saturday, May 3rd - 4th. All competing anglers must register for fifty cents. Weighing will be done at the Picton Bay Marina, Bayerest, Big Island; Bruce Martin's at the Outlet; at Clare Campbell's place in Wellington.

Western Cup Opener

Quakers Edge Maroons

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatoon Quakers edged Winnipeg Maroons 4-3 Thursday night to take the opening game in the Western Canada Allan Cup best-of-seven series before 4,000 fans.

Second game is scheduled here tonight with the teams moving to Winnipeg for games Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday, if necessary, next week.

Bob Kortje, Don Smith, Charlie Goodwin and defenceman Lorne Davis shared Quakers scoring before 4,000 fans. Reg Abbott, Bernie Grebinsky and Jim McKenzie replied for Winnipeg.

Saskatoon scored twice in the last 66 seconds to take a first-period 2-1 margin, stretched it to 4-2 in the second then held Maroons to a single goal in the final 20 minutes.

Goalies Julian Klymkiw of Winnipeg and Don Campbell of Saskatoon came up with strong performances. Klymkiw, although making three fewer saves, had the more difficult chances to handle and at times was all that kept his mates in the game.

Leafs Ogle Cup As Habs Hang Gear

By BILL MacDOUGALL

TORONTO (CP)—Ask a National Hockey League player what is needed besides talent and spirit to go places and nine times out of 10 he'll say, "you've got to get the breaks."

Toronto Maple Leafs got the breaks but not just Wednesday night. They came years ago when Johnny Bower and Dave Keon were signed.

Both have paid their way all along, but they played the key roles as the Leafs marched into the Stanley Cup finals by whipping Montreal Canadiens 5-0.

Bower was the defensive standout, stopping 85 Montreal shots. Keon shone on offence, scoring two goals and assisting on another.

The victory for Toronto was its fourth in the best-of-seven series compared to the one Montreal was able to score—a 3-1 decision in Montreal in the fourth game Tuesday night.

"We're just a better hockey club," said Punch Imlach, the Toronto manager-coach now has a layoff of several days to prepare for the final against either Detroit Red Wings or Chicago Black Hawks. Detroit leads that best-of-seven semi-final 3-2.

SCORES EASY SHUTOUT

The shutout for Bower, the oldest player in the NHL, was his second in the series. The veteran goaltender, who is tagged at 38 in the record books, admits to being 39 and is suspected of having passed 40, made several good saves, but the summer belied the power of the Montreal attack. Of the 25, several were on weak or rushed shots.

Jacques Plante kept out 27 shots for Montreal.

Bower, who has a 2-0 shutout in the third game in Montreal, Saturday, Leaf teams had gone 17 playoff games without a shutout against the Canadiens. It was the first playoff series in the seven times the two clubs have met that a Toronto club has been able to blank Montreal twice.

The Leaf goaltender had never registered a shutout in 35 playoff games before this season.

Keon scored the first Toronto goal and assisted on the second by Dick Duff. Ron Stewart got a third to give Leafs a 3-0 lead by 10:11 of first period. Keon scored the only goal of the second period and defenceman Kent Douglas scored his first Stanley Cup goal in the third.

HABS DOWNHEARTED

The post - game Montreal dressing room was a picture of despondency. Coach Toe Blake issued orders that everyone — including club officials—be kept out of the dressing room, but later relented to a lone reporter.

"What these guys need is a lot of prayers and a change in attitude," Blake told him.

Did he mean the Canadiens had a defeatist attitude in the series?

"Humph. That's not all."

Montreal defenceman Terry Harper was in the penalty box for Toronto's first goal at 6:36 of the first period. Keon beat Plante on a low shot that the Toronto centre said Plante "just plain misjudged."

The Leaf centre dug the puck from behind the Montreal net to set up Duff who scored on a 20-foot shot at 9:43. Twenty-eight seconds later Stewart scored on a breakaway after being put in the clear by Red Kelly.

Bob Baun slapped at the puck from just inside the blue line and Keon tipped it into the Montreal net to make it 4-0 at 16:37 of the second period. Douglas rushed from the Leaf zone up the left side and beat Plante at 11:37 of the third period to close the scoring.

Imlach, happily holding court before a bevy of reporters, said "It was one of the best games we've played this year."

He said he would prefer meeting Chicago in the final because they played a "rougher game—our kind of hockey," then later revised his opinion to say "I don't care who it is."

KEON SCORES — Toronto Maple Leafs' Dave Keon swoops past goalie Jacques Plante after scoring the first goal of the fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-finals against Montreal Canadiens. Checking Keon is J. C. Tremblay. Toronto led 4-0 in the second period of the game in Toronto. (CP Wirephoto)

Name Dates For Junior B Playdowns

Dates have been announced for the opening games in the OHA Junior "B" Provincial semi-final series between Kingston Frontenacs and Burlington.

The first game in the best-of-five series is scheduled for the Burlington rink tonight with the second in Kingston this Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

The winners of this series will meet either St. Mary's or Detroit for the Ontario title, won last year by Waterloo Siskins, who were eliminated three games to one by St. Mary's recently. St. Mary's plays home games in Stratford. Detroit Junior Red Wings are members of the Border League.

Turning to Junior "C", Napanee Red Wings, Eastern group champions who easily eliminated Port Hope, meet either Collingwood or Orangeville in the Provincial semi-finals.

Bespeler and New Hamburg are fighting it out in the other half of the semi-finals.

Ullman Sparks Wings 4-2 Win

Hawks' Backs to Wall

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

CHICAGO, (CP)—The Detroit hockey club left town today with a 3-2 lead in games over Chicago Black Hawks in a best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final and with an $11,500 damage suit against it and its fiery defenceman Howie Young.

A few hours before the Red Wings skated onto Chicago Stadium ice and beat the Hawks 4-2 in the fifth game Thursday night, a process server handed general manager-coach Sid Abel and defenceman Young a summons to appear in Chicago central court within 20 days.

The claim was filed by Mrs. Elaine Bromarz of Chicago, who was hit in the mouth by a puck flipped into the crowd by Young in the first game of the series here Tuesday, March 26.

DIDN'T BOTHER WINGS

The incident didn't have any effect on the Wings who came up with their third straight playoff victory after losing the opening pair here.

The sixth game will be played at Detroit Sunday and the seventh, if necessary, back here Tuesday.

Thursday night's game proved that Norm Ullman is a guy who thrives on hard work. The chunky Red Wing centre scored two goals and assisted on the other two.

"I just felt good," said the five - foot - ten, 185-pounder. "I played a little more than usual the past couple of games and it seems to make a big difference."

He set up the first Detroit goal by Floyd Smith in the opening period and scored the second early in the middle session.

The Hawks tied it with goals by Kenny Wharram and Bobby Hull and Ullman then set up Parker MacDonald who scored the winning goal late in the third period. MacDonald took a golf swing at the bouncing puck to get it behind goalkeeper Glenn Hall who made a desperate lunge for it.

BOUNCED OFF DEFENDER

That goal was scored while Hawk forward Ab McDonald was serving a five-minute major for crosschecking Detroit defenceman Doug Barkley. The puck bounced off a Hawk defender, and MacDonald took a whack at it.

Ullman put the game out of reach of the Hawks late in the third period.

"They have to come to us now," said Abel in the Detroit dressing room. He declined to predict the outcome of the series but said, "we just have to win one of the two games left and they have to win both."

Asked how he felt about meeting the league champion Toronto Maple Leafs in the wrapped up their semi - final against the Montreal Canadiens four games to one with a 5-0 victory Thursday night, Abel said:

"We'll wait and see who wins this one first. Actually, I had hoped we would meet Toronto in the semi-finals. We always have a good showdown and I think we would have been ready for them than the Hawks."

Western Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In the south it's the San Francisco Seals against the classy Portland Buckaroos for the Western Hockey League division championship.

In the north, who knows?

San Francisco, trounced 8-2 by Los Angeles Blades in the first game of the best-of-three southern division semi - final came back to take two straight, 5-3 Wednesday and 5-4 in overtime Thursday night at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

They did it on the strength of a two-goal, two-assist effort by right winger Danny Belisle who gave them the game and the series with a goal in the 'over-time period.

Seals now go against the Bucks at Portland in a best-of-seven division championship series starting Sunday.

At Seattle the Totems came up with enough of an effort to squeeze out a 3-2 victory over Edmonton Flyers and tie up the Northern Division semis at a game apiece.

Top Trio Takes Back Seat

Wininger, Souchuk Lead Masters

By MERCER BAILEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Golf's old guard is clicking. Some of the graybeards showed the younger big threes a thing or two in the opening round of the Masters tournament.

Instead of Arnold Palmer, Gary Player or Jack Nicklaus setting a fast pace going into today's second round, it was 42-year-old Bo Wininger and 35-year-old Mike Souchak on top with 69s. Both are under par, and only one stroke back were such veterans as Sam Snead, 50, Ed Furgol, 46, and Jay Hebert, 40.

With three testing rounds still to go, Palmer, Player and Nicklaus—the dominant trio in golf today—have plenty of time to pull out a victory. But, for one round at least, they had to take a back seat.

Palmer, the defending champion shooting for a fourth Masters title and at 33 the elder statesman of the big three, had to settle for a two-over-par 74. So did the baby of the group, Nicklaus, 22.

Player, 27-year-old South African who is the only foreigner ever to win a Masters, remained well in contention with an opening 71, a score he shared with towering George Bayer.

LEONARD CARDS 74

The elders showed the way even among the three Canadian entries when veteran Stan Leonard of Vancouver carded a 74 to tie Palmer and Nicklaus.

Alvie Thompson of Toronto, Canadian professional golfers association champion, was also —79, and Al Balding of Toronto, most successful Canadian on the United States tour this winter, blossomed to a 40-42—82.

Amateur Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City tied at par 72 with Billy Maxwell.

No one else among the 86 starters managed to match the sprawling Augusta National Golf Club course par of 36-36—72. Tricky, gusty winds and hard greens were major factors in keeping the scores high. Approach shots would hit the baked putting surfaces and bound away.

"The greens were like concrete," said Snead, who shares with Palmer and Jimmy Demaret the distinction of having won three Masters. At the same time, he added, the greens didn't putt as fast as expected.

"On one hole I hit the ball so hard I thought I broke the shaft in my putter, and it still stopped short," Snead said.

Palmer, a top choker in any tournament he enters, commented:

Combines Win Over Belch's 5-1

Hibbard-Callow Combines outplayed and outscored Belch Construction to the tune of 5-1 last night to even their best-of-seven Prince Edward North Shore Hockey League finals at two games apiece.

The fifth and sixth games were scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday of next week but an effort is being made to change these dates due to the NHL playoff games. Tuesday's game may be changed to Monday if arrangements can be made at the arena.

The Combines were held to a 1-1 tie in the first period last night but scored two goals in the second for a 3-1 lead and added two more without a reply in the third.

The winners outshot Belch's 34-18 as also collected five of the game's 8 penalties. Bob Yome and Bill Hurst picked up majors for fighting while the remaining sentences were minors.

Larry Westfall paced the Hibbard-Callow scorers with a brace of goals but Ab Wright was a key man on the attack with one goal and three assists. Jack Calnan bagged a goal and one helper while single assists went to Jim Campbell, Bob Wannamaker and goalie Chuck Kingston.

Don Wood triggered the lone Belch goal with assists going to Doug Haiman and Bill Belch.

Golf Course Ready for Weekend Play

The Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club will be open for business this weekend, weather permitting, according to club pro George Balzas.

The course is said to be in good shape for this time of year with 16 of the greens in "A-1" condition.

So, with a little co-operation from the weatherman, it will be "Fore!" for the club members and greens-fee players come Saturday and Sunday.

Clippers Bears Series Even

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore has pulled into a tie with Hershey in their American Hockey League quarter-final and-a-half-a-hitch there was no overtime session it took the Clippers an additional 20 minutes before their victory was official.

Scoring four goals in the opening period, the Clippers held off the rallying Bears and scored a 5-3 victory in the second game of the best-of-three series. The deciding game will be played at Hershey Saturday.

The other quarter - final resumes tonight at Rochester where Cleveland Barons will be trying to wrap up the series after downing the Americans 6-3 in the first game.

The Providence-Buffalo best-of-seven semi-final takes the stage Saturday for the second game at Buffalo, with the Bisons leading the Reds 1-0.

Don Johns, Dave Creighton, George Ford, Mel Pearson and Ed Ehrenworth scored for Baltimore Thursday night.

Keke Mortson, with two, and Orest Nykoluk scored for the Bears.

A wild free-for-all lasting 20 minutes erupted in the last minute of play and resulted in referee Art Skov handing out a total of 42 minutes in penalties.

Sore Arms, Injuries Have Hurt Majors

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

An alarming wave of sore arms and training camp injuries has crippled major league teams as they head into the final weekend of exhibition games prior to the opening of the season Monday and Tuesday.

The New York Yankees, odds-on favorites to repeat in the American League, have been playing without Roger Maris, Whitey Ford, Tony Kubek, Tom Tresh and Clete Boyer. Some of them are due to be back before Tuesday.

Cincinnati broke camp in Tampa, Fla., leaving behind Bob Purkey, the Reds' 23-game winner. Manager Fred Hutchinson wants to give Purkey a chance to soak up some extra sunshine in hopes of shaking off soreness in his right shoulder.

Loss of Purkey for any extended period could be a critical blow to the Reds' budding pennant hopes. Jim Robinson also has been out of action lately due to a sore arm. Vada Pinson, starting slowly after an appendectomy, lost more time due to a wrenched right knee. On his return, Pinson was shifted to left field, giving up centre field to rookie Tommy Harper.

Vern Law, ace of Pittsburgh's 1960 pennant winners and a 19-game winner last year despite constant arm trouble, hopes an extended stay in Florida will revive his arm. The Pirates are not counting on Law at this stage.

LARY STILL DOUBTFUL

Detroit also has a major problem in Frank Lary, the Yankee-killer of old. Lary was lost most of last season due to arm trouble. It still bothers him.

New York Mets have two-thirds of their regular outfield on the bench. Frank Thomas has a sore right elbow, a souvenir of his collision with a fence, and Jim Hickman has a damaged right thumb.

Houston got a tough break when John Bateman, a rookie catcher who figured to crack the opening day line-up, suffered a hairline fracture on a finger of his throwing hand.

San Francisco has not been able to get any help from Billy Hoeft, whose shoulder was injured in a fall and Philadelphia's plans have been jumbled by a rib injury to Roy Sievers and Tony Gonzalez' leg injury. The status of Art Mahaffey, slated to pitch opening day, remains doubtful. Mahaffey came up with a sore arm late in last season.

And so it goes across the land. Baltimore does not know how much help it can expect from Mike McCormick, the ex-Giant. Harmon Killebrew's right knee has been bothering him bit he expects to be swinging when the Minnesota Twins open. Washington also has been having problems with an injury to Jimmy Piersall. Kansas City's Dan Pfister has been having trouble with a sore elbow.

The season opens Monday with two specials. In the American League, the Washington Senators will be at home in the customary presidential opener against the Baltimore Orioles.

Cincinnati also will have its traditional home opener with Pittsburgh on Monday, a day ahead of the rest of the National League.

Tobes Are Major "A" Champions

Tobe's Pizza-Burgers captured the Major "A" Bowling League championship with a total of 131 points when they took the fourth quarter honors as the league schedule drew to a close last night.

Tobe's piled up 33 points to win the fourth quarter. They also took the first and second quarters while Mel Barrage Construction won the third quarter.

The final team standing shows the championship Tobe team with 131 points. Mel Barrage with 123, Labelle Electric with 109, Stewart Signs with 103, Belle Cleaners with 102, Pepsi-Cola with 100, Station Street Marketeria with 95 and Tip Top Cleaners in the basement with 19 points.

Excellent individual marks were also set during the schedule. Jim McKenzie had high triple of 1003, George Locke high single of 399 and Leo Labelle high average of 254.

Playoffs will begin next Thursday.

Following are last night's results:

Labelle Electric 4, Station Street Marketeria 3; Belle Cleaners 3, Tobe's Pizza-Burgers 3; Mel Barrage-Sentractor 7, Tip Top Cleaners 0; Pepsi-Cola 5, Stewart's Signs 2.

SUZE WINGS AND YOUNG

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman hockey fan filed $11,500 suit Thursday against Detroit Red Wings and defenceman Howie Young for injury she said was caused when Young angrily golfed a puck into the Chicago Stadium audience March 26. The suit in circuit court by Mrs. Elaine Bronars, 37, of Chicago said Young's action, during the National Hockey League Stanley Cup semi-final opener with Chicago Black Hawks caused the puck to strike her in the face, injuring her nose and mouth.

Germans Ma: Race Series In U.S.A.

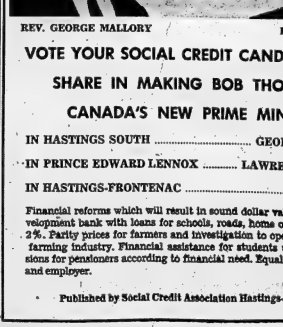
NEW YORK (AP) — The world-champion Ratzburg eight-oared crew of Germany probably will display its famed high-stroking technique in a series of races in the United States, April 29-May 18, a U.S. rowing official said Thursday.

"It looks like they're all set to come over," said Jack Sulger of New York, president of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.



"The Germans have agreed to come over but we still need a final okay. We have them tentatively entered in a series of races against club and college crews.

The Ratzburg eight won the world championship at Lucerne, Switzerland, last year in the exceptionally fast time of five minutes, 20.1 seconds for 2,000 meters—1 mile, 427 yards.

The St. Catharines, Ont., Rowing Club, one of Canada's top rowing groups, may get a crack at the German aces if they come to the U.S. One race in the tentative schedule would pit the Germans and Canadians against the New York Athletic Club at Travers Island, N.Y., May 4.

An official of the St. Catharines Club said it had agreed to send its eight-oared crew to the Travers Island race.

The St. Catharines crew will be the same as one that finished fifth against a Russian crew and U.S. college crews at Philadelphia last July 4 and later won the U.S. national regatta at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta at St. Catharines.

Have More Quality Players

Giants Favored Over Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—San Francisco Giants should repeat as National League champion.

Manager Alvin Dark's world series - hardened team looked like anything but a pennant contender this spring but it should start winning when the chips are down. The Giants simply have more quality ball players than any club in the league.

The predicted order of finish: 1. San Francisco, 2. Los Angeles, 3. Cincinnati, 4. Philadelphia, 5. St. Louis, 6. Pittsburgh, 7. Milwaukee, 8. Houston, 9. Chicago, 10. New York.

The Giants are blessed with the tough-to-beat combination of youth and ability everywhere but on the mound. And the pitching figures have not yet reached the stage where age should take much of a toll.

Jack Fisher, healthy and 26, adds a young arm to the four experienced starters, Jack Sanford (24-7), Juan Marichal (18-11), Billy Pierce (16-6) and Billy O'Dell (13-14). Lefty Billy Hoeft, useless all spring because of an arm injury, is expected to recover in time and team up with right-hander Don Larsen to head a strong bullpen.

MAYS STILL SUPREME

Willie Mays, at 31, is still supreme. The brilliant center fielder is flanked by Felipe Alou, a fullfledged star in his own right, in right field, and the left-righty combination of Willie McCovey and Harvey Kuenn in left. Kuenn, at 32 is the oldest.

Orlando Cepeda, Chuck Hiller, Jose Pagan and Jimmy Davenport form the youngest and strongest infield in the league. Hiller and Pagan, a questionable double play combination at this time a year ago, now are rated equal to any pair in the league.

There isn't a better catching pair around than young Tom Haller and veteran Ed Bailey.

The bench, headed by either Kuenn or McCovey, Matty Alou, Joe Amalfitano and Ernie Bowman, lacks only a right-handed long ball hitter.

Los Angeles Dodgers figure as the main contenders again but they may have rough sledding unless Bob Miller or somebody else comes through as a fourth starter. The departure of right-hander Stan Williams (14-12) leaves them a bit shy on the front line.

HAVE THREE TOP ONES

Sandy Koufax, apparently recovered from his finger ailment, 25-game winning Don Drysdale and veteran southpaw Johnny Podres should give the Dodgers the best three-man pitching in the league but at least two more starters are required over the long 162-game schedule.

Bill Skowron adds right-handed power to the Dodger lineup but in the final analysis, it was pitcher shortage not lack of batting strength, that cost the Dodgers the flag last year.

Cincinnati, a pennant winner in 1961 and a strong third place finisher last year, should be in the thick of the race again but the Reds may feel the lack of a reliable relief pitcher.

Philadelphia's Phillies moved out of the doldrums last year, finishing sixth, and should land even higher this year after a first division battle with Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Milwaukee.

AT THE PARK — "Lawbreakers"—These are the "Five Bold Women" in Color—beautiful but dangerous, showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre. On the same program, in Color, "The Trojan Horse", starring Steve Reeves. Both attractions are first showings. Continuous show Saturday, from 1.00 p.m.

Oscar Show Warm-Up Man Has Most Thankless Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've got the most thankless job in Hollywood," moans Hal Kanter. But next Monday night at the academy awards he'll be doing it again.

For the last five years Kanter has been the warm-up man at the Oscar event. "They had Claire Trevor do it one year, then they decided it was foolish to waste a name performer; so I was chosen," Kanter explained.

A top comedy writer for films (Rose Tattoo, Road to Bali) and television (the original George Gobel Show), Kanter has long helped in writing the Oscarcast. His added warm - up chore serves a purpose: To get the theatre audience settled and in a happy mood; to establish ground rules for—playing the game.

"I come on just before the telecast begins," he said. "Nobody listens to me. They're either taking off their wraps and waving to friends or they're up for awards and too nervous to hear anything."

Still, Kanter carries on. Among the points he tries to get across:

1. Winners should get to the stage as quickly as possible. As he said one year, "a track meet is what we really need . . . and a suitable reward awaits the winner who breaks the existing record for getting up here. That record is currently held by two stars who equalled the time posted in 1927 by Rin Tin Tin."

2. Acceptance speeches should be short, but not too short.

"We do not ask you to limit yourselves to a mere 'thank you'; we ask only that you keep showmanship in mind. You need not thank your agent, your tailor, or the studio cop who let you in the front gate. And please don't take this opportunity to say hello to the old high school civics teacher who put you in the class play. Send her a warm note of thanks later."

Masters Golf Tourney To Be TV'ed on Weekend

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Like Victoria Regina last season, NBC's Hall of Fame produced Thursday night, The Invincible Mr. Disraeli, was a series of vignettes than a play.

About two-thirds of the 90-minute program was primarily devoted to the British statesman's idyllic marriage and, incidentally, his rise from young member of Parliament to cabinet rank. During his last half hour, the widower Disraeli, at Victoria's prime minister, devoted himself to his Queen and swung a £20,000,000 loan which somehow made her Empress of India.

The handsome settings include a London Town house, a Victorian palace and the Halls of Parliament. But it was primarily a talky and rather static biography of a witty and clever statesman.

Mr. Disraeli, played by Trevor Howard with a quip or a well-rounded phrase on his lips, made speech after speech. Greer Garson, playing as usual the loving wife, aged magnificently if rather abruptly, it was not one of the Hall of Fame's greatest efforts.

The Masters golf tournament, with 84 of the world's greatest players competing for one of the sport's top prizes, will be televised Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Twelve cameras will be used on the first four holes. Four miles of cables run through special underground conduits and enough electricity will be consumed to light the homes in a city of 80,000.

Successful Living

(A Canadian Social Worker Helps with Human Problems)

Teenager With B. O. Problem

DEAR DORIS—My daughter 13 years of age has the so-called body odor problem. I talk to her so much I'm just sick, about my particular she should be as to washing and bathing and I get her every deodorant on the market. Yet when she comes home it is quite noticeable. She tells me every morning after taking well over half an hour to get ready for school, that she bathed well and used her deodorant, but she is the kind who tries to slip out of everything. Would you please tell me what to do?

DORIS CLARK

Alas, when she takes off her clothes she throws them on the floor, except her good ones, of course. I hang them up for her morning after morning when she leaves, but still she doesn't take the hint.—MRS. A. A.

DEAR MRS. A. A. — Susie's clothes will keep landing on the floor as long as she knows you will pick them up. One mother collected all such floor-strewn garments, put them in a large cardboard box in the basement just as crumpled as they had landed on the floor—stockings, shoes scarves, gloves, dresses, underwear. Kept on doing it, until one fine day the habit stopped abruptly!

As for the B.O.: Just let her sense a single pal or boy friend pulling away from her and she will start scrubbing in a hurry. If you want to write to me for a leaflet on good grooming, which she might find interesting, please do so, enclosing a five-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Million Seller

"COLD COLD HEART"

Artist To Appear In Film

"The TONY FONTANE Story"

is the unbelievable, yet true story of one of the world's greatest singers. Filmed in Hollywood by Youth Films, it is the first Christian, dramatic musical ever produced. The purpose of this feature length, color production is to dramatically present Tony Fontane's personal testimony, showing to teen-agers and adults alike that the answer to life and the hereafter is found only in the person of Jesus Christ.

Tony acquired nation-wide success when his hit record "Cold, Cold Heart," sold more than 3 million copies. He recorded other hits including "Syncopated Clock," "Bring Back the Thrill," and "Vanity." Two of his most outstanding albums were "Showboat" recorded with Dorothy Tucker, Patti Page, and Tony Martin, and "Sunny Side of the Street" recorded with Vic Damone, Frankie Lane, and Billie Daniels.

As guest soloist, Tony appeared on many national TV shows, as The Ed Sullivan Show, the Steve Allen Show, The Hoagie Carmichael Show, and many other New York and Hollywood programs. He was privileged to have his own radio and television show, "The Tony Fontane Show." As a tenor singing star, he attained international success appearing in the world's most famous night clubs and theatres.

Tony's wife, the former Kerry Vaughn, was a professional actress when she and Tony were married twelve years ago. After their marriage, Kerry continued performing on the stage and in night clubs around the world and appearing in many Hollywood motion pictures.

It was a peaceful, sunny September afternoon in 1957 as Tony Fontane, filled with the excitement and satisfaction of a successful rehearsal for a TV network show, was driving in the San Fernando Valley. Suddenly there was an ear-splitting crash. Everything went black. Many days later, Tony regained consciousness. It was this automobile crash that brought Tony, Kerry, and their daughter, Char'se, to a knowledge of Jesus Christ. For their new-found Lord, they left their lucrative careers to enter full-time Christian work.

Tony and Kerry have dedicated their God-given talents to the service of their Saviour and use these talents to portray themselves in this motion picture epic. R.C.A. Victor has recorded a souvenir album of the songs used in this motion picture, entitled "Songs From the Tony Fontane Story." The prayer on the back cover of the album was written by Dr. Billy Graham. A quote from that is as follows: "The Bible says, 'I will sing a new song.' Certainly this is true of Tony Fontane. This music portrays in the language of the soul the message which I also proclaim—the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Billy Zeoli, Vice-President of Youth Films, spent two and a half years in organization and preparation for the tremendous task of capturing on motion picture the potential impact of this story.

Rumor Pirates Make Slaves Of Two Women

MANILA (Reuters) — The British embassy is investigating reports from Jolo in southern Philippines, that pirates had kidnapped two British women and forced them to live "in slavery."

A spokesman said embassy officials first heard rumors that the pirates had captured a vessel, killed the crew and seized two women while in the area about two weeks ago. The raid was said to have taken place several months ago.

He said an air search had revealed a small launch beached in the Parangan area, but there were no signs of people near it. The embassy had no official word that any British vessel was missing or that British women had been in the region, the spokesman said.

Jolo is a Filipino island midway between Mindanao and Borneo. It is part of the Sulu archipelago.

Eldorado

ELDORADO—Mr. Robert Dargan (Jr.) of Roberts Wesleyan College, North Chile, U.S., spent Wednesday with his grandfather, Mr. Milford Stevenson.

Mr. Don Fox, of Toronto, was a weekend boost of his father, Mr. James Fox.

To the ELECTORS of HASTINGS-FRONTENAC

ROD WEBB, M.P.
Hastings-Frontenac.

The election on April 8th, will be the most important election in Canadian History.

It will be an election to decide the future of Canada, and the future of all Canadians.

Is it not time that as a nation we stand up for our sovereignty, our entitlement to free speech, our right to make our own decisions?

The true facts are that never in our history has there been such development, progress and upsurge in our economy as there has been under the Diefenbaker Government.

In this campaign as in the one of June 1962, the Liberal party has had unlimited funds for TV, radio and paper advertising. The Liberal party has everything that money can buy, but thank God regardless of wealth, you cannot buy honesty, faith, an understanding of people and humanity. These possessions come only from experience and living with the people.

OUR CANDIDATE

A new $2,000,000.00 addition to the Minnesota Mining Company at Haveiock, Ontario.

A new multi-million dollar expansion program at Bethlehem Steel Company, Marmora, Ontario.

Such undertakings are only decided upon after thorough investigation as to the future projects of business and sales. This is just another example of the faith and trust these large firms must have had in the present government and its policies.

New Technical Trade Schools being built in the Riding. These schools are to give our young people the same opportunity to learn trades as they have in the city schools. The total cost of construction of these schools is paid 75% by the Federal Government and 25% by the Provincial Government. Ask the school boards who assisted them.

ROD WEBB with the assistance of the people of Bancroft has kept the Uranium mines open while other mines have been closed. The Liberal party is guilty in that when they were in office they only signed short term contracts for our uranium. Hundreds and hundreds of our disabled, elderly and rural residents have for the first time been given mail delivery. This service was denied by the Liberal government.

ROD WEBB has secured employment and positions for many of the people of the Riding.

ROD WEBB makes no rash promises just for the sake of vote catching.

ROD WEBB travels his riding continually. He does not appear just at election time.

ROD WEBB has continually held the record for attendance in the House of Commons and at Committee Meetings.

ROD WEBB answers your letters the day that he receives them.

ROD WEBB realizes that he is a servant of the people.
ROD WEBB does not ridicule the other candidates.
ROD WEBB respectfully solicits your vote on April 8.

WEBB WORKS WHILE OTHERS TALK

ON MONDAY - APRIL 8th

Astrological Forecast

FOR APRIL 6

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): You feel relief from recent pressures. There is humor, beauty surrounding you. Dissolve problems in bath of understanding, laughter, sympathy. Give your best. See the best in others.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Fine, romantic evening indicated - - - made so by your companions. No matter what your age, be young tonight! On more practical level, attend to details involving travel, vacation plans.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Turn down invitation if it features those who like to argue. Key tonight is relaxation, pleasant surroundings. Your own sense of security highlighted.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Excellent for short journeys, dealing with children. You also can make successful appeals for worthwhile projects. Be true to yourself. Trust intuition - - - indicating ability to "spot a phony."

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 21): Very necessary that you settle important factors in your own mind now. Only then can you take any kind of outgoing action. Means evening should feature reading, intelligent discussion.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Key is added independence. Means make up your own mind. Please yourself as well as family members. Choose with care, including companions. You can get what you want. Trick is to know what you desire.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Take care in dealing with friends and their problems. Some who ordinarily laugh at your quips are ultra-sensitive. A word in the wise should be sufficient! Be sure you are not misrepresented.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Fine for shopping, getting around, participating in civic groups. Good for attending theatre, dining out, meeting people with mutual interests. Share ideas, make new friends.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec 21): You can gain prestige - - - if you follow through on suggestions. Means superiors, older individuals point the way. Up to you to treat actual path. Conservative course gets you there faster - - - and in one piece.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Utilize process of elimination in your logic. Means add up two-plus-two. If your answer is not "four," find out why! Your dreams of future closer to fulfillment than you might imagine.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some hidden resources come into sight. Means your bargaining position better today than expected. Make move which catapults you out of rut, and plan ahead from there.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): No one trying to fool you, so don't deceive yourself. Snap out of it! Toss gloom aside. Make loved one happy. Wonderful for checking plans and relaxing.

If Today Is Your Birthday - - - you are home-lovers, desire harmony, but are willing to battle for principles. Musical talent is indicated.

* * *

General Tendencies: Cycle up for Virgo, Libra, Scorpio. Day when poetic elements blend with material ones. Governments likely to make news through their artists, writers, poets.

Literary critics across Canada acclaim this book as a work of art. However, many adults object to it on the grounds that it can harm teen-age morality. Teen-Age Canada today examines censorship in literature.

Teen-Age Canada

Intelligent Students Can Judge Own Books

By JACK HUTTON

A teen age friend who recently visited his local library in search of a book he'd heard about was greeted with a frozen smile when he mentioned its name.

"Are you sure you want to read that?" he was asked.

My friend, who hates to hear that he can't do something, blotly retorted that he did. As he said later: "Sure, it turned out to be a lousy book. But at least I formed my own judgment."

How much censorship of books should there be for teenagers in Canada? That's a question that deserves a great many parents and educators — not to mention the teen-agers — across the country.

Did you know that in some parts of North America today teachers are forbidden to recommend The Sun Also Rises by Ernest Hemingway, 1984 by George Orwell, or Brave New World by Aldous Huxley.

CANADA, TOO

Does this happen only in parts of the U.S.? The answer is no. How many teachers in Canada are brave enough to recommend Catcher in the Rye by J. D. Salinger for their senior students?

In fact, a teen-ager just can't avoid being mired up in every book controversy that comes along. How many times have you heard an adult say, "It's fine for me to read this book — but what if the teen-agers see it?"

Many times, of course, the adult is right. I can think of a hand-ful several books which I wouldn't recommend for anyone without the right degree of maturity.

I asked a librarian friend how he would advise a teen-ager whose parents had turned thumbs down on a certain book.

"First," he said, "I'd ask the teen-ager to analyze his or her own motives. If he's reading the book just to establish independence or to be a rebel, the parent is probably right.

But if he wants to read the book because he thinks it has merit, go back to the parents. Ask them why they object.. It may be that after re-reading the book, they'll find their first impressions were wrong.

"After all, many books which were only whispered about 20 years ago are classics today. I've known parents to be shocked when a book that they remember as banned turns up on their son or daughter's required reading list at college."

REAL PROBLEM

The speaker paused. "To be honest," he said, "I'm not terribly worried by this problem. My concern is that more people — both teenagers and adults — don't do enough reading."

"Rather than forbidding a teen-ager to read a book which I know he or she will find somehow anyway, I would loan him or her my copy and make sure that we discuss it later in a frank, mature way.

"My point is that I'm delighted at any time if a young person is interested in poking through many corners of literature, comparing authors, styles of writing, and what they have to say.

"Any person who reads a great deal is able to place any book in its right context, comparing it to others that are still on our shelves after hundreds of years. If a book is trash, he'll know that."

There is one man's opinion on the books which teen-agers should or shouldn't read. What is yours?

TEEN MUSIC

How many young musicians in Canada can sit down and play back a record they've made themselves—and which has four of their own compositions?

Danny Orsini, 13, Roberto Orsini, 12, and Robert Perron, 16, have been playing for weddings, banquets and similar occasions around Montreal for two years.

MORE

This week an album named after their group (The Melody Makers) is being released across Canada. If you get a chance to hear them, Danny and Roberto are playing the guitars. Robert is the man on the drums.

MAGIC FIGURES

Since we've talked of books people don't want you to read I should mention one which I'd advise for anyone. It's The Language of Mathematics, by Dr. Frank Land (Doubleday, $3.95).

Dr. Land has done a masterful job of showing how mathematics enter into almost many things—the shapes of seashells, the orbit of satellites, or the pattern of flower petals.

The book was written for adults, but can be understood by anyone who can count up to 10. Read it and you'll never look at the world in quite the same way again.

TOP TWENTY TUNES

1. Rhythm Of The Rain — The Cascades; 2. Blame It On The Bossa Nova — Eydie Gorme; 3. Our Day Will Come — Ruby & Romantics; 4. Greenback Dollar —Kingston Trio; 5. End Of The World — Skeeter Davis; 6. You're The Reason I'm Living — Bobby Darin; 7. I Wanna Be Around—Tony Bennett; 8. Hey Paula—Paul & Paula; 9. Globetrottin' — The Tornadoes; 10. Our Winter Love—Bill Pursell; 11. # When It Is Election Time Nelson Castonguay's Quiet Any Other Man's Madhouse

By KEN KELLY -

OTTAWA (CP) — What amounts to a quiet period in Nelson Castonguay's would be murder to the average man.

"Our biggest rush until last week was nomination day," said the boss of Canada's election machinery. "Then it was quiet."

This week the tempo picked up again as the April 8 election day drew near. As listener in his office was punctuated by a rapid-fire string of telephone calls from persons with problems that only Canada's chief electoral officer can solve.

As soon as an election is called, the 49 - year - old Mr. Castonguay goes on a 14-hour day, seven days a week, filled with a staggering number and variety of problems.

He makes a note of every phone call. Since the current election was called Feb. 6, he has filled every page of two stenographic notepads — about five calls to a page — and is well into his third pad.

Through it all, Nelson Castonguay, a handsome, dark-haired man of medium height with flashing eyes, remains good humored. He's an extrovert who appreciates the light side of even the toughest situation and has a ready smile.

NEVER ENDS

Election day is really never over for him. On April 9 he will have to decide whether to order immediate printing of tons of election supplies or whether some of this work can be put off a while in favor of some of his other tasks.

Election of a minority government April 8 would mean immediate preparation so that the machinery would be ready in case there were another vote in a few months. A majority government would mean he couldn't count on a reasonable period to prepare for the next election.

Even majority government only lightens his load. Just to illustrate, there was the last Parliament's post - election review of the Canada Elections Act, which usually takes two sessions, and the detailed statistical report on the election running about 1,000 pages which he must submit to Parliament.

There has been a Castonguay involved in Canadian elections since 1908. That year his father, Jules moved into the office of the clerk of the crown in chancery who conducted federal elections until 1921 when the post of chief electoral officer was created.

STARTED AT 23

Jules Castonguay succeeded as first chief electoral officer, Col. O. M. Biggar, in 1927, and during 2 years in the position controlled three general elections. The elder Castonguay died in February, 1958.

Nelson, who started in the electoral office in 1934 as a messenger, has been chief since the age of 35 and in 14 years has matched his father's record.

While he ranks with a deputy minister, he enjoys considerably greater autonomy. He is appointed by resolution of the Commons and may be removed only by a two-thirds vote. Deputy ministers are appointed by the prime minister who may remove them.

Practically everything the chief electoral officer does is pointed toward the crucial 60-odd days during which Canadian voters are weighing the merits of the various political candidates and, finally, making their selections at the polls.

But Mr. Castonguay, along with judges, prisoners and some persons in mental institutions, has no vote.

"I'm one of an exclusive group," he says.

An animated conversationalist and a stickler for detail, he spends much each day during the campaign with the phone perched on a shoulder-holder puffing on a cigarette as he makes notes and deals with problems requiring decisions—decisions which the law says only he can make.

STRED OFFICIALS

For example, there was this problem in 1962.

Five women running one poll swore each other to secrecy and counted the advance poll ballots before the June 18 election day. The news of the early vote count got out.

Mr. Castonguay, realising such happenings could influence other voters on the regular voting day crushed down hard, firing the deputy returning officer and the poll clerk and depriving them of their pay.

The fact that he must deal personally with situations in any part of the country practically demands that he be bilingual. He's equally at home in French or English, and just as tough in either tongue.

"Yes, but what are the facts?" he demands after hearing a long explanation of a problem from one worried returning officer.

The election means Mr. Castonguay sees his family only between 6 and 7:30 p.m. when he manages to get home for supper — no matter how piled up things are at the office. He's had two nights—and no days—off since Feb. 6.

He was married in 1939 to the former Jeanette Workman of Ottawa and they have four children—Lynne, being married here April 27 to John Garvin Watters of Vancouver; William, 18, Peter, 16, and Sandy, 6.

Peter is attending Bishop's College School at Lennoxville, Que., where, of course, he is chief electoral officer for the school's election.

A third Castonguay for Canada's chief electoral office?

"He likes our quiet periods but not the busy ones," says Mr. Castonguay. "I don't think he'll be a third Castonguay as chief electoral officer."

HE CAN'T VOTE — Nelson Castonguay, boss of Canada's federal election machinery, won't be casting a ballot in the April 8 general election. Judges, prisoners and most mental patients also have no vote. (CP Photo)

2nd Sidney

END OF SIDNEY—Mrs. Walter Treverton of Plainfield, was a caller of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sickle, on Sunday afternoon.

Monday's Vote Fourth Election In Six Years

1,023 Candidates Seek 265 Seats in Commons

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It is doubtless an exaggeration to say you can get writer's cramp in the polling booth but Canadians mark ballots Monday in their fourth federal election in less than six years.

All the party leaders in the current campaign have attended to the possibility of another majority government — which would be the third since 1957— so there's no guarantees there won't be another election before the normal four-year term of the 26th parliament runs its course.

Polling hours Monday are from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. local Standard Time for a record 9,875,473 eligible voters. Chief Electoral officer Nelson Castonguay has predicted a record turnout of at least 80 per cent.

IS RECORD NUMBER

A record 1,023 candidates are battling for the 265 commons seats. The Conservatives and Liberals nominated full slates. The New Democratic Party has 232 candidates, Social Credit 224. There are 12 Communists and 25 Independents. Previous record number of candidates was 1,016 in 1962.

Standings in the Commons after the June 18, 1962, election: Conservatives 116, Liberals 100, Social Credit 30, New Democratic Party 19.

If the standings are still close Monday night, the issue could be settled by the armed forces vote, taken this week and to be announced by Mr. Castonguay the Saturday or Sunday after election day. In 1962, it was 63.5 per cent Liberal and cost the Conservatives two seats. The same vote in each riding is added to the civilian result. Otherwise the result, the campaign has been hectic from start to finish. All party leaders have drawn crowds and heckling was pronounced in the final weeks.

Political broadcasting ended at midnight Friday night by law and the final campaigning Saturday and Sunday has been restricted to the stump speech.

WOULD KNOW SOON

Because Quebec and Ontario have 160 seats combined, the election result could be known hours or even days after polls close in those provinces. Minimum number of seats required to form a majority government is 133.

However, if the vote is as close as it was last year it may be several hours before the outcome is known.

The campaign has revolved mainly around these issues: an (Continued on Page 8)

Quebec Wonders What Monday's Vote Will Bring

MONTREAL (CP)—The campaign for Monday's election is winding up on a note of uncertainty among Quebecers, mainly because the province's electors have broken with tradition and their mood has become unpredictable.

Many are wondering whether Quebec's history of generally one-sided support to either of the two major parties will be upset still further by the third parties.

Social Credit smashed the tradition last year by capturing 26 of Quebec's 75 seats in the Commons, leaving the Liberals with 35 and Progressive Conservatives with 14. In 1958 the Conservatives had 50 and Liberals 25.

This year, the New Democratic Party has come on the political stage in Quebec with more candidates—60—and more evidence of popular support than it or its predecessor, the CCF, ever had.

Members of the other parties seem to agree that the NDP will at least double its share of the Quebec popular vote — about 90,000 or 4.2 per cent last year —but they do not concede it its first seats in Quebec.

The 3,400,000 eligible voters in the province are witnessing a four-party fight in 60 ridings, the number of NDP candidates. The Progressive Conservatives, Liberals and Social Crediters have full slates of 75 candidates. Two independents bring the total to a record 295 candidates.

Arrests Halt Integrationists' Mass Rally

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Negro integrationists cancelled a mass march Friday after 10 persons were arrested in two sit-ins at white lunch counters.

Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker said there had been plans for "a big surprise—a mass march." He gave no explanation for calling off the march or further demonstrations by Negroes who move into the counters and sit even though refused service.

BRITISH, U. S. FORCES BUSY HUNTING EXILES

Lonely Isle Combed For Munitions Dump

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Elusive Cuban exiles kept United States and British forces hopping today to rid the keys of Florida and the Bahamas of guerrillas bent on harassing Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

British marines combed lonely Williams Cay, 70 miles southwest of Nassau, for munitions or other supplies believed cached there by unidentified men who fled at their approach.

Reinforced air and sea units of the U.S. Coast Guard watched for seaborne departures by small craft that often have proved to be carrying anti-Castro fighters.

A Cuban raider, the 35-foot motor boat Vivlyn III arrived in Miami Friday with a party of 17.

The men were detained in the Bahamas for three days before they were released by British immigration officials.

The only English - speaking member of the crew claimed the Vivlyn III refused a coast guard cutter captain's demand that the raiders allow their boat to be boarded near the edge of Bahamaian territorial waters.

The boat had been "shadowed" on its Nassau-to-Miami voyage by Coast Guard planes.

WON'T PERMIT BOARDERS

Jerry Buchanan, 24, of Miami, was quoted by his brother, Mr. Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel reporter, as saying that Evelio Duque, commander of the Vivlyn III, had him reply that in no case would boarders be permitted on the little craft, but that it would obey the cutter's request to proceed toward Miami.

Two U.S. citizens in the crew were questioned and released by immigration officials.

"I have plans to keep fighting communism and if this means fighting the Cuban regime, yes," Buchanan said.

His shipmate, Ramon Sanchez, said he will keep on fighting; he will fight any way possible until Cuba is free."

Duque and 14 other Cubans held overnight at an immigration detention center here were ex-officers of the three opposition groups which combined to defeat the Conservatives on two votes of non-confidence.

If a prime minister's followers are outnumbered by another party, he might reasonably could then recommend that one of his own colleagues form a government rather than the opposition party in office. Or the Governor - General could ask the leader of the numerically strongest party to form a government.

All four party leaders in the current election campaign have already stated the idea of outright coalition.

Constitutional authorities say they doubt whether a recommendation to the Governor-General for another election — it could be held within 12 months—would be an acceptable course if no one gets a majority Monday.

In the 1957 election when the

Charge Finance Man With Theft

HAMILTON (CP) — Andrew Miko, 39, manager of the James Street branch of the Beneficial Finance Company, was charged with theft by conversion Friday after a shortage of several thousand dollars was discovered in the branch's accounts.

Miko, an employee of the company for 13 years, is to appear in court Monday. Police said it will be several days before auditors can say exactly how much money is missing.

Raucous University Students Jeer Caouette at Montreal

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two huge rallies in Toronto and Montreal—and some quiet talking elsewhere — featured Friday night's electioneering as the campaign neared its close.

Liberal Leader Pearson, buoyed by a cheering crowd of 16,000 in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens and another 4,000 in an overflow hall nearby, declared that his hour has arrived to become prime minister.

In Montreal, some 300 raucous university students created near-bedlam at a 15,000-person rally for Real Caouette and the deputy Social Credit leader angrily threw back at the demonstrators their "Hitler" cry.

Meanwhile Prime Minister Diefenbaker, speaking at Stratford, was rejecting Liberal criticisms that his campaign has been anti-American.

May it never be said, he told an audience of 1,500, "that a prime minister of Canada, when he speaks out for Canada, is against any other nation."

For the other party leaders, the last stages of campaigning were quieter.

Social Credit Leader Thompson, speaking at Barrie, Ont., revised his earlier predictions of a minority Social Credit government and said his party will win a majority in Monday's vote.

New Democratic Leader Douglas engaged in a half-hour television debate in Vancouver with his Liberal rival in Burnaby-Coquitlam constituency, Tom Kent and then attended a social gathering in his riding.

A legal ban on political broadcasting went into effect at midnight Friday night.

Only the party leaders—with Mr. Diefenbaker an exception —planned to do little or no speech making.

The Progressive Conservative leader had a busy day of whistle-stop travel in southern Ontario, with speeches at Goderich and Sarnia, before flying to a home riding of Prince Albert, Sask.

Mr. Pearson returned to Ottawa and Mr. Thompson to Red Deer, Alta., where they will be election night Monday. The Liberal leader had no campaigning scheduled today and the Social Credit leader planned to make some personal movies at Rocky Mountain House, Alta., tonight.

Mr. Douglas planned a day of a number of small gatherings in his constituency.

PM Could Stay in Office Even if Party Not Largest

OTTAWA (CP) — What happens if no party wins an overall majority in Canada's federal election?

Basically in such situations it's up to the prime minister to choose one of several alternatives.

Constitutional authorities here say the prime minister may:

1. Continue in office.

2. Resign and advise the Governor-General to ask someone else to form a government.

3. Ask the Governor-General to dissolve Parliament for a new election.

If the prime minister may choose to remain in office whether or not his party has the largest number of seats. Prime Minister Diefenbaker chose to remain in office after the 1962 election when his party emerged with members, largest group in the 265-member House but short of majority.

Parliament met Sept. 27 and the government was able to carry on with the support, sometimes one or other of the three opposition groups which combined to defeat the Conservatives on two votes of non-confidence.

If a prime minister's followers are outnumbered by another party, he might reasonably could then recommend that one of his own colleagues form a government rather than the opposition party in office. Or the Governor - General could ask the leader of the numerically strongest party to form a government.

All four party leaders in the current election campaign have already stated the idea of outright coalition.

Constitutional authorities say they doubt whether a recommendation to the Governor-General for another election — it could be held within 12 months—would be an acceptable course if no one gets a majority Monday.

In the 1957 election when the Liberals won 105 seats, the Conservatives 111, CCF 25 and Social Credit 19, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of the Liberal administration resigned. There were two independents, two independent Liberals and one independent Progressive Conservative.

Diefenbaker succeeded Mr. St. Laurent and formed his Conservative ministry.

Former Prime Minister King's Liberal government won 101 seats to 116 for the Conservatives in the 245-seat House and won 24 Progressives and four others.

Mr. King chose to stay in office and meet Parliament.

In mid-1926, after the Liberals lost President Kennedy to Mr. King's request for an election. Mr. King resigned and Arthur Meighen formed a conservative government. It was defeated on a no-confidence vote in the Commons three days later and another election followed.

What, No Moose Molars, Shark's Ears?

NEW YORK (AP)—When the Explorers Club has a dinner, you can expect something "different" to eat.

At the club's annual dinner Friday night, about 1,200 Explorers and friends savored the following:

Polar bear sweetbreads, pate of deer and seal livers, grilled gull's eyes, and ground squirrel stew.

Also on the chakuis (Swahili for menu) was bisque of Mississippi crew fish, roast prime ribs of Brahman beef, baked stuffed iguana and potatoes, French string beans Amandine and Southern Cross salad.

100 Policemen Raid New York Book Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 100 policemen raided three Greenwich Village firms Friday in what an official described as a "crackdown on a $10,000,000 yearly business in filth for filth's sake."

We have hit several warehouses filled with literature," said Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy. "We have been in the police department, I've never seen such obscenity."

The raided firms were Allstate Incorporated, a branch of Blake Pharmaceutical Company, of Chicago, Ill.; Nova Distributors and G. I. Distributors, both of Long Island City. Officials said some Blake Pharmaceutical officers have been indicted on obscenity charge in Illinois.

Arrested—and charged with distributing pornographic literature were Irving J. Herman, 48, of North Bellmore, N.Y., president of Allstate Incorporated, Alvin Druss, 39, of Brooklyn, G. I.'s secretary - treasurer; Theodore Gottlieb, 39, of Little Neck, N.Y., vice-president of Liberty News; and Richard Mead, 47, of Flushing, N.Y., manager of Allstate.

The slick - paper books had such titles as Twisted Sinner, Flesh Fit, Lust Job, and High School Sex Club. Officials said they were sold for 75 cents to $1.10 each.

CHURCHILL TO ATTEND

LONDON (Reuters) — Randolph Churchill said here Friday he had accepted an invitation from President Kennedy to attend the White House ceremony conferring honorary United States citizenship next Tuesday on his father Sir Winston Churchill. Randolph Churchill, a journalist and writer, will leave here for Washington Sunday with his 23-year-old son Winston, who will also attend the ceremony.

MOON LUNIK IV SILENT TODAY, SO ARE SOVIETS

Should Have Completed Mission

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Lunik IV was silent today, but no more so than the Russians who launched it towards the moon in a blaze of publicity.

Pravda printed only a brief Tass dispatch with a cursory account of where the much-touted moon ship was at 10 a.m. EST Friday. The radio was quiet, too.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said it picked up 44 minutes of beeps from it Friday night.

These reports said Lunik IV was then within 10,000 miles of the moon—its target—which it should reach in early Sunday. But that was all, although the craft, launched Tuesday, should have completed its mission by now.

The silence could mean the space vessel has failed in its task or it could merely mean that the Russians are following a past pattern of announcing results in their own good time.

Federal Regime Given One Year To Meet Demand

Asks at Least Quarter Income, Company Taxes

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Lesage has laid down a virtual ultimatum to the next federal government to turn over a minimum of 25 per cent of income and corporation taxes collected in Quebec to the provincial government.

In a budget speech Friday night heavily flavored with election spices, Mr. Lesage reviewed the fiscal policies of the four federal governments—the "three serious parties" and Social Credit—and indicated a preference for the Liberals' fiscal platform.

The premier gave the next government—no matter which party forms it—one year to meet Quebec's demands on federal-provincial fiscal problems.

The speech immediately prompted a round of speculation in parliamentary circles that Mr. Lesage would impose double taxation up to 25 per cent unless his requirements are met.

ISSUES WARNING

He ended his 2¼-hour speech with this warning:

"Either the central government, which ever party is elected April 8 . . . 12 months will have taken into account the demands of Quebec or else Quebec will have seen to it, during the same period, that necessary decision in fiscal matters will have been taken. . . ."

Mr. Lesage, who had previously broken new with vast traditions in the premiership by declaring himself in favor of the Liberals in the federal campaign, said there were many elements in the party's program "which correspond on the whole to the demands of the government of Quebec, at least to its present demands."

He said the federal party recognizes the "principle of fiscal decentralization."

The speech announced no change in personal or corporation taxes for the fiscal year which started last Monday. But it did announce an increase in gasoline taxes of two cents a gallon, which took effect at midnight. The gasoline tax now is 15 cents a gallon in Quebec. Before the tax hike, gasoline costs in Montreal were 37 cents a gallon for regular and 42 cents for premium.

The premier also announced an increase, for the second year in a row, in the tax on diesel fuel which rises to 21 cents a gallon from 18½. Last year it was increased by 3½ cents.

SEEK MORE TAXES

Mr. Lesage—also Quebec's finance minister—said that within the coming year the federal government must turn over 25 per cent of personal income taxes collected in Quebec, 25 per cent of corporation taxes and all succession duties. These were "the minimum fiscal powers Quebec is demanding at the moment," he emphasized.

At present, Quebec collects

Toronto Mother Wins Right to Take Son Home

LONDON (Reuters)—A High Court Judge Friday granted a Toronto mother permission to take home her two-year-old son, brought to England by his father.

The court ruling terminated successfully the three - week quest of attractive Mrs. Ursula Wiggins, 27, to recover her son Bruce. It began March 17 when her estranged husband, Toronto debt collector John Wiggins, 28, sailed at her home for the boy, ostensibly to take him to church. Wiggins took the lad to England, where his family lives.

Mrs. Wiggins came to Britain, had the boy made a ward of court and, with the help of the British newspapers, father and son were found.

Bruce, who has contracted measles, was in an isolation hospital. He will go home when he has recovered.

Charge 20,000 Are Made Ill By Poison Spray

LONDON (Reuters) — Communist North Viet Nam charged Friday that "20,000 persons, many of whom died, were poisoned by chemicals used by Americans" in the South Viet Nam guerrilla war, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Tass said that at a press conference the North Vietnamese charge d'affaires in Moscow, Do Fat Kuang, read a statement also issued at Hanoi by the North Vietnamese foreign ministry on the spreading of poisonous chemicals in South Viet Nam.

(The United States has used chemical sprays to kill foliage in which Communist guerrillas hide but it claims they are harmless to humans and animals.)

Army of 100,000 Will Struggle To Provide Election Result News

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Press and its 101 member newspapers will team up with the telegraph companies and thousands of electoral workers to provide Canadians with federal election results Monday night.

An army of about 100,000 persons will collect, tabulate and report on the millions of ballots —possibly some 8,000,000 — to produce a rapid and comprehensive election picture which will reach the public through newspapers, television and radio.

Ballot boxes will be opened at 7 p.m. local standard time when the polls close. From that moment, about 97,000 electoral officials and returning officers will provide progressive voting counts to newspaper correspondents in each constituency. The telegraph companies, with a vast communications network, will feed these returns to CP's news wires across the country. A specially-staffed staff at CP's head office in Toronto will turn out a fast flow of progressive results which will be relayed to CBC for television and radio and through Broadcast News, a CP subsidiary to 251 private broadcasting stations over their 9,000-mile wire network.

First progressive returns will start moving on news wires Monday night shortly after polls close in Newfoundland — 5:30 p.m. EST.

Closeness of results will de-

Former Olympic Skier Murdered

Body of Blonde Strewn About Room

RENO, Nev. (AP)—The brutally mutilated body of a blonde former Olympic skier for Britain, Sonja McCaskie, 24, was found strewn about her Reno apartment Friday night.

Police chief Elmer A. Briscoe, who made the identification, said Miss McCaskie had been decapitated.

Briscoe said the victim's head was on the floor two feet from the mutilated trunk. Officers found a soiled blanket in the centre of the room. When they unrolled it, her severed feet fell out.

A cedar chest in the bedroom yielded her nude body. Three kitchen knives were stuck in her torso. Beneath the body was her head wrapped in white undergarments and a lace tablecloth.

In relating the details, Briscoe said his officers "couldn't help gagging at what they saw.

"This is the very worst murder case we have ever had. She apparently had been tortured before she was killed."

Officers found blood - stained rags in the bathroom and in the kitchen. But there were no signs of a violent struggle and neighbors had heard no screams or unusual noises.

The body was found after a baby - sitter caring for Miss McCaskie's one-year-old son became worried when the attractive blue-eyed skier failed to come for the child.

Miss McCaskie had been married to a Jeff Schmidt and later divorced, Briscoe said. Officers did not know Schmidt's whereabouts, and had no leads as to the murderer's suspects.

The dead girl competed in the Alpine events of the 1960 winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., about 40 miles west of Reno.

Miss McCaskie was born in Scotland in 1939. She was graduated from a California high school near Squaw Valley about six years ago, and taught skiing at Reno this past winter.

Overflow Audience Greets Grills at Shannonville

Enthusiasm was at a high pitch last evening at a large Progressive-Conservative rally held in the Town Hall, Shannonville.

Lee Grills, P-C candidate for South Hastings was in fine speaking form as he addressed the overflow audience. The rally was organized by the P-C Association of Hastings-Prince and was billed as a "Lee Grills' Night."

Mr. Grills complimented the officers of the association on the organization and work that they had done in planning such an excellent gathering.

He stated he had travelled throughout the riding during recent days and found district industries working at capacity. Lee quoted from a survey compiled by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, concerning 172 different manufacturing items. Of this total, 166 showed marked production increases in 1962 over 1961, and are doing even better so far this year.

MORE CHEESE FACTORIES

Speaking on agriculture, the policies of the government, he said that three new amalgamated cheese factories had been formed in the riding and had benefited from federal grants to the extent of more than $133,000. It is the policy of the government, he said, to encourage diversification of milk for the manufacture of cheese to help fill world market demands, and this in turn helps reduce butter surpluses on the market. Federal grants of $50,000 have been received to help in the establishment of a co-operative storage plant in Trenton. In addition a $50,000 grant has been approved for the construction of a cheese storage plant in the riding.

An important aid to farmers was outlined by Mr. Grills, when he stated that feed grain was being shipped from the west to the head of the lakes, and that grain bonds for shipment to the storage facilities on Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River. The savings in transportation costs is permitting lower feed costs for our farmers. This alone justified an optimistic outlook for the future, a far cry from the "doom and gloom" country of one of the Liberal party speakers.

Mr. Grills assured his listeners that he and the government were devoted to looking after the needs of senior citizens and would continue to keep this to the fore. He asked that all his listeners write to him on Monday, the 8th, by marking an "X" opposite the name Lee Grills on their ballot, so that he might continue to serve all the people of South Hastings.

Mr. Delbert Harvey, president of the Tyendinaga P. C. Association, acted as chairman of the meeting. Jack Ireland, riding associate president, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Grills and Betty Grills.

EXPERIENCED MEEKER

He stressed the slogan, "Never Before Has One Done More" and that Lee is an experienced servant of parliament and that his record speaks for itself.

Murray Clarke Long brought greetings and paid tribute to Mr. Grills' achievements.

Wilding secretary, Raymond Gunsolus, spoke briefly and stated Lee Grills was one of the finest members of parliament in all Canada. He told the audience of the high respect held for Lee by his fellow members and the staff of the House of Commons.

The early part of the evening was spent playing euchre followed by lunch and dancing.

Historical Society Will Meet Tuesday

Belleville has long been known as an educational centre. This has resulted from the setting up of Albert College in 1857, the establishment of the Ontario School for the Deaf in the early 1870's, and the founding of the Ontario Business College almost a century ago.

Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, Miss Ruth Nightingale, principal of the Ontario Business College, will outline the growth of that school over the last century at a meeting of the Hastings County Historical Society in the Corby Library Auditorium. Mr. Rodger Greig will show colored slides of the 1962 Centennial Puppet Display held at the Hastings County Museum. Mr. Greig was in charge of arrangements for that display.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

AINLEY RESIGNS

BRISTOL, England (CP) — Richard A. Ainley, who three years ago adjudicated the Canadian Drama Festival finals, has resigned his position as principal of the Bristol Old Vic theatre school.

Folks Over 45 Play Big Role In Vote Result

OTTAWA (CP)—People aged 45 and over will play a more significant role in Monday's voting than in any federal general election since women were given the vote in 1921.

In 1921 people 45 and over made up 36.2 per cent of the population of voting age, 21 and over. It is estimated that they now constitute about 45 per cent.

But once again, as in every election since 1921, the decisive ruling force is made up of persons in the 30-year age span from 25 to 34. They now make up 64.5 per cent of people of voting age, compared with their high of 68.4 per cent in 1921 and their low of 64.1 per cent in the census year 1941.

Since records are not available of ages of people listed as eligible voters, these proportions are worked out from census reports and estimates covering various age groups.

There are wide differences between the 1921 eligible electors and the population. In 1962, about 79 per cent of voters' lists for the June 18 election was 9,700,325 yet the population aged 21 and over on June 1 was 10,493,700. Thus proportions based on population statistics may not apply precisely to the voters' lists. However, they are looked on as reasonably close to accurate.

TREND TO ELDERLY

The proportions by age groups since 1921 show a gradual trend in favor of older people.

Persons 70 and over now form close to nine per cent of people of voting age, rising steadily from 3.2 per cent in 1921. People 65 to 69 now run 4.8 per cent, a low of 2.6 per cent in 1941 and a high of 3.1 per cent in 1921.

The 55-64 group's current percentage is 12.7, after a gradual decline from its high point of 17.3 in 1921. The 35-44 groups now accounts for 23.1 per cent against its low point of 20.6 in census year 1941 and its high of 24.1 in 1921, which was both an election and a census year.

The 55-64 group accounts for 12.9 per cent now against a low of 10.8 in 1921 and a high of 13.1 in 1941.

Buildings Destroyed At Alexandria Bay

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — Two business buildings on the main street of this St. Lawrence River resort were destroyed by fire Friday and two other buildings, including the village's municipal hall, were damaged by smoke and water.

The loss was estimated unofficially at $500,000.

The fire broke out in the ship restaurant, which had not yet opened for the summer. The two - storey frame building, which was destroyed, also housed a dress shop and an apartment occupied by restaurant owner Michael Devlin.

Also destroyed was an adjoining two-storey frame building housing a jewelry store, a variety store and a Masonic hall on the second.

Auto Safety Club Holds First Meeting

The members of the Hastings 4-H Auto Safety Club held its first meeting on Wednesday, April 3, in the Agricultural Office, Stirling, at 8 p.m.

New members were welcomed by the Assistant Agricultural Representative, Lyall MacLachlan. He then outlined plans for future meetings, covering the care and maintenance of the automobile.

The officers were nominated for the coming year, and are as follows:

President, Clare Treverton; vice-president, Allan Thompson; secretary, Kelvin Sharpe; press reporter, Dorothy Brooks.

The 4-H Club handbooks were distributed to those who had not yet received one, and applications for membership were completed. The membership list showed an attendance of 18 club members.

Project leader Treverton adjourned the meeting.

This is the first Auto Safety Club in this district.

Dept. Favors New Road On New Route

TRENTON — Consulting engineer George Totten reported to Murray Township Council meeting that the Department of Highways favored locating a new development road along a route NW of the west end of the Second Dug Hill Road rather than along the established Dug Hill route itself. The new road will take off from Highway 33 in the vicinity of Dead Creek. It will be necessary to build the entirely new portion of road from Highway 33 through to Highway 2 but from Highway 2 to Highway 401 the new roadway will follow an established township road. The Ontario department will bear most of the cost of the development road with the township taking up part of the cost of the land necessary to widen the existing road to 100 feet.

Mr. John Ayles appeared before council to ask that his side road be surfaced with oil and potholes filled. In the past, the township has been relieved from a pit at the end of the road and on Mr. Alyea's property. But of late this pit has been sold to a commercial firm. Council informed Mr. Alyea that it had no interest in repairing his road.

Council considered a number of requests for building permits in the light of its recently passed sub-division by-law and applicants will learn of a decision later.

And still on the subject of by-laws, council expressed itself as adamant in seeing that the terms of the recently passed by-law dealing with the starting of grass fires is carried out. By the terms of this by-law, it will be an offence for anyone to start a grass or brush fire from March 15 to November 15 without first taking adequate precaution to see that the fire can be controlled. Spreading grass fires cost the township $4,500 in out-of-town fire department fees last year.

Fish and Game Club Plans Skeet Shoot

TRENTON — The Lower Trent Valley Fish and Game Protective Association plans to hold the first skeet shoot of the year on the club grounds north of Frankford, tomorrow, April 7, starting at 1 p.m.

The members of the Belleville Fish and Game Club have been invited to take part in the event.

At an executive meeting of the Lower Trent group this week Jack Wallace reported that a hand loader had been bought and would be used by club members who wish to load their own shells.

The regular Lower Trent club meeting will be held in the Frankford community hall next Tuesday, when the meet, plans for planting 1500 more trout in the club pond will be discussed. Recently, Ab Munn landed a one-pound speckled trout at the pond. Club president Donald Rogers has invited all area sportsmen to attend the regular meeting to see what the club has to offer.

DETROIT (AP) — Four Detroit area residents, who contributed $5,112 worth of dancing lessons, filed suit in circuit court Friday.
Charging high pressure salesmanship and undue flattery, the three women and a man asked the court to void their Arthur Murray Dancing Studios to return $49,170 they said they paid on dancing lessons over a two-year period with the studios.
They asked the court to cancel the remaining $5,112 owed on contracts signed between Aug. 5, 1961, and Sept. 10, 1962.
The suit was filed by Gary Springsted of suburban Dearborn, Mrs. Alta Heikka, a housewife, and Mrs. Ann Rivard, a widow, both of Detroit, and Mrs. Elizabeth Frederick of Mount Clemens, a divorcee.
Their ages range from the 30s to the 60s.
The four charge in their suit that the studio misrepresented their dancing abilities, used undue flattery, bring high pressure and moral coercion to induce them against their will to sign the contracts.

IN MEMORIAM

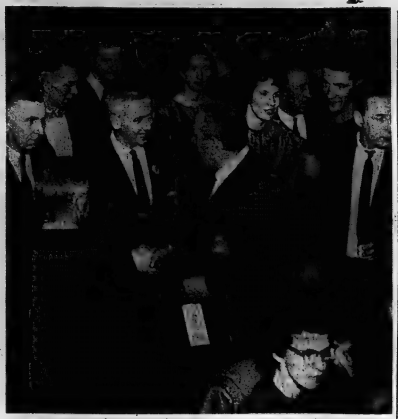
LIVINGSTON — In loving memory of our dear mother, Matilda Livingston, who passed away April 6, 1948. We mourn for one we loved so well,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear be shed,
While others are asleep.
—Ever remembered by Elma, Jack and Shirley.

JOHNSON — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Selig M. Johnson, who passed away April 6, 1962.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love remembrance best of all,
He is not dead, he is not gone,
He's just beyond the call.
—Ever remembered by Ina and daughter Edna and grandchildren.

NICKLE — In loving memory of our dear dad, (James A. Nickle) who passed away April 6, 1953.
Nothing can ever take away,
The love and hearts hold dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
And keep you ever near.
—Ever remembered by Jessie, Alma, Bill, Laura and families.

BROWN — In loving memory of our dear uncle (William Brown) who passed away April 6, 1962, and dear aunt (Blanche Brown), April 7, 1961.
Till memory fades and life departs,
We'll treasure in our hearts.
—Lovingly remembered by Mrs. Dell and family.



BANKEY — In loving memory of father at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 6, 1963.
We do not need a special day,
To bring you to our mind,
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
—Always remembered by son Bruce and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

No words are adequate to express our sincere feeling of gratitude for the many acts of kindness given so freely, by our neighbors, relatives and friends, at the time of our loss of a loving husband, father and grandfather, Jefferson Ricketts. A special thanks to Rev. Mr. Sherry, Mrs. Sherry and Mr. McSherry for their many visits to our home and for the beautiful service conducted, while a sincere "thank you" to the nurses on 1st west and the staff of the April 1 Floral Home.
Mary, Eric and Ethel Ricketts and grandchildren.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, beautiful floral tributes and mass cards received from our kind relatives, neighbors and friends in the sudden loss of a beloved son and brother, Lloyd Bell. We especially thank Father Dawson, Mary Nance Society, C.W.L. Social Action, and George W. O'Brien.
—Mrs. Ada Bell and family.

VOTE!
The Time: 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.
THE PLACE: YOUR POLL
THE MAN:
ROBERT TEMPLE
LIBERAL

For three hours a standing room only crowd mingled with South Liberal candidate Robert Temple in the wind up of his election campaign at the Club Canara here last night.

Temple Says Lee Grills Plays Down Party, PM

Hastings South Conservative candidate Lee Grills last night was charged with deliberately playing down his party and its leader, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, despite the fact he sought election on a Conservative ticket.

The charge was levelled Friday night by Liberal Robert Temple as nearly 2,000 people drifted through Belleville's Club Canara at an open-house chicken and fish fry on the club's two floors.

The event was undoubtedly a peak in the Liberal election bid for the riding.

Admittedly the 2,000 were not in the hall at the same time. But the event did attract an enthusiastic crowd that streamed through the club rooms for more than three hours.

The evening also teed off a major campaign speech for Mr. Temple, during which he criticized Conservative candidate Lee Grills for assuming credit for projects that were the responsibility of provincial and municipal governments. Target of his criticisms was Mr. Grills' claim that "never before has one more," in his election advertising.

Mr. Grills persists in confusing provincial and local government to his advantage, claiming them as achievements during his six years in office, charged Mr. Temple.

ILL-ADVISED

"I don't know who Lee's advisers are but they have advised him badly in these claims," said Mr. Temple.

His speech, interrupted by repeated applause from the crowd, was also piped into the ground-floor dance hall of the club, holding the overflow from the meeting.

"And Mr. Grills also refuses, apparently, to associate himself with his party or his leader in advertising in this election", charged Mr. Temple.

"Search it and see if he has to this time ever once mentioned the name 'Progressive-Conservative' or that of Mr. Diefenbaker. He may tomorrow (Saturday) but if he does — it has taken him six weeks to the eve of election to do so".

"Why is this?" demanded the Liberal candidate.

"I don't know about the other candidates in this election, but I am running on national issues, local issues. . . I am a Liberal, our leader is Lester Pearson, and that is all there is to it".

Mr. Temple's speech was the longest of his campaign, as the barbecuedance signalled the climax of his election bid. Host for the evening was John Hayes, president of Laura Secord Ltd, and a native of the Belleville district.

PIPE IN OIL

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. (CP) The Peace River area of British Columbia is supplying crude oil by pipe line to Vancouver refineries at the rate of about 30 000 barrels a day. The oil is drawn from the Boundary Lake and Beatton fields in the northeast part of the province.

John Hayes, president of Laura Secord and Fanny Farmer, a native of Belleville, cut short his Florida holiday to be present and assist at a Liberal rally at the Club Canara here last night.

St. Columba Church Sod Turning Sunday

The ceremony of the turning of the sod to begin the construction of St. Columba Presbyterian Church will take place at 2.00 p.m. on Sunday.

The chairman of the Building and Planning Committee, Mr. Ralph Blatchford, will have the honor of breaking the ground at Bridge Street and Farley Avenue.

BACK ON BOARD

TORONTO (CP)—Col. W. J. Stewart onetime mayor of Toronto and former Speaker of the Ontario legislature, has been re-elected chairman of the Toronto Historical Board.

Will Not Appeal Until After Bicroft Closes

The Ontario Municipal Board this week turned down an application for annexation by Cardiff Township on behalf of 15 home owners of Dyno Estates, south of Bancroft, and 31 property owners with cottages along the northern shore of Faudash Lake.

The applicants, residents of the Improvement District of Bicroft, wanted to break away from the district and join the township. The case was heard by the Municipal Board about a year ago.

Arthur Tompsett, Reeve of Cardiff township, commenting on the dismissal of the township's application for annexation, said the township is not likely to take any action until after the closing of Bicroft Mine, scheduled for June.

Market Quiet, Syrup Steady $1.75 a Quart

The local market was quiet here this morning, with a very small crowd of vendors and a scarcity of purchasers.

Maple syrup remains in the limelight, holding a steady price of $6.50 per gallon; $1.75 a quart and 90c a pint.

Maple sugar candy sold for 15 and 25c a piece.

Eggs were offered this morning for 45, 50 and 55c a dozen for small medium and large.

Apples on the market in large quantities, sold for $2.75 a hamper and 75c a six quart basket for Macs and $3.75 a hamper and 85c a six quart basket for Spies.

Assorted pastry was also offered, pies selling for 50c each, assorted cookies at 25 and 30c a dozen, buns for 50c a dozen, fresh doughnuts at 40c a dozen and layer cakes for 65c each.

Investment Seminar Is Staged at YMCA

A three-day seminar on the basic principles and practices of investment in Canada today concluded at the YMCA Friday evening.

Mr. John McNiven of Toronto, Security Analyst with the firm of Barclay and Crawford, conducted the course for the two dozen interested participants, assisted by Mr. H. P. Wills of Belleville.

The course included two lecture periods with question and answer periods and ended Friday evening with a workshop period.

"Grand Ole Opry" Talk at Lions Club

Lion president Roger Nets presided over the regular Thursday meeting of the Belleville Lions Club. Several guests attended.

The guest speaker for the evening was the club's own Harvey Frid, who gave an interesting talk on "The Grand Ole Opry". Harvey started his act in 1925 and earned for Nash ville, Tennessee, the name of "Harmonica Harvey".

Lion Ernie Finkle thanked the speaker.

Al Washburn, on behalf of the Retarded Children's Home asked members to canvass for a tag day to be held April 29th and received 19 volunteers.

Secretary Jack Dyble reported over 100 pairs of eye glasses and 2 300 stamps collected this past year had been packaged and sent to the clinic in India.

FIND THREE SHOT

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — A young Burlington bank teller who served in Korea with the Marine Corps shot and killed his wife and their five-month-old daughter and then committed suicide, police reported Friday night. The bodies of Louis Barra 28, his wife, Barbara, 22 and their little girl, Tammy Sue were found in one bed in an upstairs bedroom of their apartment home.

Lionel Train Dies Suddenly At His Home

A prominent local railroader, Lionel Train died suddenly at his Purdy Street home in Belleville last night. He was in his 67th year.

Mr. Train retired in May, 1961 from Canadian National Railways, whom he had worked for most of his life. He came to Belleville in 1928 as chief despatcher for the railroad from Lindsay. Born in Kinmount, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Train.

His association with the railroad also included a leading role in its local social activities. A past president of Club Canara, he was still serving on the club's executive as its secretary-treasurer at the time of his death. A keen golfer, he was a member of the Bay of Quin Country Club. In other community activities Mr. Train also was a member of the IOOF.

He is survived by his wife the former Marian Argue, three brothers and two sisters; Percy, Toronto; Vivian, Toronto; Garnet, Calgary; Mrs. Donald (Phyllis) Webster, Australia; Mrs. Blake (Audrey) Howard, Toronto.

Resting at the Bush Funeral Home, The funeral notice appears elsewhere in this edition.

Eleven Hasty Pees Bandsmen Join Royal Canadian Legion

Eleven members of the Hasty Pees Band were initiated into Branch 99 of the Royal Canadian Legion, during special ceremonies Friday night which saw the presentation of a new silver mounted mace to Band Sergeant - Major Glen Crawford.

Comrade E. F. Smith, finance chairman of Branch 99, made the presentation and spoke of the esteem in which the Hasty Pees were held and of the fine co-operation which has always existed between the Regiment and the Royal Canadian Legion.

Lt. Col. J. Black, commanding officer of the Hasty Pees, thanked the Legion for the presentation of the mace and stressed his satisfaction in the fact that the Legion helped maintain the ideals of Canadian Citizenship for which fighting men of two wars had died.

He said he was glad that the men of his regiment had the opportunity of associating themselves with the Legion.

Out of town Legion branches sent delegations to the meeting, headed by their presidents. These included Marmora, Com. Percy Grey; Madoc, Com. H. Gorier; Quinte-Consecon, Com. C. Goodmurphy; Tweed, N. Champagne; Stirling, Com. C. Lawes; Wellington, Com. Al Williams; Coe Hill, Com. Ken Seaborn.

Lt.-Col. J. Black and Major A. W. Cunningham represented the Hasty Pees along with the former commanding officer, Lt. Col. A. B. Duffy, who organized the present band back in 1953. The Legion initiation team was composed of Comrade Jack Rashotte and Comrade Harry Govier, assisted by Comrade Thurston of Tweed branch as sergeant-at-arms, with the Rev. Father M. Imbolf as chaplain.

Gra-Y Club Visits Telephone Company

The boys' and girls' Gra-Y Club, a service, educational and fun club for grade school children at the Y, visited the Bell Telephone Company on Bridge Street this week as part of the regular program, under the leadership of women's secretary, Norma Hunter Duvas.

Mr. A. MacDonald of the Bell Telephone Company conducted a most interesting and educational tour for the fifteen youngsters, explaining how the thousands of telephone in the Belleville area were able to operate through the equipment they were seeing.

Trenton Man Injured in Car Crash

A two-car crash injured one and caused several hundred dollars damage on Highway 2 at Bayside, last night.

Douglas Adams, Trenton, received a broken arm when the car in which he was a passenger—driven by Donald Young of R.R. 1, Wooler, collided with a car owned by Peter McMaster, R.R. 6, Picton.

Adams was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Police say the Young vehicle was going east on the highway when it turned into the path of the McMaster car.

More of the Same

Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, leader in the military takeover of Guatemala, has promised to step down after a new president is elected. He didn't say, however, when elections for a new president would be held. He did say that he intends to be a strong man leader, with powers to rule by decree.

He has reinforced his position by suspending the national constitution, dissolving Congress and ordering that all political parties be disbanded. The former president, Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, was deported to Nicaragua.

Peralta has some good points in North American eyes. He says, for instance, he will not tolerate any communistic activity in Guatemala. Further, he has promised to honor all international obligations. These claims should prove especially interesting to the U.S., because the coup d'etat was inspired, according to reports, on the return of leftist ex-president Juan Jose Arevalo. Some observers feared Arevalo would regain power during the planned elections next November.

But however well intentioned, there is grave doubt the new regime will aid the cause of the west in Central America. Peralta's government will be either a tyranny or an oligarchy, as most previous Guatemalan governments have been. It is almost certain the new regime will maintain the vast wealth of the few families, and do little or nothing for the vast majority in their abject poverty. And as long as this imbalance is maintained, Guatemala will be fertile ground for communist subversion, and potentially another Cuba.

If a leftist government were elected by process of law, however, there would be little danger. The people of Guatemala, like the people of most of Latin America, want the redistribution of wealth socialism offers, but they don't want the socialism. A legal leftist government, therefore, must redistribute the wealth if it is to retain leftist principles, and cannot retain power after the wealth is redistributed.

The armed communist revolution invited by Peralta is a different situation. A communist regime installed by armed force will have that armed force ready to uphold it. And the actual takeover will create enough foreign sympathies to keep the country in a state of emergency. This is just such a situation that allows Castro to keep his hold on Cuba.

Peralta's government is in power now, and the peasants of Guatemala have seen their hopes dashed again. But it is in the interests of the free world to work for the final end of dictatorships and the systems they hope to support.

Sweet Innocence

Fools have always rushed in where angels fear to tread. It remained for Harry Blank to demonstrate that the process can be worse if reversed.

Mr. Blank's claim to classification as an angel may be disputed in Toronto, but we can only ascribe his daring proposal to a state of angelic innocence of the facts of inter-city strife.

Mr. Blank—that's his real name—is a member of the Quebec Legislature. In this capacity, he produced a brilliant suggestion which would eliminate a shameful waste. Montreal is going to erect a set of costly buildings to house the all-world's Fair in 1967. Realists had resigned themselves to wrecking the buildings after the fair is over. Not so Mr. Blank. He wants the buildings used as part of a joint Canadian National Exhibition, in which Montreal and Toronto would co-operate.

Mr. Blank's plans are flexible. He does not mind whether the sharing agreement provides for Montreal to have the CNE one year and Toronto the next, or whether a month-long CNE each year is divided between the two cities, a fortnight in each.

Toronto's price for acceptance of such a proposal may not be exorbitant—say the Place Ville Marie for use as a low-rent housing projection and the utilization of Les Canadiens as the Maple Leaf farm team.

In the Cheap Seats

The city of Vancouver has deleted an item of $5,751 from the municipal budget for the year 1963, as part of an economy program. The money was to have been used to provide all city-owned cars and light trucks with seat belts.

Unless the city has also decided that civic employees will not be paid while in hospital, and that no claims for injury will be honored by the city, this measure is likely to prove a false economy.

"In-the-Flesh" Campaigning Most Effective Method

By RICHARD JACKSON
(from The Ontario Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau)

Notes from the Campaign Trail — Well, barring a weekend collapse from sheer fatigue, they made it to the end of that long and exhausting cross-Canada hustings.

Those from men, Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Liberal Leader Pearson, alive and breathing, and sometimes looking like it had been fun, have survived that grindingly cruel six-week endurance contest.

The astounding performance of these amazing man must have surprised a lot of people, probably including some medical experts, who, despite those certificates of good health and vigorous health, could scarcely but feel that their secret hearts that such a pair of grandfathers in the last half of their sixties really should not be doing him taking that kind of brutal physical punishment.

And while it involved blood and sweat for the two leaders—travelling hundreds, often thousands of miles to make, two, three, four and often a half dozen public appearances a day —it was a good and useful exercise.

FACE TO FACE

For it got the Prime Minister and the national leaders and their lieutenants.

And if those same taxpayers and voters could have taken a look closely, they should have seen in the faces of these men the dedication to public service and the welfare of the country.

For it must be dedication that drives them.

It cannot be wealth, certainly, for the record shows that most Prime Ministers, except for R. B. Bennett and Mackenzie King, and even some Opposition Leaders, usually die broke.

John Diefenbaker, unless he had accumulated private means, which, as a matter of fact, he has not, nor does he own as much as owning his own home, will retire on a Parliamentary pension of $2,900.

The prospect, humanly enough, troubles him, for in a sudden and strange interinde in the campaign, he made a point of it in a speech at Port Hope.

Mike Pearson, in retirement, would be little better off, except, of course, for that Nobel prize money, which, it is reasonable to assume, he has invested.

HARD BUT SURE

Few Canadians are as underpaid and over-worked as their political leaders.

But why does it have to be so tough, especially in the months before an election?.

Seems that when the campaigning gets down to the knuckles, there is no substitute for the hard grass-roots business of slugging it out, in person, on the public platform.

Why not do it by radio and television?

So much easier, if expensive, no commitment, even cosy and comfortable.

Just write a 15-minute speech —and a one-minute speech for echo to the nearest studio and put it on tape.

Why bother with the hard, grubby grind of indeterminable travel by air, rail and road, and all those hotel-room suites in chilly hockey arenas and overheated collegiate auditoriums, when electronic-age electronics is so modernly effortless?

Well, they bother because they are never sure just who and how many are watching and listening. There may be a hockey playoff showing on the other channel or one of those big-star-studded spectaculars. And entertaining though they may be, neither Dief nor Mike nor even Red Connors can compete with "Boom_Boom" and "Big M" or Judy Garland and Danny Kaye.

Then, there may be a feeling that the "shadow politician" on television is too impersonal, and, like any commercial, not particularly endearing nor convincing.

INDISPENSABLE PRESS

Electioneering by electronics does not always put them into the newspapers, either.

So the politicians know that for that indispensable, make-or-break campaign news coverage, nothing can substitute for the plain-old-fashioned rally.

Nobody has been more keenly aware of the simple truth of this than the Prime Minister, and so he has pushed himself to incredible limits, six days and nights a week for six weeks with Cabinet conferences and the demanding mechanics of Government sandwiched into Sundays.

Never a familiar name has gone unspoken nor a proferred hand unshaken.

Mike Pearson, too, has not spared himself, and has put in what he frankly admits have been the most personally wearying year of his life.

It has been, perhaps, even more difficult for him that it has for the Prime Minister, for he has found it impossible to get the same satisfaction and sense of enjoyment which Dief frequently gets from it.

Both have made such a hard sweat of it that neither may have been competing with themselves, but making their personal pitches from their own platforms at the same time their "shadow" has been doing the political "commercials" on television.

There is one comforting thought at the end of these six uncomfortable weeks: it won't happen again — not this year, anyway.

"People would not stand another election," a friend suggested to Mike Pearson the other day.

"They barely stood this one," he grinned.

Letter to The Editor

Says Diefenbaker Has Kept His Head

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

"If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you."

So starts the magnificent poem "If". How grateful Canadians should be that Mr. Diefenbaker did just that.

Mr. Pearson is quoted as saying that the Romans was Mr. Diefenbaker's decision and that if it is no good it is up to him to get rid of it.

Is it for that that Mr. Pearson brought down to the government, putting a stop to all the important legislation and plunging Canada into a costly election?

This will be a great shock to most Canadians who still had confidence in Mr. Pearson.

I shall end this by saying to our Prime Minister, after the words of his poem, "You have been a man, my son."

Montreal, Que.

Moral Obligation To Vote Exists

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

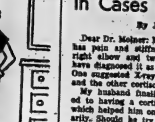
There is a moral obligation to vote on election day.

Voting is a moral obligation because it is the way the voter shares in the government of his country. It is the way he helps decide who is going to rule the country, and also to what extent how it is going to be ruled. It is the voter's share in the responsibility of members of parliament, who have a grave obligation to devote their time and efforts to the general welfare of their people and country. The voter also has a responsibility towards the welfare of his fellow countrymen.

Circumstances can make the voter's obligation a serious one. To understand how the obligation can be so serious, it is sufficient to think of what would happen if millions of people throughout the country were permitted to vote freely. What a difference it would make in their lives if by their votes they could replace a ruthless and godless ruler by an honest man of the people.

Such a situation does not prevail in this part of the world. Unless in some particular locality very special circumstances exist, the obligation on the individual Canadian voter at the present time is a light one. Nevertheless voters should not fail to exercise the great power they have for good. The easiest way to have corrupt governments rule the country would be for all people not to vote on election day.

This obligation is not fulfilled by voting just for the sake of voting. It should be an intelligent vote. The voter should vote in the best interest of his country. He does not fulfill the obligation unless, as he marks his ballot, he has conscientiously say, "This is the way I judge I can best contribute to the welfare of my country."



As election day approaches, therefore each voter should ask himself, and in answer, some such questions as the following: What are the major problems with which the country is concerned at present, namely, unity and internationality? What solutions to these problems are most in conformity with Christian principles of government? Which party, which leader, or which member gives the best assurance of carrying out, or at least approaching these solutions?

On election day then, every voter should consider it not only a privilege, but a duty, to vote, and to vote conscientiously. He should make his decision not on the basis of personal advantage, but on the basis of the welfare of his country.

—R. R. I. Shannonville.

New Wonders Of Science

Kitchen-Waterloo Record

Who says science is concerned only with big, impersonal things? Like developing bombs to obliterate nations, or getting to the moon.

Look at some of the patents issued recently in Washington:

A New York inventor has developed a combination swimming pool and fallout shelter. Economical — you only have to dig one hole and pour one batch of concrete. And water from the pool can be used to wash away fallout from the shelter roof.

A genius in Champaign, Ill., has invented an air-conditioner for the human body. You sling a large plastic bag containers under your arms drop a cool-ant pellet into each.

No unsightly bulge under the clothing, says the inventor. Wearer being what it is nowadays, the gadget does not interfere with by excite one. But there'll come a day.

Finally, a female inventor from Pittsburgh has patented a costume in which a dancer can simulate the changing expressions of a human face.

Two cups over the dancer's upper body represent eyes, a mouth is pictured on her stomach, and her girdle resembles a collar and bow tie. By moving her torso and pulling strings the dancer manipulates the features.

To Your Good Health

Drugs Can be Effective In Cases of Tendonitis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has pain and stiffness in his right elbow and two doctors have diagnosed it as tendonitis. One suggested X-ray treatment and the other cortisone shots.

My husband finally consented to having a cortisone shot, which helped him only temporarily. Should he try the X-ray treatment or more cortisone?

He isn't having anything done now because he believes his condition is chronic and he "must learn to live with it." — Mrs. J. P.

I wouldn't be warranted in trying to decide an "either-or" question concerning a patient I've never seen, but here is one fact to keep in mind: Cortisone is very effective in these cases. However more than one injection may be required. If one shot afforded temporary relief, that's a good sign.

Heat and salicylates (aspirin) are also very effective.

Why not at least make use of whatever gives relief? That is no more than simple logic. Why suffer when you don't have to?

True, tendonitis (inflammation of a tendon?) might be slow to cure, but I can't agree that it is necessarily chronic or something you 'have to learn to live with" until a reasonable amount of treatment has been obtained.

There are ailments you have to learn to live with and sometimes a doctor has a rough time in pandering a patient of that fact. But here it's the other way around. One injection of cortisone already has relieved some arry relief, and there are other means yet to be tried. (The heat and salicylates.)

There's another step which at this time is helpful in cases resembling this one. You should first be ruled out. (Doubtless in this particular case this has already been done).

Gout sometimes settles in a tendon, as well as other places. Tests for excess uric acid give a ready indication as to whether gout is involved.

If it is, the obvious place to start is in treating the gout, rather than just its symptoms.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like a copy of your leaflet on "Poor Menstrual Blues," and enclose a long, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for it.

Also can you tell me what to do about my constipation problem? I have such pain. I am swell so much that I'm hardly ever the sure I'm supposed to be. — Mrs. E. W.

Excessive swelling (which is from accumulation of water in the system) is very often a part of the menstrual "blues" and the leaflet will help you with that problem. It can be controlled.

As to pain at the time of ovuation, some women have none; with other it can be disabling. It is called "mittelschmerz," or "mid-pain." There is no simple solution, but I suggest that you see a gynecologist (specialist in women's diseases) because at least the pain can be alleviated. However, I wouldn't guarantee that you can get rid of the discomfort entirely.

Dear Dr. Molner: Several women recently have started to take pain gelatin to improve hair, eyes and nail conditions. Is this wise? Will it cause hardening of the arteries? — E. C.

Gelatin is protein — although an incomplete one — and since people don't get enough protein, it may help strengthen hair and sometimes and in other ways. It won't harden the arteries.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet "How To Stop Constipation." For a copy send to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Tribune-Syndicate, P.O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., Illinois. A long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Blithely down every kitchen sink drain, gulping away from every laundry tub and washing machine, and from every washbasin and bath tub, not to mention the main drains from factories numerous to mention, are going incalculable tons of detergents into the fresh waters of America. And all over the continent a quiet panic is developing as lakes and rivers become weirdly slimey with sewage, as beautiful beaches become ensconced with ghastly effluvia, and as in even wild regions along the Pacific and Atlantic sea coasts, something like a grey indestructible foam starts to build up, build up and remain.

On detergents has been built a huge financial and industrial empire. Not merely have domestic chores been marvellously lightened for housewives, but the housewife is freed to be, as she is, the TV be entertained in the vast advertising complex of the soap corporations. Numerous industrial processes have been entirely reorganized in order to avail themselves of detergents. Billions are involved in investment in the various ramifications of detergents.

Chemical science is reported to have come up with a new detergent that is indestructible, as an end-product, by nature. We feel it is the human profit and ease that consumed the forests, created our dust bowls, parched out the Colorado River, our rivers and harnessed and polluted our big ones. (What else, who else, counts but us?)

So science marches on. Perhaps there is still hope the common cold will be defeated.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By Winifred E. Wilson

Some people more than others are sensitive to tones of voice, but we all are surely aware that certain of our friends have much more pleasing speaking voices than others. In singing, it is not the artist's skill alone that draws crowds, but the sympathetic voice. Similarly, the bird with a complicated song is not necessarily the best singer. The meadowlark may not be considered a top soloist, but he certainly puts feeling into his song. And how delightful to hear his plaintive voice after the silence of our long Canadian winter!

His is a song difficult to describe though easy to identify as he pipes up from his favorite fence post or branch. In a high key he whistles "tee-ze, tee-zer," "Spring is here," slowly and evenly, three notes rising and falling, and slurred together. To hear this rich, far-carrying song while snow still nestles in ravines and shady nooks is a special treat, an indication that spring is surely on the way — something we are all looking forward to especially this year. VERY SORRY TRIPS

Meadowlarks are among the migrants that make very short trips, so like men whose place of business is in walking distance of their homes they have no real difficulties to contend with. They just step over the border. A few have been found in southern Ontario as early as January 10th and as late as December 27th; however, the beginning of April is a more usual date of arrival.

The appearance of the meadowlark (either front or back view) is distinctive at his song. This is a chunky, 10½ inch brown bird with a large, plain, black "V" on a very yellow shirt front. The flat head is striped, and the bill is long. While walking on the ground to gather beetles or grasshoppers it opens its rather short tail with a jerk, showing white edges on brown. When insects are scarce the bird eats weed seeds, so it is altogether beneficial to the farmer.

NESTS ON GROUND

As the name indicates, the bird is partial to meadows, and there on the ground the nest is built. It is made loosely of grasses in some hollow, partially covered over, and inconspicuous among weeds and grass.

A meadowlark's flight is also easy to identify. The bird flutters low over the fields, every now and then sailing with short, rounded wings held stiffly and bent downward. This is a very characteristic pose.

As meadowlarks follow cultivation, they are gradually stretching out more northerly breeding grounds.

termine when a winner will be known. CP's fastest report of the national outcome—62 minutes after polls closed in Quebec and Ontario—was by 1958 when the Progressive Conservatives were elected in a landslide.

In 1962, when no party won an overall majority, the national news gathering co-operative indicated two hours and 28 minutes after polls closed in Quebec and Ontario that the Conservative government would not win a majority. Four hours and seven minutes after polls closed in Central Canada, CP reported that the Conservatives would have the largest group of Commons seats.

CP tabulated 96 per cent of all returns on election night in 1962, one percentage point shy of the record in 1958.

Returns may not be published in newspapers or broadcast in any province before the close of polls in that province. This complies with a 1938 Election Act amendment following claims that speedy CP reporting of 1935 federal election returns in the East affected voting in the West.

Battery Depends on Regulator

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Although voltage regulators are not regarded as common troublemakers, they have put their share of victims into the dead battery graveyard.

The battery depends on the regulator to control the generator charge. When it fails to do the job, here's what may have gone wrong.

Regulator contact points may have become pitted or oxidized causing them to stick. Pitting may be the result of long service, but oxidized points are more likely due to misalignment or improper gap adjustment. It's also possible for the regulator cutout points to stick. Here again, lengthy service is often the reason. Another is dust, grit or moisture.

Although the regulator is sometimes the real culprit when the generator is not charging properly, it may also work the other way. The generator may be responsible when the regulator fails.

From H. G.: "How is it possible for the fan blades — not the fan belt or pulley —to cause excessive heat in an overheated engine?"

(A) If the blades are bent, they can prevent normal air cooling.

V.F. writes: "When I press on the brake pedal now, it pulls up all the way down to the floor. Could lining wear do this?"

(A) It could but it would be a gradual process over several weeks or more. When this happens suddenly, a brake fluid or air leak is likely.

W.B. asks: "My '57 sedan has a low engine knock which seems to be most audible when the car is first started in the morning. How do you diagnose this?"

(A) It sounds like a crankshaft knock, which could be due to a worn or loose bearing.

From P.C.: "Although my car is brand new, any bump or hole on a road is always transmitted to the steering wheel."

(A) This is more or less normal, but it can be aggravated by low tire pressure. If steering wheel reaction is excessive, change it any? the possibility that the steering gear or linkage is not properly set.

Will Disperse Over 100 Jet Fighters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dispersal of more than 100 air force jet fighters next summer will reduce their vulnerability to Soviet missile knockout while keeping them in position to intercept any attacking Russian bombers.

The air force announced Friday that three squadrons of interceptors will be shifted, two beefed up, two others disbanded and their planes redistributed to other units.

Involved are 1,300 - mile - an-hour F-101 Voodoos and 1,500-mile-an-hour F-106 Delta Darts in squadrons in California, Oregon, Washington State, Massachusetts, Delaware, and Maryland, just outside Washington, D.C.

In all, about 900 U.S. jets are assigned to the North American Air Defence Command.

The announcement Friday said the dispersal is aimed at giving air force fighter interceptors "increased survivability in the event of a ballistic missile attack upon this country."

While I'm peacefully doing my schoolwork and minding my own business this boy who sits behind me sticks his ruler into my neck. He keeps on doing this and I need help. I've ignored him but it doesn't seem to work.

I don't want to tattle on him.

BRUISED.

Dear Bruised:

I think that what you want to do is tattle on him but make it look as if you are not tattling on him. Well, that may seem impossible but it isn't. Tomorrow in the middle of class, when he pokes you with the ruler, yell "ow", hold the spot where he hit you with one hand and turn around and look at the boy.

The teacher will see what has happened and you will get rid of one big pain in the back!

HENRY

Dear Henry:

I have a boy and he simply loves to eat salami. He even boils it sometimes before he eats it. Often I find half of the salami missing and I know where it went. Salami to my boy is like clover to a cow. How can I control the flow of salami?

MOTHER OF A SALAMI LOVER

Dear Mother of a Salami Lover:

You couldn't control it much, he'd find it, and your only hope is to control his thirst for salami. For supper have salami for a few nights. Let your boy eat all that he wants, let him eat so much that he begins to look like a boiled salami!

After that supper, just hope that he is sick of salami!

HENRY

Dear Henry:

I love a boy who lives 9 miles away. I haven't seen him for 15 months and I do not know how to ask him for his picture. Please give me some advice concerning this matter.

WANTING AND WAITING

Dear Wanting and Waiting:

The best way to ask someone for his picture is to just plain ask. Understand methods wouldn't work. You live very far away from each other so next time that you get within five feet of him, ask him the picture! Don't hesitate because if you do, that may be the last time you will ever see him!

HENRY

Dear Henry:

My little girl never picks up her toys or books. She leaves them lying around the living room too. How can I make her pick up her things.

—MRS. J.L.

Dear Mrs. J. L.

Set some boundaries, for example, her shelf and her toy box. Then say that if you find any of her toys lying around elsewhere, you will take them and put them away for a while. If your daughter wants to keep her toys, she won't hesitate to put them away.

HENRY

Dear Henry:

My name is Kimberly. I am 8 years old. I have a sister and her name is Nicki. She always fights me and punches me. What should I do?

—KIMBERLY.

Dear Kimberly:

Even though you are not older and smarter than your sister, act as if you were, give in to her, show her how big you are.

When she sees how big and reasonable you are, she'll want to be big and reasonable too.

So together you will have a big and reasonable sister-brother relationship!

Federal

16 per cent of personal taxes, 11 per cent of corporation taxes and 10 per cent of succession duties.

Mr. Lesage also called for abolishment of joint federal-provincial plans, something he has often done before.

As Mr. Lesage spoke, Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson exclaimed:

"This is the final indecency, dragging federal politics into the legislative assembly."

Over the verbal protests of the government members, Mr. Lesage replied that he was "speaking in the interest of the province."

Mr. Lesage forecast that in the fiscal year just begun Quebec will have an overall deficit of $148,000,000, a record that compares with $112,801,000 last year.

He forecast capital expenditures of $612,775,000 and ordinary expenditures of $881,670,000. Revenue is expected to reach $899,245,000, resulting in a surplus in ordinary expenditures of $17,575,000.

REACTION IS SCORNFUL

Reaction to the budget speech was swift and scornful.

Immediate reaction came from Senator Sarto Fortin, Progressive Conservative organizer for Quebec, who held a press conference in the Legislature Press Gallery while the premier was still speaking.

Then Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson had his turn, taking the floor of the legislature when Mr. Lesage sat down. Real Caouette, deputy leader of the Social Credit party, took a swipe at the government while addressing a rally in the Montreal Forum.

The opposition leader said the budget speech didn't go far enough. It "contained hardly any phrases but offered nothing positive."

Mr. Johnson said Quebec should have demanded that the federal government turn over all personal and corporation income taxes as well as succession duties to the province.

In Montreal, Mr. Caouette concentrated his fire on the two-cent increase in the Quebec gasoline tax and drew a chorus of catcalls from the crowd of 13,000.

Senator Flynn's criticism was directed at Mr. Lesage's reference to the federal government, which he described as an "odious, cowardly but happily ineffective manoeuvre."

"The TONY FONTANE Story"
is the unbelievable, yet true story of one of the world's greatest singers. Filmed in Hollywood by Youth Films, it is the first Christian, dramatic musical ever produced. The purpose of this feature length, color production is to dramatically present Tony Fontane's personal testimony, showing to teen-agers and adults alike that the answer to life and "the" heartache is found only in the person of Jesus Christ.
"Tony acquired nation-wide success when his hit record "Cold, Cold Heart," sold more than a million copies. He recorded other hits including "Syncopated Clock," "Bring Back the Thrill," and "Vanity." Two of his most outstanding albums were "Showboat" recorded with Sophie Tucker, Patti Page, and Tony Martin, and "Sunny Side of the Street" recorded with Vic Damone, Frankie Laine, and Billie Daniels.
As guest soloist, Tony appeared on many national TV shows, as The Ed Sullivan Show, the Steve Allen Show, The Hoagie Carmichael Show, and many other New York and Hollywood programs. He was privileged to have his own radio and television show, "The Tony Fontane Show." As a tenor singing star, he attained international success appearing in the world's most famous night clubs and theatres.
Tony's wife, the former Kerry Vaughn, was a professional actress when she and Tony were married twelve years ago. After their marriage, Kerry continued performing on the stage and in night clubs around the world and appearing in many Hollywood motion pictures.
It was a peaceful, sunny September afternoon in 1957 as Tony Fontane, filled with the excitement and satisfaction of a successfully rehearsed TV program, drove was driving in the San Fernando Valley. Suddenly there was an earsplitting crash. Everything went black. Thirty days later, Tony regained consciousness. It was this automobile crash that brought Tony, Kerry and their daughter, Char'se, to a knowledge of Jesus Christ. For their new-found Lord, they left their lucrative careers to enter full-time Christian work.
Tony and Kerry have dedicated their God-given talents to the service of their Saviour and use these talents to portray themselves in this motion picture. Rev. Victor has recorded a souvenir album of the songs used in this motion picture, entitled "Songs From the Tony Fontane Story." The linear on the back cover of the album was written by Dr. Billy Graham. A quote from that is as follows: "The Bible says, 'I will sing a new song.' Certainly this is true of Tony Fontane. This music portrays in the language of the soul the message which I also proclaim—the Gospel of Jesus Christ."
Billy Zeoli, Vice-President of Youth Films, spent two and a half years in organization and preparation for the tremendous task of capturing on motion picture the potential impact of this story.

REDNERSVILLE W.I.

ALBURY — The March meeting of the Rednersville W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Cecil McFaul on March 28 with 25 members present.

Due to the absence of the president Mrs. Mac Wallbridge who was a patient in the Belleville General Hospital, the first vice-president Mrs. Clarence Vanclief was in charge and welcomed everyone. During the business portion of the meeting an invitation to meet with the Consecon branch who are celebrating their 50th anniversary on April 23 was read. A letter was read concerning the officers' conference at Guelph with the secretary treasurer to attend the event on June 18 and 19. A nominating committee of Mrs. Hugh Weese, Mrs. George Roblin and Mrs. Earl Ostderdenk was elected. Greetings from the county were extended by the county president, Mrs. Earl Osterdonk and also gave a report for district director Mrs. George Roblin who was absent. The district annual is to be held at Bay Church on May 29 with the Greenbush branch as hostess.

Mrs. Hubert Townsend, convener for historical research was in charge of an excellent program at which time the grandmothers were honored by the presentation of corsages to each one. Honors were bestowed on Mrs. Joe Doxtator for having the most grandchildren (15); to Mrs. Earl McKay for having the youngest grandchild and to Mrs. Lotlie Fox for having the oldest grandchild.

A lovely array of dresses, as a result of the short course, was on display. Mrs. Harmon Montgomery conducted a contest of Prince Edward County.

Refreshments were served and a vote of thanks was extended to the hostess and lunch committee.

Retarded Hear Report on "Workshop"

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children was held on April 2, at the school on John St.

Dr. C. Dondale, newly-elected president of the association, reported on his recent visit to an Adult Retarded Workshop located in Peterborough. Accompanying him were three members of the Belleville Kinsmen Club, Mr. George Hunt, Mr. Neil Davidson and Mr. Werner Daechsel. They were greatly impressed not only with the work done by the group, but also with the atmosphere in which they all worked together. During a discussion with the director of the work shop, there were many favorable comments passed, especially pertaining to the orderliness of the worshop project.

THANKS TENDERED

Following the reports from the various committees, thanks were extended to the Shrine Club for the enjoyable evening spent by 12 of the children at the annual Police-Firemen hockey game as guests of the Shriners. An interesting display of crafts by the Adult Retarded was under the direction of Mrs. Gelsthorpe was shown to those present.

It was noted that the tenth annual meeting and conference of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children would be held in Kingston on April 25, 26 and 27. Representing the local association as voting delegates will be Mrs. John Ross and Mrs. Ross Johnston.

An appeal was made for canvassers for the door-to-door canvass on April 29th. Those wishing to help should contact Mrs. R. Harper at WO 2-4730.

The meeting closed with a social hour conducted by Joan Dondale pertaining to facts taken from the association bulletin and general information on retardation.

Refreshments followed and brought a most interesting meeting to a close.

Party Closes Bridge Marathons

A delightful party was held in the Catholic Women's League club rooms in St. Michael's junior school, on Wednesday evening to mark the closing of the bridge marathons.

The first marathon ran for the months of January from September to December '62 with the prize winners for team 1, Mrs. Joseph Vesia, being high off against the winners of team 2, Mrs. Jerry Clapp and Mrs. Tom Masson, with third and second prizes, Mrs. Clapp and Mrs. Mascaro coming first.

In the second half of the marathon, running from January to April '63, Mr. and Mrs. Noble were again winners of team 1, and had to play off against the winners of team 2, Mrs. Joseph Gallagher and Mrs. J. J. Menary, to whom they lost by a small margin.

Consolation prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Serre, Mrs. Jack Boyle and Mrs. Tom Lynch.

Special prizes were won by Mrs. William Frawley, Mrs. J Bellinger, Mrs. Herbert Fleming, and Mrs. Fred Hudon.

The marathons have been convened by Mrs. Goldie Fitzgibbon and Mrs. Martin Trudeau, who were presented with appreciation gifts for the work in which they were involved.

The marathons will resume in September.

Lunch was served.

HUNTING THE GOWK

April 1st is the day for the uninhibited prankster, the young at heart and those who still delight in someone else's pitfalls - It's April Fool's day! The custom of observing this one special day for playing jokes, is thought to have begun in England during the 18th century. In Scotland, it became tradition to send the gullible, or naive, out to hunt the Gowk, or cuckoo. Here, we sometimes call it All Fool's Day.

On occasion, we believe that a few fashion designers think that every day is April Fool's Day. Acknowledging that fashion originals must be "larger than life", in order to emphasize the designer's message, do these same designer's really expect women to wear some of their creations? We are referring to a misshapen coat of tortured cutline, executed in polka-on green, seen on a Montreal runway, this week. The cut and color made its poor model appear 30 pounds overweight and unbalanced, as well. The disaster was completed by the addition of a glaring yellow cloche hat with a floppy brim, which entirely covered the model's pretty face.

The best the poor girl could manage was an embarrassed smile, while the audience actually laughed-out loud. (Laughter at a fashion show is almost unknown.)

Unfortunately, some of the women in the audience were almost as ludicrously dressed. We hate to nag about this, but every day, we see so many of fashion's follies, worn with pride. We see a great deal of money spent for fashions, which are, at best, nondescript and at worse, plain ghastly.

We see low-slung belts on a pear-shaped figure, the belts crossing the figure, just at that curve, which needs no emphasis. Harsh colors are worn by women of sallow complexions. There are overweight figures further thickened by tweedy mohair. Slight pale women are lost in fur, beige and black. We see florid women living it up in coral, aqua or clashing prints. Wonderful feet are jammed into high-heeled, pointed shoes and lipstick colors clash with costume tones.

Sometimes, the designers can be blamed for playing April Fool's Day tricks on us. More often we, ourselves, are hunting the gowk when we make haste our own type and buy our fashion both hastily and without a plan.

Missionary Circles Hold Joint Meeting

FRANKFORD — Brighton W.M.C. president, Mrs. Ross Frankford W.M.C. group and opened the meeting with Scripture text from Psalm 31. The W.M.C. theme chorus was sung and the Easter hymn, "He Was Nailed to the Cross." The Scripture reading was read from St. John's by Mrs. Ron Chambers of Brighton W.M.C. and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Lawson of Brighton.

Correspondence was read from Rev. and Mrs. H. Koopman of Southern Rhodesia, Africa, and the latest bulletin was read by Brighton W.M.C. president Mrs. Edwards.

A time of prayer followed for missionaries and various needs.

Frankford W.M.C. president took charge of the program and welcomed everyone. Vice-president Miss Marjorie Forbes led in testimony service. Mrs. Mary Patrick read an Easter poem, "Because of Calvary." A missionary quiz was conducted by Mrs. Gordon Smith and a vocal duet given by Mrs. Pamela Reilly and Mrs. Reg. Elliott "He'll Say, Well Done."

An evening message was given by Mrs. J. M. Dafoe of Frankford, "The Story of Easter" St. Matthew's 28.

Mrs. Edwards of Brighton took charge again of the evening. Mrs. Charles Sr., thanked the Frankford W.M.C. for their program.

Business portion of the meeting was discussed and the evening offering received. Work days for W.M.C. were planned for April.

A devotion closed the meeting and Mrs. Edwards closed in prayer.

Refreshments were served by Brighton W.M.C. ladies, and a time of fellowship was enjoyed.

Tasmania Really Does Exist With Charm, Colorful History

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

HOBART, Tasmania — Would you, perchance, be interested in a picnic drive on uncluttered roads to a quiet river bank or cove amidst pastoral scenes of sheep grazing on broad valley floors and lightly sloping hills, where popiars, hawthorne and apples blossom as in Kent from soil as red as Devon's?

You say you would, but it just happens not to be summer in your hemisphere right now, so let, even if it were you wouldn't be likely to find untrammeled scenes like these short of Tasmania.

Tasmania is one of those places — like Timbuctu, Patagonia and Samarkand — that most people think probably exists because they've heard it mentioned often enough, and besides nobody would make up a name like that, but they're not entirely sure.

Yet it's real enough, a curiously shaped little island like a pendant carring tear dropped off the southeast coast of Australia. Once art was a boisterng port. Nowadays it's somewhere on the Bedford and Valparaiso as the Barbary Coast of the South Seas. Its main boulevards and taverns of Salamanca Place now are warehouses and retired whalingship master in the gardens of the pastel stone captains' houses on Arthur Circus.

MARITIME CHARM

Still Hobart retains a maritime charm. It is a bright, lively and busy city feasting on sharp southern light on view-fraught hillside settings. Here California-style homes perch on redwood stilts for sight of the harbor. Which brings to mind the English gentleman who went to great pains to construct a house — still standing — with a southern exposure. He learned too late that in the south, the light comes from the north.

The harbor that incurs deep into the mouth of the Derwent River is much like a fiord, regular and long, surrounded by sharply rising hills and dominated by the height of Mr. Wellington. It is the terminus of the famed annual Sydney to Hobart sailing race and is the confines of Constitution Dock the boats drying their sails in company with the fishing fleet offer a striking and much photographed sight.

Tasmania has the same kind of people as Australians or Nantucket or Catalina has for Americans and is one of the country's major tourist magnets. Remote of feeling and slow of pace, its lush mountain greenery contrasts sharply with the flat wastelands that mark most of Australia. Visitors come mainly to wander among the flowering hills, stark headlands and seacoast secluded coves and quiet old stone villages.

The island's past is colorful, if all grim spots. On the other side of Eaglehawk Neck in the southeast, on what is little it now, crumbled buildings, but the memory lingers on.

The prisoners were the island's first settlers. Many ultimately were released to become freeholders — part of the plan to send them there in the first place — and not a few of the island's leading citizens today are aware that their ancestors arrived paradise-free.

Eaglehawk Neck is now a pleasant resort area with a cottage and curio manned by Fish Town (someone named his cottage Doo-Me, and there ensued Doo-I, Doo-Us, Doo-We, Hoo-Doo-U-Doo, et cetera ad nauseum). But once dogs were chained across the narrow strip of land, effectively preventing prison escapes.

NATURE'S PLAYGROUND

The narrow strip of land also has been a favorite playground of nature. There is a blow-hole where the pounding sea has cut a 200-foot flat arch through the stone, marking its path with layer upon layer of striated rock, from some of the cornerless spiny-leaved box trees grow.

Nearby is the square arch of Devil's Kitchen and the sheer 150-foot gorge of the Tasman Arch. It is a stark and lonely area of rock and headlands given to sudden fierce storms, and has much of the half-mad beauty of Breese's capes.

Tasmania's greatest geological curiosity lies near here. It is the Tessellated Pavement, a vast platform of ridged square like an inlaid parquet. It was formed by the sea from sand and mud deposited horizontally by the tides. It is hardened, it cracked in parallel lines at right angles, and looks for all the world like the work of some ancient stone mason rather than the caprice of nature.

Beyond these waters of the sea, 1,500 miles to the south, lies Antarctica. In this wild setting it is easy to understand how Tasmania has become synonymous with the end of the world. That's just what it is.

Charm Course At YMCA Here Concluded

The charm course — part of the Y.M.C.A's informal adult education series — was concluded this week with a most interesting lesson on the use of cosmetics.

Beauty counsellors Miss Margaret Bland of Belleville and Mrs. Mary Seeley of Trenton were present at this final session of the eight-week course on self-improvement, to instruct the twenty interested ladies in skin care.

Each lady was skin typed, and then presented with a small kit and taught to apply the cosmetics which suited her personally.

Many interesting tips on cosmetic application and skin care were given, and Mrs. May Burgess also gave instructions on care of the eyebrows and eyes.

The eight-week course under the direction of Mrs. May Burgess, former model and fashion co-ordinator also included lessons on hair care, posture, exercise, clothes co-ordinating and many such areas of feminine charm.

ST. PAUL'S GUILD

Mrs. N. Wilson was hostess for the March meeting of St. Paul's Guild, Ameliasburg. The president opened the meeting. A Psalm was read in unison. There were 12 present; each one donated a pound of sugar for the sales barns.

Mrs. Wilson read some extracts on painting of the church. A business discussion took place. Collection taken included a $5.00 donation and was duly thanked for. Birthday box was passed for those having a birthday in March.

Members will meet at the home of Mrs. J. Hart to make up lists for sale barns.

Mrs. Ted Daniels had charge of program consisting of readings and contests won by Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mrs. A. Hart, Mrs. G. Goodfellow and Mrs. G. Cockins.

Lunch was served and a social time was enjoyed.

A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess.

April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Miller, Thomasburg.

Readers' Saturday Column

BY MARY MOORE

QUESTION:

Please give me a good recipe for Ravioli — Ada M.

ANSWER:

Readers who are interested in making Ravioli should clip this now. It is long and I will hesitate to repeat it.

RAVIOLI:

Paste. 1½ teaspoons melted shortening, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 egg, yolk and white separated, ½ cup lukewarm water, about 2 cups sifted bread flour.

Melt shortening and combine with salt, beaten egg yolk and lukewarm water. Beat in about 2 cups sifted bread flour, a little at a time, to form medium dough. Turn out onto well-floured board and knead until smooth. Cover and let stand 30 minutes. Roll into a rectangle 16 x 28". Brush half of dough with well beaten egg white. Arrange evenly 1 teaspoon of filling (below) over dough, leaving about 1" space between each measure. Cover with other half of dough. Press down between each section, starting in centre, to exclude air and seal. Cut into squares with ravioli wheel or pastry wheel and with fingers pinch around edges, if open. Let stand about 1 hour, turning over once. Lower into rapidly boiling salted water, cover and cook gently about 20 to 25 minutes. Remove with perforated ladle and drain. Arrange on large platter, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and cover with tomato sauce.

Filling: ½ lb. freshly ground beef, veal, lamb or pork or left-over roasted meat, chicken etc., ¼ cup cooked spinach, chopped very fine, about ¼ cup chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 small clove garlic, finely chopped, 1 small onion, finely chopped, 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese, 1 small egg.

If using cooked meat, put through food chopper. Add finely chopped spinach to meat and other ingredients, except egg. Cook together over low heat for several minutes until thoroughly blended. Remove and add egg and beat. Cool.

This filling and paste (above) is sufficient for about 24 medium-sized ravioli.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Baked Stuffed Pork Chops, Pan Roasted Potatoes, Brussels Sprouts in Parsley White Sauce, Tossed Salad with Cheese Dressing, Rice Pudding with Cherry Sauce, Tea.

QUESTION:

. . . Orange Float consists of a blanc mange with grated orange rind and egg whites and oranges . . May I have the recipe please? — Lillian T.

ANSWER:

Could this be it?

ORANGE BLANC MANGE WHIP:

3 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2¼ cups milk, grated rind 1 large orange, 2 egg whites.

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt with ¼ cup cold milk. Scald remaining milk in top of double boiler. Add cornstarch mixture gradually to scalded milk, stirring constantly. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Cover and cook 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and add orange rind and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Decorate top with orange sections sprinkled with a little fruit sugar.

Centre St. U.C. CGIT Holds Chinese Tea

The CGIT girls of Centre St. United Church, and their leader, Mrs. G. Jones, held a successful Chinese tea, in the Sunday school room on April 2nd.

The room was decorated with Chinese lanterns and fans, and Chinese newspapers.

The small tea tables were dainty with, white cloths and small decorative candle holders in fan design, surrounded by fortune cookies.

The girls' mission study was nicely displayed and interesting.

Much credit goes to Shirley Hudgins, Linda Stapley, Lenise Hawley, Sharon Scharnerhorn, Jo-Ann Lucas, Beverley Lucas, Wanda Jones and Betty Pearson.

Conveners of the tea were: Brenda Vesterfelt and Rilla Wood.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E.Q.?

When a weekend hostess says "Make yourself at home," how much at home are you expected to be? Does her kind invitation imply that you may:

1. Invite your friends in to visit?
2. Make unlimited use of the telephone?
3. Have breakfast in bed?
4. Show up late for meals?
5. Decline to go on an excursion the hostess has especially arranged for her guests?
6. Accept party invitations from friends in the neighborhood?
7. Use your host's car?
8. Take a nap or a quiet walk when nothing else is planned?
9. Raid the icebox between meals?
10. Help with some of the chores?

ANSWERS:

Only if the hostess suggests it, herself, and then she should invite them personally.

2. No. Necessary calls may be made, but use of the phone should be limited. Local calls have a way of piling up into extra charges. Toll and long distance calls should be paid for.

3. If the hostess offers this option.

4. It's inconsiderate, so definitely not.

5. It's rude for a guest to bypass any plans specifically arranged by the hostess for his entertainment.

6. No. A guest's visiting time belongs exclusively to his host and hostess.

7. Only with his permission. If the host can't drive a guest where he wants to go, he may suggest that the guest drive himself. Asking to borrow the car only puts the host in an uncomfortable position if he's not keen on lending it.

8. A considerate hostess usually makes allowance for this.

9. Yes, but a polite guest usually asks permission first and then makes sure he leaves the kitchen in apple pie-order.

10. Yes, if the hostess agrees and the guest does things the way she wants them done.

Second Glance

By Viva Richmond Graham

GIFTS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

"What we call 'works of art' are not the result of some mysterious activity, but objects aimed by human beings for human beings."—E. H. Gombrich.

To explore a place like the Second Sea Gift Shop on the second floor of Eaton's downtown Toronto store, after an afternoon of shopping is like coming upon an oasis in the midst of a vast desert of required daily needs of life!

A wealth of object d' arts from the world over are here; a veritable modern Aladdin's cave straight from the Arabian Nights. Ceramics, silver, cabinet-making; each a beau'ti de-sire ,each purely a luxury item.

"Yes, I gave the shop it's name," admits Mr. T. B. Jackson, a tall, stately gentleman who came to Toronto from Muskoka to become an Interior Decorator, nor is he sorry that he became sidetracked because of his shop. "The name or rather the phrase from Kipling kept going around in my mind and when I suggested it, it was accepted."

Where are all these gifts from? Does Mr. Jackson shop for them personally?

"Yes," I visit and buy from most countries, though I have not visited the orient," he explains. "Take the George Jensen silver ware, for example. It comes from Scandinavia and was first introduced to the North American continent by a former buyer of the shop. I have continued to keep it on our shelves because of its magnificent simplicity. Yes, simplicity I would say is the key-note of durable art. See how the function determines the simplicity of design of this fragile and pastel glass designed by Venini of Venice, who is foremost there in his work today."

Pointing to a large lump of ice-blue crystal, Mr. Jackson brings to our attention the small man and bent sculptured within, as if sailing beside a huge iceberg. It was executed by the artist, who inserted his tools from the bottom. This unforetable treasure of Orrefors artistry (from Scandinavia) made one think of Cocteau's words: "The spirit of creation is the spirit of contradiction."

We are shown work of an Italian artist who works with pure glass by polishing it into functional creative pieces of table ware. A wall piece, of his, with an oil painting in abstract design on the back of the glass, with uneven edges made smooth is arresting and impressive.

"But note," Mr. Jackson emphasizes again, "the simplicity and how it applies to all artists. I have always maintained that simplicity of line and function is the lasting taste. It has withstood the test of time down through the ages. Anyone who invests in it, invests well. Museums have near witness in this that date back to the time of Christ and longer."

English silver bore out his statement on display of a simple small silver plate, which was 6¾ inches in diameter, price $71.50. It bore the English hallmark and was made of Armada Silver. A slip of paper beside it read in explanation: "Silver, taken from the (Spanish) Armada was used to make a banqueting service for Sir Christopher Harris in the reign of Elizabeth I.

"The original service was of 22 dishes of varying sizes, bearing the arms of Sir Christopher Harris and the London Hallmarks for the years 1581, 1599, 1600 and 1601.

"During the Civil War, about the year 1645, the service was buried on Dartmoor in order to avoid seizure by the Parliamentary troops as the owner at that period (a great nephew of the original owner) held a command in the Royal Forces at Plymouth. The service was discovered early in the present century when a workman put his pick through one of the dishes.

"This interesting and attractive piece of silver has been faithfully reproduced from the original, even to the characteristically staggered hall-marks (on the rim of the plate). It has many uses and its story is a link with the common history of all English speaking peoples."

Even in modern gift shops, the ancient simplicity is preserved by the new.

RECONCILE DIFFERENCES

Party loyalty, in an institution or an individual, is understandable and to be admired. But national loyalty must take precedence no matter how painful the parting from friends and party. The Telegram believes that the country's basic welfare is at stake and that only Mr. Pearson and his party, at this moment in the country's history, are capable of meeting the challenge.

We must recognize that the strains now bearing on the delicate ties that bind this nation together within Confederation are very real. The pressures on the flimsy fabric of our external alliances are also very real. Mr. Pearson has manfully refrained from adding to these strains; Mr. Diefenbaker has not.

It is the duty of Canadian political leaders to reconcile the diverse interests within a party and within the country, not develop and emphasize them. It is the duty of Canadian political leaders to reconcile differences with our allies and friends. On both these counts, Mr. Pearson has met his responsibilities; Mr. Diefenbaker has not.

The Telegram certainly does not believe that Lester Pearson is all-wise. The newspaper has grave doubts about some of his supporters who may not yet have learned the lesson of 1957. But the new men, like Walter Gordon, Mitchell Sharp, C. M. Drury and John Turner are men with the ability and capacity to serve this country well.

A week from Monday, Canadians must accept their responsibility to give the country a Government. If the result is uncertain, blurred and indefinite, then it cannot be expected that the nation will go forward. The Telegram advocates that a firm decision be taken and recommends support for Mr. Pearson and his party.

The Golden Years

Parent's Money Plus Children Equal One Large Family Feud

By THOMAS COLLINS

Here is a classic family case that points up dramatically two of the major problems parents face in retirement — their money and their children, and the conflict between the two.

"My father retired four years ago with substantial savings, five married children, and a huge rambling old house that he loved and Mother hated.

"About two years ago one of my sisters and her husband came upon bad times — their little business failed. They were quite up against it, and in talks between my sister and father it was agreed that the sister and her husband, and their child, would move into the family home.

"It was to be for six months at most, all of us were told. Just until Good Old Joe could get on his feet again.

"Four months later, almost to the day, father died of a heart attack. And there sat sister and Joe.

"Father left a will giving everything to mother, with the provision that at her death the children cash in. When the dust settled the first thing mother thought of was getting rid of that house and taking a neat little apartment . . .

But, according to the sister telling this story, Joe and his family stayed serenely on. Where they had been living out of suitcases before they now began moving their furniture out of storage and into the home.

HAS TAKEN OVER

"My sister's husband went back to work, and made some sort of vague agreement with mother that he and sister would share the expenses of the house. This they have never done, not even to their share of the food. But Joe, having built himself a carport on the lot for his car, has taken over increasingly as manager of the home . . . and of mother.

"And all the while mother comes to us other children complaining bitterly. She wants Joe's family out. She cries they are living on her money. That they are mean and selfish. That she wants to move into an apartment and sell the place.

"But she hasn't got the courage to kick Joe and sister out . . .

The four other children have had conferences about the matter, have figured that Joe and his family are costing mother over $2,000 a year (which would be coming to them someday), are quite apprehensive that Joe and sister may brainwash mother into giving them some of her cash.

"As a matter of fact," the story continues, "Joe already is spreading around town the idea that he is managing mother's affairs and that he and sister will get the home. . . because they have been taking care of mother in her old age.

"It makes the rest of us mad enough to fight. But unless mother can muster the nerve to tell Joe to move out, we other children don't dare stick our necks out.

The first problem here is to get Joe kicked out, and the second one is the fundamental matter of the jealousy of the other four children over inheritance money. That is really what bothers them.

MUST START PAYING

The first problem can be handled in two ways: one by having the executor of father's will step in and tell everybody — not just Joe's wife — that it was not father's intention that any one child get an advantage over the others. There fore since Joe and his wife are getting an advantage they must start paying to the estate so much per month or more out of mother's house. The second way would be for one of the other four children to hire a lawyer to work out a trust fund arrangement for their own children. Since this would involve father's estate the lawyer could ask an accounting of the estate both from mother and Joe's wife.

In both cases cited here the whole affair of Joe's sponging would be brought into the open — and by impartial outsiders who wouldn't care whether Joe and his wife blew their fuses or not.

The second problem, which retired parents will go around Robin Hood's Barn to dodge, is simply that grown children are extremely touchy where an inheritance is involved. And they will start a family war on just any day of the week if they suspect one brother or sister is getting more than an equal share.

Retired parents are prone to be lenient, to have pets among their children, to lack the courage to deny any private request from any one child. If they have money they have responsibilities, one of which is to be absolutely impartial to their children, if they don't want the children to be feuding a generation from now there's no other way. It takes courage and at times it entails heartache. But there's no other sensible way.

Had Faith

joined the church in Fairbanks Alaska, 2½ years ago.

He hobbled into the pulpit on crutches, his left foot swathed in a slipper-sock.

He said that, with little food to keep going on, his faith sustained him. A story that he and Miss Klaben ate their toothpaste was not true—"it was my joke."

"The things I experienced were spiritual things," he said.

"Always I felt strength in my body. The girl who was with me always wondered what I had in my body to keep going.

"But every one of you could do the same thing."

Flores was near tears, as was his wife who spoke after him.

"He was preparing himself all these years in the bush to preach the Lord's word," she said.

His rescue was "like a resurrection."

"I waited six weeks by the telephone for the call I knew would come. I had faith in him. I knew him for 18 years—I knew what kind of man he was and I knew he would do all he could to save that girl."

READ ENTIRE BIBLE

Flores said Miss Klaben read all of the Bible and part of the Book of Mormon while awaiting rescue.

Monday's

vowed need for stable (major-ity) government, defensive nuclear warheads for Canadian forces, economic growth and social welfare.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused the opposition of obstruction in the 25th Parliament. The opposition groups said the government died of inertia and indecisiveness.

Canada - United States relations found a good deal in the campaign. Mr. Diefenbaker called his policy "pro-Canadianism." Mr. Pearson called it "anti-Americanism."

Bushworker Charged With Bank Robbery

COCHRANE, Ont. (CP)—Wilfrid Albert, 23-year-old unemployed bushworker, has been charged with robbery in the holdup of a branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia here.

A man entered the bank in this community 70 miles north of Timmins shortly after opening time Friday. He passed a note to a teller demanding her cash and then dropped bundles of it on the floor and street outside in his haste to leave the scene.

Bank manager Harold Virtue said about $2,000 of $2,300 taken was recovered.

Milkman May Think Neighbor's Coffee Best

DEAR ANN LANDERS—I have been elected by our neighborhood coffee-breakers to write you this letter.

A woman who lives on our street is really a lovely person. She is in her early 30's, attractive and the mother of four children.

Every day around lunch time the milkman stops at her house and stays anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour. His truck is parked right in her driveway all this time. Those of us who know her are sure this woman has high moral standards and is a faithful wife, but we are afraid the less-trusting neighbors may get the wrong impression.

Shall we talk to her and risk losing her friendship? Or shall we keep our snoots out of it and let her ruin her reputation and hurt her family?—THE LOYALESTES.

DEAR LOYALETTES—Keep your snoots out of it. It may be that the milkman is a family friend and it may be that this woman makes the best coffee in the neighborhood.

DEAR ANN LANDERS—As one of your publishers I must disagree with one of your editors. I refer to the letter signed C. W. who objected to boys helping their mothers in the kitchen. The editor said kitchen work is for females.

As you so aptly put it, Ann, work knows no gender today. We have four boys in our family and it is clearly understood that they have to help with the "female" work because they cause so much of it.

Our boys have never objected to helping. They just grew up knowing it was expected of them. They are not mama's boys, nor do they show any signs that they will turn out to "yes men" to women. Instead they are all-around kids who will be able to pitch in and help in any emergency.

You may print this as evidence that the members of the fourth estate are divided on this vital point in boy-raising.—R.G.K.

DEAR R. G. K.—I'm not sure I enjoy being caught in the cross-fire between an editor and a publisher yet, but I appreciate your support of my point of view. Thank you for writing.—YOUR PROBLEM GIRL, ANN LANDERS.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 15c in coin and a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mormon Church Missionaries Serve in City

ELDER RONALD LEE

ELDER GARY BELL

Two new representatives of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints are here in Belleville serving as missionaries. They are Elder Gary Bell, 21, and Elder Ronald Lee, 19, who have come to eastern Canada for a two-year period.

Elder Bell makes his home in Ogden, Utah, where he was studying at Weber College prior to his call to the Canadian Mission. He plans to return to Utah State University and continue studying medicine. Elder Lee is from Las Vegas, Nevada, where he was studying electrical engineering at Nevada Southern. He plans to continue his studies also upon completion of his mission.

The church, sometimes called the Mormon Church, sponsors a world-wide program of this sort with 12,000 young men and women serving as missionaries. They are supported by their families and friends since there is no paid ministry in the Mormon Church. There is no formal schooling or theological training required for this work.

Mormons are most prominent in the western states, having a membership of about two million. The church was founded in 1830 in New York State by Joseph Smith with a body of 12 apostles as the governing council of the church. There have been nine successors to Joseph Smith since that time, until today 89-year-old David O. McKay serves as president.

Mormons do not believe in drinking alcoholic beverages, coffee, or tea, nor in smoking. Complete abstinence is the best policy since the drugs in these things are habit forming, the elders said.

The church is supported by tithing which members pay in place of weekly collections. Each donates one-tenth of his earnings, which is used for the building of schools and chapels, and for the welfare of all members.

The predominate part of the religion and the name Mormon come from a book of scripture called the Book of Mormon. It was translated in 1829 by Joseph Smith and tells the story of the American people before Columbus. Mormons use it as the cornerstone of the religion and put it on a par with the Bible.

There are about 200 members of the Mormon Church in Belleville who meet each Sunday at the Orange Hall. They plan on building a new chapel starting in May which will be located on Palmer Road near the O.S.D.

A Lift for Living

Master of Every Situation Helps Us Master Ourselves

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

On Palm Sunday, the Christian world bows in reverence before the most royal and masterful figure recorded in history. To be sure, He rode into Jerusalem on a lowly beast of burden. The little company of followers marching with Him seems tiny in comparison with the giant parades staged today. But, however small the company behind Him that day, the universe was behind Him. When He was asked to silence the shouts of His supporters, He replied: "If these were silent, the very stones would cry out."

Jesus was master of every situation. When He was acclaimed by the cheering crowds in the days of his popularity, He did not lose His head. When He was cursed by the crowd as an impostor, He did not lose His nerve. When He was fawned upon by the rich and flattering Pharisees, He did not soften His principles. When He was spat upon by the mob, He did not harden His heart. In public and in private, in joy and in sorrow, in the Garden of Gethsemane and in the court of Pilate, He was the one to whom others turned instinctively for strength and order.

Jesus Christ was not only the most masterful of historic figures, but He was able to impart His masterfulness to others. He was more than an example dazzling others with His achievements.

A TEAM PLAYER

He was a team player, linking Himself with others, imparting His strength to them. John in his gospel says, "To as many as received him, to them gave he the power to become the sons of God."

The Book of Proverbs declares, "He who is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he who rules his spirit than he who takes a city." Self-mastery has been the goal sought by wise men throughout the centuries. Examples have been cited. Rules have been taught.

But Jesus did not just lay down a rule to be followed. He said "Take my yoke upon you and learn of me." Jesus teamed up with His disciples. Think how He teamed up with Simon the blustering fisherman who could not control his temper and transformed him into Peter, the master of his passions and the brave leader of his fellow disciples.

Recalling my boyhood experiences on an Ohio farm, I remember how after a heavy freshly fallen snow my father would leave tracks on his trips to the barn. As a little fellow I tried to follow in his footsteps. But they were so far apart I couldn't make it. I would jump up and slip and fall. But when Father took my hand and walked behind me, he steadied and supported me as I made my own tracks in the snow.

To try to follow Christ's steps in our own strength leads to despair. But when we join our wills with His and walk with Him we feel the comradeship of His great spirit and the support of His strength.

RESTORES SELF-RESPECT

Jesus Christ helps us to self-mastery by cleansing the mind of poisoning temptations. He fills the thought with "whatsoever things are honorable, just pure, lovely and gracious." He humbles us with penitence for our sins, but He restores our self-respect. He makes us feel what we were meant to be and by God's grace still can be. He imparts the encouragement of the divine love which has faith in us. He breaks the power of canceled sin and sets the prisoner free from the shackles of enslaving habit. This is the timeless gospel of salvation.

"The only party that holds a reasonable hope of achieving a majority is the Liberal party... Neither fringe party can possibly form a government. To vote for them is to run the risk of repeating the national indecision of last June. We cannot afford more of such indecision: it could lead to national collapse."
—The Toronto Globe & Mail, March 23

"The choice in this election as we conceive it lies not between the Liberal party and the Conservative party; it lies between a Liberal government with a working majority and no government at all. There is no possibility that the Diefenbaker group will win a majority in the new parliament. It has been torn asunder at the top by the resignations on principle of Messrs. Harkness, Hees and Sevigny; it has been further damaged by the departure for different reasons of Messrs. Fleming, Fulton and Halpenny..."—The Edmonton Journal, March 15

More Voters Voting Now May Poll 80 Per Cent For First Time Monday

OTTAWA (CP) — Is today's Canadian more fervent about politics than his father?

If you go by the proportion of eligible voters who actually mark ballots on voting day you'd have to say yes.

The percentage who voted in 1958 was an all-time record. The turnout was almost as good last year.

This time, says the man who olls Canada's election machinery, we're likely to break the record and exceed 80 per cent, for the first time.

If the past is any guide, country people will lead the way next Monday. In the last 11 elections, there have been only two when the rural voter didn't turn out in greater proportion than city folk.

A farm area, Kings in Prince Edward Island, topped all ridings last June with a 93-per-cent mark. And a city constituency, Montreal St. Jacques, had the poorest showing with 58 per cent.

Even in the Northwest Territories, where many voters have to travel miles to get to the polls, the percentage was a solid 72 last year.

WON BY LANDSLIDE

The record national turnout in 1958 when, after a year of minority government, voters gave Prime Minister Diefenbaker the biggest majority ever, was 79.8 per cent—7,287,297 of 9,132,628 eligibles. Another 69,942 cast spoiled ballots that weren't counted.

Last June there were 9,700,235 names on the list, 79.3 per cent, or 7,69,134, had votes counted and 82,522 ballots were spoiled.

Before 1958, the heaviest turnout had been in 1911 when 79.5 per cent of 1,820,742 eligibles, fired up by the Conservative slogan of "no truck or trade with the Yankees" in the battle over tariff reciprocity with the U.S., voted.

In those days, however, only men had the vote. And the first chance women got to go to the polls they contributed to a respectable 76.1 per cent. That was in 1920 when the Conservatives under R. B. Bennett toppled Mackenzie King's Liberals from office.

Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay, who incidentally is not permitted to vote himself, makes the prediction that more than 80 per cent will show up on April 8. He bases it on reports from constituency returning officers and the volume of inquiries received at his own office.

RURAL VOTE TOPS 30

The rural thrust reached its peak in 1949 when 81 per cent of 3,597,241 persons eligible to vote cast valid ballots. That topped the previous record of 80.7 of 2,945,429 in 1930. Last June's turnout was only 80.6 per cent of 3,663,885 eligibles.

City voters reached their peak in 1958 with 78.6 per cent of 5,433,959 eligibles. The percentage was close again in 1962 with 78.2 of 5,036,460. Previous best since 1925 was 73.3 per cent of 4,262,846 in 1949. In 1920 the percentage was 69.5 of 2,208,542.

The urban turnout topped the rural in 1940, with 70.8 per cent against 69, and in 1925, with 71.7 per cent against 66.7.

In Prince Edward Island 90 per cent went to the polls last June, highest for any province in eight elections since 1940 and surpassing P.E.I.'s own previous high of 88 in 1958. Lowest provincial percentage in the same period was Newfoundland's 52 in 1957.

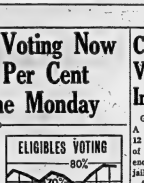
Among constituencies, tiny Iles-de-la-Madeleine in Quebec, established in 1949, stands up front. It started with 94 per cent in 1949, dropped to 88 in 1953, went up to 91 in 1957, hit 92 in 1958 and dropped back to 91 last year. It topped the country in each of those elections except 1962 when Kings hit 93.

Lowest turnout in the last two elections was Montreal St. Jacques with 58 per cent in 1962 and 61 in 1958. It was third lowest in 1957 with 68 and last place was shared by two Newfoundland constituencies, Bonavista - Twillingate and Trinity - Conception, with 44 apiece. Trinity-Conception was at the bottom in 1953 and Bonavista-Twillingate in 1949, each with 46-per-cent turnouts.

Ontario offers a good example of the rural-versus-city voting. Since 1953, Renfrew South, without any major population centre, has led the province with percentages ranging from 82 in 1953 to 88 in 1957 and 90 in the last two elections.

In the same period city constituencies, mainly in the Toronto area, ranked last: Toronto Broadview and Toronto Spadina with 54 per cent in 1953, Spadina and Niagara Falls with 60 in 1957, Spadina again in 1958 with 60, and Toronto St. Paul's in 1962 with 72.

The three Prairie provinces offer a striking contrast in voter interest.



In four of seven elections since 1940, Saskatchewan topped the 80 - per - cent mark, reaching its peak of 85 in 1945 and 1962. Its low point was 74 in 1953.

Manitoba reached 80 per cent only once, in 1958. Low point was 53 in 1953. Alberta has never reached 80, its highest being 74 in 1962 and 1958; its lowest 63 in 1940 and 1953.

The scattered Yukon constituency has been as high as 80, in 1958, against its low of 64 in 1945.

BIKE RED TRADE

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indo-Soviet trade which totalled 1,000,000,000 (8210,000,000) during year ending March 31 is expected to double in the next three years, Manubhai Shah, minister of international trade, told Parliament Friday. He said this will be achieved as a result of three-week talks held here with a trade team under V. B. Spandaryan, chief of the Soviet ministry of foreign trade which left for Moscow Friday.

PREDICTS RECORD — Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay predicts a record turnout of more than 80 per cent of eligible voters in the April 8 federal election. Best previous showing was 79.8 per cent in 1958. Graph shows percentage of eligible voters who turned out since 1930, and also number of votes cast for same years. (CP Newsmap)

Convict Negro Vote Marchers In Mississippi

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—A Greenwood judge has found 12 Negro vote marchers guilty of disorderly conduct. He sentenced each Friday to 30 days in jail and $100 fines.

Another group of 12 Negroes drove to the courthouse in autos without incident and took voter tests. Autos were used, in place of a mass march, for the first time Thursday.

Negroes have been waging a bitter vote-registration drive in this Mississippi delta town.

Police testified the 12 convicted Negroes had blocked traffic Wednesday, especially as they passed intersections.

Police Chief Curtis Lee testified officers ordered the Negroes to break into smaller groups. Police waited four to six minutes before arresting them, Lee said.

Police Court Judge Orman Kimbrough said he felt there was more to the situation than the mere blocking of streets.

SAYS EXCITED

The judge cited the "excitement" of the vote-registration drive and a city council order forbidding large groups to form.

"The court feels," Kimbrough said, "it is much more dangerous in a tense atmosphere the chief of police said existed to have a crowd moving through the city."

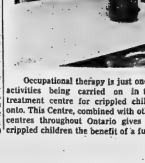
Greenwood officials had dismissed seven others arrested in the same incident for "lack of evidence."

All 12 convicted here appealed. Bond was set at $500 each.

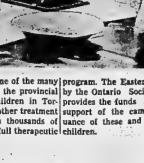
The U.S. government Thursday dropped its request for an immediate order banning interference with the vote drive.

In return, Greenwood officials stayed the sentences and released eight Negroes arrested last week pending final outcome of the government's suit for a permanent injunction.

Probe Israeli Claims Germans Aiding Arabs



CAIRO (AP)—A West German cabinet member arrived here Friday for a possible first hand look into Israeli claims that German scientists are helping the United Arab Republic build offensive weapons.



Walter Scheel's mission is billed as financial but he made it plain to reporters that the controversy touched off by the Israeli claims is receiving close government attention. Scheel is minister of economic co-operation.

In the latest Israeli statement Labor Minister Ygal Allon said Thursday: "We have proof that Egypt is developing warheads for chemical, biological and radiological warfare in addition to its development of ground-to-ground missiles."

Occupational therapy is just one of the many activities being carried on in the provincial treatment centre for crippled children in Toronto. This Centre, combined with other treatment centres throughout Ontario gives thousands of crippled children the benefit of a full therapeutic

POLITICIAN TURNS DIPLOMAT — Wilfred Andrew Rose, first high commissioner to Canada for Trinidad and Tobago, hopes to encourage more Canadian capital investment and economic aid for his country. He was minister of communications in the now-disbanded West Indies Federation. (CP Photo)

Our Man Down in Trinidad Is Facing a Big Mission

By JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP) — Wilfred Andrew Rose is a big man facing a big job.

As the first high commissioner to Canada for Trinidad and Tobago, he has the task of helping to ensure that relations between the newly independent country and Canada get off on the right foot.

For Mr. Rose, who stands six - feet - one and weighs 220 pounds, this means more than merely maintaining the cordialties that have always existed between Canada and the West Indies islands.

It also involves practical economic considerations, and the high commissioner, a politician turned diplomat, does not hesitate to emphasize these.

Mr. Rose, 46, is a man of easy charm, candor and quiet dignity. He has strong, handsome features, and in his high school days did some boxing.

In an interview in the Trinidad high commission's gleaming new quarters in a downtown office building, Mr. Rose mentioned some of the problems bearing on his post: Canada's surcharge on Trinidad rum, Canada's immigration policies, Trinidad's need for more investment capital and economic aid.

So far, he hasn't had much chance to do anything about it them.

"The problem of setting up a mission, arranging for housing, office space and so forth, has been pretty well all-absorbing."

Also, in view of the Canadian political situation, the time was "not propitious" to urge representations on such matters as lowering the barriers against West Indies immigrants, stimulating trade, and others.

He has however made soundings on private Canadian investment in Trinidad housing, and has had a few nibbles.

Lesage Says Caouette Is A Conjurer

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Jean Lesage used his pre-recorded weekly television broadcast Friday night to score the Social Credit party and its deputy leader, Real Caouette.

The broadcast is carried by a network of private Quebec province television stations.

Mr. Lesage repeated criticism of Social Credit he made earlier in his budget speech before the legislature, and dismissed Mr. Caouette as a "conjuror" (illusionniste).

He referred to "the three serious parties" in federal politics and said "the opinion of the fourth (Social Credit)..... means nothing to me."

U.S. Radio, TV Plan Coverage Of Monday Vote

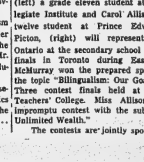
By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Counting of votes in the general election Monday, April 8, will be bigger than usual Canadian news for United States newspapers and broadcasting stations.

Staff reporters of U.S. news agencies and a number of the larger newspapers will be in Canada to report the election result.

All major U.S. radio and TV networks plan special coverage. CBS radio plans a scene-setting summary of the campaign in its world news roundup Monday, with follow - up reports from Canadian correspondents as the vote - count proceeds. CBS-TV network will get election reports through a tie-up with the CTV network in Canada.

NBC radio has had staff men in Canada during the campaign and will carry reports from them and Canadian correspondents. A special NBC-TV broadcast is scheduled for 10 p.m. EST Monday. An NBC crew will work in CBC election headquarters in Toronto.



ABC radio will cover election returns in regular news broadcasts and will have reports from part-time correspondents in Canada. ABC-TV will have reports from affiliated stations in Canada.
